

The Daily Review.

JOSH. T. JAMES, Ed. and Prop. WILMINGTON, N. C. TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1877.

VIEWS AND REVIEWS.

The army worm is devastating the cotton in Tennessee. Many planters state that their fields look as if fire had swept through them.

The Ohio Prohibitionists claim that they will poll 15,000 votes this year. They say that they have hitherto acted with the Radical party, but there is no longer a Radical party to act with.

The reunion of the Smith family at Peapack, N. J., took place Wednesday. There were five thousand persons present, all presumably Smiths, and everything passed off in the most pleasant manner.

Mrs. Harriet Lane Johnston, who presided at the White House in the reign of still, although forty-five or more, a very pretty woman. She has white hair, regular features, speaking blue eyes, and a dimpled chin, and is a charming, polished talker.

Says General Joe Hawley: "I find no trouble in getting along with Confederate soldiers. Men who went into the war with the feeling at their hearts' core that they were in the right have a bond of union between them."

The jubilee offerings to the Pope amounted in round numbers to $3,250,000, half of which was in gold, while the remainder was in paper.

Senator Ingalls, of Kansas, doesn't seem to have a very exalted opinion either of Hayes or his Postmaster-General's humble piety. In a speech last week he said: "When a repentant rebel is caged as a Cabinet Minister and made the chief attraction of a peripatetic menagerie, called out at every railroad station and made to speak his little declamation like a naughty puppy by his master, telling the multitude that he has been very wicked but means to do better, and hopes in time to be a good Yankee, the spectacle is edifying and instructive."

The Czar receives much of the blame for the recent Russian reverses, and it is said that his presence with the army operates unfavorably upon the plans of the commanding officers and the movements of the troops.

The railroads of the great Northwestern grain country are already realizing their anticipations of a profitable business. The earnings of the Milwaukee and St. Paul Road for the fourth week of August were $268,000, against $187,286 for the corresponding week of last year.

A lady appeared recently in the American Science Association at Nashville, Tennessee, and read a paper on "Atmospheric Concussion as a Means of Disinfection," and incidentally of destroying insect life: such as flies, mosquitoes, and the like.

A WISE MOVE. The workmen of Baltimore, having made up their minds to run a working-man's ticket, have gone to work in the right way in that they have nominated one of their own number, who we are told is "a thriving blacksmith."

HOW IS IT? Prof. Langston, colored, was sharply rebuked the other day for the part which he has taken in the canvass in progress in Ohio. Langston is not only a colored orator, but he holds a commission in the United States Senate as Minister to Hayti and it is said that his career as a Republican campaigner was rudely cut short by the intimation that such things were incompatible with the position he holds under the government.

RETRENCHMENT. Says the Augusta Chronicle: The Democratic policy of retrenchment so strenuously enforced by the last House of Representatives was bitterly opposed by the whole power of the Senate and the Grant Administration.

THE ORIGINAL EXPRESSMAN. Alvin Adams, the founder of the Adams Express Company, died at his residence in Watertown, Mass., on Sunday, aged 73. His career shows what can be done by a poor person, in this country, with the exercise of thrift and perseverance.

GOOD ADVICE. The New York Tribune gives some excellent advice to the industrious men now out of work in the Northern cities. It says: "There are thousands of industrious men in New York and other Eastern cities who came from the country not many years ago, and who have a tolerable practical knowledge of farming."

THE EASTERN WAR. By the latest news from the seat of war in Europe it seems that the right of the Russian army under the Grand Duke Nicholas, has achieved a decided victory over the Turks at the now historic town of Plevna, on the river Vid, and all under the eye of the Czar, who from a commanding position and a pair of strong field glasses like those doubtless used by Col. Walter H. Taylor, of the Army of Northern Virginia, at the battle of Gettysburg, watched with deep concern the movements of the contending forces.

But at the same time that we hear of the success of the Russian arms on the extreme right, comes the intelligence of retrograde movements by the extreme left of the Russian line under the Czarowitch, the Russians retreating to the upper Lom, a river which forms a portion of the defenses of Ruscchuck, and flows into the Danube at that point.

THE CHICAGO EVENING POST publishes an interesting interview with General Joe Reynolds on Osman Pasha. Colonel Clay Crawford was on Reynolds' staff during the civil war, and he says he knows him to be in the Turkish army and is positive that Osman Pasha and Crawford are one and the same person.

Congressman Foster, of Ohio, believes the Southern Pacific railroad will organize the next House of Representatives and elect a Speaker pledged in favor of a subsidy.

That Disease Breeds Disease is a notorious fact. It is therefore of vital importance to check maladies in their birth, ere they have a chance to develop other and more dangerous disorders.

Miscellaneous. APPLETON'S AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA. NEW REVISED EDITION. Entirely rewritten by the ablest writers on every subject. Printed from new type, and illustrated with several Thousand Engravings and Maps.

The work originally published under the title of THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA was completed in 1857, since which time the wide circulation which it has attained in all parts of the United States and the signal developments which have taken place in every branch of science, literature, and art, have induced the editor and publisher to submit it to a new and thorough revision, and to issue a new edition entitled THE AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA.

The illustrations which are introduced for the first time in the present edition have been added not for the sake of pictorial effect, but to give greater lucidity and force to the explanations in the text. They embrace all branches of science and natural history, and depict the most famous and remarkable features of scenery, architecture and art, as well as the various processes of mechanics and manufactures.
