WAR TACTICS IN THE EAST.

One Correspondent's Hopeful View of Russia's Prospects.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The correspondent of the Daily News, writing from Cherkovnia last Saturday, says: "I do not believe it possible at present to advance even with the reinforcements which have arrived. A day or two of rain has made the roads almost impassible. The ground is sodden and the mud ankle deep. The immense number of horses have eaten almost all the forage, and hay is very scarce at any price. Consequently communications are daily more difficult. The horses are decidedly losing flesh. As the season advances the difficulties of the campaign increase in a geometric ratio."
The Times' correspondent at Bucharest, writing on Wednesday, takes a decidedly hopeful view of the Russian prospects; but it must be observed that this was before the Roumanians attempted and failed to take the second Grivica redoubt, if indeed, this report (which comes from several directions, but yet not officially from any) be not entirely baseless. The correspondent says: "The staff officers in front of Plevna express the utmost confidence that the place will fall into their hands. Should Osman Pasha's army be finally destroyed, there is nothing to prevent a great flank movement down the valley of Sofia to Adrianople and the Turkish capital itself."
"Suleiman Pasha has squandered the lives of his army on the forts in the Shipka Pass, and, were he to attempt to withdraw to oppose this flank movement, he would have Gen. Radetzky at his heels, and his army would have its hands full without attempting to meddle with the Plevna army. Should Mehemet Ali attempt to move to the southward, Russian hordes of cavalry would entangle him at every step. Perhaps it is with a view to something like the above that the Russian commanders keep their hold on the Shipka Pass and persist in their attacks upon Plevna. There is no doubt that the Turkish powers of resistance are strained to a high degree of tension, and in such circumstances semi-civilized organizations like those of Turkey are liable to collapse in a most unexpected manner; so that in spite of the gross blunders of the Russian staff a great change is possible at any moment in the military situation in Bulgaria. Every hamlet is crowded with immense stacks of these grains, while a very large crop of Indian corn is awaiting the husbandman. Very little of the crops raised this year in Roumania has been touched by the Russians; consequently they have provisions in abundance for man and beast, and, if they can surmount the difficulty of obtaining fuel, they can winter in Bulgaria very comfortably. As to the present morale of the Russian forces, there is some difference of opinion; but, from my own experience with them, I am convinced that, although the Russian soldier is unreserved in his comments on what he deems bad management on the part of his commanders, he forgets all his past grievances when he sees the hated Moslem, and goes at him as though he had always been commanded by a Napoleon.

"Whatever the explanation may be of the cause that has led to the success of Hifzi Pasha, the fact is now uncontroverted that he has safely carried reinforcements, supplies, and munitions into the entrenched lines held by Osman Pasha, and his being able to do so demonstrates that the fortress is not invested, but is being more attacked on a portion of its front, and the two former disastrous failures to carry it by assault forbid the expectation that it will fall by spade and pick while the Turkish force defending it is not inferior to the attacking army in numbers or fighting capacity."
The Times' military critic says of the operations of the third Turkish army: "It is difficult to perceive the full objects of Suleiman Pasha's strategy, but he has certainly proved himself a bold and intrepid leader, and, until the result of his operations is made manifest, and their full purport discovered, it is fair to suppose he is acting with adequate reason. His characteristic bravery, the self-denial and abstemiousness of his mode of life, his cool nerve and undaunted courage, and his high military reputation, which was appreciated on all hands till his check in front of the formidable Fort St. Nicholas, should now be remembered."

The retirement of Mehemet Ali behind the Kara-Lom seems to indicate that the Turks will be satisfied to maintain their present advantages, and depend on the winter to force the Russians back across the Danube. The Times' Shumla special says the retrograde movement was partly because the recent rains rendered it difficult to bring up supplies, and partly on account of the Russians massing considerable forces on the Lom.
It appears from this explanation that the idea of holding the country between the Lom and the Yantra has been abandoned by the Turks. Thus it once more becomes possible for the Russians to isolate and blockade Rustchuk, which, however, has probably been supplied for the winter during the past month that communication has been open. Mehemet Ali's right will again be about Kazalevo, with Rasgrad as a base, while his left will extend as far as the defiles south of Osman Bazar, being within easy support from Shumla. Correspondents with the Czarewitch are not sanguine of his ability to force the line of the Kara-Lom, notwithstanding the arrival of several divisions of the Imperial Guard.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 29.—Snow has been falling in the Shipka Pass since Monday, and is now ten centimetres deep at the foot of the Balkans.

The Yellow Fever.
One death has occurred at Fernandina since last reports, and six new cases are reported. Mr. William B. Astor has sent $500 for the sufferers.

Lots of people on the move to-day.
We lost this month 63 minutes of daylight.
Madan Rentz shows in Petersburg tomorrow night.
This month has five Mondays, five Tuesdays, and five Wednesdays.
When you hear a political speaker talk about his "sires," make up your mind that he has nothing else to talk about.
The Raleigh papers present double columns advertisements of Cole's circus, which is to appear there on the 10th inst.
"You are as pretty as a picture" is no longer the correct compliment to pay a lady. Simply say, "You put me in mind of a chromo."
The Board of County Commissioners and the Board of Aldermen meet this evening but as usual too late for a report of the proceedings in this issue.
Science says that it took millions of years to evolve man from the clam; observation shows that it takes less than a minute to transfer the clam into a man.
Many political speakers say that they trust in God; but they have just made bargains at seventy-five cents a vote, a quarter of a dollar less than votes were last year.
In Boston the price of administration to the theatres has been reduced to fifty cents. A sensible move, and one that should be followed in all parts of the country.
Arrived at Smithville Saturday night, wrecking steamer Relief, of New York. Walcott master, from Key West, with wrecking material of steamer City of Havana.
A regular meeting of the Historical and Scientific Society is called for this evening in the Lecture Room of the First Presbyterian Church on which occasion an interesting paper will be read by Eugene S. Martin, Esq.
The young lovers who last spring were married and swore by all that is beautiful that only the great blue vault of heaven should overspread them are now quarrelling with each other because he lets mosquitoes in on his side and she rolls all the covers off.
When he was a young man he rushed into a burning building and gallantly dragged her out by the hair of her head. They were married the next winter, and now she rushes in and drags him out by the hair of his head whenever she feels like it. "Such is true love."
Arrived.
Intelligence has been received here today of the safe arrival in New York of Mr. E. Peschau, the German Imperial Consul at this port, and family, after an absence of several months in Faderland. Mr. Peschau and family, we understand, leave New York for home to-day.
The Queen of the Oven.
A breakfast-biscuit or tea-roll made with DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER is certainly the queen of the oven—so light, white and delicious. You lift it tenderly, break it open gently, spread it daintily with fresh, sweet butter, waiting to be gracious. After breakfasting on biscuits made with DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER, what man would contemplate suicide, or grumble because his wife asked him for money.

PERSONAL.

Adjutant-General Jones arrived in this city to-day by the noon train. He will remain here several days and will review the companies of the second battalion tomorrow and on Wednesday will inspect and review the two colored companies.

Roe Mulletts.
No roe mulletts seen in this market yet. We understand that they are returning near Topsail Sound, but there has yet been no catch South of that point. Those caught at Topsail are small with roe only a few inches in length. They are very backward this season.

Returned.
Mr. N. H. Sprunt has returned here from the North where he purchased a very handsome stock of white goods for the ladies. He is now engaged in opening and displaying the latest styles in the new and cheap pretty things he purchased while in New York.

A Hope.
A parade and review of the companies located here has been called for tomorrow afternoon and it is earnestly hoped by many that the merchants in whose employ the various members of the Companies are, will relieve them from their duties on that occasion, so that there may be full ranks on the parade.

A New Drug Store.
Mr. T. S. Burbank will shortly open a new drug store on the corner of Front and Princes streets, in the store at present occupied by Capt. Jas. W. Lippitt as a confectionery and fruit store. The stand is an excellent one for the business, and we wish our young friend success in abundance in his new venture.

Brown & Roddick.
We invite attention to the lengthy and attractive advertisement of the above firm as it appears in this issue. They present a most attractive array of desirable goods for the season and prices which are low enough in all conscience. Their glove fitting shirt, manufactured by themselves and sold for 75 cents, is a specialty with this house.

The Latest Freshet.
We are glad to learn that up to last Saturday the recent rains had not swollen the river to any alarming extent, that is to say that although the danger is by no means over yet, as regards the overflow of the lowlands, still, there is sufficient ground for reasonable hope that the present freshet will not do much damage owing to the fact that the rains up country were nothing like as heavy as in this section. The rise in the river at Fayetteville up to Saturday morning was ten feet.

Michaelmas Day.
Saturday was celebrated in the Catholic church as the festival of St. Michael and all the holy angels—hence the origin of the name—the mass of St. Michael—abbreviated into Michaelmas. The day is also observed in the Episcopal church, and all the lessons have reference to Michael or the angels. This festival has been kept with great solemnity on the 29th of September since the fifth century.

The Old and New Testaments abound with instances in which St. Michael has visibly stood forth as the champion and guardian of God's people and God's servants against the assaults of the Devil and the Pagan nations of the earth.

Criminal Court.
The third session of this Court convened this morning at 10 o'clock, His Honor, Judge Meares, presiding. The Grand Jury were duly sworn in and empanelled, when the Judge delivered his charge and the Jury retired to the Grand Jury room. The most of the morning was spent in calling and swearing States' witnesses to be sent before the Grand Jury, and in arranging the docket so that the trial of cases may commence this afternoon.

The following is the list of the Grand Jurors, who have been duly sworn to serve as such during this term of the Court: Wilkes Morris, Foreman; B. F. Bryan, Allen Evans, Joseph Sharpless, David Jones, Isbam Sweet, W. M. Hankins, W. M. Collins, G. J. Boney, Samuel N. Cannon, Virgil Hill, C. C. Morse, Newton Gillican, Charles H. King, Thomas Franks, A. A. Dudley, Daniel O'Connor, A. Shrier.

Alderman Flanner, Mayor Pro Tem, will, we presume, bow himself gracefully down and out this afternoon, and Mayor Dawson will once more assume the functions of his office after an absence of nearly two months.

THE COLORED COMPANIES.

By advertisement published elsewhere it will be seen that the Cape Fear and Hanover Light Infantry companies will parade next Wednesday afternoon, for review and inspection by the Adjutant-General of the State. Senior Capt. Nash will command the battalion on the occasion.

Not Skotched, But Killed.
A rattlesnake three feet long and with five rattles, was killed last Saturday morning on the premises of Mr. Sylvester Gettenburg, on Third street North of the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad. The snake was injected by a colored man and there was considerable excitement thereabouts for a while. How he happened to stray into that section is unknown, but it is certain that he will never stray there again.

The Case of Elijah Keeter.
We understand that the Grand Jury this afternoon returned a true bill against Elijah Keeter for the murder of Peter Robinson in this city on the night of the 10th of August, 1877. Keeter will probably be arraigned in the morning when he will be permitted to plead guilty or not guilty to the charge. The trial will probably not take place before Thursday or Friday of this week.

Marsden Bellamy, Esq., we hear, has been employed by the friends of the prisoner to defend him, one gentleman on the wharf having agreed to bear half the expense of the trial.
Messrs F. H. Dr. by and J. I. Macks, we learn have volunteered to assist in the defence. Col. B. R. Moore, State Solicitor will be the only prosecuting attorney.

Meteorological.
The following is the meteorologic report at this point, for the month of September, made by Mr. D. C. Ralston, U. S. Signal officer here:
Highest barometer, 30.288; lowest barometer, 29.666; monthly range of barometer, .628; highest temperature, 99, (6th and 16th); lowest temperature, 56, (23rd); monthly range of temperature, 43; greatest daily range of temperature, 22; mean of maximum temperatures, 81.1; mean of minimum temperatures, 65.5; mean daily range of temperatures, 15.6; total rainfall, 21.10, inches; prevailing wind, northeast; total number of miles traveled, 5,424; maximum velocity of wind, 28 (north, 29th inst); number of days on which rain or snow fell, 11; mean barometer, 30.016; mean thermometer, 72.6; mean humidity, 77.6.

We understand that Smithville is growing desolate, nearly all of its Summer boarders having left.
