There is an unmailable letter in the Post Office at this place directed to Miss Georgie Cherry, Tarboro, N. C.

There has been a very recent rise of some three feet in the river at Fayetteville and steamboatmen report very good boating water now.

The colored woman, spoken of by us yesterday as having maltreated a white child in her care, was examined before Justice Harris in the afternoon and fined $5 and costs, which was paid.

Not 8 to 7, as Joe Bradley says, but 5 to 15 cents is the price charged for soft crabs, shrimps, salmon, stone crabs and chipped-beef, at Harry Webb's lunch counter. See advertisement in another column.

The New Registration.

In this issue notice is given that there will be an entirely new registration of voters in New Hanover county, to commence on the 27th of June and to continue for thirty days (Sundays excepted) preceding the election to be held on the first Thursday in August.

The Cross of St. John's.

This beautiful drama will again be presented to our citizens, and on next Wednesday night at the Opera House, two days before the Cadets leave on their excursion to Fayetteville. The object of this performance will be to raise funds to assist in defraying the expenses of their excursion to Fayetteville, and we bespeak for them a full house on the occasion.

The Heathen Chinee.

Two young Chinese were the centre of attraction at the Front street depot this morning. They are connected with a tea house in Baltimore, and were en route for Augusta, where a branch of the same house is established. We endeavored to converse with them and threw out some of the most abominable English in our possession, hoping it might prove passable Chinese, but the "celestial" didn't understand it worth a picayune.

Family Excursion.

A grand family excursion, under the auspices of the Dorcas Society of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, will be given on the steamer North East, on Friday next, to a plantation about ten miles above the city where there is a beautiful grove, delightful water and fine scenery. The steamer will leave Market Dock at 9 o'clock, a. m., and dinner and other refreshments will be served on board at city prices. Tickets may be procured on board and at Messrs. Heinsberger's, Vollers, and Dingelhof's stores.

An Indisputable Fact

That the people will stick to an article of true merit, and when they have once tested DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER, it is surely adopted and used.

For the Review.

DEDICATED TO THE MEMORY OF CAPT. THOS. C. DEROSSET, OF THE WHITING RIFLES.

BY HIS FORMER TEACHER.

Dead! Dead! No, no, not dead!

He sleeps beneath the soil

Where rests a nation's hero dust,

Returned from battle's toil.

Struck down when in the act

Of strewn soldier mounds

With flowers plucked by loving hands

To grace those hallowed grounds.

He fell with eye uplifted

To Heaven's vaulted dome

From whence he had his wicked God's love

On soldier's orphaned home.

The shaft that struck him down

Was by no foe's hand

Its point was tipped by mercy's God

Fresh from the spirit world.

I knew your Captain, friends,

In youth I loved him well,

It was mine to guide his studies

A teacher's pride to tell.

I noted then how true

His mind for knowledge strove

While with modest emulation

A noble life he wove.

In after years we met

And still upon his brow

Both truth and honor sat enshrined,

For these, I mourn him now.

To you his Comrades dear

By martial ties allied

He leaves a glorious lesson

By deed and life well tried.

When'er your corps shall meet

For drill or dress parade

Read over your Captain's order

And see it well obeyed.

LAST ORDER.

Comrades of mine, seek not to war,

With carnal weapons more

This is the strife of Christian brave

Who sheds no human gore,

Thy mimic warfare soon shall end,

Thy mortal armor shun

Guard on the shield of righteousness

By Christian service won

Rest on thy arms, brave comrades, rest

List to the trumpet's peal,

Thy Heaven's voice that calls me hence

From roll and battle field

Quick comrades, quick! my last command

Your dying Captain gives

Prepare to meet the Christian's God,

That dying, ye may live.

And e'er I dare to close

This tribute to the dead

One thought for those most dear to him

Whose noble spirit's fled—

'Tis this, I'd say with humble trust

Weep not, he's free from pain,

For surely as thy love is left,

Thy loss shall be his gain.

The Cantata To-night.

The second and last exhibition of the Cantata of Esther will be given at the Opera House this evening and we cannot do better than advise those who did not witness its representation last evening to be sure and be on hand this time. It is not often that such a treat is presented. It is one of the most beautiful and charming representations of any kind ever seen in Wilmington, and we know of no more pleasant way of spending an evening than in witnessing it.

The Cotton Mills.

At a meeting of the new proprietors of the Wilmington Cotton Mills, held yesterday, a reorganization was effected with the following officers:

President—Donald MacRae.

Vice President—Wm. A. French.

Secretary and Treasurer—Walter G. MacRae.

Directors—Edward Kidder, F. W. Kerchner, James H. Chadbourne, Col. Jno. W. Atkinson, Norwood Giles.

The capital stock of the new concern is $60,000, the par value of shares being $100 each. Those who were stockholders in the original company will be allowed, and are invited, to reinstate themselves in the new organization, upon the same terms with the purchasers of the property and at its exact cost.

The Cadets.

We understand that the first annual excursion of the Cadets of the Cape Fear Military Academy will take place to Fayetteville, next week, on the steamer Gov. Worth. They will leave here on Friday, the 31st instant, and arrive in Fayetteville next morning, where they propose to spend a week. A comfortable hall has been secured for a barracks and nobody doubts the good time they will be sure to have. On Monday, June 3d, at Williams' Hall, they will render the beautiful drama of the Cross of St. John's, already performed by them in this city with so much success.

Esther.—The Beautiful Queen.

A large and admiring audience assembled last night at the Opera House to witness the rendition of the sacred Cantata, Esther. To all who have read the sweet story of the Jewish maiden, and the grandeur of the great King of Persia, and twenty provinces," the cantata was full of interest and beauty.

Some of the finest talent of the city appeared on the occasion, and added much also to the success of its production. The scene opens with a chorus of Haman's friends, and solo from Haman, which were well rendered and very effective.

The convivial duet between King Ahasuerus and Haman—"E'en Kings may jovial be! Ha, ha, ha!" was harmonious in the extreme, both voices blending gracefully into one. Esther's resolve, "I'll go out to the King!" was touching and beautiful, also the interview in the Throne Room between the King and his beautiful Queen, and the duet which followed, the full rich bass of the one mingling in such perfect harmony with the clear, sweet soprano of the youthful Queen, so that the strain "Ever the dutiful more than the beautiful," was exquisite in its perfect time and clearness. We must not omit to mention Zeresh, Haman's wife, as being irresistibly charming. The choruses were good, and the full orchestra added not a little to the general success. We wish for the management every encouragement, and a full house for this evening. Long live Queen Esther!

Rough on the Candidates!

The patriotic voters of the First Ward have adopted a novel method by which to keep the political excitement up to boiling heat. A squad of the "rank-and-file" of the Republican party station themselves on the sidewalk contiguous to some "corner grocery," and when one of the many candidates for political preferment comes in sight, the shout is raised: "Here's my man!" "Here's my candidate, ev'ry time, I see 'gwine to vote for 'im, I is!"

Of course the would-be official is very grateful; and "won't you walk in and take something?" is next in order upon which they adjourn to the nearest saloon and he gives the order: "Set 'em up, Jim! These are mine." Recruits come pouring in, and in the space of a few minutes he has treated nearly every colored man in the neighborhood, and several of the women. The candidate gets away as quickly as he can without giving offense, and the crowd repair to the street to await the coming of the next one. In this way, the average Brooklyn dorkie gets about fifteen drinks a day, the bar-keeper does a thriving business, and every candidate is sure of election—if he gets votes enough. The colored people of Brooklyn take a very spirited interest in the political canvass in this campaign.

Archbishop Gibbons on Pic-nics.

The following letter, addressed by Archbishop Gibbons to the Catholic clergy of the Archdiocese, was read on Sunday last to various congregations in the diocese:

"As the season is approaching when excursions and pic-nics are usually held, I request you to call the attention of your congregation to the statute of the diocese bearing upon this subject. Experience has shown that pic-nics and excursions are a frequent occasion of scandal and dissipation, and even those which are undertaken under the auspices of the church can escape the stigma of license and dissipation only by the prudent foresight and vigilance of the pastor. No pecuniary profits resulting from popular amusements can compensate for a single sin or scene of disorder, and I need not add that a scandal, far from being palliated, is aggravated when committed on an occasion of this kind.

"In view of the dangers attending even those festivities which are undertaken in the interests of charity and religion, the statutes of the diocese require, as you are aware, that no intoxicating drinks should be sold or used on the premises, and that the pastors, by their presence and counsel should contribute to the maintenance of decorum and order. Your congregation should also be admonished that excursions and parties held under the management of Catholic societies have no ecclesiastical sanction whatever unless approved by the pastor and subject to the rules already announced. You will please read this circular to your congregation on Sunday next, with such remarks as your wisdom may suggest.

JAMES, Archbishop of Baltimore."

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia Pa., sustained its well-merited reputation, and, if possible, earned greater, with its patrons, during the "Centennial Exhibition."

A high note—one of a thousand dollars.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

OFFICE WIL. CEMETERY COMPANY, May 21st, 1878.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Wilmington Cemetery Company, held on the 20th instant, a committee was appointed to draft appropriate resolutions expressive of the sorrow caused by the death of William A. Wright, Esq., one of their number. The following was unanimously adopted:

That whereas Almighty God has removed, after a long life of honor and usefulness, one of our most highly esteemed members, we desire to add our tribute to his memory.

Connected with this company from its inception the value of its charter and franchises are due in a great measure to his thought and services, always cheerfully and gratuitously rendered.

An advocate at all times for improvement, our present beautiful Oakdale stands as an emerald monument to his taste. Its oaks, which he planted, shall be typical of his firm character and strong heart; its willows of his tender affection, bowing in true sympathy with weeping friends; its evergreen shrubs shall be emblematical of our un fading admiration and reverence for his noble qualities; its flowers will remind us of our deceased friend who made life so bright and sweet to all around him, and will teach that though life be transient each may make its roadside less dreary to others.

In life, we recognized Mr. Wright as the embodiment of courtesy and honor, possessing virtues and accomplishments which made him conspicuous even among "Cape Fear gentlemen."

In death, we reverse his memory and feel his loss to be an affliction, not only to this Company but to the entire community. Be it therefore

Resolved, That our sincere sympathy is with the family of our deceased friend.

That a page in our Records be inscribed with his name and age; that otherwise it remain spotless as was the life of him to whom dedicated.

That a copy of the foregoing be transmitted his family and furnished the papers for publication.

NORWOOD GILES, Committee.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

WILMINGTON, N. C., May the 20 1878.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Wilmington Gas Light Company, held this evening, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

The Board of Directors of the Wilmington Gas Light Company have heard with unfeigned regret of the death of their late member, the Hon. William A. Wright, and in token of their great esteem for one who for many years has participated in their councils, and to whom they feel indebted for the aid of his talents and great experience in directing the affairs of this Corporation, who has ever displayed a liberal and statesmanlike spirit and earnest effort to promote and foster all works of internal improvement in his State, and of whose kindly disposition, genial flow of soul and hospitable character they will ever cherish a pleasant recollection, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Board of Directors of the Wilmington Gas Light Company recognize and appreciate the eminent services that Mr. Wright has rendered during many years to this Corporation.

Resolved, That in his death the Board has met with a loss which they deeply and sincerely deplore.

Resolved, That as a mark of respect to his memory a page of the Record Book be inscribed with his name and date of death.

Resolved, That the members of this Board will wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, That a copy of the preamble and resolutions be sent by the Secretary to the family of the deceased and also to the DAILY REVIEW and Morning Star with the request that they publish the same.

E. S. MARTIN, Committee.

For Register of Deeds.

BURGAU, N. C., 13th May, 1878.

To the Voters of Pender County:

FELLOW-CITIZENS—I most respectfully announce myself a candidate for the office of Register of Deeds of this county, subject, however, to the action of the coming Democratic Convention. Your aid, therefore, in securing to me the nomination for, and the election to, said office is most respectfully solicited.
