There are 21 prisoners now in the city street gang. They are kept faithfully at work, but they botch things awfully sometimes, as witness that much talked of cobble stone pavement on North Front street.

We are glad to see that Col. Jas. G. Burr, who has been very ill for several weeks past, has so far recovered as to venture abroad, although we are to see him on four legs, he being unable to walk at all without crutches.

Capt. V. V. Richardson, Representative in the Legislature, from Columbus county, and Director for this district in the Western N. C. R., was in the city to-day.

The Canal Meeting.
We would remind our readers of the fact that a meeting is to be held at the Court House this evening to hear the report of the Committee in regard to the New River Canal. There will probably be a large attendance of business men as the scheme seems to grow more and more into popular favor every day.

The Dog War.
The war in Europe is one thing and the dog war in Wilmington next week will be another. We emphatically warn those who own dogs that they must be badged and that, too, at once. The law goes into effect on the first of May and we are assured that it will be rigidly enforced. Thus far Mr. Servoss has sold but 70 badges.

Our Insectivorous Plants.
The next address before the Historical and Scientific Society is to be delivered on the first Monday evening in May by Dr. Thos. F. Wood, who was some time since appointed to prepare a paper for the occasion. Dr. Wood will speak of the "Insectivorous Plants of the Cape Fear," a subject to which he has for years past devoted much attention and which, although it is fruitful in interest, has yet never before been made the subject of scientific discussion here.

Lecture.

A goodly number attended the Temple of Israel last evening to hear Rabbi A. B. M. Brown lecture on "The crucifixion of the Jews; or have the Jews really crucified Jesus of Nazareth?"

The lecturer said the subject was a new one, had probably never been discussed before. It might be called sensational, yet neither its novel nor sensational characteristics caused him to select it. The question had been, so to say, forced upon him by Evangelist Moody and Senator Sargent, of California. Last year, before thousands of citizens of Philadelphia, Mr. Moody made the following public statement: "I have read an article lately in some paper stating that a thousand Jews assembled lately in a Synagogue in Paris. The Rabbi, referring to Jesus remarked, 'I glory in the fact that our ancestors crucified that man, and the entire congregation applauded these words,' and as adds Mr. Moody for himself, 'this is the established opinion of every Jew.'" The guuntlet of defiance having been thus thrown down, the lecturer deemed it his duty to take up their challenge and to stand up for his own people.

He did not believe in the divinity of Christ or the inspirations of the Gospel, but for once he placed himself upon the Christian platform and would grant all the most orthodox Christian claimed and accepted every word stated in the Gospel as Gospel truth from the Christian standpoint, but that while he admitted the divine character of Jesus, in the role of man he would treat him as any other ordinary man.

1st. Did the Jews themselves crucify Christ? If he convinced his audience that they did not, the next question arose, were the Jews instrumental in the Crucifixion? If they were not instrumental the 3rd question came up, did they approve of the Crucifixion? 4th. If the Jews of 1800 years ago did, do the Jews of to-day glory in the Crucifixion? 5th. Christianity argued that the Jews certainly crucified Christ and history testifies against them saying, behold how you have been treated these many centuries because of the crucifixion of Christ by your ancestors.

The first question, did the Jews really crucify Christ? he emphatically denied. But how should he prove it? History was silent. The entire drama of the crucifixion was ignored studiously by all historians. True, one passage could be found in Josephus but it could never be found in the original. That passage had been interpolated long after Josephus turned into dust and ashes, and the interpolation had been done in such a bungling manner as to make the assertion self-evident. In the absence of direct evidence, therefore, he would reach for the chain of circumstantial evidence, and would cite an imaginary case. He supposed that in the spring of 1876 the Indians engaged in general war with the United States were victorious, and governed the country. A deliverer arose, whom he would call George Washington, Jr., who attempted to deliver America from the yoke of the Indians, but was finally captured, scalped, tied to the center pole of a wigwam and his heart pierced with arrows. 1890 years after the Americans were reproached with having slain George Washington, Jr. They denied it, but said the followers of Washington: "How can you prove it? History is silent on the subject; my gospel gives the only account of it." Says the American: "My dear brother, for this once I shall believe in the gospel of Washington. Your gospel says George Washington, Jr., was scalped, tied to the center pole of a wigwam and his heart pierced with arrows. These things actually transpired as they are stated, but not by my ancestors. The Americans did not scalp their victims, they never lived in wigwams and, of course, they did not have any centrepoles of wigwams." He then went on to show that the history of the crucifixion as related by St. Mark was incompatible with the Jewish law. He illustrated very clearly how a man was tried for his life according to the Jewish law. The court consisted of seven judges. The charge was stated to the culprit, but he was not asked: "Are you guilty or not guilty?" and a unanimous verdict of "Guilty" by the judges was considered equivalent to an acquittal. The trial occupied three days. According to the Jewish dispensation, Jesus was not guilty of blasphemy, and if he were, the punishment was stoning, not crucifixion. No word in the Hebrew could be construed into cross or crucifixion. Jesus was scourged. They kicked and cuffed him and spit into his face. They gave him vinegar to drink. All this was incompatible with the laws and manners of the Jew. His (the lecturer's) ancestors were most humane to their prisoners; they gave condemned men a narcotic so that they should not feel the pain of execution. He did not misstate the law, he could prove it; point out every word. Hence St. Mark must be wrong as to the facts; and this question had made Infidels of good Christians. There was only one loophole for St. Mark left, viz Mr. Moody and Senator Sargent haughtily a falsehood, each of them willful and knowingly. The Jews did not glorify in the crucifixion of Christ for they did it crucify Christ. St. Mark is right as to the facts, but the crucifixion was done by the Romans. They did not care how they related the Jewish law. The Romans scourged, crucified, gave vinegar or bitter inn and put lables over the executed man. It would be urged, however, that the Jews desired the crucifixion. Did the not cry, Crucify him; crucify him. Pilate knew that if he had Jesus executed he would be expatriated according to the Roman law; he therefore had his Returning Board composed of scallawag Jews all they were ordered to count out Jesus. They were the carpet-baggers of the Jew and tools of the Romans.

We have not space to follow all the argument of the learned lecturer, or to notice his brilliant defence of Judas Iscariot. He denied that the Jews were suffering for the crucifixion of Christ. The average Jew was three times richer than the average Christians and he cited cases where high positions were held by his race in almost every country in Europe. In conclusion he said: "Let all of us worship God precisely as we please; let all of us go to the house of Our Father in which are as many mansions in our own peculiar way—there is room enough for all—there we will meet in the grand by and by. Time will tell the tale."

Wilmington Light Infantry.
At a special meeting of the above organization last night, the resignation of Capt. M. D. Taylor was tendered and accepted. The following resolution was offered and unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, Our esteemed Captain, M. P. Taylor, has been elevated to the office of Major of the Second Battalion N. C. S. G., the holding of which office rendered it necessary that he should relinquish the captaincy of this company; and, whereas, he has tendered his resignation, which has been regretfully accepted; therefore, be it Resolved, That the thanks of the Wilmington Light Infantry are due and are hereby gratefully tendered to Capt. Taylor for the uniform courtesy and consideration which he has ever displayed towards those under his command, and for his untiring zeal and energy, manifested not only in the successful organization of the company, but in its successful existence up to the present, which has had the effect of giving the company its proud position in the military of this State.

Mr. Walter Coney was then put in nomination and duly elected Captain, after which the meeting adjourned.

Another Colored glass Theory.
A French horticulturist forces the growth of asparagus by placing an ordinary wine bottle, well corked, with the bottom cut off, over the asparagus head just as it makes its appearance above the ground. The asparagus thus protected grows rapidly, and, since the air has no access to it, the development of the woody fibre is kept back, and the plant becomes so tender that the whole of it may be eaten, while the lessened amount of light that passes through the colored glass produces in the vegetable a rosy tint, decidedly improving its appearance.

The Ball of the Orions.
The "light fantastic" was never tripped more gaily and in more accord of happy hearts, light feet and soft music, than at the Anniversary ball given last evening by Orion Lodge, No. 67, I. O. O. F. There were many present and the general verdict of all as they separated, was that it had been an evening of rare enjoyment.

The First of The Season.
As warm weather presents itself the universal desire is for a cool shady spot where to rest ones weary self, and we learn the 5th St. M. E. Sabbath School is to be the first to present to the public an opportunity to sniff the exhilarating sea breeze.

They are to give an excursion to Smithville on the steamer Waccamaw on the 1st of May, and as it is a grand holiday for the young folks we predict for them a large crowd and any amount of pleasure. We learn the school needs a new library and we know of no more commendable cause, in which our citizens can invest and realize five-fold its value.

The 58th Anniversary.

The two Lodges, Cape Fear No. 2 and Orion No. 67, I. O. O. F. celebrated last evening with due and appropriate ceremonies the fifty-eighth Anniversary of the introduction of Odd Fellowship into America. The exercises which took place in Odd Fellow's Hall were very interesting and consisted of music, dialogues and addresses. They were largely attended and the pleasure diffused on the occasion was universal.

The Thermometer.
From the United States Signal Office at this place we obtain the following report of the thermometer, as taken this morning at 7:31 o'clock:

Augusta, 63; Charleston, 69; Galveston, 70; Jacksonville, 72; Mobile, 70; Montgomery, 68; New Orleans, 70; Norfolk, 54; Savannah, 74; Wilmington, 68.

MR. EDITOR:
I know that your head is level on some points, and I appeal to you to know if you do not agree with me that the present market laws are a shame and an imposition on a long-suffering public? Time was when speculators were not allowed to purchase within market limits during certain hours, but now, by an ordinance passed sometime since, for the benefit of the few as against the many, the speculator is allowed to elbow consumers aside while he takes a whole cart load of fish or chickens in the lump and turns around and resells them at an advance, sometimes of 50 per cent on what they were offered for from first hands. Have the present Board of Aldermen any bowels of mercy or compassion or any other sort of bowels, affected by the market laws, that they allow these things to continue?

Yours,
PURCHASER.

The History of Civilization.
might be written in the gradual processes of improvement wrought out in articles of food. Every progressive step is a public blessing. To no one article is more due than to DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER. This with proper care in baking insures the most delicious and digestible bread, biscuits, pastry, etc.

The People Want Proof.
There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue of BOSCHER'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted, can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing every one that use it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it.
