The Moonlight Excursion.

If the elements will prove protitious the moonlight excursion to be given on the steamer Passport to-morrow evening will prove all that can be destred. Extensive arrangements are being made for the occasion and those who propose to be of the number should see to it at once as it is particularly understood that only a limited number of tickets will be sold.

Safe Arrival.

A cablegram to Messrs. Alex. Sprunt & Son, received to-day, conveys the gratifying intelligence that the British barque North Carolina, Captain Buchan, arrived safely at Liverpool yesterday, with all well, after a passage of only 24 days. It will be remembered that Messrs. W. Blanks, Fred. Kidder, John London and John Nelson, of this city, sailed from this port on the North Carolina, bound for the Paris Exposition, and their many triends here will be pleased to learn that tary. they are safe on the other, side of the big pond.

New Yacht.

Capt. Benj. W. Beery is engaged in building a large and beautiful sail boa For trimming grenadines and silks, in the carpenter shop of Messes Hart Bailey & Co., for five of the young gentlemen working at the foundry. The boat is twenty-five feet over all and eight feet beam. She will be decked over and schooner rigged. The cabins will be comfortable and will be provided with a cooking stove and all articles belonging to the culinary department. She will be used by her owners as a pleasure boat and when they feel disposed will take short runs to sea and the blackfish rocks.

Hints about Water.

No water that has stood in open vessels during the night should be used for drinking or cooking. By exposure to the air it has lost its aeration, and has absorbed many of the dust-germs floating in the apartment. If convenience requires water to be kept in vessels for several hours before use, it should be covered. unless the vessels are tight. Wherever practicable, all distributing reservoirs should be covered. Filtering always adds to the purity of water. Drinking water should not be taken from lakes or rivers on a low level. Surface water in lakes, pools, or rivers which receive the surface wash, should be avoided as much as possible. Do not drink much water at a time. More than two tumblers full should not be taken at a meal.

Do not drink between meals unless to quench thirst, as excess of water weakens the gastric juice and overworks the kidneys. Excessive potations, whether of water or other fluid, relax the stomach and impair its movements. By drinking a little at a time the injury is avoided.

Death of Maj. J. W. Wright.

Maj. Julius W. Wright died yesterday, morning at 1:80 o'clock, at the boarding house of Mrs. Connelly, Icard Station. Burke county. Maj. Wright was a native of Wilmington, a son of Joshua G. Wright and a graduate of Chapel Hill. After his graduation he studied and entered upon the practice of the law in Wilmington, but abandoned it to enter the Confederate service. After the war he moved to Georgia where he married and settled, After living there for some time he returned to North Carolina, and early after ts establishment became the editor of the Observer. He lived in Charlotte for some time and then removed to Statesville where he was for awhile one of the editors of the Intelligencer of that place. After this he opened a law office in Statesville, but on account of failing health moved to Hickory which has for the past two years been his home. The immediate cause of his death was dropsy.

Maj. Wright was a man of large reading and information; of clear and vigorous intellect, a polished writer and a man of elegant manners and fine social qualities. May the earth rest lightly upon his

To-Morrow Night.

The entertainment to be given by the Thalian Amateurs in the Upper Tileston Room, to-morrow evening, should be borne in mind by our citizens. The amusing plays, "Little Toddlekins" and "I've Written to Brown," will be presented, and we do not hesitate to say acceptably. The young gentlemen who take parts in the plays have devoted much time to it and are well up in their parts and show no mean dramatic talent for amateurs. Give them a rousing house and they will reciprocate by giving you a hearty laugh.

WILMINGTON, N. C., June 13, '78. EDITOR REVIEW

In reply to "Tax Payer" in your yesterday's issue, if he will look at the law authorizing insurance companies to transact any business in the State, ratified March 12th, 1877, he will there find in section 5 "that no county or corporation shall be allowed to add any additional JAMES SPRUNT, tax; provided, further, that the tax required shall not be in addition to that prescribed in the revenue act." I hope Tax Payer's mind is eased.

INSURANCE.

The Great Hall. Our special correspondent, Col, writing us from Goldsboro under date of yesterday, tells the following, for which he

The storm of Sunday, 9th June, will be long remembered in this section. Such hail never has been seen by the inhabitants, old or young. (The oldest inhabitant is absent and cannot be interviewed. Some men seventy-five, eighty and eightyfive years of age cannot remember any such. A few of the statements: The storm overtook Mr. William Edgerton, about 100 yards from his house while he was in a buggy with his daughter and two small children. The hail fell so heavy that he put the children under the seat and his daughter crouched down under the apron of the buggy; he had a heavy thick broad-brimmed hat and an umbrella which in a measure protected him, but he was beaten with hail stones FRIDAY NIGHT JUNE 14 varying from the size of a plum to a unable to get out of the buggy and has been very sore from the bruises ever since. He took his daughter out in a senseless state, but the children were uninjured.

At the Hook's place, near here, many of the chunks of ice were from three to five inches in diameter, larger than a large coffee cup. Every fowl on the place was killed-a steer had his leg broken and the fruit was beaten off the trees and then beaten out of sight into the ground. And now I will tell you a wonderful hail story, to the truth of which there are several witnesses. A block was picked up that was over twelve inches long and as thick through as an ordinary size man's leg. It lay in a gentleman's piazza for Card Receivers, &c., at six hours, where it was seen by several witnesses in an unmelted state-about half gone. Crops and fruit are ruined in the track of the storm.
