CAROLINA.
Snow fell at Henry's, the head of the Western North Carolina Railroad, on Monday. This is the first this season.
Stateville Landmark: Rev. S. S. Murkland, who recently had a stroke of paralysis, has been removed to the home of his eldest son in Virginia, where he will hereafter reside.
Raleigh Observer: Tuesday night the steam gin and eight bales of cotton, the property of Mr. W. H. Rowland, near Elevation, Johnston county, were destroyed by fire. The origin of the fire was accidental.
Newbern Nut Shell: Died, in this city, Sunday, October 21, at 12:30 o'clock, Susan Conner, aged one hundred and five years and eight months. Funeral will take place from Bethel Church at 8 o'clock this afternoon.
Raleigh Observer: A loadstone, weighing 595 pounds, brought from Mitchell county by State Geologist Kerr, now ornaments the foot of the staircase of the office entrance of the Briggs building. It has a powerful magnetic power.
Robesonian: Mr. Joseph Thompson is now gathering from a 30 acre field of cotton, which is averaging 1,200 pounds of cotton per acre, the first picking over. He expects the whole field to average 1,500 pounds per acre, when it is all gathered.
Raleigh Observer: Yesterday a young man by the name of James Barrow, while at work at a cotton gin on the farm of Cornwall Ferrell, some twenty miles northeast of this city, had his hand so badly crushed that it is thought that amputation will be necessary.
Durham Plant: During the past week W. T. Blackwell & Co. have shipped 122,000 lbs. of smoking tobacco to one man. On Friday last they received a telegram ordering 1,350 cases which amounted to 47,000 lbs. This tobacco aggregated not less than $22,000.
Greensboro Patriot: Explosion of kerosene lamp Wednesday night, the 17th inst., occurred at the house of Mr. J. F. Holton, head miller at Okaldale four mill, Jamestown, burning his daughter Annie, aged 11 years, so badly that she died after twenty hours of intense suffering.
Robesonian: Dr. R. M. Norment of this town has a pet rattlesnake which is over five feet in length and has 11 rattles. His name is Osman Pasha, and like the Turks, he is pluck. A huge rat was recently thrown into his cage and it was thought some fun would be witnessed, but he killed the rat almost instantly.
Washington Press: We are informed by a friend from about Blount's Creek that a Miss Ruff, daughter of the widow Jewell, attempted suicide one day last week by taking chloroform, but was discovered in time to be saved. She had made all the necessary arrangements for shrouding herself and had laid out such clothes as she wanted used. We are not informed as to the motive prompting the act.
Greensboro Patriot: H. H. Tate has just gathered from a little less than three acres and a half of ground 300 bushels of corn and 800 pumpkins. He fed 8 hogs, 2 mules and a horse for two weeks from the corn field, what they ate not being counted in the 300 bushels. He cut also 330 bushels of wheat from an adjoining field which weighed 65 pounds to the bushel, 5 pounds more than the standard weight.
Washington Press: Osceola Forbes, of Greenville N. C., a young boy of only eight years of age can perform so well that he has been selected as leader of the brass band in that place. He has been taking lessons for only a few weeks on the violin and yet he is said to be so far advanced as to be surpassed by but few. He took part in a concert a few days ago in Newbern, and his audience was so well pleased, that after the concert they raised a good purse, which was presented to him.
Charlotte Observer: We stated some weeks ago that the engine "Salisbury," of the Western North Carolina Railroad, had been carried to the head of the road and would be transported across the mountains in wagons, to do the necessary work on the other side. This attempt was a failure, owing to the steepness of the mountain and the weight of some of the pieces after the locomotive had been unjointed as far as possible; and now we learn that it is being taken over by means of ropes and pulleys. Seventy-five or one hundred convicts are engaged in drawing it up the mountain side, and no doubt it is entertained that by this means it will be taken over. The idea is a novel one, but it was found necessary to get the engine over by some means and this was found to be the only practical plan. Once across the mountain, its services will very much expedite the work of construction.

The Presbyterian Synod.
The sixty-fourth session of the Synod of the Presbyterian Church in North Carolina, will convene at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the Second Presbyterian church of this city, and will be opened with a sermon by Rev. Mr. McQueen, the moderator of the last Synod. Several delegates, clerical and lay, are already in the city, and many will arrive to-day. This will probably be more largely attended than any previous session of this body since its formation.
The Thermometer.
From the United States Signal Office at this place we obtain the following report of the thermometer, as taken this morning at 7:31 o'clock:

LATEST NEWS.
The Episcopal Convention.
BOSTON, Oct. 24.—At the evening session, yesterday, of the Episcopal Convention, the discussion of the canon relating to the organization of a Board of Missions was continued, and finally the canon was adopted. The canon provides that the institution be denominated the "Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States."
The Bishops non-concur in the use of the English lectionary until the next General Convention. The subject was referred to a joint committee of conference.
The Bishops concur in the use of a special table of lessons in the lectionary for Lent.
The Pimlico Races.
BALTIMORE, Oct. 24.—In the mile race for all ages, Idalia won; First Chance second, Midge third. Time 1:45.
In the one and three-quarter mile race, Viceroy won; Mary second, King third. Time 3:11.
In the two and a half mile race, Parole won; Ten Broeck second, Ochiltree third. Time 4:37.
When the horses came up to weigh, after the race, Parole was received with cheers and the people gathered around him. As soon as his jockey was weighed, the crowd raised him on their shoulders and carried him about the track with cheer upon cheer, until it became a perfect ovation. Such excitement was never witnessed in Baltimore on any previous racing occasion.
In the French pool, investments of five dollars on Parole realized one hundred and thirteen.

Declares it a Failure.
The New York Times declares the President's policy a failure, and is evidently leaning towards Conkling and Blaine. It says:
For the tests in regard to the good faith of the South, estimated according to the standard which the President was in duty bound to uphold, we patiently wait. But the political tendencies of the new order of things were to be developed at once and were to be an answer to Republican cavilers. Let us see where and what they are. In the first place, the Republican organization in the Southern States has not received any of the promised benefits. The accession of old Whig deserters from the Democracy is not forthcoming. The crowds that were to rally around the Republican banner, in token of grateful appreciation of the doings of a Republican President, have not been heard of in any State. The supposition that the local Republican organizations would suddenly expand into a grand Administration party, turns out to have been a dream. The policy which was to have invested Southern Republicanism with a giant's strength, and redeemed it from the odium that had entailed ostracism and danger upon conspicuous members, has operated differently. It has crushed out the Republican party in some States; in others it has left little besides the name. Not in one has it helped the party in respect of character or numbers.
Have we, then, an Administration party in the South, distinct from the Republican organization but perpetuating its principles and securing for them friendly recognition where before they were tabooed? The truth admits of but one answer. The most vigilant search has failed to reveal a single instance in which a public man, an established journal, or anybody or anything that can be held to indicate public opinion, has changed his or its attitude toward the Republican party in consequence of the President's policy, or has made that policy a pretext for abandoning allegiance to the Democracy. No only is there—practically speaking—no longer a Republican party in the South, but there is not the faintest trace of an Administration party. Not a nomination has been made, not a declaration has been issued, not a plan or purpose has been promulgated, pointing to an Administration party as the embodiment of modernized Republicanism, or as an entity at variance with the orthodox Democracy. Of Democrats who applaud the President, there are plenty. But they invariably assert that they applaud him because he has gone over to them, and has applied their views in relation to Southern affairs. They avow their intention to support him, not, however, as against the Democratic party, but as against Republicans who object to his policy and may try to thwart his Administration. Except within these limitations, the President has no adherents at the South. He has no party there, distinct from the old organizations, and the only Southern votes his administration can rely upon when giving effect to Republican convictions, are the votes of the Republicans whom his policy has rendered powerless in Southern affairs.
