Fresh pork and the nicest of sausages, now tickle the palates of high lives.

The poodle dog style is now the popular fashion for young ladies to wear their hair.

Lady barbers are sweet, it must be confessed, for they wipe off your chin and pull down your vest.

Some men are wise, others otherwise and some weatherwise, but it is a fool that looks a gift mule in the hind foot.

The man who puts his silk hat down on a neighboring seat at the theatre frequently meets with a crushing defeat.

In making their dresses now a days the ladies do not forget that a share of their skirts is intended for the use of the hand.

For dinner toilet hose of a lighter autumn green than the dress are to be worn, and the shoes must match the dress in color.

Paletots entirely covering the dress are fashionable for little girls for out-door wear. They button slantingly, with deep collars, and have cuffs, collars and pockets edged with fur.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Historical & Scientific Society, to be held in the Lecture Room of the First Presbyterian Church on next Monday evening, the 8d inst., Col. Jas. G. Burr will read a paper on "Old Times in Wilmington."

Light, Well-Raised Bread, Bisouit, Cakes and Pastry, digest easily and conduce to good health. Good health makes labor of all kinds easier, and prolongs life. DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER will always make all these productions light and wholesome. It is warranted to make better, lighter, sweeter, more toothsome and nutritious biscuits, cake, bread, etc., than any other baking powder.

Gas and kerosene both make good lights but the light of pleasure burning in a home circle, sheds the most delicious rays of any other known.

"What's honor?" asks Falstaff. That's easy. Any woman who sits behind another woman in church can tell what's on her in two minutes.

When a girl begins to take an interest in the arrangement of a young man's necktie, it is an infallible sign of something more serious than sisterly regard.

The hardest thing for a boy to hold on to is his tongue. It is harder to hold than a bundle of eels, and is ready to lie, swear, and speak harsh, improper words at the shortest notice.

The latest device for a gentleman's scarf pin is a solid gold fork, bearing the monogram of the wearer upon the handle. Next we shall have a dinner plate with a fried oyster in the middle.

The worms in apples may be converted into very good cider, but no mode of cooking chestnuts can make the worms in them palatable: a dreadful something always tells you it is there and you lose the entire chestnut without one pang of regret.

New York society journals are discussing the momentous question: "Under what circumstances may a gentleman lift his hat to a passing lady?" We are not a "society" journal, but under no circumstances should he lift his hat to her when he carries a "brick" in it.

Charity is noble, whether in the lofty or lowly, and no sight is more affecting than to see a poor untutored son of Africa leave his cot at the dead hour of the coldest night, to lift a wretched pullet from the neighboring coop and bring it into his little home and warm it at the fire.

Panoramas of the American war are now being converted into "Dioramas of the Russo-Turkish war" with neatness and dispatch. One man and a pot of paint can change half a mile of American rebellion into that much Oriental war in less than a day, if he doesn't go out too often for refreshments. The artist's most difficult task is painting fierce mustaches and wild eyes on the Confederate soldiers to make Turks of 'em.

Furniture Rooms.

We invite attention to the attractive advertisement of Mr. F. A. Schutte, dealer in all kinds of furniture, as it appears in this issue. Mr. Schutte has on hand now a magnificent stock, all of which he offers at greatly reduced prices. The ladies are especially invited to call and examine the great variety he offers in style, manufacture and prices.

Special Services.

We lean that there will be special services at the First Baptist Church next week, consisting of a prayer meeting every afternoon at 3 o'clock, and preaching at night by Rev. F. M. Jordan. Rev. Mr. Jordan has arrived in the city, and will preach at the First Baptist Church tomorrow morning and night.

A Pathetic Appeal.

Col. Brink, our good-looking and accommodating Postmaster, gets himself into a dilemma sometimes through his admiration for the fair sex and his desire to accommodate them with letters from their dear but absent ones, as witness the following genuine production received by him yesterday from two forlorn but loving damsels. We suppress the names:

If there is any letters in the office for Miss _____, and for Miss _____, please send them to us; you know it is heart-breaking to be away from our sweet-hearts and send to the office every day in the week and can't get any letter. It brings the tears in our eyes to see the girl come back with none. Pity us and send us one.

Whether or not the dearly desired letters were forthcoming we failed to enquire, but how any man of flesh and blood and whiskers could resist such an appeal it is hard to understand. Col. B.'s duty in the premises was plain enough. He should have furnished a letter apiece at once, and this, it seems, to us, would have been easy enough, as he keeps a Penny-a-liner always on hand for just such emergencies.

Joint Services.

The congregations of the First Presbyterian Church and Front Street M. E. Church will worship to-morrow-morning, Rev. Jos. B. Wilson, D. D., preaching in the Presbyterian Church in the morning and at the Methodist Church at night. On this occasion the seats will be free.

Verily it would appear that there is but little danger of a religious war in this country after all. Doctrinal differences may be positive and decided, but they are but different roads, all tending in the same direction and all to meet at last at the same destination. Such things remind us of the old darkey's dream, which some may have forgotten.

It was long before the war and the old fellow who had just got religion, had a dream. "And what did you dream?" queried his master. "Oh, Massa John, I dreamt I was at the Jasper gates of glory and dey was open and I went in long wid de 'numerable company of angels and the sperits of jest men made perfect." "And what did you see there?" any Methodists queried his master. "No, master, no 'Mefoydadar." "Any Presbyterians?" "No, master, no 'Pebertensers." "Any Baptists?" "No, master, no 'Babsstis." "Any Episcopalians?" "No, master, no 'Piskerpains." "Well, who in the world did you see there, then?" "Nobody but Christians, master," replied the good old soul.
