The Goldsboro Messenger says : The W. & W. R. R. is not only one of the best equipped in the South but its officers and employees are also under the best discipline, honest and watchful. On a recent trip over the Road, on Capt. Cutts' train, it was our misfortune to leave an overcoat on the cars. We did not discover our loss until three days after and of course gave up all hopes of ever seeing the coat again, but to our great surprise it came back to us on Thursday last. The day before we had mentioned our loss to Capt. Thomas W. Slocumb, the efficient agent at this place, and the coat was sent to him the following morning in response to a telegram. We understand that all valuables left on the train by passengers and found by any railroad employces, are promptly deposited at Wilmington in a room set apart for that purpose, and our coat had found its way there.

Lippincott's Magazine

For November presents an unusually attractive table of contents. Henry James, Jr., writes in his best vein of "London at Midsummer," depicting with keen observation and delicate humor some of those traits in English character and manners which puzzle and amuse the foreigner. Different in style, but no less enjoyable, is a sketch of American rural life, "The Doings and Goings-on of Hired Girls," by Mary Dean. W. A. Baillie-Grohman, author of a well-known work on the Tyrol, contributes an interesting historical paper, "The Flight of a Princess," based on docu-ments recently discovered in the Austrian the archives; and Hugh Craig describes the
