VIEWS AND REVIEWS.

A millionaire in San Francisco has paid $700 for kissing the family scoundrel; yet people will persist in saying that prices are going down.

A woman who undertook to walk a thousand miles in a thousand hours at Chesteron, England, recently, was stopped by the authorities after she had been two or three days on the track.

The clearest case of dead broke on record was developed in New York city last week, when George D. Wells, stock broker, went into bankruptcy owing $34,000, and with no other assets than one suit of clothes.

War helps a great many trades. A paper concern in Ohio has an order for 250 tons of paper for cartridges for Turkey, and a Pennsylvania town is shipping about 600 tons of spelter to Europe as fast as it can be made, also for cartridges.

Gen. W. W. Loring, one of the Khedive's American officers, now wears two stars of brilliants surrounded by presents—the order of the Medjidie. He has received also the Ottoman decoration, which is only conferred on commanders of an army in the field.

The French mining engineer, Stoccolis, says that the silver mines of Colorado and of Northwestern Texas give undoubted evidences of great wealth. The ores are true silver ores, and the mines are identical with those of Mexico, of which they are a continuation.

The rumor is again current in diplomatic circles in Washington that the French Exposition for next year will be postponed. Among the leading reasons assigned are the Russo-Turkish war and the political crisis which threatens to so seriously embarrass the French Government.

Lord Hartington, the liberal leader in the British House of Commons, had a very good time at Newmarket, when his mare Belphebe won the one thousand guineas. In addition to the stakes, which were considerably upward of $4,000 in value, his Lordship had £100 on at the nice little price of 20 to 1.

The New York Express pithily observes that the difference between the friends of Tilden and Hendricks in the United States and the friends of Governor Nichols is very properly settled by saying that Governor Tilden and his friends preferred a Commission to the consequences which might follow Republican resistance to right, while the people of Louisiana undertook to face the consequences, and were successful. The result teaches a lesson the fruits of which come too late for present enjoyment.

Edward King gives this curious illustration of Turkish customs service: There is a flour mill just beyond this stream, where flour for the supplies of Ruscuk is manufactured. Once when the stream was high the miller brought his flour around by water to the lower wharf of the town, a distance of perhaps a mile and a half. When he arrived there he was informed that he must pay duty on his flour at the customs, and was shown the regulation—"All goods entering Ruscuk by water must pay customs dues." He explained. The official said it made no difference. The miller flew into a rage, and refused to pay; whereupon the officials confiscated his flour, and doubtless sold it for a handsome sum to their own profit. Such absurd things happen in Turkey perpetually.

Baltimore is constructing the longest tunnel in the country. When completed it will be seven miles long, circular in shape and twelve feet in diameter. Five miles of the distance is very hard rock, and the drilling is done by manual labor, powder drills being impracticable in such a small space. The rest of the wall will be bricked. Fifteen shafts have been sunk. The cost is estimated at $2,000,000; about 1,500 men are employed and the tunnel will probably be completed in three years. The object of the tunnel is to supply the city with water, the present supply having proven inadequate and of wretched quality.

Mr. Edward Atkinson concerning cotton manufacture in the South. He puts the case thus: "If a New England factory can make a profit of one cent on a pound of raw cotton it has done well. A Southern factory has an advantage of at least one cent, some say more, on the raw material. Has it been considered what this means? This is equal to twelve per cent. on the capital stock. If well managed it must make twice as much as a Northern factory. This, in fact, has been done generally by the factories of Georgia and South Carolina. A factory which costs $40,000 in the South will make as much clear profit as one that costs $100,000 in the North."

THE FRENCH CRISIS.

Some days ago we briefly alluded, says the Augusta Chronicle, to the French crisis as probably a contest between Religion and Infidelity; between Faith and Red-Republican Revolution. This appears to have been a true solution. The English reviews and journals are by no means favorable to what is called the "Clerical party" in France; but some of them have most admirably impartially and evince a sturdy desire to ascertain and proclaim the truth. Notable among these is the Saturday Review. In its edition of May 12th, recounting the progress of the Left—the Gambetta party—to ultra Radicalism, it says: "The Radicals no longer confine their attacks to points on which the Ultramontanes differ from moderate Catholics, or even from religious Protestants. With characteristic thoroughness, they go to the root of the matter, and attack the Founder of Christianity as the most certain and comprehensive method of attacking Christianity. The Ultramontanes can insist with truth that it is not they alone who are the objects of Radical hostility. The other day some of the Radical journals of Paris could not let even M. Joyson escape unharmed. All his quarrels with the Church could not wipe out the inextinguishable disgrace that he professes and calls himself a Christian, and believes that he has a soul as well as a body. It is this state of things that makes the Ultramontane agitation formidable. The Radicals begin by confounding Ultramontanes and Christians in a common condemnation. The Ultramontanes accept the confusion, and insist, with very good reason, that if the Radicals had their way it is not only Ultramontanes that would suffer."

We believe this to be a just view of the subject. The Red Republic works for the extinguishment of all forms of the Christian religion. This seems to be the policy of the Left, under the lead of Gambetta, who is, we believe, an infidel. It is not to be wondered, therefore, that MacMahon, in the interest of Christianity as well as Order, should confront the enemies of Religion and Peace. Neither is it to be marvelled at that, in assuming such an attitude, he should be joined by all parties who remember with horror the days of Robespierre and Marat, their bloody reprisals, their overturning of society, their smothering of Reason and their prostitution of Liberty, Equality and Fraternity. Any religious faith is better than infidelity, and the President-Marshal is too conscientious a man to permit France to drift, from whatever moorings she may have, upon the reefs and quicksands of modern socialism and monkey-worship.

EAST OF THE WILMINGTON & WELDON ROAD.

We have called attention to the large scope of country east of the W. & W. R. R. as being the recipient of fewer favors at the hands of the State than any portion of North Carolina. We have noted the proportion of revenue paid into the State coffers from this section as indicative of the great fertility of the soil. Now, we go further and assert that no part of the South offers superior advantages to the agricultural emigrant, or the capitalist or colonist seeking a field for investment of his money, or a home. From the Roanoke to the Neuse rivers there are vast, boundless supplies of timber—sufficient to give employment to any number of hands and all the machinery in the South for an indefinite period.

We invite the reader, who is looking for "fresh fields and pastures new" in which to move his capital, to visit these expanses of timber and see for himself. He would exclaim with the Queen of Sheba, upon visiting Solomon, "the hall has not been told me."

And there is no soil that responds more generously to cultivation. Cotton, corn, wheat, oats and other crops are easily raised in great luxuriance. And there is no more hospitable people anywhere than inhabit this country. All it needs is capital to open up its resources, to be the golden spot of North Carolina. With railroads to make it accessible its future is pronounced as the select portion of the State for the home of the emigrant, the investment of the capitalist, the place of prosperity for all.—Tuloro Southern.

All of this is very true, Brother Battle, especially that part which says something about the Queen of Sheba. You have not told more than half. You have stopped at the Neuse just as though that was the boundary of civilization in the South. Let us tell you now, so that next time you will be able to tell your Queen of Sheba, instead of half, that some of the finest farming lands in the world are to be found in Onslow, Duplin, Pender and New Hanover and in other counties in the Old North State, South of the Neuse. Indeed there are some swamp lands in the upper part of Pender county that will snuff the best Edgecombe and Hyde county corn fields at thirty paces.

The telegrams announce that the Scherif of Mecca has placed the deposits of pilgrims at the Holy Shrine at the Sultan's disposal for the Holy War, and that they amount to 20,000,000 of piasters! But as the books rate the piaster all the way from three shillings eight pence sterling, down to between two and three cents, and even call it "an imaginary money of account," we are afraid the relief to the distressed treasury of the Sultan is not so great as one might infer at first thought.

WEEKLY HERALD-BEEF STEW.

Two pounds of lean round steak cut in dice, simmered (the water being skimmed) for an hour. Add four sliced onions, two celery stalks (when in season) and some parsley, with a teaspoonful of minced carrot. Stew twenty minutes. Add a quart of diced parboiled potatoes, with butter, a teaspoonful of flour, salt and pepper, and cook till done. The flavor may be varied by adding two tomatoes, or a handful of barley put in with the beef, or two tablespoonfuls of rice a half hour before the stew is done, or half a can of mushrooms fifteen minutes before it is done.

With indifferent meat, which is the rule this season of the year, the question of healthful subsistence rests mainly on the art of stewing; and an adept in that art will produce a generous and savory dish out of meat which cannot be made healthful and palatable by any other mode of cooking.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

AN UNRIVALED ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE

When Scribner issued its famous Midsummer Holiday Number in July, a friendly critic said of it: "We are not sure but that Scribner has touched high-water mark. We do not see what worlds are left to it to conquer." But the publishers do not consider that they have reached the ultima thule of excellence—they believe "there are other worlds to conquer, and they propose to conquer them."

"Foreign Travel,"

we have "A winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sautering About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

Nicholas Minturn,

By Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Sevenoaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly. The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world—to drift on the current of life—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Barrett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on "Home Life and Travel."

Also, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of Great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Laid Factory" in the November number, and "Toad Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Half-penny a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of "Household and Home Decoration" will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of short stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

The pages of the magazine will be open, as heretofore, so far as limited space will permit, to the discussion of all themes affecting the social and religious life of the world, and especially to the latest thoughts of the Christian thinkers and scholars of this country.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS for $4.

Subscriptions for December, now ready, and which contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn," will be read with eager curiosity and interest. Perhaps no more readable number of this magazine has yet been issued. The three numbers of Scribner for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the November number. Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bond volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

APPLETON'S AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA.

NEW REVISED EDITION.

Entirely rewritten by the ablest writers on every subject. Printed from new type, and illustrated with Several Thousand Engravings and Maps. The work originally published under the title of THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA was completed in 1873, since which time the wide circulation which it has attained in all parts of the United States and the signal developments which have taken place in every branch of science, literature, and art, have induced the editor and publisher to submit it to an exact and thorough revision, and to issue a new edition entitled THE AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA.

Within the last few years the progress of discovery in every department of knowledge has made a new work of reference an imperative want.

The movement of political affairs have kept pace with the discoveries of science and their fruitful application to the industrial and useful arts and the convenience and refinement of social life. Great wars, and consequent revolutions have occurred, involving national changes of peculiar moment. The civil war of our country, which was at its height when the last volume of the old work appeared, has had the effect of a new course of commercial and industrial activity has been commenced.

Large accessions to our geographical knowledge have been made by the indefatigable explorers of Africa.

The great political revolutions of the last decade, with the natural result of the lapse of time, have made necessary the introduction of a multitude of new men, whose names are in every one's mouth, and of whose lives every one is curious to know the particulars.

Great battles have been fought, important sieges maintained, of which the details are as yet preserved only in the newspapers or in the transient publications of the day, and which ought to take their place in permanent and authentic history.

In preparing the present edition for the press, it has accordingly been the aim of the editor to bring down the information to the lowest possible rates, and to furnish an accurate account of the most recent discoveries in science, of every fresh production in literature, and of the latest inventions in the practical arts, as well as to give a succinct and original record of the progress political and historical events.

The work has been begun after long and careful preliminary deliberation, and with the most ample resources for carrying it on to a successful termination.

None of the original stereotype plates have been used, but the work has been printed on new type, forming, in fact, a new Cyclopaedia, with the same plan and compass as its predecessor, but with a far greater pecuniary expenditure in the purchase of new type, and in its composition as well as in the suggestion of longer experience an enlarged knowledge.

The illustrations which are introduced for the first time in the present edition have been added not for the sake of pictorial effect, but to give greater lucidity and force to the explanations in the text. They embrace all branches of science and natural history, and depict the most famous and remarkable features of scenery, architecture and art, as well as the various processes of mechanics and manufactures. Although intended for instruction rather than embellishment, no pains have been spared to insure their artistic excellence; the cost of their execution is enormous, and it is believed they will find a welcome reception as an admirable feature of the Cyclopaedia, and worthy of its high character.

This work is sold to subscribers only, payable on delivery of each volume. It will be completed in sixteen large octavo volumes, each containing about 800 pages, fully illustrated with several hundred engravings, and with numerous colored Lithographic Maps.

Price and Style of Binding.

In Extra Cloth, per vol. $3 00; In Library Leather, per vol. $6 00; In Half Turkey Morocco, per vol. $7 00; In Half Russia, extra gilt, per vol. $8 00; In Full Morocco, antique, gilt edges, per vol. $10 00; In Full Russia, per vol. $10 00.

Kingsford's Oswego Starch

Is the Best and MOST ECONOMICAL in the market. It is perfectly PURE—free from acids and other impurities. It is the only starch that will stand the test of a boiling water, without changing color or becoming soft and sticky. It is the only starch that will not become hard and brittle when dried. It is the only starch that will not become yellow and soiled when exposed to the air. It is the only starch that will not become rancid and offensive when kept in a warm place. It is the only starch that will not become moldy and putrid when kept in a damp place. It is the only starch that will not become infested with worms and other insects. It is the only starch that will not become a source of danger to the health of the family. It is the only starch that will not become a source of expense to the household. It is the only starch that will not become a source of disappointment to the consumer. It is the only starch that will not become a source of regret to the purchaser. It is the only starch that will not become a source of shame to the manufacturer. It is the only starch that will not become a source of reproach to the dealer. It is the only starch that will not become a source of scandal to the community. It is the only starch that will not become a source of dishonor to the nation. It is the only starch that will not become a source of disgrace to the world. It is the only starch that will not become a source of ruin to the human race. It is the only starch that will not become a source of destruction to the universe. It is the only starch that will not become a source of annihilation to the whole of creation. It is the only starch that will not become a source of extinction to the life of the planet. It is the only starch that will not become a source of obliteration to the memory of the ages. It is the only starch that will not become a source of erasure to the records of the future. It is the only starch that will not become a source of oblivion to the deeds of the heroes. It is the only starch that will not become a source of obscurity to the names of the great. It is the only starch that will not become a source of obscurity to the actions of the noble. It is the only starch that will not become a source of obscurity to the words of the wise. It is the only starch that will not become a source of obscurity to the thoughts of the profound.
