

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. 2. WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, MAY 25, 1877. NO. 107

NEWS SUMMARY.

The Staten Island farmers are disheartened at the appearance of millions of potato bugs. They predict that they will not harvest as many potatoes as they planted. — Alfred P. Aurere, geologist, New York city, died on a train between Suspension Bridge and St. Catharines, Ont. — Don Carlos has been requested to leave France and has gone to Linz, Austria. — The St. Petersburg Cabinet has expressed adherence to the views of the Austrian Government, that the impediment of navigation of the Danube should only last as long as it is made absolutely necessary on account of military operations. No doubt is entertained that the Porte will likewise accede to the views of the Vienna Cabinet. — The employees of the Pennsylvania Rail Road will probably strike in view of the proposed ten per cent reduction of wages. — The Turkish Chamber of Deputies have voted a resolution demanding the impeachment of Mahmud Neddin Pasha. Mahmud Neddin Pasha was Grand Vizier under Sultan Abdul Aziz, and was known as a friend of the Russians, and a foe of Gen. Ignatieff. — Several Miridite insurrectionary leaders were arrested near Glinbigne by the Turks while on their way to Montenegro to concert common action with the Prince. There is great excitement in the Miridita. — The steamship Ohio, at Philadelphia from Liverpool, reports that on May 16, in latitude 49° 84', longitude 28° 45', she signalled the steamship City of Brussels from New York, under sail; all well. — The free floating baths in New York are to be opened to the public June 1st. — The President has issued an executive order reserving the Pagossa Hot Springs and one square mile of land surrounding them, in Colorado, as permanent public property. These springs are considered valuable for medicinal purposes, and this action is taken with a view to preventing future difficulties concerning them, such as have caused so much trouble in the case of the Arkansas Hot Springs. — Four inches of snow is reported in Berkshire county, Massachusetts, and damage to fruit is apprehended. — A fire at Grafton, Michigan, Wednesday night, destroyed Meeks & Jenks' two saw mills, several dwellings, and about two million feet of lumber; loss $50,000. — A Persian camp, composed of 10,000 infantry and 2,000 cavalry, is stated to have been formed at Selmast, near the Turco-Persian frontier, with the object of defending Persian neutrality. The Lawrence silk smugglers cases, involving millions of dollars, have been certified by a divided court to the Supreme Court on a question of limitation. — The bark N. Boynton, from New York, with emigrants for New South Wales, has arrived out. — Late instructions from the Treasury Department require the Treasurer and Assistant Treasurer of the United States to receive silver in any amount when presented for deposit by a public officer, received in the usual course of business. — The request of Gov. Emory, that troops be sent to Utah, has been transferred to General Sherman. Gen. Crook will be ordered to Utah to investigate the necessity for the movement. — Turkish deserters say there are dissensions between the Turkish Generalissimo and Eyoub Pasha, second in command. The latter wishes to cross the Danube and invade Roumania, but Abdul Kelm Pasha, the Generalissimo, insists upon purely defensive tactics. — The union of Bosnia, Herzegovina and Servia into one State under an Austrian Archduke is discussed at Vienna. — The Greek Minister at Vienna gives decided assurances that the rumors of Greece participating in the war are unfounded. — The Duke de Cizes has issued a circular protesting against the supposition that the ministry entertain the idea of departing from neutrality. — Reports of Serbia's military preparations are confirmed. — All of the Circassian cavalry officers have been summoned to Constantinople for the purpose of forming twenty-five cavalry regiments there and at Adrianople, and at Sofia. — Russia would not object to Constantinople and the Suez canal being placed under the protection of England, provided Russia is allowed to protect Roumania, Bulgaria, Servia and Montenegro, and annex the village of Erzerum. — James Gilliland succeeds A. N. Wyman as Treasurer of the United States. — The Russians are mobilizing a reserve of 150,000 Cossacks of the Don.

THE DAILY REVIEW is the only paper in Wilmington which published Judge Cantwell's address before the W. L. I. Why, then, does not the Raleigh Obs receive the necessary credit in making an extract from it?
When a woman drinks soda she hoists the glass at an angle of eight degrees, bends over, holds in her dress, and as she looks out of the corner of her eyes, seeing to be in an ecstasy of appreciation, a little drop of soda runs down off her chin and goes like a pearl plummet to the floor.
We stepped into a milliner's shop yesterday on business and accidentally sat down on a bonnet that some one had laid on the chair. We remained there until no one was looking in our direction and then quietly got up and stepped to one side. There was a lady in at the time looking for a bonnet shaped to suit her. She finally found the one we had put in shape, and it just took her fancy; it was just what she wanted, so she said.
Veteran Corps W. L. I.
At a meeting of the above corps, held yesterday evening at the Armory of the company, an election for officers to serve the ensuing twelve months was held, which resulted in the unanimous election of Col. W. L. DeRosset, as President, Col. John L. Cantwell, Vice President, and Capt. C. D. Myers as Sect'y & Treas.
Personal.
We acknowledge with much pleasure the courtesy of a call this morning from Mr. James D. Brooks, well known throughout the State for years past as a thorough-going insurance man, but who is now Senior Editor of the Statesville Landmark. Mr. Brooks visits our city in the interest of his paper which is published in the midst of a section whose trade is worth contending for by our merchants. We commend him to the attention of our people.
Petty Frauds and Swindles.
Beware of Baking Powders which are put up short weight. A manufacturer who swindles, knowingly, in weight will not hesitate to sell adulterated baking powder. DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER has a world-wide reputation for perfect purity and always being full weight. It bears every test for superior excellence.

A Pic Nic on Historic Ground.

A small party of ladies and gentlemen (and it was our good fortune to be of the number) picnicked yesterday at Kendall, the plantation and residence of Owen D. Holmes, Esq., situated about 15 miles below the city and a short distance above Fort Anderson. It was a delightful day in every sense of the word and rendered doubly so by the kind attentions of our entertainers. Kendall is one of the oldest places on the river and is situated between Lilliput on the one side and Orton on the other. The house is on a high bluff about half a mile from the river and commands a splendid view. The yard is a very extensive one and is covered to a large extent with beautiful shade trees under which a regiment might encamp. The place is in the midst of a historic section, dating from times prior to the revolution and running back now for a century and a half, and we learned yesterday many old legends, and some new ones too, which we hope to print at an early day.
During the afternoon the party started over to Orton, previous to the war the seat of the late Dr. F. J. Hill and well known at that time as being the finest place on the Cape Fear river. But the hand of time and of those who followed in the wake of Terry's command is on everything. The house is a wreck and the beautiful grounds around it are choked with the growth and weeds of a decade and a half of years. Still the property is a fine one and the house and grounds could both be restored at a comparatively moderate outlay. Around Orton there lingers many traditions of the old settlers, of those who first laid an axe to the root of the trees and established what was for many years the flourishing town of Brunswick, at what is now known as Fort Anderson and of which nothing now remains but the grim walls of the old church and the moldering dust of those who rest in the churchyard. Old Brunswick was settled about the year 1725 by Col. Maurice Moore, brother to the celebrated "King Roger," a name familiar to the traditions of our past. Nearly opposite the site of Old Brunswick frowns a high sandy bluff which, from its peculiar formation, is called Sugar Loaf, and there is an old legend of the prowess of King Roger connected with this spot. It is said that he had been very much annoyed by the depredations of the Indians and one day while he was entertaining a number of gentlemen at dinner, news was brought to him that the savages had assembled in considerable force on the opposite side of the river. He immediately rose and proposed to his guests, all of whom were inflamed with wine, that they should cross the river and attack the enemy. His proposal was at once seconded and the party having hurriedly armed themselves were led by King Roger to the quay at Brunswick where they embarked. The river at this point is about three miles wide and in a short time they had all landed at Sugar Loaf. Here they found the Indians in force and the battle was joined at once, resulting in a victory for the whites. Old legends tell of many deeds of valor done on this day but none equal to those performed by King Roger. He seems to have fought his way to the top of the bluff where it has been asserted that he slew seven of the Indians with his own hand. This, however, but one account of the affair. Tradition has it differently at different times and on different occasions, one report of the affair being that King Roger was surprised by the Indians, when alone on the summit of Sugar Loaf. The different legends all agree, however, in the assertion that he was a mighty warrior and that he had been dubbed "King Roger" because of his preeminence among the settlers in the infant colony. His remains lie interred within a short distance of the residence at Orton and this spot we also visited. The grave had originally been bricked up to the height of four feet from the ground with the head and foot somewhat higher and peaked, but the top has fallen in. But the monument is good now against the ravages of time for yet a great many years to come and the English brick, of which it is formed, shows no signs of decay.
There are other items of interest, which we learned yesterday, and which we hope to bring forward at some future time. Suffice it to say here that the neighborhood of Orton and Kendall abounds in rich historic lore of the men and scenes of other days which should be preserved and not allowed to lapse into the complete forgetfulness which has threatened them for so many years past, and which may yet be their fate if they are not rescued and preserved by the passing generation.

The Thermometer.

From the United States Signal Office at this place we obtain the following report of the thermometer, as taken this morning at 7:31 o'clock:
Augusta, 60; Charleston, 65; Corsicana, 66; Galveston, 78; Indianola, 76; Jacksonville, 71; Key West, 81; Mobile, 66; Montgomery, 64; New Orleans, 72; Norfolk, 63; Punta Rassa, 79; Savannah, 72; St. Marks, 69; Wilmington, 53.

The Front Street Pavement.

The paving of Front street, north of Market, has been carried on very vigorously of late, and it is expected that the work will be concluded to the depot by the latter part of next week. When this is done it is hoped that the city authorities will pave in between street the railway track all of the way from Market to Red Cross, and that the railroad people will build a wide and substantial bridge at the head of the street.

Dogs and Dog Badges.

But 631 dog badges have been issued thus far and it is thought that this does not cover more than one-fifth of the number of dogs in the city. Of this number of badges, only 41 were issued to female dogs, which would seem to argue the gratifying fact that the race of dogs is soon to become extinct here, were it not for the fact that many of the gender have been removed beyond the limits. The City Treasury has thus far been replenished by the dog tax only $718.

A Beautiful Sight.

Fourteen small vessels sailed up the river yesterday afternoon within a space of three miles. Of these eleven were from the Eastern counties of the State and were loaded with corn. The others were regular packets from neighboring points on the coast. We came up the river on the Underhill at the time and passed the entire fleet. It was one of the most beautiful sights we ever saw on the broad bosom of the old Cape Fear. The eleven corn crackers brought 18,179 bushels.

North Carolina Ministers in New Orleans.

We gather from the New Orleans Democrat that last Sunday night Rev. J. R. Wilson, D. D., of Wilmington, N. C., preached at the First Presbyterian Church of New Orleans; Sunday morning, Rev. L. C. Vass, of Newbern, N. C., preached in the Franklin Street Church; in the morning, Rev. W. S. Lacy, of Moore county, N. C., preached in the Napoleon Avenue Church, and at night Rev. D. E. Jordan, of Oxford, N. C., preached in the St. Charles Avenue Methodist Church. These reverend gentlemen are in New Orleans attending the session of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the Southern States.

Worth Knowing.

One pound of green copperas, costing seven cents, dissolved in one quart of water, is very efficacious in purifying bad air and will effectually concentrate and destroy the foulest smells. On board ships and steamboats, about hotels and other public places, there is nothing so nice to purify the air; simple green copperas, dissolved thoroughly in anything that will hold water, will render a hospital, or other place for the sick, free from unpleasant smells. In fish markets, slaughter-houses, sinks and wherever there are offensive putrid gases, dissolve copperas and sprinkle it about, and in a few days the smell will pass away.

Fire Near the City.

The house on the old Williams place, five miles from the city, on the road leading to North East ferry, was burned to the ground early this morning. It was occupied by Mr. A. J. Mott, who with his family barely escaped from the burning building. It was nearly daylight when the fire was discovered, but Mr. Mott thinks that it must have been burning for two hours previously. It seems to have caught in the kitchen and the impression is that it was set on fire. Mr. Mott, we regret to learn, lost everything. The place belongs to Mr. Adam G. Latta, of this city. The house was valued at $1,500 and was insured with Maj. J. A. Byrne's Agency for $1,000.

When a fond wife decides to accompany her husband to a soda water fountain, and while she says "sarsaparilla" and he leans over to whisper to the attendant, the syrup he takes comes from under the counter and looks like thin molasses.

PLEASE NOTICE.
We will be glad to receive communications from our friends on any and all subjects of general interest but:

And it is especially and particularly understood that the editor does not always endorse the views of correspondents, unless so stated in the editorial columns.

Head Wash.
Sage tea is one of the very best washings and dressings for the hair. The hair should be carefully brushed and braided in two firm braids, then the roots rubbed with a sponge dipped in lukewarm sage tea, after which the braids can be washed and dried with a towel. This preserves the color of the hair and keeps the scalp clean.

Sensible Advice.
You are asked every day through the columns of newspapers and by your Druggist to use something for Dyspepsia and Liver complaint that you know nothing about; you get discouraged spending money with but little success. Now to give you satisfactory proof that GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER will cure you of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint with all its effects, such as Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Constiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Heart-burn, Water brash, coming up of food after eating, low spirits, &c., we ask you to go to your Druggist and get a Sample Bottle of GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER for 10 cents and try it, or a Regular Size for 75 cents; two doses will relieve you.
