NECESSARY OUTLET.

"Look Well to the Outlet of Life."

The electrician had stopped at the street corner to renew carbons in the arc lamps. A small boy had stopped to watch him. As the day was bright and sunny the boy was astonished to see that the man had on rubber boots. "What do you wear those boots for?" he asked. "Do you think it's going to rain?"

The workman laughed good-naturedly. "No, sonny, I wear them so as to be safe from electric shocks when I handle these lamps. Electricity can't go through rubber very well, and one of the funny things about electricity is that it can't get into a person unless it can get out again."

Is it not true of other things in life also? Take love. It can't get into a human heart unless it can get out again. It must either find an outlet in service or die. Yet many persons forget that truth. Young married people sometimes let themselves become indifferent to each other's needs and problems. Each feels that the burden of domestic care rests wholly on his or her shoulders. Instead of helping each other they grow cold and critical. Little by little the beautiful flower of love that at first filled the home with fragrance droops and dies. Love cannot live without service.

Forgiveness too can never get into a man unless it can get out again. Have you ever tried to ask God's forgiveness while you were secretly angry with one who had done you either a real or a fancied wrong? The very doors of heaven seem locked against you. You cannot really pray, for, like love, forgiveness cannot bloom in the sterile soil of a selfish soul.

Whoever seeks the secret of human happiness will find it in these simple words, "Look well to the outlets of life." The clearest stream in the world will quickly become a stagnant pool if its waters find no escape. Clog the channels of usefulness with the rubbish of selfishness, harshness or indolence, and the streams of affection will soon become a foul and stagnant morass that reflects no loveliness and enriches no barren place.

"The Birth of a Nation" bringing forward David W. Griffith's rare art of musical spectacle, opens an engagement of two nights, Wednesday and Thursday, October 12th and 13th, at the Weldon Opera House. The first half of the great picture exhibits the salient events of the Civil war, which come to a close at Appomattox just fifty years ago. Lincoln's call for troops, Sherman's march, the Battle of Petersburg, Lee's surrender to Grant and the awful tragedy at Ford's Theatre live before the spectator of the Griffith drama. In the second half the South's "second uprising," this time against the carpetbag regime, is shown in a thrilling story of reconstruction days. The romance of the "little Confederate colonel" Ben Cameron with the Northerner Elsie Stoneman, and that of the Unionist Captain Phil Stoneman with Margaret Cameron, the South Carolina lassie, maintains two threads of continuous love-interest throughout the story. The fun and frolic of plantation days, as well as the heartache and pathos of the stricken South are shown. The great out-of-doors is Mr. Griffith's special field. Great battle scenes and the rides of the clan are staged with the thousands of participants. There are 5,000 scenes in the spectacle and (it is estimated) no less than 200,000 interesting historical details. On the musical side Mr. Griffith attempted something previously unheard of in connection with motion pictures. This was the synchronizing of a complete symphonic score with the appearance of the important characters and the enactment of the principal scenes. This instrumental music is played by a large orchestra, and supplemented by part-singing behind the scenes. Somehow the old war-time tunes, thus thematically treated, make the "counterfeit presentiments," of long ago seem irresistibly real. Among the leading players in what was probably the largest theatrical cast ever assembled may be mentioned Joseph Henabery as President Lincoln, Donald Crisp and Howard Gaye as Generals Grant and Lee; Mae Marsh as Flora Cameron; Henry B. Walthall, Lillian Gish, Elmer Clifton, Miriam Cooper as the quartet of lovers; Ralph Lewis as Congressman Stoneman; Spottiswoode Aiken and Josephine Crowell as the elder Camerons and George Seigman as Lynch.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT NOTED

"Did you know," asked the proud resident of Terrell, Texas, "that this is a wonderful health resort?"

"Why, no," replied the traveler. "I hadn't heard about it."

"Fact. When I came to this city I couldn't walk and had to be carried from my bed."

"Remarkable! Remarkable! May I ask how long you have been here?"

"Oh," said the citizen, preparing to go home, "I was born here."

FRAUD.

When a Mobile doctor came to visit the Robinson family by whom he had been summoned he found Mrs. Robinson in bed, her dusky face decorated with bandages. Mr. Robinson was sitting in stolid misery by the bedside.

"Cheer up, Sam," said the M.D. "She'll pull through all right."

"Don't you go tryin' to cheer me up," answered Mr. Robinson darkly, "fo' it's impossible, doctor. Heah Ah has her insured against accidents of all kinds only fo' days ago and paid down mah five dollars, an' befo' de week is out she falls downstairs wid a bucket of coal and now look at her, all busted from end to end!"

NO CHANCE.

"Marry you?" exclaimed the temperamental girl. "Why, I wouldn't marry you if you had a million dollars."

"You're right you wouldn't," replied the candid man. "In that case I would be more discriminating."

A MAN OF HONOR.

Roomer: "I regret that I cannot pay you my rent this week."

Landlady: "But you told me the same thing last week."

Roomer: "Well, I kept my word, didn't I?"

It is fair to say that most jazz musicians look as if they were doing it for money?

THE BIRTH OF A NATION COMING.

D. W. Griffith's historical spectacle "The Birth of a Nation" will come to the Weldon Opera House next Wednesday and Thursday, October 12th and 13th. The "Birth of a Nation" is one of the most widely discussed topics in the country. It established an absolutely new art in the realm of the theatre—the art of pantomimic screen with music. It also created a tremendous sensation because of its vaster and more forceful treatment of the same theme as Thomas Dixon's "The Clansman." The consequences of the Civil War in Southern reconstruction are fully dealt with, and the nation reborn is apotheosized. Mr. Griffith, pioneer among directors, managed the stupendous achievement without the aid of dialogue or speech, for motion pictures, accompanying music and effects tell the coherent, logical and moving story.

LOST LOVE.

The rose though crushed bears fragrance still, Though you may tread it as you will, Around its petals, dead at last, The sweet perfume of all that's past Sends forth its incense to the sky And softly asks the reason why.

The heart of fondest hope bereft Still sadly beats despite itself. From day to day it struggles on. While the past joys forever gone From day to day add to distress, And for that heart there is no rest.

The mind benumb'd by sorrow's load Yet travels its dark, wretched road. As it recounts each pleasure lost. Seeing it dead and crushed and tossed Beneath the feet of cold mankind; That mind to solace now is blind.

NOT FOR HER.

An old dame at a railway station asked a porter where she could get her ticket. The man pointed in the direction of the ticket office. "You can get it there," he said, "through the pigeon hole."

"Get away with you, idiot," she exclaimed. "How can I get through that little hole?" I ain't no pigeon!"

NOT QUITE FINISHED.

The most embarrassing moment of my life was when a new stenographer came to work for my boss. About noon of the first day with us I wrote to the old stenographer and I left the note in the typewriter when my boss called me in. Just then the new stenographer came back from lunch and she read the note.

When I came out of my boss's office she said, "There is a note of yours in the typewriter. Do you want to finish it?"

The note read: "Dear Peggie, I am writing to let you know of our new stenographer. She is dead from the neck up and as slow as molasses. She has a face like a—"

Missouri Lady Suffered Until She Tried Cardui.—Says "Result Was Surprising."—Got Along Fine, Became Normal and Healthy.

Springfield Mo.—"My back was so weak I could hardly stand up, and I would have bearing-down pains and was not well at any time," says Mrs. D. V. Williams, wife of a well-known farmer on Route 1, this place. "I kept getting headaches and having to go to bed," continues Mrs. Williams describing the troubles from which she obtained relief through the use of Cardui. "My husband, having heard of Cardui, proposed getting it for me. I saw after taking some Cardui . . . that I was improving. The result was surprising. I felt like a different person."

"Later I suffered from weakness and weak back, and felt all run-down. I did not rest well at night, I was so nervous and cross. My husband said he would get me some Cardui, which he did. It strengthened me . . . My doctor said I got along fine. I was in good healthy condition. I cannot say too much for it."

Thousands of women have suffered as Mrs. Williams describes, until they found relief from the use of Cardui. Since it has helped so many, you should not hesitate to try Cardui if troubled with womanly ailments. For sale everywhere. B.33
