How is this for a balmy, odorous May day?

Is it not almost time for another excursion to the sea?

In Oakdale Cemetery this week, the interments were 1 adult and 1 infant.

"Gentle spring" took the poet's advice and hailed, and it has been cold ever since.

The stay-at-homes this Summer promise to be a large and influential body of people.

There were 3 children and 1 adult interred this week, in Pine Forest Cemetery.

The ethereal mildness of the past few days caused a demand for fuel and cough syrup.

Schr. Fanny W. Johnston, Outlen, arrived at Philadelphia on the 2d inst. from this port.

Schr. Ella H. Barnes, Harrison, from this port, arrived at Vineyard Haven on the 2d inst.

The Register of Deeds issued but two marriage licenses this week, and both of them for colored couples.

We have repeatedly been asked if the street sprinkler is to be brought out this season and we always give it up.

Mr C. S. Ellis, of this city but now of Savannah, Ga., is also on a short visit to his many friends in the city.

A Norwegian barque, reported to be the Hakon Jarl arrived in below this morning, as we learn at the Signal office here.

There is a young lady on Third street who is so industrious that when she has nothing else to do she knits her brows.

The month of May is dedicated in the Catholic church to the Virgin Mary. The services during the month are peculiarly in her honor.

Good bye is a hard word to say, but not harder than the names of the Russian and Turkish towns and generals published daily in the morning papers.

Not one in a thousand of the readers of Frank Leslie's publications know that Frank Leslie is a nom de plume, and that the proprietor's name is Henry Carter.

We return thanks for a complimentary ticket to the First German Pic-Nic of the season to be given at Wilmington Gardens, on the 9th inst., under the auspices of Germania Lodge No. 4, K. of P.

A meeting has been called for next Monday evening, at the Court House, for the purpose of making arrangements for the celebration of the National Memorial Day, which falls due on the 30th inst.

His Honor, Judge McKoy, is also in the city enroute for Richmond Court, which opens at Rockingham on Monday next. The Judge looks in splendid health, an evidence of the fact that the rotary system agrees with him well.

Chickens held up by one leg will not squawk half as much as when both legs are grasped. Persons who are accustomed to purchase their poultry after the owner has retired should paste this in their hats.

For the Orphans.

A basket of beautiful flowers, was raffled at Capt. Lippitt's store for the benefit of the Oxford Orphan Asylum. They were a donation from Mrs. H. Webb.

Federal Court.

A number of cases for violations of the Internal Revenue laws occupied the attention of this Court this morning for a large portion of the session. It is expected that the Court will adjourn this evening for the Term.

For the Farmers.

We understand that decisions in the U. S. District Court this morning to the effect that the selling of tobacco, by a farmer to his hands along with other supplies is a violation of the revenue laws. As this practice is pretty general among the farmers hereabouts who have no intention to offend against the laws, it will be well for them to discontinue the practice at once.

Personal.

We were pleased to meet this morning Col. James D. Radcliffe, formerly of this city, but now of Baltimore. The Colonel is the perfect picture of health, and is now traveling in the interest of Tucker, Smith & Co., boot and shoe manufactory of Baltimore.

Beauty and Bloom.

Oakdale Cemetery is now at its prettiest. It is one mass of beauty and bloom and the air is heavy with the fragrance of its multitude of flowers. Mr. Doulan, the Superintendent, keeps everything in excellent order and flowers bloom almost by magic under his care.

Unmailable Letters.

The following is a list of the unmailable letters remaining in the Postoffice, May 4th: L. A. Gouse, Hope Station, Ark.; A. J. White, New York; Louis H. Skinner, Fayetteville, N. C.; Morris Tate, South Washington; Miss Zellar Byrd; One white square envelope no address; McCaskill and McLean, Laurinburg N. C.

Robbed His Fowl House.

Night before last some one made a raid on the premises of Capt. May, who resides at the Eastern extremity of Market street, and cleaned out his fowl house. They got all he had—8 fowls and 47 eggs on which three hens were setting. The fowl house was located just under his window and as Capt. May heard nothing at all during the night it is judged that the robbers were experts at the business.

The Sale of Liquors on Sunday.

For the benefit of liquor dealers throughout the State, we publish below the legislative enactment in regard to the sale of liquors on Sunday. It reads:—

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

Section 1. That it shall be unlawful for any person to sell spirits or malt, or other intoxicating liquors on Sunday, except on the prescription of a physician and for medical purposes.

Sec. 2. Any person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the Court.

Sec. 3. All acts, or parts of acts inconsistent with this act, are hereby repealed.

Sec. 4. This act shall be in force from and after its ratification.

Read three times and ratified in General Assembly this 11th day of January, 1877.

Presentment by the Grand Jury of the United States District Court.

The Grand Jury came into Court this morning and asked leave through their Foreman to make a presentment, and with this explanation that the Jury originally consisting of 19 members, two of whom had been excused, leaving 17 all of whom concurred in their presentment, when His Honor, Judge Brooks remarked that ordinarily it would be improper to read publicly presentments made by a Grand Jury, but that he was free to depart from the rule upon the request now made by the Jury, and read from the Bench, the presentment as follows:

We, the Grand Jury of the United States District Court, Spring Term, 1877, do present, J. J. Cassidy, Calvin Graham, Charles H. Strode, A. M. Nelson, J. K. Hammonds, J. B. Thompson, James Eldridge, J. T. Basset, J. A. Ashe, J. W. Bryant, Troy Cashwell, N. VanSolen, C. S. Edwards, for a conspiracy in trumping up false and trivial charges against various citizens of this District for alleged violations of the Internal Revenue laws, for the sole purpose and intent of obtaining from the Federal Government an increase of their official fees.

(Signed) Will. Watters, Foreman, Alfred Howe, J. E. Crow, G. W. Betts, J. H. Carraway, Samuel Northrop, John W. St. George, James C. Grimes, L. K. Skipper, P. Bourk, Jno. H. Mints, E. S. Garner, Thomas S. Watson, L. M. Cooper, John Gore, Geo. L. Schutte, James F. Shine.

His Honor then said: I have more than suspected for some time that there were improper influences prompting in some quarters some of the prosecutions with which this Court has had to deal. The very appearance of many of the witnesses offered for the government as well as the proof of their bad character, frequently authorizes a verdict against their positive testimony; that at least it showed a condition of morals in this part of the district truly to be regretted; that it was damaging; seriously so in more ways than one; that the people would not respect, as all should respect, a government whose officers, whether they be high or low, would lend themselves toward the prosecution of innocent persons, and it not unfrequently created a prejudice from which those who are really guilty would escape; that it is a very great mistake, if any of those referred to in this presentment have supposed that any such acts as those complained of would be approved, or allowed when known, by this Court or the gentleman who prosecutes in behalf of the government.

Under Fire at Charleston.

The Raleigh Observer has a very interesting correspondence from Newbern, giving a roster of the names of the North Carolina officers and soldiers who were held under fire in Charleston harbor in August, 1864. As a matter of interest to the people of this section and as something worthy of being placed on record for future reference, we publish here the remarks of the Observer's correspondent as well as the entire list. He says:

On the 20th of August, 1864, six enlisted men and about six hundred (600) officers of the Confederate army, prisoners of war, were removed from Fort Delaware, where they had been confined, and were sent by the United States authorities to Morris' Island, S. C., then occupied by Federal forces engaged in their abortive siege of Charleston. From Hilton Head, S. C., where the prisoners arrived August 25th, 1864, forty of their number, disabled by wounds or disease, were sent to the hospital at Beaufort, S. C. The remainder landed on Morris' Island, September 7, where they were placed in stockade under fire of the guns of the defenses of Charleston harbor, remaining there until October 21st, 1864, when they were transferred to Fort Pulaski, Ga. On the 4th of March, 1865, such of them as could be moved were embarked in very sad plight for Fort Delaware, arriving there via Hampton Roads, March 12th:

I send you a roster of the North Carolinians, who were of the party, which is compiled from memoranda made at the time by Capt. John L. Cantwell, Co. "F," 3d N. C. Infantry, himself one of the prisoners.

It may be said of these men even more appropriately than of that other famous Six Hundred of Tennyson, and with but slight alteration of his text, that

"Into the valley of Death,
"Marched the Six Hundred."

These could have, in their equally deadly peril, none of the enthusiasm, the maddening excitement that sustained men in the charge at Balaklava, but were compelled to wait day by day and face a death, not to be shunned, that friendly guns, whose fire might not be withheld, hourly threatened.

The People Want Proof.

There is no medicine prescribed by Physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue of BO-SHIE'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted, can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing every one that use it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it.
