THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. 2. WILMINGTON, N. C., TUESDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1877. NO. 222

LATEST NEWS.

THE WAR. Official Report from the Turkish Commander in Armenia.

Turkey Seizes a Greek Vessel. LONDON, Oct. 8.—Monkbat Pacha telegraphs to Constantinople, under date of Friday, as follows:—“To-day the bulk of the Russian forces fell back to the foot of Karatool leaving only six battalions entrenched at Kabak. They have thus abandoned their positions parallel with our lines. There is no trace of the enemy at Baldoran, Kizhan or Oshulu, they having struck their camps. “The enemy's losses during the three day's battle at Yanilar and Aladaj-Dagh are estimated at 10,000 killed and wounded. Our losses are about 2,000. The Grand Duke Michael commanded the Russians in person. Providence has happily frustrated the formidable plans of our enemies.”

A Constantinople despatch says Ahmet Eyoub Rifat Pacha, late Chief of Staff, two brigadiers and several superior officers are to be tried. Eyoub Rifat is charged with disobedience in having refused to obey Mehmed Ali's orders to advance. Nothing is said about trying Prince Hassan.

The Porte has seized a Greek vessel entering the Gulf of Arta with arms and ammunition. Greece has demanded her restoration.

The Canvass for Speaker.

 WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Courts are in session all over the country, and Congress is so largely made up of lawyers that the number of arrivals here is still limited to the candidates for the Speakership, their immediate friends, and half a dozen members from the distant States. Among the little knot of Democratic Congressmen who are here only one thing seems clear, and that is that Mr. Randall's positive strength decidedly outweighs that of any one else. The current talk at the headquarters of all candidates turns entirely on the possibility of a combination of all conflicting interests to beat Randall. At present such a combination seems wholly out of the question.

Quietly, without much apparent work, Morrison is speaking well of Goode's chances, and sounding Southern men on the possibility of Southern support for a Southern man. Goode will be here himself on Tuesday, and it will be time enough then to see what headway he has made. So far it is not noticeable. It ought to be understood that Morrison still remains in the field, with increasing doubt of his ability to deliver his delegation when he is out of the field and in the market. Of the strength of the Texas-Pacific interest, Morrison has either been making a very precise inventory or he has his own reasons for belittling it. He said to-day that it did not control twenty votes, and he is credited with the emphatic declaration that its influence was not strong enough to command a homogeneous Southern vote in any scheme to defeat Randall.

Mr. Cox feels cheerily confident, and makes no sort of secret of his belief that the action of Wednesday's Albany Convention has given him more strength. He does not say so, but it is plain that he looks to the added influence of Tammany to secure the New York votes entire up to Albany, and Judge Church is to do his share to bring the two or three Congressmen in the western part of the State to his support. That the unbroken vote of New York State will, however, go for Mr. Cox no one believes, nor does he seriously claim it. Mr. Cox predicts Randall's defeat with a good deal of vivacity, and is strongly of the opinion that the average sentiment of the caucus will be against him.

Gambetta's Manifesto.

PARIS, Oct. 7.—M. Gambetta has issued a manifesto to the electors of the Twentieth Arrondissement of Paris. In it he says: “Citizens, after four long months of excesses, administrative pressure, and the most deplorable proceedings relative to official candidatures, France at last speaks. She will say in a few days what she thinks of the men of the 16th of May, the allies and protectors of the men of the 2d of December, the servants of Henry V., and the agents of the Syllabus and the Pope, who are all sheltered under patronage of the President, doubtless for the better protection of Republican institutions. France will say what she thinks of the personal policy of the Chief of the State, and the aristocratic and retrograde pretensions of the De Broglie Cabinet, of the unjustifiable dissolution of the Chamber of Deputies, of the miserable war waged by the Government against newspaper hawkers, schoolmasters, and other defenceless victims, of the projects and plots of this coalition of monarchists who are preparing for her three years of intestine conflicts and divisions, to be followed in 1880 by a terrible crisis and, perhaps, revolution.”

The manifesto, after strongly censuring the licensed violence of the reactionary press, says: “France will pronounce on the policy inaugurated by the letter dismissing the Republican Ministry, on the order of the day to the troops at the Longchamps review, on the Presidential messages of the 19th of September and on that system of government which the Chief of the Executive power vindicates as a right above the Constitution. France will declare for the Republic. She will say she intends to make an end of anarchy and dictatorships, withdraw the nation, as well as the individual, definitively from clerical rule, and insure that the public force shall never be employed except in the service of the law. I confidently declare that France, despite the manoeuvres against the freedom of her votes, will scorn the official candidature and its agents, spurn the Royalists, Cesarists, and Clericals—both knaves and partisans of violence. She will condemn dictatorial power, and leave the Chief of the Executive power, who is transformed into a plebiscitary candidate, no alternative but to submit or resign. We, ourselves, sure of the support of the country, shall know how to make its will prevail over a powerless and incorrigible minority. The union of all good Frenchmen will keep us discreet and render us invincible for the country and the Republic.”

The Conservative papers strongly censure M. Gambetta's manifesto, some of them declaring that the real crisis has now begun. The Republican papers warmly praise the manifesto.

Sudden illness of Mr. Archibald Forbes.

LONDON, World. There will be general grief at hearing that Mr. Archibald Forbes' health broke down badly before Plevna on the 11th inst. Mr. Forbes had only time to reach Bucharest and despatch to the Daily News his splendid telegram announcing the virtual defeat of the Russians when he was compelled to take to his bed with an attack of raging fever. Latest advices state that Mr. Forbes has been ordered to quit the Danube altogether and that he is on his way to England by easy stages.

Archbishop Bayley's Obsequies.

 BALTIMORE, Oct. 7.—An immense throng attended the various services at the cathedral to-day, which was draped in mourning for the late Primate and Archbishop. The sermon at the forenoon or high mass service was preached by Father Curtis, the Secretary of the Archbishop. During the day, from 10 o'clock until midnight, a continuous stream of persons of all classes, numbering from 24,000 to 30,000, passed through the Archepiscopal residence adjoining the cathedral and viewed the remains, which were lying in state. The number viewing the body yesterday is estimated at 14,000.

General European News.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—A cable despatch to London announces that nine persons have been arrested in Madrid for possessing arms and ammunition. The prisoners endeavored to resist and one of them was killed.

The German corvette Elizabeth has been ordered to Nicaragua to support a claim for satisfaction on behalf of German subjects who were recently maltreated there.

Senator Morton's Condition.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 7.—Senator Morton was reported not so well this morning, but this afternoon he rested much easier.

Mr. W. H. Styron has leased the store next to McLin's old corner, recently occupied by Col. Hedrick, and will open there in a few days an attractive stock of tobacco goods.

Trunk Robbed.

During the fire this morning a trunk which was taken from the burning building and belonging to Mr. Isaac Rhodes, who boarded with Mr. Howard, was broken open and robbed of its contents consisting of wearing apparel, private papers etc. There is no clue to the perpetrator of the bold theft.

A Deserter Transported by Rail to His Command.

Michael Priest, who has been twice arrested in this city as a deserter from the army, was yesterday brought from Smithville, Fort Johnson, in charge of a Sergeant and two men and sent by the train last night under the same guard, to Pittsburg, Penn., where his regiment, the 18th Infantry, Col. Black commanding, is at present stationed.

In Distress.

A letter from a correspondent at Beaufort, received this noon, informs us that the schooner J. W. Vannaman, of Mauriceotown, N. J., Sharp, master, from Jacksonville, Fla., for Philadelphia, with a cargo of lumber, put in at that port in distress on Sunday, the 7th inst. Capt. Sharp reports having been out 22 days; experienced heavy weather, lost deck load and also main-sail and fore-sail, crew tired out, &c.

Dried Figs.

Figs thrive almost as well in some of our Southern States as in Turkey, but we have never heard of an effort being made to dry them and make them an article of commerce. The process of drying the fruit is simple. It is dipped into hot lye from the ashes of the fig tree, and afterwards dried in the sun or in furnaces constructed for the purpose. After this process they are pressed into drums and boxes. No sugar is used in preparing them, as some persons suppose.

That Large Welsh Fortune.

On Saturday last, it will be remembered, we copied an article from the Raleigh Register, relative to a large fortune said to have been left in Wales, to Mr. Jno. G. Williams, of Raleigh, and the heirs of his brother, Mr. Ab. Williams, deceased, of this city, and now the Raleigh News throws cold water on the subject. It says:

The statement has got a start in the papers and is rapidly going the rounds, that John G. Williams, Esq., President of the State National Bank of this city, has had left to him and his brother's heirs, a large estate in Wales. We had heard the rumor and hoped it was true, but diligent inquiry has failed to satisfy us that there is any certainty in the report, but on the contrary, the statement is probably premature. Mr. Williams has not yet received the eighteen hundred dollars to pay his expenses to Wales to look after the estate, nor has he packed his trunk for the trip. Indeed we have not been able to ascertain that he has ordered any addition to his wardrobe which we think he would be likely to do, were he expecting to make a protracted sojourn in a foreign land. We hope it will all come out right, certain and sure, soon, and that the rumor may be confirmed, but it is not certain and sure yet.

The Fire This Morning.

The alarm of fire this morning at 4 o'clock was caused by the burning of a large two-story building attached to the old ‘Hyde-house’ on the corner of Seventh and Dock streets, the property of Dr. F. W. Potter, who now resides at Smithville. A colored woman living on the adjoining premises first discovered the fire and gave the alarm, but as the building was burning between the wall and the weatherboarding and the fire had gained some headway before it was discovered, the building was too far consumed to be saved. The dwelling house next took fire and was considerably damaged, both by fire and water. Mr. T. M. Howard, who resided in the dwelling, thinks the fire was the work of an incendiary. His loss will amount to about $200, on which there was no insurance.

Had it not been for the prompt action of the fire department the conflagration would have been much larger and more serious, as there is a row of houses in close proximity to each other adjoining the burned building. The little Giant threw the first stream on the fire. There was an insurance on the house of $1,700, and $300 on the kitchen in the Phoenix, of Hartford, represented here by Norwood Giles. The kitchen is a total loss, but it is not yet known to what extent the residence is damaged. Nor. Brig Gito, damaged by the late storm, will be hauled on the Marine Railway for repairs.

Unmailable Letters.

The following is the list of unmailable letters remaining in the Postoffice: Mrs. A. Burr, 318 Indiana Ave, Washington, D. C.; Miss Mammie Durham, Rocky Point, N. C.; 1 white envelope, no address. Accidentally Shot. A colored man was accidentally shot in the arm while walking along in the eastern portion of the city last evening. A gentleman sitting in his house was cleaning his pistol, when the weapon was accidentally discharged. The man was cared for by the gentleman and will receive all necessary aid until the wound heals and he is able to go to work. Madam Rentz's female minstrel were to have played in Charlotte last night and that young lady probably went both eyes at a time; if she didn't her young men did. The Wilmington lads don't take any stock in this troop this season.

Get the Genuine.

The genuine DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER is sold only in cans. Always refuse it, if offered loose or in bulk. It is the practice of many grocers and dealers to keep cheap Baking or Yeast Powder loose, and sell it for any brand that is called for. We, therefore, caution purchasers, to see that they get it only in cans, under the Label and Trade Mark of the Manufacturers, DOOLEY & BROTHER, New York.
