JOHN HAAR, JR., Prop.—The Saloon of the City Mozart! W. B. McKOY—FOR RENT. W. J. BUEHMAN—E. & M. Bollman. Grand Family Excursion to Smithville. A. DAVID—Still Ahead.

Literary men can get laurels on their brows, but he can't browse on their laurels.

“Capital punishment,” as the boy said when the school mistress seated him with the girls.

A conscience void of offence is a good thing, but a firm void of a fence is quite another matter.

Yesterday afternoon a whole block of stores in Wilmington were without customers—none of them advertise.

The first paw-paws we have ever seen in this market were offered for sale here today. Some call them wild bananas.

The price of coal has been put up by the Pennsylvania company. Now let it put up the wages of its starving miners.

Mosquitoes are getting to be excessively annoying to all who don't know that a little oil of pennyroyal will effectually squelch them.

Merchants should now mark their barrels of flour one dollar higher—there is a rumor that a Turkish prisoner has escaped from the Russians.

The newest linen collar and cuffs have been made of the cambric of which the dress is made and handkerchiefs are edged with corresponding colors.

Why is it that etiquette makes “ladies and gentlemen” the only proper order of those words, whereas “women and men” sounds affectingly ridiculous?

Men who drink, says an exchange, live the longest. But the men who drink are, as a usual thing, longest remembered—when the melancholy bartender looks over his books.

Dresses with trained skirts have a loop of ribbon corresponding to the color of the dress just at the top of the flounce on the left side; this is passed over the wrist of the wearer in walking.

We understand that the offices of Adjutant, Chaplain, Commissary, Quartermaster, Surgeon and Sergeant-Major for the Second Battalion N. C. S. G. will be appointed in a few days.

Those on the lookout for stores or dwellings for the coming year are referred to the advertisement of Mr. W. B. McKay, Real Estate Agent and Stock Broker, as it appears in this issue.

The Cornet Concert Club will give another of their Concerts in the Opera House park this evening. Seats will be provided for the accommodation of those who will contribute ten cents towards replenishing the treasury of the band.

Donn Platt says of the rich man: “He never produced anything useful or ornamental. He has from time to time accumulated a library he could not read, pictures and statues he could not enjoy, and built tasteless monuments to his own worthless memory.”

“Light as a Cork,” The good wife exclaimed on taking the biscuit, prepared with DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER, from the oven; and well she might, for they were “perfectly splendid.”

The Excursion Yesterday.

The excursion given by the Whiting Barges yesterday on the barge Modoc was a complete success. The boat was full, there having been at least three hundred persons on board which will rank it as the largest excursion of the season. The party from the city was made larger by the addition of forty-two excursionists from Richmond county, who came down on the train yesterday morning. The barge stopped at Smithville where many of the party repaired to the Academy to dance and others to Bald Head on the tug, while others still remained on board.

As far as our own observation extended the day was passed pleasantly by all. There were lots of refreshments on board and everything was sold at city prices. Captain Gordon and his gentlemanly assistants did all they could to render everybody happy and they succeeded in a remarkable degree, the Whiting Barges being the happiest of all whenever they reflected upon the remarkable (and let us add deserved) success which had attended their efforts.

Maulsby's Point, Black River.

Don't forget the excursion to Maulsby's Point on Tuesday next on the steamer North East. The party of ladies and gentlemen who will meet the boat at the Point will add much to the pleasure of the trip. Dinner will be furnished on the grounds for 25 cents, and everything will be done to make the day one of real pleasure.

A Pleasant Sail.

While at Smithville yesterday we enjoyed a sail on the beautiful bay in one of Capt. D. W. Manson's fine boats, sailed by that gentleman himself. We cannot do better than recommend to our friends to do likewise whenever they visit Smithville. He has three fine boats, always ready to take out pleasure parties to any point of interest.

Personal.

Rev. George Patterson, D. D., Rector of St. John's Parish, has returned to the city after an official absence of several weeks at the University of the South, in Swannec, Tenn., of which he is a Trustee. He also stopped over for a few days on his return in Atlanta and Augusta, a slight accident in the former city having detained him there several days longer than he had intended to remain.

The Mozart.

The Mozart Saloon still holds its own as one of the most popular places of resort in the city. Its wine and liquor list is kept up to the high standard it has heretofore maintained, while fresh ice cold lager and excellent cigars are features of the house. They claim that the five cent cigar sold there is equal to the best to be had anywhere at that price. The billiard tables are kept in splendid order and are frequented steadily by the knights of the cue. Mr. John Haar, Jr., and his accommodating assistant, Capt. J. M. McGowan, still hold the fort.

Porter's Pals.

About 4 o'clock this morning the late residence of Carly Porter was visited by Porter's pals, it is supposed for the purpose of carrying off the stolen goods in Porter's house, but finding the goods had been captured by the officers they left for parts unknown. The desperado, Thos. Johnson, alias Elvi Johnson, who escaped from the penitentiary about a month ago, was recognized as one of the band. He stopped for a moment to speak to one of his acquaintances and then followed the direction of his comrades.

One More.

By advertisement published elsewhere it will be seen that a grand family excursion will be given on the barge Modoc to Smithville on Wednesday next Sept. 5th, under the management of Prof. Agostini. The Italian string band will play for the dancers and refreshments will be sold at city prices. The rates as low enough, only $1 for a gentleman and lady, and as the season is rapidly drawing to a close there will probably be many who will embrace a last opportunity for taking a mouthful of salt air before selling themselves to the work of the winter.

Gettysburg.

We respectfully call the attention of the readers of the Review to the account copied from the Raleigh Observer, published on the second page in the day's issue of the battle of Gettysburg. We copy the Observer's article entire, together with the reports of Majors Engelhar and Young and General Lane, all of whom were eye-witnesses and active participants in one of the grandest charges that ever occurred in the history of any war. What they have said is from their own knowledge and observation, and we believe, without prejudice to any one, but simply actuated by a desire for truth and justice. We commend the editorial comments to the thoughtful consideration of our Virginia contemporaries for its high-toned, dignified and manly utterances, and we heartily endorse all that our friend, Col. Wm. L. Saunders, himself a member of that glorious Army of Northern Virginia and a follower of the fortunes of our grand old Captain, Lee, for nearly four years, has said in regard to it. We had an editorial prepared for publication to-day bearing upon this same subject, but the Observer's article does so much better and fuller justice to the subject, that we take pleasure in giving our readers the benefit of it. We trust that every paper published within the State, that is true to North Carolina, will publish the account above referred to.

But a few more weeks—perhaps days, and then prepare for the “sere and yellow leaf.”

Military Matters.

The officers of the Second Battalion, of North Carolina State Guards met at Charlotte on yesterday to elect a Lieutenant-Colonel. All of the companies (nine) were represented either in person or by proxy. The meeting was held at the hall of the Hornet's Nest Steam Fire Engine Company, which had been kindly tendered for the occasion. The meeting was called to order at half-past 10 o'clock by Major M. P. Taylor, the commanding officer of the Battalion, and after reading Special Order No. 7 from the Adjutant General ordering the election, the meeting proceeded to the election of a Secretary, which resulted in the selection of Capt. J. G. Branch of the Anson Guards. Major Taylor then called Captain A. G. Brenizer to the chair, he being the senior Captain present, and retired so as to allow them to be unembarrassed by his presence and that they might have a free discussion as to the officer of their choice.

Major Taylor was unanimously elected on the first ballot, and a Committee consisting of Lieutenant Young of the Hornet's Nest Rifles and Captain Hand of the Charlotte Grays was appointed to inform him of his election and escort him to the meeting. The Colonel was escorted to the hall by the Committee when Capt. Brenizer stated that it was his pleasure to inform him that he had been unanimously elected Lieutenant-Colonel of the Battalion, and Captain Brenizer vacated the chair to him.

In accepting the office to which he had been elected, Col. Taylor said he was not unmindful of the responsible duties his brother officers had imposed upon him, in elevating him to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel of the Battalion, but with the aid and assistance he should expect from officers and members of the different companies, he hoped to make his Battalion one that would reflect great credit upon the State, and without their hearty cooperation it would be no easy task for any officer to accomplish it.

Col. Taylor then occupied the chair as presiding officer, when a recess was taken until 3 o'clock, to notify the Adjutant-General of Major Taylor's promotion, when he at once issued Special Order No. 8, for the election of a Major of the Battalion. The meeting was called to order at 3 o'clock, when the Secretary read Special Order No. 8, and the meeting proceeded to fill the vacancy. Lieut. J. G. Harris of the “Hornet's Nest Rifles” was put in nomination, and was unanimously elected on the first ballot. Major Harris thanked the officers for the honor conferred upon him and assured them he would serve them to the best of his ability.

There being no further business the meeting adjourned sine die. The officers were then invited to the Chamber of Commerce Rooms, where the few hours left before taking their departure were pleasantly spent. After remaining there about one hour, they were notified that the carriages were in waiting at the door to take them to drive over the city.

The officers all express themselves in the highest terms of the cordial reception which is so characteristic of Charlotte) which was extended to them, and at 6 o'clock again started for their homes. They all speak in terms of the highest commendation of “mine host” of the Central Hotel in Charlotte, who is not only a Chesterfield in manners, but certainly knows how to keep a first class hotel.

A Robbery in Broad Daylight.

Between the hours of 8 a. m., and 6 p. m. on yesterday the residence of Capt. W. H. Kenan, on Nun, between Front and Second streets, was entered and completely ransacked. Capt. Kenan and Mr. W. F. Hargrave, who are now the sole occupants of the dwelling, Capt. Kenan's family being out of the city, left the house yesterday morning, leaving every thing in the proper order, but upon their return their clothing strewed over the floor and the bureau drawers ransacked. Mr. Kenan missed his pistol, a gold sleeve button and one handkerchief, though a search of many things not yet missed no doubt were carried off by the thieves. An entrance was effected by prizing open one of the back windows. The back of the house is very much exposed to view the neighboring lots and if the robbery not the boldest it is certainly one of the boldest we have heard of. This morning Mr. Hargrave identified the pistol and handkerchief taken from the house of Capt. Porter as his property.

We have a half column of advertising space. Who will take it?

City Court.

The Acting Mayor's levees are becoming more and more interesting every day, and his audience are increasing correspondingly.

This morning, when court opened, six prisoners were marched into the prisoner's dock.

The first case taken up was that of Chas. Epps and John Richardson, two sable youth, who were arrested yesterday in Brooklyn and lodged in the guard house, charged with disturbing the peace by fighting. Richardson was discharged and Epps sentenced to three days imprisonment. Curley Porter and George Jackson were next arraigned, having been arrested yesterday afternoon, for complicity in the robbery of Mr. S. R. Bell's house, a few days ago. As there was an officer present with a warrant from a magistrate for the arrest of them, the Mayor pro temp. just turned the entire case over to Justice Harris and dismissed the case from the City Court.

The case of Burrell Rodgers and Jeff Hudgins was the next on docket. These parties, it seems, were found in the house said to be rented by Curley Porter, one of the party who it is alleged is concerned in the robbery of Mr. Bell's house, and who failing to give a satisfactory account of themselves, were taken to the guard house. The arrest of Rodgers and Hudgins was made under the following circumstances:

Officer G. W. W. Davis, of the police force, assisted by officer Bryant—accompanied by Mr. Bell, and armed with a search warrant, proceeded to the house of Curley Porter, on the south side of Market, between 13th and 14th streets. Upon entering the house, they found the two men, Rodgers and Hudgins. The men were at once placed under arrest and the officers proceeded with their search and were rewarded for their efforts, by discovering the following named articles: Two bloody shirts, not Senator Morton's nor Senator Blaine's either, but supposed to belong to Curley Porter, also one vest with blood on it; also the following articles: one lady's handkerchief, two gentlemen's handkerchiefs, four brass keys, half dozen cigars, one pocket pistol, one coat, one morocco pocket-book containing a small gold locket, one broken gold ring and one small piece of gold chain.

Officer Davis testified before the court that there was no furniture of any kind in the house—that the men, Hudgins and Rodgers, were questioned in regard to their movements and failing to give a satisfactory account of themselves, were carried to the guard house and locked up.

The prisoners were then allowed to make a statement for themselves, but the court decided, however, to hold them for the present and they were ordered locked up to await further developments in the case.

Ben Person, who was sentenced yesterday to five days' imprisonment for having created a disturbance in the house of one Edward Broadhurst, was brought before the court again to-day and questioned by the Mayor, pro temp., in regard to the occasion of his arrest, as to why he happened to be in Broadhurst's house, when he replied that he was there by consent of both Broadhurst and his wife, as a boarder; that Broadhurst had consented to his wife's cooking and washing for him and that he had been living there for some little time—whereupon the said Person was ordered discharged, on condition that he would return to the Broadhurst mansion no more except for the purpose of procuring his goods and chattels that he had left there, when this Person, who is both single and singular, departed in peace, rejoicing as he went. This concluded the session for the day.

The First Bale.

Cap sized.

The lighter Dolly Varden, with 94 bays of iron from the schr. R. H. Mitchell, that has been ashore off Biz Island for the last twelve days was yesterday capsized near city shore named place. The schr. R. H. Mitchell, Capt. Mitchell, is from Baltimore, with 243 tons of iron aboard for the W. & W. R. R. The vessel has since the accident to the lighter, been hauled off the shoal by the steamer Waquamaw, and has reached the city.

K. of P.

At a meeting of Germania Lodge No. 4, K. of P., held last evening, P. C. W. H. M. Koch was elected as C. C. to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. H. Kokousky, and Mr. J. D. Stelges elected as P. to fill a vacancy in that office.

Barquentine James W. Fisher, Capt. Richards, from Bermuda, in ballast, is in below seeking a cargo.

The People Want Proof.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue of BOSCHIE'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted, can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing every one that use it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it.
