THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. 2. WILMINGTON, N. C., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1877. NO. 232

THE STATE FAIR.

Another bright and lovely day for the Fair, though a little rain the night previous would have added much to the comfort of those who travelled on the public highway.

The number of persons in attendance was in the neighborhood of 2,000, which is unusually large for the fourth day of the Fair. The exhibition was slightly improved by accessions, and in no way diminished by withdrawal of articles.

THE HALLS
 wore a deserted appearance in comparison to Wednesday and Thursday. Besides this there are no new features to descant upon.

A large number of articles were removed during the day, and to-day will be principally devoted to moving and auctioneering.

THE PREMIUM COMMITTEES were again active in their labors, and the large number of articles having pieces of paper pinned upon them bearing the word "premium" indicated that they had been liberal in their recommendations for awards. In this connection it will not be out of place to state that Captain C. B. Denson, the Secretary of the Society, announced to a reporter of this paper that several days must elapse before an accurate list of the premiums awarded can be made out and that until such list could be furnished from his office he preferred that no mention of them should be made. This is a disappointment as it was hoped that the official list would appear in this issue.

THE SMALL CROWD
 present had an advantage over the visitors of previous days; they could leisurely and comfortably examine all that there was to be seen, and occasionally get an opportunity of resting from their perambulations upon some cosy seat.

THE EXHIBITORS,
 a large number of whom have been upon their feet almost constantly since Tuesday morning, seemed fagged out, and no doubt they welcome the closing scenes of the exhibition. It is true that to-day is counted in as one of the days of the exhibition, but it usually has very few visitors, and is devoted to the work of clearing away.

THE GRAND STAND
 had quite a large array of beautiful ladies, and there were some very handsome toilets worn, regardless of the dust and the danger of snags. On the third floor, during the interval between the races, and other matters of interest, many couples could be seen whirling in the graceful, gliding joys of the waltz to the soft tones of the Italian string band. It was unanimously agreed among the ladies that this was the most delightful part of the whole exhibition, and indeed this was the opinion of many non participants, but who were pleased spectators.

HORIZONTAL BAR EXERCISES.
 At about half past one o'clock the contest between boys under sixteen years of age in gymnastic exercises on the horizontal bar took place. There were only three entries. For some unknown cause the authorities had made no arrangements for this exhibition. The boys had to erect the bar themselves, and no judge put in an appearance, consequently, the performance of the boys attracted but little attention. We are no judge of gymnastic performances and cannot say whether or not the boys did their best, but they were there and did their part in carrying out the programme in regard to the bar contest.

THE MILITARY.
 Although several companies returned home Thursday night, much to the sorrow of all and the disappointment of the young ladies who, during the previous day, have gloried in being escorted around by one in grey uniform, still in many portions of the grounds yesterday could be seen small squads of uniformed men, who were for the first time availing themselves of an idle moment, affording them the opportunity to look over the display of good wares and machinery. The military have added very largely to the success of our Fair and it was a pleasure to see them enjoy themselves, which they seemed to do yesterday.

SIDE SHOWS.
 This was the first Fair ever held in this city at which there were no side shows. No painted canvases was on the ground, no fat woman, ring-tailed monkey, living skeleton, or wax work of Charley Ross; nothing of the kind appeared upon or near the ground. The only catch pennies were a never failing cement man, the vender of lightning sausage, and Dunn, the pen man, who told the truth when he told those standing around him that "they could get just what they wanted at their own price." We stood near his stand and saw him sell a dollar lot of his goods. He first took out a nickel pen staff and six pens, then added six sheets of paper and six envelopes, then a pair of gold-plated (?) sleeve buttons and three shirt studs, then a collar button and scarf pin, then a finger ring and set of ear rings, then a breast pin and lady's finger ring, all of which he offered for $1. Nobody purchased. Again the vender added to the package, putting in a locket with a chain three feet long, and a pair of bracelets, then a watch chain and charm, and again cried, "who'll take it for a dollar?" and a dozen dollars were shoved up in his face, and another soul was made happy.

THE FRUIT PREMIUM.
 Though a mention of premiums has been avoided by request, as stated elsewhere, yet the fact is well known that Capt. Natt. Atkinson, of Bucombe, took the premium in the fruit line. Many declare that his pomological display was the most attractive feature in General Exhibition Hall. During the Centennial Exposition Capt. Atkinson's energy and industry were highly complimented by several leading Northern papers, and his apples were spoken of as unsurpassable. The Captain did not have an easy "walk over" this time, as he had several competitors, all of whom have been previously mentioned, who gave him a very close race. The fruit exhibition is remarked on all sides as having been unimportant, and in truth it is so; nothing like it was ever witnessed here before.

In point of fact it may be now said that the SEVENTEENTH ANNUAL FAIR of the North Carolina Agricultural Society is over. It was one, it can be said, which the entire State may well feel proud of. It has evidenced the great resources of the State, and impressed upon the minds of thousands the fact that the Giver of all good and perfect gifts has blessed our clime lavishly, and that it only needs self-reliance, vim and industry to reap the glorious advantages placed within our reach. With honest labor, guided by intelligence and luck, North Carolina will soon have no waste places to reap the eye and deplete the coffers. Yes, the Fair is now almost a thing of the past, but it is gratifying to feel and know that the good it has accomplished will live and bear fruit long after its memory has faded. It was a joyous season of good feeling and happy reunions; new friendships made and old ones more strongly cemented; ideas given and received; it has served its useful purpose, and goes to make room for its improved successor.

The best criterion by which to judge of the zeal and earnest labor of the officers of the Agricultural Society is the measure of success which has crowned their efforts. They meant success, and they have deserved and achieved it.

THE TARGET PRACTICE.
 The parties that "fied" in the shooting match of Thursday met on the Fair Grounds yesterday morning, and resumed the contest. After a spirited contest, Private J. T. Parris, of company F, 1st Battalion, was awarded the prize.

THE RACES.
 There were quite a number of races during the day. The first was a trotting race, mile and repeat, with the following entries:
 Roanoke, by Pomeroy; Sallie Pachen, by Pucey; Jennie Morgan, by Lyon. Roanoke won the race easily, in two straight heats. Time not stated.

No. 2 was a running race, half mile dash, between James Norwood's Lilly Ruffin and Hall's bay filly. No name. The filly won the race in 58 seconds.

The third race was a mile dash and the horses entered. The bay filly again came out victor. Time not stated.

Race No. 4 was a half mile dash. C. Dosier enters Hope and Walker enters Sumpter. Hope won her race in 53 1/2 seconds.

The 5th was a special trotting race with the following entries:
 Frank Kenan, by Hackaday; David Crockett, by _____; Flora, by Dickey, Billy Lee, by Beck; Buster, by Smith. It was a close and exciting race. Billy Lee came out ahead and David Crockett second.

The exhibition of driving horses to represent style, gentleness &c., for which a premium of a track wagon is given was very fine, comprising eight entries. The prize was awarded to Mr. M. Lassiter.

In the boys' show for skill in horsemanship there were quite a number of entries. The prize was a saddle and bridle and was awarded to Robert Lynch. Jno. Dent received the second premium.

Boys under 12 years of age also competed for a special premium and Peter Jones got the first premium and Walter Fuller the second.

Just the weather for evening promenading.
 The butchers kill to dress; the ladies dress to kill.

Sol Smith Russell is to play in Macon, Ga., this evening.

The Blondes go hence to Charlotte where they play to-night.

The agile mosquito is still ravaging the Christian graces of this population.

The size of soda water will soon be a shred of music worn in the woof of the past.

"Carpet goods" for dresses are fashionable and seem to be popular with the ladies.

The apple supply in our market is very abundant, the Northern varieties predominating.

The streets are very dusty, but we can stand the dust as long as these beautiful days will stay with us.

Madam Rentz, with her female minstrels, is down in Georgia. The troupe, preceded by a brass band, uniformed in red, promenade the streets wherever they go.

Mosquitoes are larger and more numerous on "Piety Hill" this season than was ever before known. Cause, stagnant water in vicinity of the base ball grounds.

A fashionable hat for autumn and for traveling is of brown or dark gray cloth, in the Derby shape. It is sometimes worn without ornament, but often with a feather or two on one side, or with some veiling about the crown.

Fresh Groceries.
 Mr. L. Vollers, of the grocery house on the Southeastern corner of Market and Second streets appears in an advertisement in this issue. Mr. Vollers has in store a very attractive stock which is constantly being replenished by new arrivals, and which will be sold at the lowest prices. The attention of housekeepers is called to this fact.

Moved.
 Messrs. Cromly & Morris have removed to their old quarters on South Water street. The buildings have been thoroughly repaired and the office is now located on the first floor, in a building to the rear of but adjoining the others. It is a great improvement over the old arrangement.

Fifteen Cent Dinners.
 By Miss Juliet Corson, New York Cooking School, No. 8 St. Mark's Place.
 Enough food is wasted in nearly every house in North Carolina in six months by injurious and destructive cooking to keep these families going for the remainder of the year. And this is not the worst aspect of the case. In the midst of plenty, few, very few families get as good nutritious fare as would be furnished in France, for instance, at one-fourth the cost. Take the average farm-house all over the State and the traveller can almost anticipate with certainty the fried meat and biscuit for breakfast, boiled bacon and greens for dinner, and the bill of fare for breakfast repeated at supper, a course calculated in the end to damage the digestion of the most stalwart man, eventually disarming him for resistance against invasions of disease.

Here is a little pamphlet of forty pages intended to show, and that gratuitously, how workingmen's families (and who are not working men in the South now?) can have a dinner for 15 cents, and in fact how to live a whole week for $2 63 (two dollars and sixty-three cents). This estimate, it is true, is made upon the Washington market retail prices, but the amount can be approximated in North Carolina; in some places the cost will be more and in other places less. The bill of fare itemized by Miss Corson gives all the varied elements for good nutrition and support.

Send for one of Miss Corson's pamphlets; it costs nothing but the postage stamp. Here is the announcement on the cover:

"ALL PERSONS ARE CAUTIONED NOT TO PAY FOR THIS BOOK. THIS EDITION OF 50,000 COPIES IS PUBLISHED FOR FREE CIRCULATION ONLY."

Now to give you satisfactory proof that GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER will cure you of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint with all its effects, such as Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Heart-burn, Water brash, coming up of food after eating, low spirits, &c., we ask you to go to your Druggist and get a Sample Bottle of GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER for 10 cents and try it, or a Regular Size for 75 cents; two doses will relieve you.
