THE WAR.

Further Details Regarding the Rumored Invasion of Roumania.

LONDON, Sept. 28, 1877.
The Herald's correspondent at Constantinople telegraphs that a rumor is prevalent in that city that Suleiman Pasha has at last succeeded in intercepting the communications of the Russians occupying the Shikpa Pass with the town of Gabrovo. Also, that the Turks have succeeded in cutting off the retreat of the Russians, surrounding them on all sides.

ANOTHER SUCCESS FOR OSMAN.

Another rumor prevails in Constantinople, to the effect that Osman Pasha has achieved an important success at Plevna. It is stated that he repulsed a Russian attack on the eastern redoubt, and the Russian loss is set down at eight thousand and four guns.

ROMANIAN ATTACK REPULSED.

A correspondent before Plevna telegraphs Wednesday night as follows:—The Romanians have been unsuccessful in their attempt to capture the second Grivitsa redoubt after having sapped close up to it. They displayed great gallantry and suffered severely. The unsuccessful attack on the second Grivitsa redoubt reported in the foregoing despatch may be the foundation for the sensational despatch from Constantinople cabled yesterday, stating that the Russian Centre attacked Plevna on Tuesday, and was repulsed with a loss of 7,000 men and four guns.

ANOTHER ASSAULT IMMINENT.

A Bucharest correspondent, telegraphing Wednesday, makes no mention of the attack, but says the Romanian trenches have been pushed to within fifty yards of the redoubt. An attack must therefore have been imminent.

PRINCE HASSEN'S RAID.

The Herald's Constantinople correspondent also reports another rumor to the effect that Prince Hassan, son of the Khedive, who commands the Turkish right wing, has crossed the Danube below Sistova with 30,000 men.

HIS PLANS.

He purposes to intercept the Russian communications with Sistova, while Mohamed Ali assails the Russian front at Bjela. Correspondents with the Russian army have as yet received any definite information regarding this rumor. The project is pronounced eminently feasible, however, and is easily within the grounds of probability.

MUHAMMET ALI RETREATS.

Newspapers in Vienna announce that in consequence of a large concentration of Russian troops and the difficulty of obtaining supplies on account of bad weather, Mohamed Ali on the 24th inst., began retreating to his former positions of the Kara Lom.

A correspondent at Shumla confirms the report of the retreat of Mohamed Ali to his former position on the Kara-Lom. As the Turks permitted this news to pass it is doubtless true.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 27, 1877.—A special despatch from Fernandina says there was one death from yellow fever to-day. Ten new cases were reported. The crew of the schooner Sawyer, which is at that port, are all down with the fever. A number of cases are reported to be very low to-night.

The health of Jacksonville is excellent.

The People Want Proof:

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue of BOSCHEL'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted, can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents, and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing, every one that uses it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it.

New Design.

An INVOICE OF CLOCKS of entirely new design has just been received and are being sold at extremely low figures; also a fine assortment of LADIES' WATCHES, SEALS and PLAIN GOLD RINGS and LADIES' and GENTLEMEN'S CHAINS. Work left with me will be neatly executed. All I ask of the Public is to give me trial. J. H. ALLEN. Watchmaker and Jeweller.

Day's length 11 hours and 15 minutes.

The storm signal is displayed again to-day.

Criminal Court convenes on Monday next.

Callender's minstrels arrived here at 12 o'clock.

Joint services to-morrow at St. James' and St. John's Churches.

To-morrow is known in the Church Calendar as the Eighteenth Sunday after Trinity.

The Board of Aldermen and the Board of County Commissioners both meet next Monday.

Marsden Bellamy, Esq., has removed his law office to Princess street, opposite the Court House.

Health Officer James has during the past week condemned 145 pounds of beef and 195 pounds of bacon.

The box sheet for the sale of reserved seats for Callender's Minstrels to-night is at Heinsberger's book-store.

The new barber shop in the rear of the office of the Manning House is to be fitted up and run by Mr. John Werner.

Mr. W. T. Johnson has removed his upholstery and paper hanging establishment to No 1, Evans' Block, on Princess street.

Mayor Dawson returned to the city last night, but will not resume his functions as Mayor until after the meeting of the Board of Aldermen, on Monday next.

The two colored companies in this city, the Hahoyer Light Infantry and the Cape Fear Light Infantry, will parade as a battalion next Wednesday afternoon for inspection and drill.

We regret to learn of the illness of Mr. Geo. Harris. Mr. H. has been under the weather for some time past, but we hope to see him on the streets and in his accustomed place of business in a few days.

The proclamation of His Excellency, Gov. Vance, spoken of by us yesterday, offering a reward for the apprehension of the two escaped convicts, Jerry Forbes and Thomas Johnson, appears in this issue.

Several changes have been made in the last few days in the advertisement of Mr. W. B. McKOY, Real Estate Agent and Stock Broker. Those who have not yet supplied themselves with houses or stores will do well to peruse it.

Black lace boas will be worn over paletots and mantles for autumn. They consist of close rows of platted lace, sewn on a narrow ribbon, of a length to suit the throat, and tied with ribbons to match the trimmings of the bonnet or dress.

We understand that Mr. A. Shrier will remove his extensive stock of clothing on Monday next, the 1st proximo, into the elegant building next West of his present store, the same as that now occupied by the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine Company.

Battalion Drill.

Saturday and Monday night, at half past seven o'clock. We are requested by Lt.-Col. M. P. Taylor to say that no exercise will be entertained for non-attendance except on account of sickness or absence from the city.

Grape Jelly.

This is the time to make grape jelly. There are millions of the fruit in the city, with more to follow, and the prices asked for them are so moderate that all who will can have them in abundance. Grape jelly is easily made, and that manufactured from the Concord grape is especially fine in point of flavor and color. It is an elegant substitute for apple butter.

True Economy.

It has been found that the only true economy is that which stops the little leaks and saves, in trifles. For instance, one saves in butter, eggs and flour, by the use of DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER, which is made from the purest cream-tar, derived from grape acid. Good housewives have proved this by experience.

The River.

From information received we are of the opinion that the lowlands along the Cape Fear river have been overflowed, but to what extent this deponent knoweth not. When our informant left Fayetteville yesterday the river had risen from three to four feet and was still rising very rapidly. All along the river from Fayetteville to this city there were evidences of a rise in the river.

The Club House.

Mr. Geo. Myers has placed upon our table a bottle of the "Delmonico Club House," a new brand of whiskey introduced by him here, of which he has obtained the sole agency in Wilmington. Our "Sample Editor" has tasted it and he pronounces it as "just splendid." It is sold by Mr. Myers at $4 per gallon and is said to be equal to that generally sold at a considerably higher price.

The Fire in Goldsboro.

The fire in Goldsboro yesterday, as spoken of by us in that day's issue, was a very disastrous one. The fire was discovered on the second floor of Campbell & Co., and spread thence to the surrounding buildings. The heavy rain which fell at that time helped to extinguish it, or it might have been much more disastrous. The loss is variously estimated at between $40,000 and $50,000, nearly all of which was covered by insurance. Goldsboro seems to be singed out by the fire fiend.

Personal.

Dr. A. J. DeRosset will leave here on Monday morning for Boston for attendance on the Triennial Convention of the Episcopal Church, which meets there next week. Dr. DeRosset will be accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Daves, and they will be the guests while in Boston of Ex-Gov. Gardner.

Mr. Jacob Weller, who left us about two years ago to establish a branch house in Cincinnati, is here on a visit. Mr. Weller is doing a large peanut business both here and in Cincinnati. We are pleased to see him looking so well.

Exposure of Spiritualism.

Prof. Cooke and Company will appear at the Opera House next Thursday and Friday evenings. They have excited the greatest interest wherever they have appeared. The press speak of their performances as something marvellous and have written columns in their praise. Crowded houses have greeted them throughout the entire South. They thoroughly expose all the tricks of so-called mediums, first presenting them clothed with all the weird surroundings of the seance room, and then drawing aside the curtain and fully exposing all their hidden mysteries in a manner that admits of neither cavil or doubt. As shown by Prof. Cooke the means by which some of the most mysterious manifestations are wrought, are said to be so simple when exhibited under gas light that we wonder at the capacity of human credulity in being fooled.

The South Atlantic.

We learn that the first number of this magazine is already made up. It promises to be very interesting. The first article is a biographical sketch of Raphael Semmes written by one of his most intimate friends, Capt. J. N. Maffitt. Many of the facts given are obtained from Miss Semmes, and the anti-bellum records of the U. S. Navy. The concluding portion of this sketch, which will appear in the second number of The South Atlantic, will contain Admiral Semmes' Confederate record and startling facts not before made public, told to Capt. Maffitt by U. S. Admiral Porter, which will show Seward and Welles to the world in a new light! We understand that "The sketch of the history of the University of North Carolina" by Hon. Kemp P. Battle, the President, promises to be full of interest not only to the Alumni of the Institution but to the future historian of the State. "Evelyn's Choice," a novel by John Esten Cooke, and an able critique on James Russell Lowell's earlier poems, written by a distinguished lawyer in Washington City will appear in the first issue with original poems from Paul H. Hayne, Jno. H. Boner and M. V. Lanier. We regret to learn that an able scientific article by Prof. Hassel may be left over until the second number on account of a week's delay in receiving the manuscript. This, however, will not be the case unless the pages of the magazine are too nearly filled already to admit it. The above table of contents speaks for itself.

True Economy.

It has been found that the only true economy is that which stops the little leaks and saves, in trifles. For instance, one saves in butter, eggs and flour, by the use of DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER, which is made from the purest cream-tar, derived from grape acid. The Ringing of the Bells.

Commencing on Monday next, Oct. 1st, the Market House bell will be rung at 7½ o'clock a. m. for breakfast and at 8½ for turn-out. After this evening the 7 o'clock bell, heretofore rung for the convenience of the merchants for closing up, will be discontinued.

Robeson Court.

Judge Moore was taken quite sick yesterday at 1 o'clock, at Lumberton, while on the bench, and the Court was necessarily adjourned until Monday next. The Judge is in the city to-day and as the guest of Judge Russell, and we are pleased to see him so far recovered as to be able to appear on the street this morning.

The Minstrels To-Night.

Callender's Minstrels perform here to-night. Wherever they have appeared they have been greeted by large houses and their performances are said to far surpass those of their white imitators. The troupe is composed of genuine, bona-fide descendants of Ham, with probably one or two exceptions, and as most of the members are old stagers, we can expect to see genuine Ethiopian minstrelsy.

For the Review.

General Heth and the Virginia Troops.

And now comes another magnificent Virginian, so-called, to the front in the person of Gen. Harry Heth, to write what he don't know of his own personal knowledge, but what Gen. Lee said to him about the battle of Gettysburg.

If Gen. Harry Heth had shown the same devoted patriotism and personal courage that the lamented Pettigrew did, who succeeded him in the command of his Division, he might have been an eyewitness as well as a participant in the events of the third day's charge at Gettysburg, but unfortunately for Gen. Heth, he retired from the field on the first day's fight on account of having received a slight flesh wound in the hand, and therefore cannot write of his own personal knowledge. Gen. Pettigrew, the brave North Carolinian who succeeded Gen. Heth in the command of his Division, remained in command during the remaining two days' battle and until Gen. Heth rejoined his command on the retreat from Gettysburg. Gen. Pettigrew, like Gen. Heth, was wounded also, in the arm; but Gen. Pettigrew, unlike Gen. Heth, remained on the field of battle in command of his troops, and went with them after being wounded through that storm of shot and shell, which was hurled at the brave Confederates who charged up those bloody heights on that eventful third day of July. All this did this lamented soldier and his brave North Carolinians, only to be misrepresented by a few Virginia writers, who, in order to add to the glory of a few Virginia regiments, attempt to defame the brave North Carolinians.

It is a notorious fact that North Carolina troops never received their just meed of praise from Virginia papers during the war. This while it was unjust and consequently unfair was submitted to; so likewise in regard to a few non-combatant Virginia authors who have tried to throw all the honors and glory won by the army of Northern Virginia upon Virginia troops since the war. This was received in a quasi, passive sort of manner, with only a slight murmur here and there from some old veteran of this State. But when one of our noble old commander's own staff, years after the war, and years too after the death of our grand old Captain, comes forward and attempts to defame the conduct of North Carolina troops, it is cowardly and even criminal to remain silent any longer. It is the opinion of your correspondent that Maj. Engelhard, our worthy Secretary of State, himself an eye witness and a participant in the grand charge of Lee's men on the third day of July at Gettysburg, so reluctantly disposes of Col. Taylor and the Norfolk Virginian in his letter to the Raleigh Observer of the 27th inst., that there is no need for my discussing that point. For when Engelhard says that "I know that organized bodies of Pettigrew's and Scales' North Carolina, and Archer's Tennessee brigades did occupy the enemy's works—that Lane's brigade maintained its position until the troops on the right had been swept from the field," it matters not what, Gen. Heth says Gen. Lee told him. It seems, to, the height of impudence for Col. Walter H. Taylor, who was not in the charge, to assert differently, consequently in the opinion of your correspondent there is no need for further testimony on our side.

My principal object, however, in this communication is to show what a fine opportunity Gen. Heth lost, and how he might have been a magnificent Virginian, had he acted as our noble and gifted Pettigrew did, and that had he remained in command of his own division, he could have written of his own personal knowledge to the Philadelphia Times, and not have had to quote what Gen. Lee told him. Yours, C.
