THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. 2. WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1877. NO. 202

[Raleigh Observer.] Protestant Episcopal Church.

SECOND DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

The Convention assembled at 10:30 o'clock, and was opened with prayer by the Rev. Bishop Atkinson, D. D., L. D.

The call of delegates was dispensed with. A number of new delegates reported and upon showing proper credentials were admitted to seats in the Convention.

The journal of Wednesday's proceedings was read and approved. The Bishop called the attention of the Convention to a series of resolutions passed by the Board of Trustees of the University of the South, in regard to the debt now hanging over that institution, and advised that prompt action be taken in the matter.

On motion of Hon. R. H. Smith, the matter was referred to the Trustees of that University for this Diocese.

Gen. J. G. Martin, of Asheville, submitted a minority report from the Committee on the Division of the Diocese, as follows:

The undersigned, a member of the committee appointed at the Convention of 1875, and continued to 1876, to report a plan for the division of the Diocese, and a practicable one that will continue the church in North Carolina under one government, respectfully submits a minority report.

The undersigned agrees with the majority in the first, second and fourth conclusions, but differs with them as to their third conclusion.

The undersigned believes the legislation of the church in the United States, except as to name, has prepared the way for the division of a diocese coterminous with a State, so as to keep the whole church in such State under one legislative government; and that such method be used in the present division. The undersigned therefore recommends the adoption of the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the constitutional consent of this Convention is hereby given to the creation of a Diocese within the limits of the Diocese of North Carolina; and the said new Diocese to comprise the following counties, to-wit: (see page 65, Journal of 1877), and the Convention respectfully represents that the territory yet remaining in the State of North Carolina after the creation of said new Diocese will still be too large for one Episcopal supervision by the two Bishops of the old and new Dioceses, and therefore hereby makes application to the General Convention to set off at portion of the said Diocese lying west of the Blue Ridge and of the western boundaries of the counties of Surry, Wilkes, Caldwell, McDowell, Rutherford, and Polk, and including the following counties to-wit: Henderson, Buncombe, Yancey, Mitchell, Watauga, Ashe, Alleghany and all west of them, as a missionary jurisdiction, to be known as "The Missionary Jurisdiction of Asheville," or by such other designation as the General Convention may choose. But the aforesaid constitutional consent is given and the aforesaid application is made especially on condition that the Bishops, clergy and laity of the Diocese and missionary jurisdictions that may now or at any time hereafter be erected or constituted within the limits of the State of North Carolina, shall continue to be united in one body, to be known henceforth no longer as the Convention of the Diocese of North Carolina, which shall have the sole power of making and altering the Constitution and canons (subject to those of the General Convention) now possessed by this Convention and in which Synod the Bishops exercising jurisdiction within this State, Diocesan or missionary, shall have the right to vote as an order whenever the vote by orders is called for; the said Synod of this Province having also the power to act in regard to all things concerning its own organization, as well as in matters educational or eleemosynary, or having reference to the civil legislature, or in any other way bearing upon the just work of the Diocese of the Province in furthering the extension and prosperity of the separate Dioceses, retaining all other powers now exercised by such bodies.

[Signed] J. G. MARTIN. Rev. Dr. Buxton offered the following resolutions which he advocated in a strong and able speech:

1st. All Dioceses to be erected now or hereafter, or through the limits of the State of North Carolina, shall form an Ecclesiastical Province, under the name of the Province of North Carolina.

2d. The Convention of the Diocese of North Carolina as at present constituted of clerical and lay delegates, shall be the Synod of the Province, with such alterations as may hereafter be found advisable. The Constitutions and Canons of the several Diocesan Conventions, shall be subject to ratification by the Provincial Synod and shall have force in each Diocese of which it is composed. The Synod shall also form a Court of Appeals in all ecclesiastical matters whatever subject to the action of the General Convention.

3d. The Bishops of the Dioceses shall be ex officio members of the Synod and vote as a separate order whenever the vote by orders is called for. The senior Bishop presiding in the Synod, and in his absence the next in seniority.

4th. The meetings of the Provincial Synod shall be held once in every three years.

5th. All theological, educational and missionary institutions now existing, also the permanent Episcopal fund, shall remain undivided and be under the control of the Synod.

6th. That the Deputies elected to the General Convention from this Diocese be hereby instructed to take such action as is necessary to secure the consent of the General Convention at its ensuing meeting in October for the erection of the Province aforesaid and of the new Diocese.

Rev. Mr. Falls submitted the following resolution in regard to the proposed boundary lines of the new division:

Resolved, That the proposed new diocese shall embrace all that portion of the present Diocese of North Carolina, lying north of Albemarle sound and the southern boundaries of Bertie, Halifax, Edgecombe, Wilson, Johnston, Wake, Chatham, Randolph, Davidson, Rowan, Iredell, Catawba, Burke, McDowell and Yancey—embracing in all forty-five counties.

Dr. Watson moved that the question of division be postponed until the resolutions submitted by Dr. Buxton were disposed of.

On motion of R. H. Smith, Esq., the motion of Dr. Watson was laid on the table.

Rev. Dr. Buel introduced a resolution to indefinitely postpone the whole matter of division, and advocated the same in a lengthy and able argument.

R. H. Battle, Jr., Esq., opposed the resolution in an able and terse argument, in which it was necessary to draw upon his store of legal knowledge.

Rev. Mr. Pettigrew followed Mr. Battle in a lengthy argument against division, and while we recognize the fact that in our capacity as reporter we have not the right to make invidious distinctions, yet we are in duty bound to say that the effort of Mr. Pettigrew was decidedly one of the best argumentative debates we ever heard, and he carried conviction to many who were previously opposed to his side of the question.

Rev. Dr. Stutton rose to reply to Mr. Pettigrew, but yielded to a motion to adjourn to 4 1/2 o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The Convention met promptly at 4 1/2 o'clock, Bishop Atkinson in the chair. Col. DeRosset, of Wilmington, moved that after the argument of Dr. Stutton, the debate on the question of postponement be limited to 10 minutes, and that the vote on the same be taken at 6 o'clock.

Dr. DeRosset moved to amend by saying 7 o'clock, instead of 6. Accepted.

Dr. Stutton took the floor and made an able argument in favor of division.

Bishop Lyman came forward and said that as many personal allusions had been made in the discussion on division, he would state that as far as he was personally concerned, that the action of the Convention would be his choice. He was not interested either the one way or the other, but would sustain with his whole heart, might and power, whatever the Convention saw fit to do. He was neither in favor of division nor opposed to it, but would support the action of the Convention, be that what it may.

J. B. Batchelor, Esq., next took the floor and delivered a very fine legal argument on the question before the house, and defined to the satisfaction of the convention the question to be voted on in accordance with the resolution of Colonel DeRosset; that should the vote to indefinitely postpone the matter of division lines be carried, the whole matter of the division of the Diocese would necessarily go with it, &c.

An animated discussion followed in which Reverends Mr. Kiernan, Drs. Marshall, Watson, Rich, and Messrs. J. B. Batchelor, S. A. Ashe, G. H. Snow, Hon. W. H. Battle and others participated. The final vote was taken, and resulted as follows: Motion to indefinitely postpone; Clergy: Yeas, 16; nays, 26. Laity: Yeas, 17; nays, 13. The Bishop announced the vote to indefinitely postpone was lost; whereupon, after much discussion upon the future order of business, the Convention adjourned to meet this morning to establish the dividing lines.

Attempted Burglary.

This morning, between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock, an attempt was made to burglariously enter the dwelling of Mrs. Turner on the corner of Eighth and Orange streets, but the would be thieves were frightened off before accomplishing their designs. In a few minutes after their attempt at Mrs. Turner's they visited the chicken coop of Capt. James M. McGowan, but as he was awake at that time, he hurled hot missiles of lead at them and they retreated in disorder minus their intended booty.

The Concert Last Night.

The attendance last night at the enclosure in front of the Opera House, where the Concert was given by the Cornet Concert Club, was a very large one. We have never heard sweeter strains than those produced last night, although there were but twelve instruments, where there were formerly eighteen and twenty. We would be glad to publish the programme if we had it. Some seven or eight pieces were played, every one of which was a delight in itself and some of which brought forth the loud and hearty applause of the audience. The Club should by all means go up to the State Fair and show the natives who will be there what really good music is.

Snake, Corn Tree, Pea Vines and Enoch Arden.

A good many huge snake stories have been going the rounds in our State exchanges and in order to keep abreast of the times we have offered the seductive chromo for a genuine snake story which would surpass them all, but have so far signally failed. Immense "corn trees" have also been written up but we Woodson-cr-pin our faith to the Ananias of the thirty foot snake story and Muse over the Hrrr-ing pea vine which has been elongated to the Sun by our Concord friad, that to believe than corn tree yara. The Enoch Arden story of the Charlotte Observer could have been called-well done but for the fact that Joseph was "sold" by his brothers and is now trying to slip out of it by putting it on the shoulders of Peter Iay. We know of a remarkable pea vine which we have heretofore refrained from immortalizing as we could not rely upon the credulity of our dear generous public, but as long as some other portion of the State claims superiority over us in this pea vine particular we are not going to sit quietly by and not shove in a word edge-ways in the interest of "the natural out let of the State," for you know the tide of emigration may set this way after a while. We would like our friends Woodson, Caldwell and Harris; of the Concord "Sun" to observe that we have dates to show up, which will at all events give a color of superiority to our pea vine, and if any one doubts the correctness of our statement, our devil will vouch for the facts herein contained. Near the corner of Market and Water streets can be seen a pea vine growing out of a crevice in the brick pavement; (now Woodson won't believe that, because he thinks Raleigh is the only place in the State which is paved.) The vine has clung to the gutter until it has reached the top of the building, 94 feet, 7 inches high, more or less, and has followed a cord which has been strung across the top of the building to the store-keeper of the firm of K. Cumming & Co., on Dock street. This same vine can now be seen clinging to the string across Dock street, and unless it stops growing or is killed by a snow storm will soon reach the "Dram Tree," about two miles below the city. This pea vine will be on exhibition at the State Fair if the railroads can furnish transportation for it, but when it arrives in Raleigh and is strung out on Fayetteville street, we would advise our friend of the Observer not to for a moment suppose that the government is going to run the Trans-Atlantic cable up the Neuse river. We know our up-country friends are not going to believe our pea vine story as they are under the impression that we can't raise anything down here but "goober peas" and Republican majorities, but we will tell them in a few days of something equally as wonderful as corn trees and up-country pea vines.

The Galaxy

For October will be a number of unusual interest, and will contain several noteworthy articles, among which may be mentioned "The Tariff and the Hard Times," by Horace White; "Forrest, from an Actor's Point of View," by Lawrence Barrett; a chapter on "President Lincoln's Administration, giving Mr. Lincoln's ideas of colonization as an accompaniment to emancipation" by Hon. Gideon Welles, late Secretary of the Navy; "The Planet Mars," by Captain Raymond of the United States Corps of Engineers, who was one of the transit of Venus expedition; an article by Captain E. Simpson, United States navy, "On Modern Naval Warfare"; a striking story by Tourgenoff. The above articles, with the departments, will make up a very brilliant number.

Very heavy rains along the line of the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad, yesterday, extending as far north as Goldsboro.

Stagnant Water.

The base ball grounds on the corner of Sixth and Orange streets and lots near the corner of Seventh, between Orange and Ann streets, have again been overflowed. These bottoms should either be filled up or the proper drainage be given them. During the last warm spell the stench of the stagnant water was intolerable and to say the least about it, such ponding of water is not at all conducive to the general health of the city. The authorities should attend to these things without delay.

A Little Boy Falls from a Tree.

Yesterday afternoon while little Henry Weil was playing in a tree in the yard of his father, Mr. Jacob Weil, on Second between Chesnut and Mulberry streets, the little fellow fell from the tree striking on the stone steps which led into the street. His head came in contact with the corner of one of the stones making a ghastly wound of about four inches. He was otherwise very badly bruised. We are, however, glad to learn that his injuries are not considered dangerous.

The Fire This Morning.

This morning between 2 and 3 o'clock the alarm of fire was sounded. The fire department were out promptly and repaired to the scene of conflagration which proved to be a one-story frame building, the property of W. P. Canaday, Esq., on Taylor, between Third and Fourth streets. Persons living in the neighborhood were awakened by the cry of fire, and upon getting up discovered the flames coming up through the centre of the house. It had been occupied by a woman who for the past few days had been moving her furniture by piecemeal, and it is not known whether anything save the house was destroyed. We could not ascertain the origin of the conflagration or whether the property was insured.

Fourteen Years Ago.

A man by the name of Suggs was arrested yesterday in Columbus county, charged with the murder of B. H. Watkins, a citizen of Columbus, on the 17th of September, 1863, just 14 years ago next Monday. Suggs is 65 years old. The Grand Jury has found a true bill against Suggs and the trial is set for the early part of next week. The revelations on which the evidence is founded are said to have emanated from some admissions made by Suggs while under the influence of liquor, although it is generally believed that the result of the trial will not be a conviction, public opinion being decidedly with Suggs. There is much talk about the matter, one assertion being that Watkins, who was a much younger man, once gave old Suggs a severe beating, and another that the murdered man had accumulated considerably money during the war, while Suggs had none. Capt. Norment, the Solicitor, will prosecute and Capt. Jas. W. Ellis will appear for the defence.

Town of Burgaw.

The sale of lots at this place on Saturday last was spirited and a decided success. Though the notice was short the price realized was more than the owners expected. Four (4), acres, divided into suitable lots in size, brought over seven hundred dollars. These were no by-bidders as called, but the sale was bona fide. This speaks well for the coming town and of the public confidence in its future growth and prosperity. In answer to numerous enquiries from business men and others in search of new homes, we are authorized to state that another sale of lots will take place there in a short time. Due notice will be given in this paper of the time, terms, &c.

Of course no sensible man will buy property when its title is in doubt. There is not the shadow of a shade of doubt that the claimants of land at Burgaw are able to make a good title, as we are assured. The owners are ready to give the utmost satisfaction on this point.

It is evident that Burgaw will, in a short time, be an important place. It will grow still faster however, when the contemplated rail road from that point into Onslow, is completed. The project will be pushed through to success. Application will be made to the next Legislature for convict labor to aid in its construction, as we are assured.

We understand from the Chief of the Fire Department that the Brooklyn Bucket Company rendered valuable and efficient aid at the fire which occurred on Taylor, between Third and Fourth streets this morning.
