IF IT HADN'T BEEN SUNDAY.

Cook Certainly Would Not Have Overlooked the Use of That Insulting Pronoun.

The ritual of society, as women make it, is very exacting the world over, even in almshouses. In this relation there is told a story showing the serious difficulty that arose among a set of workhouse officials in a western town.

The infirmity nurses, three in number, had demanded a separate sitting room and the delight of Sunday dinner therein, and the matron had sought to humble them by sending the cook to enjoy her Sunday dinner in their company. The brawny cook described what occurred as follows:

"Well, Nurse Jones, she comes down and gets inside the door. 'Four plates?' she says. 'Four?' Who's the fourth?' 'Me,' says I. 'You!' she says, and with that she tosses her head and walks away."

Here the cook drew a long breath, and then continued: "If it hadn't been Sunday, gentlemen, I should have let her have it for calling me 'you!'—Ex.

Turn Waste Grease Into Real Money!

Red Devil Lye Does It!!

Save kitchen scraps, bones, bacon-rinds, plate-scrappings and pan-grease. They are worth real money. Make soap from them. It is easy with Red Devil Lye.

Simple, easy directions, plainly printed on each can, tell how to make soap worth 25 cents to a dollar from every canful of Red Devil Lye. The careful costs only a trifle—but the soap is better than you can buy! Your household waste-fats are worth big money. Use them!

One Can Makes Twenty Big Bars of Soap

Each can of Red Devil Lye is condensed grease that will convert the grease you save into ten or more pounds of pure soap fit for all kinds of washing and cleaning. Red Devil Lye has an enormous strength that it is by far the biggest value for the money. Make soap with it once, and you will be glad you learned of such an economy. Home-made soap contains the natural glycerin and is free from the adulterants and fillers so common in factory-made soaps.

Handiest sifter-top can keeps the finely-powdered lye at its full strength, ready for use without any waste. Your grocery sells Red Devil Lye. Look for the striking Red Devil's head on the label.

Deserved Tribute to Collie Who Gave Master the "Last Full Measure of Devotion."

Clyde Scott, four years old, lies dying on his father's farm near Beckley, W. Va. His pet collie is dead. A vicious sow, bearing the scars of battle to the finish, is so badly mangled that she must be killed, too.

It is one of those simple stories of a dog to which all human sympathy responds, remarks the Baltimore Sun. The boy, playing in the yard, was attacked by the sow, which had escaped its pen. Hearing the child's screams the collie rushed to the rescue and engaged the sow in fight. It needs no assurance of the telegraphed item to tell him who knows his dog the details.

The child's mother came into the picture, bearing her horn baby to safety. But the dog remained. His was a supreme duty, that knew no compromise. The infuriated sow was a menace to those he loved. It was his business to remove that menace, and into the job he put his concern. It was his concern only to remove the menace, and at any cost. His own life mattered not at all, and in the end he lost it, in as noble a struggle for what he believed to be righteous as any that ever brightened the annals of man or nation.

We do not know the little collie's name. If we did we should like to print it in honorable memory of his gallant conduct. He was a soldier and a gentleman; he was a devoted comrade and playmate; he was all that a dog is and that a man should be. We hope he had a Christian burial, for he was a Christian, if to be Christian implies sacrifice of self and love for others. He was all of that and he was a hero—a hero on four legs.

EXPLICIT.

A Southern family had a coal-black cook named Sarah, and when her husband was killed in an accident Sarah appeared on the day of the funeral dressed in sable outfit except in one respect.

"Why, Sarah," said her mistress, "what made you get white gloves?"

Sarah drew herself and said in tones of dignity: "Don't you s'pos I want dem people to see dat I se gon gloves?"—Boston Transcript.

DOIN' FINE AT COLLEGE.

"John writes that he is doin' fine at college this year," said the old man.

"You don't say!"

"Yes; writes just as easy in Latin as he swears in English. Other day he gave a Greek dinner in my honor."

"Wuz you thar?"

"Oh, no!"

"Well, whar did you come in?"

"Paid for it in English!"—Atlanta Constitution.

RED SEAL LYE

LIGHTENS EVERY WOMAN'S WORK

Make 10 lbs. of Soap and Save $1.00

THE cleaning power in any soap or cleanser you buy is lye. Soap is tallow (grease) mixed with lye and water. You can make it yourself and save a great deal of money. It will suit your needs better, too, for you can make just the kind of soap you want, either hard or soft.

Simply take 5½ pounds of clean grease (lard or tallow) free from salt. Melt it down. Then set aside to cool.

Take a large can of Red Seal Lye and dissolve it in 3½ pints of cold water. Bring this to about Summer heat and pour it slowly into the melted grease. Stir until the mixture becomes uniformly thick and pour into a mould. Cover up and set in a warm place until next day. Then you can cut it into pieces and you'll have 10 lbs. of the finest cleansing soap you ever used—and will have saved about $1.00.

Isn't that well worth while? You bet it is! And then just remember these other fine uses for Red Seal Lye: It is a water softener, saving a great deal of soap. It kills all disagreeable odors, purifies and disinfects at the same time. Dissolve a spoonful of it in a quart of water and you have a wonderful cleaning solution for helping lighten your work in washing dishes, doors, floors, woodwork—everything about the house. A little of it sifted into the sink cleans out the pipes and prevents them from becoming stopped up.

But make sure the lye you buy is Red Seal Lye. This pure lye is granulated and packed in cans that are easy and convenient to use. Always ask your storekeeper for, and be sure to get, the old reliable Red Seal Granulated Lye.

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stogall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried every thing I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since. . . I am sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully in the treatment of many womanly ailments.

If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too.

AN EVENING PETITION.

As to some far-off region of the West
The sun now journeys with his golden light,
And from our view the face of mother earth
Is lost amid the shadows of the night;
While darkness, softly falling, from our gaze
Blots out the world around, so would we pray,
That from the Book of Thy Remembrance Thou
Wilt blot the wrong which we have done today.

Blot out the hasty speech, the unkind word,
Which sorrow brought to those we hold most dear;
Forgive us, that on selfish things intent,
We failed to speak a word of hope and cheer.
Thy pardon grant, that as we hurried on
To gain whatever we today have won,
We did not pause to smile and lend a hand,
As even in our haste, we might have done.

Blot out the evil thoughts, the base desires,
Which we had thought to hide from even Thee;
Blot from our souls the scars of wrong and base—
The hidden scars which Thou alone canst see.
Blot from those lives whose paths crossed ours today—
As sailing ships may cross each other's track—
Remembrance of the things we did and said
Which we cannot undo—cannot bring back!

Blot from our record in Thy book today
The evil which is scarlet Thou didst write,
Forgive, in Thy great mercy we would ask,
So that as snow, the page be pure and white,
And may Thy love, surpassing knowledge all,
Enfold us like the ocean, wide and deep,
So that in thankfulness we sink to rest,
And trust ourselves to Thee again, in sleep.

BEYOND.

BY ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

It seemeth such a little way to me—
Across to that strange country—the Beyond;
And yet, not strange, for it has grown to be
The home of those of whom I am so fond.
They make it seem familiar and most dear,
As journeying friends, bring distant regions near.

So close it lies, that when my sight is clear
I think I almost see the gleaming strand.
I know I feel those who have gone from here
Come near enough sometimes to touch my hand.
I often think, but for our veiled eyes,
We should find Heaven right round about us lies.

I cannot make it seem a day to dread,
When from the dear earth I shall journey out
To that still dearer country of the dead,
And join the lost ones, so long dreamed about.
I love this world, yet shall I love to go
And meet the friends who wait for me, I know.

I never stand above a bier and see
The seal of death set on some well-loved face
But that I think: One more to welcome me
When I shall cross the intervening space
Between this land and that one "over there."

One more to make the strange Beyond seem fair,
And so for me there is no sting to death,
And so the grave has lost its victory.
It is but crossing—with a bated breath—
And white, set face—a little strip of sea
To find the loved ones waiting on the shore,
More beautiful, more precious than before.
