

THE BABIE'S DREAM.

While birds their dewy pinions shake,
And eastern skies blush into light,
My little rose-bud lies awake.

A dazzling light around me shone,
It streamed from Fays in starlike bands,
They placed me on a glittering throne,
The pride of art in fairy lands.

Four little sprites, on silver harps,
Prayed for me on a golden strain,
Beat "His sweet babe on our domains,"
They bore me to a palace fair,

They rolled and tumbled, danced and sung,
Some rose in air and gambled there,
Whist with loud cheers the welkin rung.

They begged that I should stay with them,
They kissed and kissed me o'er and o'er,
And said that I should be their King,
My crown they only, I'd remain,

And so they softly bore me back
Along a fair and rosy way,
I saw the dew drops melt away,
Then sunlight on my eye-lids shone,

And I looked up, I smile to greet,
"HALLOWAY, October 29th, 1874."

The Clock of Clocks.

In Mengel's building is now on exhibition in all probability the most wonderful clock in the world. It was built by Stephen D. Engle, a watchmaker at Hazleton. He is about forty years of age, and was about twenty years in perfecting the clock. Mr. Engle paid $5,000 for it. Engle never saw the Strasburg clock. In fact, he has not traveled more than two hundred miles from home at any time. This clock stands eleven feet high. At its base it is about four feet wide and at the top about two. It is about three feet deep at the base, gradually less towards the top. Its colors are dark brown and gold. The Strasburg clock is thirty feet high, yet its mechanism is not so intricate, nor has it as many figures as the Hazleton clock. The Strasburg clock's figures are about three feet high, and the American clock about nine inches. Three minutes before the hour a pipe organ inside the clock plays an anthem. It has five tunes. The hour is struck double doors in an arched open and a figure of Jesus appears. Double doors to the left open, and the apostles appear, one by one, in procession. As they appear and pass Jesus, they turn towards him. Jesus bows, the apostles turn again and proceed through the double doors in an alcove in the right. As Peter approaches, Satan looks out of a window above and tempts him. Five times the devil appears, and when Peter passes, denying Christ, the clock flaps its wings and crows. When Judas appears Satan comes down from his window and follows Judas out in the procession, and then goes back up to his place to watch Judas, appearing on both sides. As the procession has passed, Judas and the three Marys disappear and the doors are closed. The scene can be repeated seven times in an hour if necessary, and the natural motion of the clock produces it four times per hour whereas the Strasburg procession is made but once a day, at 12 o'clock. Below the piazza is the main dial, about 13 inches in diameter. To its right is a figure of Time with an hour glass. Above this is a window, at which appear figures representing youth manhood and old age. To the left of the dial is a skeleton, representing Death. When the hour hand approaches the first quarter Time reverses his hour glass and strikes one on a bell with his scythe, when another bell inside responds; then Childhood appears instantly. When the hour hand approaches the second quarter or half hour, there are heard the strokes of two bells. Then Youth appears, and the organ plays a hymn. After this Time strikes two and reverses his hour glass, when two bells respond inside. One minute after this a chime of bells is heard, when a sliding door opens in the upper porch and one at the right of the court, when the Savior comes walking out. Then the apostles appear in procession. The clock also tells of the moon's changes, the tides, the seasons, days and day of the month and year, and the signs of the zodiac; and on top a soldier in armor is constantly on guard, walking back and forward. At the hours advance, Manhood, Old Age and Death take part in the panorama.

until her return. Weeks after this the lady returned, and remained a short time, and again she took her departure for Scotland with her mare and one of the porters at the hotel to take care of the animal on the way. On her departure she distributed $20 gold pieces among her hotel attendants with as lavish a hand as though they were mere paltry quarters. She is believed to be the same Miss Thompson who recently had a set of gold horseshoes made for a mare in Edinburgh.

General Grant's face wore a troubled look. He turned to the secretary of the legation and winked. The secretary whispered something to him, and he abemmed once or twice and nervously said: "We musser is presiding."

The Wilmington Journal.
THE PUBLICATION OF THE WILMINGTON JOURNAL will be resumed in the city of Wilmington, the initial number to be issued on the first Thursday in December.

As has always heretofore been the case with this staunch old weekly, the JOURNAL in politics will represent none but the soundest and truest Democratic principles, faithful to the traditions of that party, steady to its present principles and unforgetful of the great fraud by virtue of which a Republican administration assumes the duties of the position fairly won by the Democratic party.

Our market reports will be a prominent part of the paper and will present the most valuable points of transactions up to the very hour of going to press, while especial care and attention will be paid to the editorial, news and miscellaneous departments.

One of the most prominent features of the paper will be its agricultural department and on this, which will be placed in the hands of a gentleman well qualified to manage it, experience as well as care will be brought to bear.

Miscellaneous.
HOPE FOR ALL.

Consumption is generally supposed to be an incurable disease. It is not so. It is a disease which can be more depressing and dangerous a supposition, have insisted upon and propagated it with a persistency which seems almost incredible in the light of science and of truth. We used the term "dangerous" advisedly, for it can be more depressing and injurious to the consumptive than brooding over the idea—founded solely upon the fiat of his physician—that his malady is mortal, and that the utmost that can be done for him is to render his exit from this world as easy as possible. Such melancholy and hopeless reflections as this belief engenders among consumptive patients, does as much, if not more, to hasten their departure for the land of shadows, as the tubercles in their lungs. Away with such a hopeless theory. Happily the Great Masters of Medicine have entered their protest against it, and a great and the most positive testimony the most successful. Dangerous as pulmonary phthisis, its terrible ravages may be stayed and the lungs restored to a sound condition even after suppuration has taken place. Every experienced surgeon knows that post mortem examinations of aged persons who have died in the ordinary course of nature have repeatedly disclosed the traces of pulmonary ulcers entirely cicatrized. The argument, therefore, against the possibility of healing a pulmonary abscess because the immediate seat of the disease cannot be reached, has got a leg to stand upon. Over fifty instances of the discovery of cicatrized ulcers in the lungs have been recorded by the medical faculty of Paris, and such eminent authorities as Revinus, Malpighi, DuRoi and scores of others, French, English and German, have been cited to prove their certain curability.

To treat any malady rationally its character and morbid influence must be known. The dissecting knife has disclosed all the internal characteristics of consumption. We know that tubercles in the lungs vary in size from granules smaller than a pin's head to that of a large bean. These develop into open ulcers technically known as vomical which afterwards spread over a surface several inches in diameter. Their sacs are filled with a yellow, greenish, grayish matter generally very offensive. The membrane itself is greatly inflamed, and the ends of the pulmonary artery and vein connecting with the diseased parts are clogged with vitiated and purulent mucus. Death must ensue either from suffocation or hemorrhage if speedy relief is not obtained. It is obvious that something is required which will enable the sufferer to raise and eject the poison rankling in his lungs, and choking the air passages, and which will also allay the grievous irritation of the inflamed parts. No preparation known to materia medica accomplishes this double object so effectually as the Standard American Cough Cure and Lung Balm. That incomparable remedy loosens and liquefies the poisonous and fetid accumulations in the lungs and bronchia, subdues with wonderful rapidity the inflammation of the diseased parts, and proves the possibility of curing phthisis. At the same time it tones and strengthens the muscles of the throat and enables them to throw off the vitiated matter without straining. The transcendent merit of HOLLOWAY'S COUGH CURE AND LUNG BALM is the thoroughness with which it penetrates into the lungs, and its equal efficiency in curing Coughs, especially the dry hacking coughs which are so common, are terribly fruitful sources of consumption. The sufferer at first has a feeling of rawness in the throat, tightness across the chest, then dangerous inflammation sets in, which may give rise to hemorrhage or the formation of vomical, if it is not speedily checked and the cough loosened. HOLLOWAY'S COUGH CURE AND LUNG BALM accomplishes this with a degree of promptitude and certainty which astonishes the patient. No type of throat, lung or bronchial disturbance can resist its curative influence. It overcomes the most obstinate forms of this class of disorders, and breaks up at once the most violent paroxysms of coughing. All its ingredients are purely vegetable. Some of them are culled from sources entirely new to pharmacy, and all are possessed of properties of marvellous remedial efficacy. The unsolicited testimonials which its proprietors have been constantly receiving since its introduction to the public, from persons who have experienced or witnessed its wonderful beneficial effects, fully justify the belief that it must, ere long, become the STANDARD AMERICAN SPECIFIC FOR ALL DISEASES OF THE RESPIRATORY ORGANS.

IMPORTANT CAUTION.

Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets.

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules, THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Tonic in Parvo Physic.

The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No longer taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and saline roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by the most sensitive stomachs, and administered in the most delicate manner. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is contained in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison with their small size, and from the fact that they are not supposed to be harsh or drastic in effect, but benign in all the cases, the different and most delicate forms of constipation, are completely relieved, and the bowels brought to a normal and modified state by the use of these Pellets, in a most easy and kindly operating, cathartic.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from granules smaller than a pin's head to that of a large bean. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer of the human system, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the most valuable and reliable of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of ailments, I am willing to stake my reputation, and under all circumstances, set kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to make my recommendation. That I offer and sell it under a POSITIVE GUARANTEE, is a beneficial effect, not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used. I will, on return of the bottle, refund the money paid for it. Had it not been for this confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly marvellous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in "THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER," a book of over 600 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of 50c. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of these affections.
