Apersonal friend of ex-President Jef-Davis, who has lately arrived in Washington, says that Mr. Davis is busily cagaged in the completion of his work the fall by the Appletons. Mr Davis rill enticise very severely the policy and plus of Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, as a Gefolerate chieftain, and will charge on him the full responsibility for the nonpursuit of the Federal forces into Washmeton on occasion of the first battle of Ball Run, in July, 1861.

The above paragraph, the origin of which is unknown, having b en extensively invalided through the press, we are autherized and requested, on the best autherity, utterly to deny that there is any foundation for it, beyond the fact that Mr. Davis is preparing for publication a work which, when completed, will be issued by the Messrs. Appleton. But it will not be actiticism of the "policy and plans" of Gen. Joseph E. Johnston. The statement is absurd, and no personal friend of Mr. paris has ever been authorized, either dreetly or indirectly, to make it. It is quite probable that the acts of Gen Johnsthe may be referred to, as well as those of Confederate commanders, but not as alealing subject of the work, and not in the spirit intimated by the writer of the

Saturday night and yesterday morning John Barleycorn and his worshippers held high carnival in "Derrech's Bottom' and on the heights of "Dickerson Hill." #### Deadly Assault with a Hatchet and Razor upon a Woman.

Margaret Ann Clarity, colored, living on Princess and 10th streets, was very badly and dangerously assaulted with a hatchet and razor on Saturday night last by a colored woman named Mary Eliza Nixon. who was assisted by York Watters, also colored. Clarity has had reasons to suspect that Mary Nixon was endeavoring to Thomas Weeks, Jarceny, 5 years in the noticing on Saturday night more evident signs of a preparation on the part of Nixon Jos. She was met at the door by Virginia Pearson, one of the inmates of the den, who candle in hand led the way into the house. John Lewis, larcery, 2 years in the was made upon her. Her would-be assassins fled, evidently thinking her dead. She finally made her way down town and placed herself under the protection of the police who carried her to the guard room. Drs. J. F. King and A. E. Wright dressed the wounds. Blood was flowing freely from the frontal artery and two or three severe gashes on her head. The woman was finally taken to her home, when it was discovered that most of her clothing had been stolen. York Watters was arrested yesterday, but the Burgaw, N. C., Aug. 8th, 1877.

DEAR SIR-At a meeting here to-day of the friends of Burgaw, the undersigned were appointed a committee to write you this letter. We are requested, in behalf of the friends of Burgaw, to tender you a public dinner at such early time and place as may suit your convenience. The offer is made without regard to party or sec-tion. To our people this is the most important election that has been held or will hereafter be held in this county. You have been the leading spirit in forming Pender county and in locating the county site at Burgaw. This is the voice of history and the general sentiment of the people of Pender. You have not sought office or promotion. Your motives have been pure and unselfish, and the people of Pender county will ever feel grateful to you for the noble and manly stand you have taken for our county site and for your untiring zeal and purity of purpose in contending for the good of the whole people of Pender county. Please send us a favorable response to this spontaneous desire of the friends of Burgaw to extend to you a deserved honor.

With much respect, we are truly yours, J. P. Hand, W. E. Cowan, Jas. Garrason, I. H. Brown, J. R. Moore, Ephraim Hawes, Archy Walker, James H. Durham, John Bell, F. H. Bell, Committee, &c.

ROCKY POINT, N. C., Gentlémen:

location of the county site at Burgaw. will relieve you. But you do not overrate the purity of my motives and the disinterestedness of my action in the one case or the other. I do not however claim any credit for what I by Rev. William S. Black, Presiding have done, other than that which pertains Elder, for the Wilmington District, Methto the humblest member of the community for discharging his duty in upholding the right and opposing the wrong. This obigation upon every man is not lessened by the fact that it has become the exception rather than the rule for men to shape their course according to principle and duty and not by that narrow and unworthy line of policy and selfishness which is the motive power of the swarms of demagogues, swindlers, and impostors, who fill the professions and infest the body politic since the war. In the present day of inordinate love of office and money when so many men, public and private, grow in brightness, as we'l as rise nearly are grovelling in the quagmire of demorpatronage and power, no man is worthy of consideration who is not influenced by honest and patriotic purposes in all he does, and who declines fearlessly to walk the path of right and duty in the face of that fickle public sentiment which upholds him to-day and perhaps condemns him to-morrow. Every true man aids in afflicted southern land there will be such an improvement in public taste and such an elevation of public sentiment as will induce the office to seek the man and prevent the man seeking the office. The formation of every new county and the location of every county site has been attended with those sectional conflicts and bitter feuds which have marked the contests in Pender upon these local issues. The bad feelings engendered will soon pass away as the smoke and fire of the battle disappears. Under the healing influences of time soon we shall vie one with another in not alone maintaining the welfare and reputation of Pender, now a suclead her daughter in the paths of vice and cess and popular with all classes and parties, but also in sustaining and building up Burgaw as a central location and a prosperous and coming town in North Carolina. To this end, and as a matter ed to the residence of Nixon where she had of justice, let us bear our victory with that moderation and magnanimity instinctive in every true man and hightoned gentleman in the hour of honorable triumph. But success is the more deserved and precious because we were struggling Haywood Howard, larceny, 2 years in Clarity had hardly entered when the light for principle, right, justice, and the highwas blown out and the deadly assault est, best good of Pender against oppression, wrong, sectionalism and certain sel-ordering a new election. The election enforces the instructive N. truth that Pender was not formed to advance individual interests at the expense of the public good, not to promote sectional preferences and prejudices people of the county. Let this emphatic lesson be a significant warning also to those who may hereafter fill the offices and manage the public affairs of our young and rising county. Let us remember that Pender was formed amid the fires of sacrifice and persecution amounting almost to the throes of revolution, and that Burgaw was elected its capital through the trying ordeal of one of the most fiery local contests ever known in the State. Let these considerations unite with the heroic name of the county in inducing us all to strike for a high standard of integrity, morality, pride and government for Pender. Imperious professional engagements deny me the pleasure of accepting your offer of a public dinner. In addition, while grateful to my friends, I begthem to abundance. All work done in silence and consider whether, in our impoverished condition, it would not be more judicious to appropriate the amount that would be expended in such a complimentary demonstration, to the cause of benevolence, education and religion at Burgaw and elsewhere in the county.

Very truly, yours, &c., S. S. SATCHWELL, To Messrs. S. P. Hand, W. E. Cowan, James Garrason, I. H. Brown, J. R. Moore, Ephraim Hawes, Archy Walker, James H. Durham, John Bell, F. H Bell, Committee, &c.
