WASHINGTON.

THE SOUTHERN POLICY OF THE INCOMING ADMINISTRATION.

By this Noon's Mail.
(Herald Special.)
Washington, D. C., Feb. 27, 1877.

The last resolution of recognition of the new administration, introduced in the House to-day, was a movement of the House to-day, a surprise to the Louisiana delegation and the so-called democrats specially in charge of the interests of the State. After consultation it had been very properly determined that the introduction of a resolution at this time would excite party antagonism by reason of its bearing upon the Presidential issue. Republicans who favored non-interference with the Nichols and Hampton government were apprehensive of the effect of such a resolution upon the Presidential question. The Democrats were of course compelled to support the resolution when it was forced on the House. Mr. Morrison's committee had prepared a resolution, but withheld it at the suggestion of Louisianians, who saw that no practical good could result, and who were satisfied that both the Nichols and Hampton governments would be established by the means.

The fact is that the resolution appears to have been introduced for the purpose of exasperating the Southern members by provoking republican opposition and thereby seeking the ranks of the filibusters. There is considerable indignation felt by moderate Democrats at this effort to defeat measures which promised peace and relief to Louisiana.

The Southern question is as good as settled, and needs no pushing by Congress, as Democrats as well as Republicans understand. Governor Hayes stands on his feet of acceptance, and will frame his policy in accordance with that. This fact is fixed by a letter from Governor Hayes, received on Saturday by Mr. Charles Foster, member of Congress from the district in which Governor Hayes lives, and his personal friend, and an extract from which is to-day made public. Mr. Hayes writes:

Assure any of our Southern friends that I am impressed with the necessity of a complete change of men and policy. I shall stand by the ideas outlined in my letter of last summer.

What he wrote on the Southern question was this:

The moral and material prosperity of the Southern States can be most effectually advanced by a hearty and generous recognition of the rights of all—a recognition without reserve or exception. With such a recognition fully accorded it will be practicable to promote by the influence of all legitimate agencies of the general government, the effort of the people of these States to obtain for themselves the blessing of honest and capable local government. If elected, I shall consider it not only my duty but it will be my ardent desire to labor for the attainment of this end. Let me assure my countrymen of the Southern States that if I shall be charged with the duty of organizing an administration it will be one which will regard and cherish the interests of the white and of the colored people, both equally, and which will put forth its best efforts in behalf of a civil policy which will wipe out forever the distinction between North and South in our common country.

There is, therefore, no doubt as to the nature of Mr. Hayes' Southern policy, nor do those who really wish well to the South, and to Louisiana and South Carolina in particular, feel any doubt. But these agitators are quite ready to make these unfortunate States the football of their intrigues and efforts to obstruct and defeat the electoral count! It is hardly possible now that they should succeed.

The Raleigh Sentinel says: The store of Morris & Bro., situated about 12 miles from Raleigh, was destroyed by fire Saturday night. A young man sleeping in the store narrowly escaped with life. The stock of goods in the store was valued at $4,000. Insurance $2,000. The fire was the work of an incendiary.

The Raleigh Sentinel says: A citizen of Franklin county, himself of the ripe age of 90 years, brought to Raleigh yesterday, to be operated on, a clock which has marked the hours in his house for the last 70 years. During all that time the clock has never been cleaned, oiled, overhauled or in any way mended, and it has been so regular in its movements that the sun rose and set by it.

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. 2. WILMINGTON, N. C., THURSDAY, MARCH 1, 1877. NO. 35.

The Raleigh Observer says: Treasurer Worth has determined to enforce the law concerning license tax on drummers, and has notified Sheriffs that a number of this class of sellers are in the State and who refuse to pay the tax. In order to put all upon a fair footing, and to protect those who have and do pay, the Sheriffs throughout the State will see that the law is rigidly enforced and the tax collected.

The Raleigh Sentinel says: Col. L. M. Blakeley, of Washington, this state, has recently purchased the celebrated black horse Nightsade, with the view of improving the stock of that section. Nightsade was one of the celebrated four-in-hand team composed of Superb and his three sons. His grand sire was that king of horses, Ethan Allen, and he is richly imbued with the choicest strains of the old Messenger blood. Col. Blakeley had previously brought to the state Black Ethan Allen, another of the sons of Superb and also one of the four-in-hand team.

Freak of Nature.

In a letter received from Newbern, by a gentleman in this city we learn that a deer having six well-developed feet and two extra ribs was caught in a steel trap a few days ago. On the left side of the animal were four feet; the two extra ones grew from the paster joint. The extra ribs were also on the same side. The animal, to all appearances, was well formed and developed.

Successful Robbery.

The residence of Mr. Paschal Agostini, on Fifth between Chestnut and Mulberry streets, was broken into last night and robbed. The thieves made their way into the house through a window and stole a trunk full of clothes, two coats and a clock. The robbery was effected about 8 o'clock and during the absence of Mr. Agostini and his wife at church, who knew nothing of their loss until their return when a door and window were found open. The window through which the rascals entered was thought to have been securely fastened, the sash being held down by a nail and a pair of scissors.

City Court.

The following cases were disposed of by the Mayor this morning:

Owen McCormack, charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct, was fined $10 and costs but the fine was afterward remitted on payment of costs.

Elsie Bunting, for maltreating her child, was fined $20 and costs.

Andrew Jackson, disorderly conduct. Case dismissed.

Three gentlemen were arraigned on the charge of interfering with the police in the discharge of their duties. Two of them were discharged and the other was bound over to Superior Court in the sum of $200.

The Thermometer.

From the United States Signal Office at this place we obtain the following report of the thermometer, as taken this morning at 7:31 o'clock:

Augusta, 45; Charleston, 49; Cincinnati, 32; Jacksonville, 60; Key West, 74; Knoxville, 38; Lynchburg, 29; Memphis, 45; Mobile, 60; Montgomery, 53; Nashville, 43; New Orleans, 63; New York, 33; Norfolk, 39; Pittsburg, 28; Savannah, 50; St. Louis, 41; Washington, 23; Wilmington, 41.

Harbor Master's Report.

The following is the report of Capt. B. G. Bates, Harbor Master, for the month of February:

Arrived—steamers, 18; barques, 9; brigs, 7; schooners, 15; total 49. Aggregate tonnage, 22,218; foreign tonnage, 5,529. The pilots' soundings on the rip and bar, taken at low water, are as follows:

Bald Head Channel, 10 feet; Western Bar, 11 feet, 6 inches; Rip, 6 feet, 6 inches.

New Inlet bar, 9 feet; Rip, 9 feet.

Useful Hints.

A small piece of paper or linen, moistened with spirits of turpentine and put into a bureau or wardrobe for a single day, two or three times, is said to be a sufficient preservation against moths.

Parents should be very careful and not let the rays of the sun shine directly upon the faces of sleeping children. Strong light is very injurious to the eyes, especially if they are inclined to weakness.

Two teaspoonfuls of finely-powdered charcoal, drank in half a tumbler of water, will often give relief to the sick headache when caused, as in most cases it is, by a superabundance of acid in the stomach.

Counterfeit Coin.

There is a large amount of counterfeit coin in circulation, judging from the complaints of people engaged in all branches of business. The counterfeiters are of all denominations, beginning with a five-cent nickel and ending with the trade dollar. Only a few of the latter are in general circulation. Half dollars, however, are handled by everybody, and upon these the counterfeiters have exerted their highest art. There are at present counterfeiters of four or five different substances which closely resemble the genuine silver half dollar. The most dangerous of these is conceded to be made of glass, silvered over by some process, which makes the counterfeit similar in appearance and feeling to the government coin. It is exceedingly difficult to detect the fraud, particularly as the ring is perfect. The counterfeit quarters are exceedingly numerous, and are well calculated to deceive people who are not used to handling coin.

Loss of Swine.

On the first of January Messrs. Watson & Sykes had eighty five hogs in their pens at Hilton and during the month thirteen of the fattest and largest were stolen. Since then fifty of the remaining died with the cholera, and a few nights ago others were stolen, leaving only a "baker's dozen" of the original number.

Beautiful Mechanism.

We examined this morning at the jewelry establishment of Messrs. T. W. Brown & Sons, one of the handsomest clocks we have ever seen. The frame was made by a young gentleman of this city with a small bracket saw, and reflects much credit upon his mechanical genius. The shape somewhat resembles a castle. The delicate tracings of innumerable vines and figures required no mean ability to make it the model of beauty and perfection it is. It is made of oiled walnut and white holly, the two woods being so tastefully and artistically blended together as to make it all any one could wish or expect.

It has been left on exhibition at Messrs. Brown & Sons' where persons desirous of seeing it can do so.

Meteorological Summary for February 1877.

From Mr. Seyboth, U. S. Signal Officer at this point, we have the following report for the month of February:

Mean temperature, 48°; same month last year, 41°; highest range of temperature, 71°; lowest temperature, 28°; monthly range of temperature, 43°; greatest daily range of temperature, 32°; mean of maximum temperatures, 58°; mean of minimum temperatures, 38°; mean daily range of temperatures, 19°.

Mean barometer, 30.115 inches; highest barometer, 30.513 inches; lowest barometer, 29.550 inches; monthly range of barometer, 0.963 inches.

Total rain fall, 1.65 inches; number of days on which rain fell, 6; number of cloudy days, 6; number of clear days, 7.

Prevailing direction of wind, Northeast; highest velocity, 30 miles per hour; total number of miles traveled, 5,389.

Cure for the Bleeding of the Nose.

There are two little arteries which supply the whole face with blood, one on each side. These branch off from the main arteries on each side of the wind pipe, and running upward toward the eye, pass over the outside of the jaw-bone, about two-thirds of the way back from the chin to the angle of the jaw under the ear. Each of these arteries, of course, supplies just one-half of the face, the nose being the dividing line; the left nostril is supplied with blood by the left artery, and the right nostril by the right artery. Now, supposing your nose bleeds by the right nostril, with the end of the fore finger feel a long the outer edge of the right jaw until you feel the beating of the artery directly under your finger, the same as the pulse in your wrist, then press the finger hard upon it, thus getting the little fellow in a tight place between your finger and the jaw-bone; the result will be that not a drop of blood goes into that side of the face while the pressure continues, hence the nose instantly stops bleeding for want of blood to flow. Continue the pressure for five or ten minutes, and the ruptured vessel in the nose will by that time probably contract, so that when you let the blood in, then they will not leak. Bleeding from a cut or wound anywhere about the face may be stopped in the same way. The Creator probably placed these arteries as they are that they might be controlled. Those in the back of the head, arms and legs are all arranged very conveniently for being controlled in like manner.

Country editors, it must be admitted, are not generally covards. But not one of them dares advertise a prize for the best "Ode to Spring."

City Ordinance.

Two of our merchants were summoned before the Mayor for allowing boxes and barrels to remain on the sidewalk in front of their places of business. Merchants would do well to look to their sidewalks in the evenings as the city ordinance relative to obstructing the sidewalk will be rigorously enforced.

Supreme Court Decisions.

Among the opinions filed on Tuesday are the following:

Henry Von Glahn vs. A. J. Derossat et al., from Brunswick: error. Demurrer overruled.

State vs. James Heaton, from Columbus: pardon allowed.

Murrill vs. Humphrey from Onslow: affirmed.

Beating a Child.

A colored woman was before the Mayor this morning for brutally beating her child with a stick. A gentleman who saw the unmammoth mother chastising the child, though it was fatally hurt, and sent for a physician who arrived just after the unmerciful flogging. The marks and bruises on the body of the child were of such a nature that it was thought best to report the facts to the authorities. It seems that the woman has been in the habit of brutally beating her children. The Mayor imposed a fine of $10 upon the woman.

Blinds, Sash and Doors.

One of the most praiseworthy enterprises in our city and one which is assuming a very prominent place on our list of manufacturing is the sash, door and blind factory of Messrs. Altaffer & Hill, at the foot of Walnut street. These gentlemen manufacture in large quantities and everything made by them is under their own supervision and can be sold at prices which defy competition. These in need would do well to examine their goods and prices before making purchases of goods manufactured at the North, and which, as a consequence, must cost more money than the same article of home manufacture can be sold for here.

Wonderful Success.

It is reported that Boschee's German Syrup has, since its introduction in the United States, reached the immense sale of 40,000 dozen per year. Over 6,000 Druggists have ordered this medicine direct from the factory, at Woodbury, N. J., and not one has reported a single failure, but every letter speaks of its astonishing success in curing severe Coughs, Colds settled on the Breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. We advise any person that has any predisposition to weak Lungs, to go to their Druggists—and get this Medicine, or inquire about it. Regular size, 75 cents. Sample Bottle, 10 cents. Two doses will relieve any case. Don't neglect your cough.
