CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over thirty years, has borne the signature of and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment. Never attempt to relieve your baby with a remedy that you would use for yourself.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Comfort—The Mother's Friend.

GROWING OLD.

ORACLE OF THE END OF THE YEAR.

"I dread to come to the end of the year," said a friend to us recently. "It makes me realize I am growing old."

That suggests a question. When is a man old?

In Shakespeare's time a man was old at forty, and often, because of the gay life, invalidated long before that.

Sir Walter Scott at fifty-five be-announced the fact that he was an old man.

Montaigne retired to his castle at thirty-eight to spend his declining years in peace and study.

Dr. Samuel Johnson once remarked that at thirty-five a man had reached his peak, and after that his course must be downward.

Physiologists tell us that in all animals except man the period of life is five times the period of growth. A dog gets its full growth in two years, and lives ten; a horse in five years and lives twenty-five. On this basis a man should live from 100 to 150 years.

Where were these three men—Scott, Montaigne and Johnson—old while they were still comparatively young men?

The answer is, because they felt and acted old.

William Johnson said that some men are "old fogies at twenty-five."

He was right. The minute a man ceases to grow—no matter what his years—that minute he begins to be old. As long as he can look back on every year and say, "I grew," he is still young.

The minute he ceases to grow, the day he says to himself, "I know all that I need to know,"—that day youth stops. He may be twenty-five or seventy-five, it makes no difference. On that day he begins to be old.

FOUND IN HIS CAR.

Every day I find something new about my car.

So do I. This morning I found three marbles and a powder puff.

Was Very Weak

"After the birth of my baby I had a back-set," writes Mrs. Mattie Crosswhite, of Glade Spring, Va. "I was very ill; thought I was going to die. I was so weak I couldn't raise my head to get a drink of water. I took . . . medicine, yet I didn't get any better. I was constipated and very weak, getting worse and worse. I sent for Cardui."

TAKE

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"I found after one bottle of Cardui I was improving," adds Mrs. Crosswhite. "Six bottles of Cardui and . . . I was cured, yes, I can say they were a God-send to me. I believe I would have died, had it not been for Cardui." Cardui has been found beneficial in many thousands of other cases of womanly troubles. If you feel the need of a good, strengthening tonic, why not try Cardui? It may be just what you need.

GRET HOUSE ON DE HILL.

Speaking sub, about old master:

Yes sah, he air livin' still; But he don't liv' at de gre't house, Standin' up dar on de hill. Passin' years has brought gre't changes Reckon you might know de cause— I don't 'zacky—but dere's difference, Things ain't like as once dey was

Gre't house windows now all brok out, And you never see de light Beamin' through dem lak a welcome, As it use ter shine at night; Rickety de dabs an' paches, An' 'de win' howls round it shrill, Lak it proud it drive de music From de gre't house on de hill.

Gre't house 'minds me of old master, Standin' dar all alone, Jes' lak ev'ything done let' it Dat makes in dis worl' a home; Empty rooms an' empty heart, House and master's wain' 'till Bole shall lie in dust together 'Neat de trees upon de hill.

But, sah, taint been lak dat al'ays, 'Fore dese changes come along At de gre't house all was brightness All aroun' was laugh an' song; Patterin' foots and merry voices Echoed where now all's so still, Dat's when we was all together At de gre't house on de hill.

All de merry voices hush'd now; All de patterin' foots is gone; No one left, 'cept me an' marster, An' I 'spect we'll follow soon. It gets mighty lonesome here, sah, Jes' waitin', wain' 'till We is called to rest beside dem, 'Sleepin' up dar on de hill.

But you spoke, sah, 'bout ole marster; Yes, sir, he air livin' still, But he don't mind 'bout de gre't house Standin' up dar on de hill. 'Pears he al'ays looks above it To de sky so blue and calm, Lak he sees de ole-time house folks Waitin' for him jes' beyon'— Looks above de oak trees yonder 'Cont de grave stones white and chill Lak he pints to hopes gone higher Dan de gre't house on de hill.

THEY WERE ALL WRONG.

WIFE COULD AFFORD TO SMILE IN LATER YEARS AT THOSE WHO OPPOSED HER MARRIAGE.

October 26, 1764, there were united in marriage a pretty girl of twenty, Abigail Smith daughter of a minister, to John Adams, a young lawyer without a practice, himself the son of a rather poor farmer. The lady's friends were not enthusiastic over the match, as the girl's forefathers were all of literary or professional caste, while the young lawyer could boast of no connection but with the soil. The parishioners were outspoken in their disapproval of the match, it being based largely on their suspicion of the lawyers in general.

The fiery old minister-father of Abigail promptly took exception to the remarks, and the very next Sunday announced his text as "For John came neither eating bread nor drinking wine, and ye say he hath a devil." The minister's faith in his son-in-law proved a well given, for the unknown and clientless lawyer became the second President of the United States.

PERFECT BUT PREMATURE.

She had big brown eyes that were both temperamental and intelligent. She had thoroughbred nostrils which dilated when she felt, and lips that were scarlet. Many men had expressed admiration for her. She had never loved.

He loved her. He was accustomed to taking what he wanted. He expressed no admiration. He crushed her to him and kissed the big brown eyes and the scarlet lips.

She flew into a flaming rage and sent him away, but— She sent for him.

She demanded an apology. He tenderly kissed the big brown eyes and scarlet lips. She did not send him away.

THE INEVITABLE TUNE.

"Daddy," pleaded the sweet young thing, "can't I have an automobile? You can buy one for a song." "Yes," granted her harassed parent, "and I know what that song will be—"Over the Hill to the Poorhouse."

Don't eclipse the good heart in you by a mean, selfish deed.

YOU CAN.

THE GREAT THING IS NEVER TO ALLOW A WORTHY IMPRESSION TO FADE AWAY.

There are two words that ought to be cut into lasting letters across the entrance of your brain, hung in golden prominence all around your heart and burned into the very desire of your hope for place in the world. Here they are—you can!

You can make of yourself a towering figure in the work of the world, you can command, you can build, you can multiply your own modest efforts until they become works of power, you can dream and make your dreams real, you can strive and trot on with smiles gurgling in your heart, and the world will want you to stay a long time. You can—you can!

Achievement is an impression on the brain, an impression that is worked out. The great thing is never to allow a worthy impression to fade away. The inspiring thing is to be a creator of impressions—and bring them all to pass in enduring works.

But always remember that—you can!

You are the only person who is able to interfere permanently with your own success. But, once you can there is no power in existence able to swerve you, able to slow you up, able to take from your fine faith and fortune.

My friend, whom I do not know, yet wish to help—morning, noon, night, and always—you can!

LOSS OF WEIGHT

General Wells, W. Va.—"I am glad to have the privilege of recommending Dr. Pierce's medicine. I was all run-down and in a very bad condition. Had lost hundreds of dollars away and never received any benefit from the doctors' medicine. I also was operated upon for kidney trouble, but cost few cents. Druggists also sell large packages. TOO MANY.

What is The Matter With This Old World of Ours.

Too many pitchers and not enough catchers.

Too many engineers and not enough firemen.

Too much stiling and not enough climbing.

Too many ornaments and not enough dishwashers.

Too many short skirts and not enough waist material.

Too many silk stockings and not enough divinity.

Too much churchanity and not enough Christianity.

Too many skeleton keys and not enough Yale locks.

Too much effect and not enough cause.

Too much selfishness and not enough generosity.

Too many red roses and not enough red cheeks.

Too many hammers and not enough horns.

Too many dollars and not enough preventatives.

"Too much," that's at the bottom of it all—whether it's food, smokes, religion or carbolic acid.

"Too much," will kill it and kill it quick.
