Paris bonnets are growing beautifully less, and may eventually consist of a narrow band perched on the back of the head, and tied under the left ear--not in a hangman's knot, however. Husbands need not rejoice, as the toggery increases in price as it decreases in size.

W.C.C. & A. Accident.
 There has been much published in regard to the disaster last Friday on the C. C. & A. R. R., and all of the accounts, as a general thing, seem to have been greatly exaggerated. The New York Herald, for instance, calls it another "Ash-tebula horror" and publishes the startling announcement of one hundred lives having been lost. But this is only one hundred times too many. The following card from Col. Pope, who was himself at the scene not long after the accident occurred, will be accepted as conclusive in regard to the matter:
 WILMINGTON, N. C., Nov. 26, 1877.
 EDITOR REVIEW:
 Referring to the accident upon the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta Rail Road on the 23d inst., I would ask for space in your valuable columns to say:
 The cause of the accident was an extraordinary rise in the stream, greater than any heretofore known, and unsettling the foundations by force of the undercurrent. The result is one person drowned, one leg broken, four or five more or less bruised, but none of them severely. There were not exceeding eighteen persons, both passengers and train men, on board. Trains will resume passage over the re-constructed bridge on to-night's schedule. The undersigned arrived at the scene of the accident within seven hours after its occurrence, and from the fact that a Southern bound train had passed over the bridge one hour before, and persons living near had walked over it twenty minutes previously, the presumption of its entire safety was a fair one to the mind of the Engineer.

Look Out for It.
 The indications are that there will be a tremendous freshet in the Cape Fear in a day or two. The Raleigh papers speak of very heavy and continuous rains in the interior and of swollen creeks and water courses. If the easterly winds continue to force the tides up and these are met by a heavy freshet from the interior then there will be water enough to last awhile.

Terrible Floods--Both Rail Road Bridges at Weldon Swept Away.
 The floods have risen and the waves lift up their voice and communication between the North and the South is as completely cut off, by three different routes, as if there had never been a railroad line between the two sections. It was known yesterday that bridges along the line of the Richmond & Danville R. R. had been prostrated and to-day comes the unwelcome information that the two immense railroad bridges which spanned the Roanoke at Weldon, that of the Petersburg & Weldon R. R., that of the Seaboard & Roanoke R. R. have been washed away. The former went at 7 o'clock this morning and the latter at 11 o'clock and it is supposed that the frame work of the S. & R. bridge washed against that on the P. & W. R. R. and helped to carry it away.

The water in the Roanoke is higher than ever known before, or as old Judge Lynch puts it in a telegram received here to-day: "six feet higher than the Flood." The highest water ever known in that section heretofore, fell six feet short of the level of the big bridge, (Petersburg & Weldon) and now it is higher than the bridge formerly stood. The water is pouring down in perfect torrents and it is impossible to cross the river. Several small boats have already attempted it but none have yet succeeded.
 It is hoped in a day or two, perhaps by to-morrow, to establish passenger communication by means of lighters or canal boats and in two or three weeks time a temporary bridge will have been erected, on which the trains can cross. We have yet heard of no loss of life. Several persons were on the S. & R. bridge when it was swept away this morning, but those were caught on a small island where they clung to trees until rescued.

Miss Abbott Coming South.
 We have received a little pamphlet sketch of Miss Emma Abbott, the great American prima donna, accompanied by a notification that the Emma Abbott Grand Concert Company will make a tour through the South in February, 1878. Miss Abbott is regarded as one of the finest, if not the finest, soprano America has ever produced. She has been received with great enthusiasm wherever she has been. The Le Figaro (Paris) says: "She possesses one of those rare voices that make the Patti's and the Nilsons. Miss Abbott brings with her the following artists of great reputation: Mr. W. H. Stauley, tenor; Signor Ferranti, baritone (buffo); Mr. Matthew Arbuckle, cornet soloist; Herr Robyn, solo pianist; and Mr. A. G. Robyn, as musical director.

We saw this morning at Messrs. Zimmerman & White's, where it has been left to be framed, a lithograph of the battlefield of Gettysbury, which was prepared by Col. Bachelder, whose communication relative to the battle was published a few days since in the Raleigh Observer. It is the property of the Gen. S. H. Manning.
