Plenty of fish in market this morning. There is still here and there a straw hat.

The "Crushed Tragedian" is the latest style of hat.

The pin-back dress will probably go out with the tie.

That mysterious fluid called lemonade has subsided for the season.

Pork sausages now regale the appetites which long for autumnal delicacies.

A tyrant, says the cynic, is a husband who refuses to be a slave to his wife.

A little boy's first pair of trousers always fit, if the pockets are deep enough.

Poor people who go on getting poorer and poorer every year have babies all the same.

He that is truly polite knows how to contradict with respect, and to please with admiration.

How does man differ from the brute creation? He stands upright, but he doesn't always act so.

What's the difference between a cook and her lover? The one cooks the meat, and the other meats the cook.

The young men are complaining of weakness in their wrists on account of the size of the sleeve-buttons now considered the thing.

A thin parson may succeed as a lecturer, but when a fat man gets through speaking and sits down, he always leaves a deeper impression.

Let not your linen hang upon the clothes-line after dark, for behold the tramp seeketh wherefrom he may replenish his wardrobe.

Market street, between Front and Fourth streets, which was badly washed during the heavy rains of the past summer, is being repaired and leveled.

A harassed husband thinks if the dress-maker would trim his wife's dresses less and the butcher would trim his meat more, he could meet his obligations better.

One of the new stamps for beer kegs is a vignette of George Washington. This is an insult to the memory of a good man.

Beer never "put a head" on Washington, and Washington's head should never be put on beer.

The Steamship Raleigh, of the Baltimore and Wilmington Steamship Line, will take the furniture of Col. Davis, formerly of the Parole House in this city, from here to Norfolk, touching at the latter named place on her voyage from this port to Baltimore.

A wild-eyed youth rushed in yesterday to tell us that he had just discovered the meaning of the talk about tenure of office, etc. He said it means that if you are not fixed tenure position pretty firmly the chances are nine out of ten removed to make room for some other fellow.

A young lady on Fourth street is very anxious to know whether tailors really do stuff the shoulders of young men's coats with padding and buckram, so as to make them look broad-shouldered and manly. And she says she means to slyly stick a pin full length into her beau's shoulder next Sunday evening, to find out for herself.

One of the most striking characteristics of woman is her cheerful perseverance in looking under the bed for a man. No man in his senses ever looks under the bed for a woman; but there are millions of women in the country who find it quite impossible to sleep in any bed under which they had not previously searched for a concealed man.

The Celebrated Vienna Rolls. Among the numerous articles DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER is used for, are the celebrated Vienna rolls, which are also delicious, palatable and healthy.

If you have not the recipe send three-cent stamp to DOOLEY & BROTHER, New York, and you will get it, together with many other valuable cooking recipes, by return mail.

Hearing Restored. Great invention by one who was deaf for 20 years. Send stamp for particulars. JNO. GARMORE, Lock-box 905, Covington, Ky.

Parade by the Cadets.

We understand that the Cadets of the Cape Fear Military Academy will parade on the streets to-morrow afternoon, at 4 o'clock. The guns allotted Maj. Burges for the use of the Cadets are expected here to-morrow but they will not be used in the parade on that day.

Personal.

Dr. M. J. DeRosset, of this city, left here this morning en-route for New York whence he will probably go West before locating finally. His family remains here.

Capt. C. D. Myers and his wife also left here this morning on the Northern train. They will spend a few weeks in travel in the Northern States and in visiting Capt. Myers' friends and relatives.

Military Notes.

The Raleigh News says: Lieutenant-Colonel M. P. Taylor, of the 2nd Battalion N. C. S. G., has appointed Capt. John G. Potts, of Pineville, Mecklenburg county, quartermaster of the 2nd Battalion, with the rank of Captain. Captain Potts has tendered his resignation as Captain of the Polk Rifles, (Co. I, 2nd Battalion.)

The display made by our State Guard at the Fair has done much towards awakening a martial spirit throughout our State. Companies are in process of organization, while others are but waiting the issue of arms. We intend to have troops which shall be the equals of any State volunteers in efficiency.

Church Convention.

The Baptist State Convention meets at Durham November 7th and the Raleigh News says: The handsome new church at that place will not be ready to receive that body, although it is progressing rapidly. We understand they are expecting a large delegation, and are fully satisfied that visiting delegates will be handsomely entertained, as Durham knows how to do such things. Arrangements have been made with the Richmond & Danville, North Carolina, the Salem Branch, the Wilmington & Weldon and Atlantic & North Carolina Railroads to pass visitors for 3 cents per mile each way.

The Western Railroad of North Carolina will issue return tickets for five cents per mile.

Judge McKay.

The Raleigh Observer pays the following handsome and deserved compliment to this distinguished gentleman:

We believe we do but speak the universal sentiment of the people of Wake when we say that Judge McKay carried away with him the respect and confidence and kindly feeling of all with whom he came in contact during the late term of the Court in this county. Familiar with all the principles of law involved in the various cases, brought before him and ready and quick to render his decisions, he was also a patient and courteous listener to the youngest as to the oldest member of the bar, thus striking the happy mean that is so difficult to find between undue haste and unnecessary delay.

The people of Wake can now understand what inducement their brethren of the Cape Fear had for the splendid fight they made in the campaign of 1874 to secure the election of Judge McKay—they knew that if successful they would secure the services of an able Judge and a just one, a blessing that neither the people of Wake nor those of New Hanover have always enjoyed.

Making a Sensation.

The Charlotte Observer says: The "dizzy blondes" who were here last Saturday night, create a sensation of one kind or another wherever they appear. In Charlottesville, Va., they were allowed to perform but one night. In Petersburg they out Herodotus-Herod from all accounts, and the Index-Appel says their performance induce the writing of a note, which it publishes, to one of the ministers of the city, in which the writer says that "clergymen should denounce such exhibitions," and that "to allow such things to go on in a christian community is a reproach upon religion."

"If," says this letter writer, "a female was caught in one of our dark alleys at night in the condition these blondes appeared—the police would instantly arrest her. Why allow those creatures to come here and violate all decency by their obscene and outrageous performance?"

The blondes are very naughty; there is no mistake about that. They show more on the boards than they put down on the bills, and they say bad words at the wine-supper after-pieces. But all this is "business" and the blondes will continue it as long as iniquity pays. So there is no use in abusing them. The way to break them up is to try to cure the disease which has seized upon the taste of the populace.

Mountain Beer.

The prettiest beef we ever saw in Wilmington was exposed to-day in front of Messrs Monroe & King's meat store on Second street. If there is a fault about it it is that it is too fat. It was raised in the mountains of North Carolina, from whence it was shipped by express to Messrs. Monroe & King.

New Compress.

The stockholders of the Cotton Compress Company in this city, held a meeting this morning, and determined upon purchasing and erecting at once an entire new machine, upon the company's property near the old compress. The main reason for this movement is the immense increase of business, which the stockholders think will justify the outlay required in the purchase of another press.

Nearly a Fire.

The kitchen attached to the residence of Mrs. Roberts, on the corner of Chestnut and Sixth streets, was discovered to be on fire this noon about 12 o'clock. The timely application of a few buckets of water extinguished the flames, and prevented what might have proved a serious conflagration. There was no general alarm.

Last Night's Performance.

A very fashionable audience greeted the Watkins Troupe last night at the Opera House. The performance was pleasing to the audience, although we did not think that the piece "Marriage" was one in which the company could do themselves full justice.

Rose and Harry were warmly received by their many friends and time only brings these clever artists nearer to the hearts of the public. Mrs. Watkins has without doubt a most powerful yet flexible voice, which she manages with consummate skill, and she possesses to an unusual degree those qualities which makes her a master of the art.

Miss Amy Lee, of this Company, is another bright and particular star, and she is rapidly gaining favor before the public. Her singing and acting are charming, and we learn that she is to have a benefit to-morrow night (Friday) playing in the ever popular play of Romeo and Juliet. To-night's bill, Hidden Hand, will be a grand one for fun and pathos combined, and we hope our people will turn out in large numbers and give the Company a full house.

Society Gossip.

Unglazed visiting cards are fashionable.

Square envelopes are preferred to long ones.

Invitation cards are transcribed in plain script.

Japanese stationery is popular. Pale tints are used.

"Name cards," used at dinners, are very ornamental.

Scarf pins are gotten up in various emblematic forms.

There are many new styles in jewelry for both gentlemen and ladies.

Onyx and pearl ornaments are much worn. Couch shell is also favored.

For persons in half-mourning, tortoise shell ornaments are considered appropriate.

Engagement rings are of various modes, yet the diamond is still the favorite ring.

"Rolled" gold jewelry is very much worn. The modes are various and the prices reasonable.

For "full dress" the corsage is always cut low, the sleeves reach to the elbow, or are a mere shoulder strap.

The "Royal" princess dress is designed particularly for slightly built figures; it fits very closely over the hips.

Silk, satin, brocade, and damasse are materials used for bridal dresses; perhaps is preferred to all the others.

"India" cashmere and ivory white silk are often combined for a bridal toilet; the trimming is Valenciennes or Mechlin lace.

Wedding presents of silver are generally small in size, and finished in a novel style. Combination sets are arranged in elegant cases.

Mob caps are the latest innovation in bridesmaids' toilets; they are coquettish in character, and are said to be exclusively English.

Dressy toilets have the centre of the train elaborately trimmed, either with some contrasting material or with cascades of lace and flowers.

The long plaited trains are not so much in favor this season. The fashion of polonaise now in vogue obscures the mode of underdress skirt.

Superior Court.

The case of Kerchner & Calder Bros. vs. Alexander and J. L. MacRae, alluded to by us in yesterday's issue, was finally given to the Jury last night after having occupied the attention of the Court for two entire days. The Jury, after remaining out all night, finally agreed upon a verdict this morning in favor of the defendants. It is thought an appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court. We hear Judge Moore's charge on this occasion spoken of as being so complete and withal so explicit that neither counsel asked any special instructions to be given.

To-day the Court has been occupied with the case of the Bank of New Hanover of this city vs. Williams, Black & Co., of New York. This case is still on trial and will probably consume the balance of the day.

We learn, just as we are going to press, that His Honor Judge Moore was compelled to adjourn court this afternoon until to-morrow, at 10 o'clock, on account of His Honor's suffering from indisposition from an attack of fever.
