The Right of Confirmation was administered yesterday by Bishop Atkinson in St. James Church, to four persons, two ladies and two gentlemen, the candidates having been presented by the Rector, Rev. Dr. Watson.

The Wilson Advance enters this week upon its eighth volume. It is a good paper, and has done, and will continue to do, good service to its party and people and is genuinely deserving of the success it has met with.

Twenty-nine of the best young men of Burlington have banded themselves together, and bound themselves by a terrible oath, not to pay more than seven dollars for a pin cushion made of furniture calico and stuffed with bran, no matter what missionary society manufactures the pin cushion.

Arrived.

The Rev. W. S. Black, the new pastor of Edenton Street M. E. Church, says the Raleigh Observer arrived in the city with his family Wednesday evening. They were escorted to their comfortable home at the parsonage by the members of the congregation, and though only one day has elapsed the parson seems and feels like an old Raleighite.

A Deserved Compliment.

The Wilson Advance pays the following handsome and deserved compliment to the excellent eating house at the Union Depot in this city:

The Railroad eating house in Wilmington, presided over by that Queen of the culinary department, Mrs. Winton, wife of that energetic and very clever fellow-citizen, H. L. Winton, of this place, is justly regarded as one of the very best establishments of the kind to be found in the South. A traveller remarked in our presence Sunday morning that he had never found in all his journeyings a better house, that the table-ware was neat, tidy and inviting, while the fare was most palatable and handsome. Mrs. Winton has hosts of friends in our town who will be gratified to hear of her success.

Delicious Cookery.

The most delicious, light, white and wholesome biscuits, rolls, muffins, waffles, cornbread, cake, etc., are possible to every table by using the celebrated DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER. It is absolutely pure, and will go much further in use than other kinds of baking powder. It is impossible to fail with it in baking. Ask your grocer for it, and do not be put off with any other.

The Literary Entertainment of the Cape Fear Military Academy.

A very respectable audience, both as to quantity and quality, assembled at the Opera House last evening, to enjoy the literary entertainment of the cadets of the Military Academy, under the direction of their teachers, Major B. J. Burgess and Lieut. M. Catlett.

At a quarter to 8 o'clock, the signal for the curtain to rise was given by the roll of a drum, and as the beautiful drop curtain rose slowly to its place, the cadets with their Principal and his assistant in their full uniforms, all standing at attention, though not exactly in line, became visible to the audience. At some command or gesture from their Principal, all became seated—when Lieutenant Catlett arose, and advancing to the front, in a few explanatory remarks, stated that the preparation which the students had had was, by no means, as great as desired; that the time consumed in preparation for the entertainment, had to be taken between the hours of study and school. Lieut. Catlett, then reading from the programme, announced that the introductory would be delivered by Cadet H. Thompson, who immediately advanced to the front, and, in a very creditable manner delivered himself of the opening speech, but where all did so well, we do not propose to be invidious, but will content ourselves by saying that the entertainment was creditable, alike, to both teacher and pupil, as all who were present bore ample testimony by their smiles of approbation and pleasure. The programme consisting of declamation and dialogue was as follows:

Introductory, Cadet H. D. Thompson; Mississippi Contested Election, Cadet Adjutant J. W. Meares; Emmet's Defence, Cadet E. H. Freeman; Supposed speech of Regulus, Cadet Corporal E. S. Alderman; Military Glory, Cadet G. H. C. Heyer. Dialogue—Wolsey, Cadet Lieut. M. F. Manning; Cromwell, Cadet Sergeant F. B. Lippitt. Spartacus to the Roman Emperors, Cadet H. D. Thompson; Men who never Die, Cadet W. R. Harrison; Pitt's Reply to Sir Robert Walpole, Cadet J. B. Hawes. Debate—Question: Are civilized nations justified in seizing and occupying land held by savages? Characters—Chairman, Cadet Sergeant B. F. Lippitt; John Bubbleton; Cadet Adjutant J. W. Meares; Deacon Herring, Cadet J. B. Hawes; Hon. James Willful, Cadet G. H. C. Heyer; Hon. Samuel Soundense, Cadet Lieut. M. F. Manning; Solomon Trasher, Cadet C. H. Conoley; Sergeant O'Trigger, Cadet W. R. Morrison; Richard Slowthink, Cadet E. H. Freeman; Benjamin Biowhard, Cadet Corporal E. S. Alderman. Address, by Lieut. W. Catlett, "The Practical Age;" Address to Cadets, by Major B. J. Burgess.

At the conclusion of the very amusing debate, upon the question Are civilized nations justified in seizing and occupying land, held by savages? Lieut. Catlett read a very interesting address entitled "The Practical Age," which showed much reading and great research, and gave evidence of an intelligent understanding, in regard to the theories that were practiced in past ages, as well as a proper appreciation of the greatest fraud of this age, which was practiced upon 40,000,000 of liberty-loving and law-abiding people, by putting an unlawfully elected candidate in the Presidential chair of the nation.

Major Burgess' address to the students concluded the entertainment and was replete with good, sound advice, which if followed by those to whom it was addressed, will make them, not only useful citizens to the community in which they live, but they may, at the same time, become ornaments to society, and may, in future time, have cause to look back and be thankful for the kindly precept, received from their teacher. Major Burgess took occasion, also to embody in his remarks some complimentary words in regard to the fair ones, of whom, there were not a few in attendance. But the part of this speech which we like most, was the Southern sentiments which were expressed. And if our teachers generally would make it a study to instill into the minds of the youth that are just growing up into men, that there is nothing in the record of their sires and their brothers in regard to the events that transpired from '61 to '65, that should cause the blush of shame to mantle their cheeks, they will be but simply doing a duty, which we think, they owe to their country, and one which, in our opinion, is incumbent upon them, when they assume the responsible position of imparting instruction to the Southern youth.
