LOCAL NEWS.
New Advertisements.
A fox is 20 yards from a river. A dog is 60 yards behind the fox.

The Thermometer.
From the United States Signal Office at this place we obtain the following report of the thermometer, as taken this morning at 7:31 o'clock:

Did not Come.
Prof. Kerr did not arrive here yesterday as he was expected to do but we understand that he will come here in the Fall to examine the bed of bones found at Ex-Sheriff Black's plantation on the Sound.

The Conductor.
That conductors generally dress well is an indisputable fact, and that some conductors are better arrayed than others is equally clear to the vision of all.

The Race.
The regatta on "the Fourth" bids fair to be the most interesting and exciting ever had on the coast.

Problem.
A friend hands us the following problem for solution, which we have no doubt can be easily solved by some of the many students just turned loose from their books:

A Real Curiosity.
A friend exhibited to us yesterday one of the "curiosities" things we ever saw. It was a petrified clam, found in one of the marl beds near the city.

Surrendered Himself.
A man by the name of Michael Priest, apparently about 28 or 30 years of age, surrendered himself to officer King, of the police force, this morning.
