The Board of Aldermen meet this evening.

Why are good husbands like dough? Because women need them.

The toper may be termed one who can "smile and smile again, and be a willin'."

We believe that there is an ordinance against posting bills on private and public buildings, lampposts, and it should be enforced.

All should marry. Every I should have another I. One eye sees but half the world.

This morning was decidedly cool, and there was probably some frost farther in the country, although we do not think there was any found in the city.

Mrs. Chanfrau had some thoughts of coming to Wilmington and made enquiries for the Opera House early in April but must have changed her mind as nothing has since been heard from her.

Every pretty girl has been some other fellow's sweetheart. Yet there is a paper devoted to peace, and the idiot there-of thinks that some day there'll be no more war.

Nearly every steamer which arrives here now from Baltimore brings more or less of iron for the Western N. C. R. R., which is forwarded promptly on arrival, via the C. C. R. W. to Charlotte and thence to the West.

We understand that a meeting of the Justices of the Peace, in and for New Hanover county, will be held at the Court House, in this city, on Saturday next, the 30th inst., at 10 o'clock, a. m., for the purpose of organization.

Dr. Turner, of South Carolina, general manager of the publication department of the A. M. E. Church, will deliver a lecture on the subject of education at St. Stephen's A. M. E. Church, this (Tuesday) evening. The admission will be free and all are invited.

There was but one case before the Mayor this morning, and that was of a young man—but little more than a boy—charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct. On a promise to go and sin no more judgment was ordered suspended and he was discharged.

We publish this afternoon, on the fourth page of this issue, the latest news from Europe. It will be seen that England and Russia are drawing much nearer to each other, both on warlike thoughts intent, and a few days more must decide the question as to whether it is to be peace or war.

The terrible disaster on the English coast, caused by the sinking of the training ship Eurydice, by which over three hundred lives were lost, was the current topic of conversation on the streets this morning. It is a fearful tale. Some particulars of the disaster will be found on the fourth page of this issue.

Personal.
Messrs. F. W. Kerchner and I. B. Grainger will leave here this evening for Washington City, whither they go as a committee from the Chamber of Commerce of this city relative to matters pertaining to the interests of the port.

First Fine Rosins.
Mr. H. B. Eilers received this morning the first fine rosins of the season, manufactured from new crop virgin turpentine. They are from the distilleries of Col. John A. McDowell in Bladen county, were classed N and Window Glass and were placed on market to-day.

Controversy among the first-class hotels of New York shows that the service is constantly changing from one first-class hotel to the other, and the bills of fare show the same variety of dishes. The important fact, to travellers, is that the Grand Central offers the same accommodations for one and two dollars per day less than the others.

Brown Breakfast Cakes.
One cupful each of graham and white flour, one teaspoon DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER, one pint sweet milk, one egg, a little salt; separate white and yolk of the egg, and beat thoroughly. Bake in heated irons, and in a quick oven.

Gas.

The Market House is to be furnished with gas in the interior. There will be six large lamps, similar to the street lamps, distributed at equal intervals, to be lighted only on Saturday nights or such other occasions when the market will be kept open at night. The first grand illumination is to take place next Saturday.

Week Day Services.

A series of services will be held at the Front Street Methodist E. Church, South, the present week, viz: Prayer meeting Monday and Tuesday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, in the lecture room; preaching in the church Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 8 o'clock; Love Feast Friday evening, and preaching at 11 o'clock Saturday morning, in connection with the second quarterly meeting for the present Conference year, by the Presiding Elder, Dr. Burkhead.

Let's Go Fishing.

With the advent of the warm weather the mind, of the average business men lightly turns to thoughts of fishing-lines &c. Lake Waccamaw possesses great attractions in this line and the eyes of the anglers are already turning in that direction, and they will be glad to learn that arrangements have been made by Col. Pope whereby fishing and excursion parties can go to the Lake and return for $1.00 each, leaving here in the morning and returning at evening.

Thorburn's Bakery.

Mr. R. Thorburn's new bakery, on Third, between Walnut and Red Cross streets, is now open, as is announced in our advertising columns to day. Everybody knows what Thorburn's bread and cakes and pies are and therefore puff's from us are superfluous. They will maintain the very high standard they have always had and parties residing at a distance as well as those in that neighborhood, will find it to their advantage to buy from him.

Sham Champagne.

For the benefit of those of our readers who are accustomed to an occasional glass with a "fly" in it, we publish a recipe for sham champagne, which is a palatable drink, and leaves no bad after-effects: One lemon sliced, one spoonful tartaric acid, one ounce ginger root, one pound and a half of sugar. Pour ten quarts of boiling water on the above ingredients. When blood-warm stir in two gills of home-made yeast, cover with a thin piece of gauze to keep out the flies and insects, and allow to stand all day in the sun. When cold in the evening, bottle, cork and wire it, then place it on the floor of the cellar. In forty-eight hours it will be ready for use, and will pay the trouble of making it.

The Belgian Block.

We spoke yesterday of the cases in progress before Justice Wagner of the City vs. certain property owners on Front street, relative to the assessments for the Belgian block pavement, but could not give the decisions then as they were not reached in time for us. There were fourteen cases of $200 and under, in which the Magistrate had jurisdiction, and twenty-four others for amounts above $200, in which he had no jurisdiction. In the former judgment was given in every case for the city and the others will be heard at the next term of the Superior Court. Appeals will probably carry all of the cases to the Superior Court.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe in German, French, or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 126 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Mothers, Mothers, Mothers.

Don't fail to procure Mrs. WINDLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for all diseases of teething in children. It relieves the child from pain, cures wind colic, regulates the bowels, and, by giving relief and health to the child, gives rest to the mother.

Yellow Fever and the Board of Health.

NO. 1.
MR. EDITOR:—The arrival of an infected vessel in the port of Wilmington at this period of the year is an evil not unmixed with real benefit if its warning and lesson are not allowed to pass unheeded. Ordinarily the preservation of the community from yellow fever is not regarded as a pressing question with us until the season is so far advanced as to afford no time for instituting the proper measures which in giving protection will not injure the weighty commercial interests at stake. But, fortunately, the problem of satisfying every interest is not a complicated one, and is very easy of solution; nay, more, it is already solved, and the application of its results to our necessities requires only a familiarity with the subject and an industrious zeal on the part of those upon whom the sanitary care devolves. We may therefore be thankful that the matter thus early presents itself to us in a practical shape. But who shall deal with it? It were unreasonable to expect the Board of Audit, already overtaxed with financial labor, or the Board of Aldermen, more than exhausted in its efforts to replenish the bankrupt treasury, to take personal cognizance of this, for, indeed, it is probable that any one of them possesses the necessary information and skill. This is said without the slightest disrespect to any of these gentlemen, some of whom already incur great personal sacrifice in the public service; for sanitary wisdom comes only from intimate knowledge in various departments of science, and I believe it is not claimed that our City Fathers have burnt much midnight oil in that direction.

This statement, I am afraid, may do some violence to that peculiar profession, common sense, of which it is the pride of many of our people to boast and to hold superior to scientific attainment, and I shall regret that these do not agree to this view; but still there are a greater number of thinking men who will see its force, and readily consent that a question so vital should be submitted only to experts. Now, who are the experts in this community except the physicians, acknowledged as they are to be our main defence against disease and death? That they may be relied upon to give the benefit of their learning and skill in whatever concerns the public welfare is assured by long and repeated experience, and why, therefore, delay asking their advice in face of the threat which always hangs over us through our frequent intercourse with the fever ports?

It will not suffice to await the arrival of each infected ship, and then ask for advice. Let a practical method be devised for dealing with all, that no misunderstandings may occur, and no personal injury be wrought in its application to any case.

Now, the law in North Carolina, in creating Boards of Health in the various counties and cities, has already appointed the physicians legal advisors of the local authority in all that pertains to the sanitary condition, and it is the binding moral duty of the local authority not to ignore this, but to seek from them full advice and to follow that which they give. Alas! moral duties lie very lightly upon the official conscience, and the law is habitually disregarded from the simple fact that the Legislature, by oversight, perhaps, omitted to impose a penalty for its infraction. But the moral obligation is none the less, and it is demoralizing in its tendency to see those in authority treat so contemptuously one of the statutes of the commonwealth.

It may be alleged that in Wilmington there is a Superintendent of Public Health who is specially charged with these duties; but this view only implies an ignorance of the law creating that office, for there are no advisory or executive functions associated with it, and the duties are not defined in the act further than that the official must obey the orders of the Mayor. This constitutes him nothing more than a chief of the sanitary police, without the power of originating measures or even of suggesting any which the Mayor is bound to adopt. It is therefore obvious that such an office requires neither a learned incumbent nor one possessed of any technical skill, and to ask the question as to whether the protection of the community should rest with it is simply absurd. The force of this, I trust, may be felt without being taken as a reflection upon the accomplished gentleman who has charge of these purely perfunctory duties; but the powers of a sanitary board are not possessed by him, but only by the Board of Health, in which the law has wisely and with full intent lodged them. Let this mutual relation of the City Government and the Board of Health be recognized, and our word for it, the perplexities of sanitary regulations will be solved in the best way. The public welfare will be subserved, the City Fathers will continue to dispense the profit and patronage of office, and the physicians, though unpaid and unthanked, may see their own doors saved from assault by the deadly foe with which they wage perpetual war and receive the additional reward of the "sweet consciousness of duty done," which, in any event, constitutes the major portion of their pay in this community.

It may not be in the mouth of a layman to suggest the legal difficulties into which official dereliction may bring our little sea-side city; but to our unskilled eye it is not at all clear that an action for damages would not rightly lie where impaired health or death could be shown to have resulted from municipal neglect to remedy remediable sources of disease. Certain it is that we can be made to pay for fractured limbs and injuries, and why does not a parity of reasoning fix the responsibility for damage by disease when competent physicians testify that it is unmistakably the result of neglect or culpable ignorance? The practical method of conducting the quarantine service, with reference to the exclusion of yellow fever, without any detriment to commercial intercourse, will be outlined in a communication for your next issue, if your disposable space will admit it.

The service cannot be allowed to remain on its present footing, for it is liable to fail in its main object, even under a most rigorous enforcement; and if continued will certainly work destruction to the profitable trade of our port.

From New Hanover.

The following communication from Col. L. L. Polk, Commissioner of Agriculture, will be found of interest to our readers. It was written in response to answers to inquiries from Col. Polk's office, relative to manufacturing and agricultural statistics in New Hanover county, furnished by Mr. MacRae. It is to be hoped, now that an entering wedge has been made, that our county will not hereafter remain as entirely unrepresented as our farmers and manufacturers have heretofore permitted her to be.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
OFFICE AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT,
Raleigh, March 25, 1878.

MR. D. McRAE,
Wilmington, N. C.

Dear Sir—Your esteemed favor received, for which you will please accept my thanks. You may be surprised to learn, that with all my efforts to get reports from New Hanover since I took charge of this office, this is the first blank I have yet had returned to me. I have regretted it very much, not only because the absence of a report from your county in the various publications which have been made by this office might cause the impression among your people that I am indifferent to their interests, but because, feeling as I do that Wilmington is essentially a North Carolina city, and must ultimately become the outlet for the products of nearly the whole State, when her facilities are better known and appreciated.

I conceive it to be my first and highest duty as Commissioner under our law, to do all in my power to foster the material interests of the State, but my efforts must be comparatively futile, without the cooperation of such important communities as yours. I shall therefore relax no effort to secure the aid of that cooperation.

I send you an advanced sheet of a report I wish to publish in book form at an early day, and in the revision of which, your report for New Hanover will appear.

Again assuring you of my appreciation of your favor, I am, Sir,
Most Respectfully,
L. L. POLK,
Com.

Postoffice Regulations.

The Postmaster-General has amended a regulation of the department governing the transmission of printed matter, which is very important, inasmuch as it overrules a long established practice in the department. Heretofore nothing but a business card was permitted upon a wrapper of printed matter. The Postmaster-General now has given instructions that any matter in print which may be transmitted within an enclosure may also be transmitted at the same rate if printed upon the wrapper or envelope. This includes business cards, directions for returning, and any printed matter on the outside of a wrapper or envelope. Postmasters, however, are instructed not to regard requests for the return of such matter unless stamps to pay the return postage are presented.

For the Championship.

Business was almost entirely suspended for an hour or so this morning, on South Water street, in front of Messrs Hall & Pearsall's, pending the result of a chicken dispute between a game fowl from Petteway & Schulken's and one from Hall & Pearsall's coops, for the championship of the chicken market, with Messrs J. M. Chasten & Son, F. A. Newbury and C. S. Love as umpires. The decision of the judges as to the result is now under advisement and can only be announced after a consultation with some of the legal lights of the Legislature as to the questions of law, now of facts, involved in the decision.
