Ben Butler says that what has come out in the investigation thus far is but the shadow of the substance that is coming, and promises the newspapers sensations enough out of it to last all summer.

A very strange cause is given in the Boston Transcript for the death of Thomas Winans: The ceaseless noises of an automatic buoy in Newport harbor, hear his house, so destroyed his rest that he died of exhaustion.

At the recent fishmongers' banquet in London, Mr. Gladstone declared the French and Italian cooks to be the best in the world, and held that the English should learn to imitate them, and stand out against the traditional bloody roast

The story goes in Paris that the Prince of Wales, on being informed by a Perisian politician that his friendly reception of M. Gambetta created a good deal of talk, replied beniguly, "Oh, it is all part of the Exhibition!"

All the deeds, titles, securities and other documents contained in the safes of the minister of justice were consumed in the recent fire which destroyed the Sublime Porte. The coin was fused into a shapeless mass.

The House of Bishops of the Protestant Epsicopal Church, which was to have met in New York City on the 17th inst, for the purpose of taking action on Bishop naught. Of those that have become McCoskery's case, postponed their meeting until August 28th.

Mr. Herbert Spencer was recently entertained at a dinner in Paris by a number of prominent French free-thinkers. He delivered an address overflowing with expressions of good will toward France. and proposed the toast of "Fraternity."

The power of the nev commissioners of the District of Columbia is about as absolute as was ever given three men in this country. The entire management of the affairs of a community of 150,000 people is placed absolutely under their control.

piano with her toes and fingers simultaneously. A witness of her performance proud of the record they have made describes the music produced as excellent, but says nothing about the queer contortions that the player necessarily puts herself through.

Peter Cooper has been writing an address to the President and Congress de manding the repeal of the resumption act and the issue of $1,500,000,000 of legalnotes, with which to purchase and retire government bonds, saving the people the $75,000,000, of interest annually on the bonds-all of which is warranted to re-

William Campbell, known as the Scottish giant, has just been buried in Newcastle. He was a well-grown youth His age was 22 years, his height six feet two and a half inches, his girth around the shoulders eight feet, and his weight seven hundred and fifty-eight pounds The services of a derrick were necessary to lower the cofin containing his body in the

An association, known as "The Home Hospital Association," has been formed in Something You Should Come London for the purpose of opening several small hospitals and convalescent homes for the upper and middle classes, where any one can obtain, on payment, all the advantages of hospital treatment, in addition to many of the comforts of home, not the least of which will be the attendance of his own doctor. The scheme is suppoorted by a very influential class, including the great London companies and banking houses, nearly all of whom subscribed $500. A donor of $100 becomes a member with privilege of priority of admission for himself when ill.

A JUNKETING "PRESIDENT.

The de facto President is following the example of his illustrious (?) predecessor in the White House by junketing all over the country, and, we suppose, in the same style as Grant-deadhead; and all for h own private pleasure, too.

Mr. Hayes has twice made a trip t New England since the eight to sever Commission located him in the Executive Mansion; once to the West and through the South; once or twice to Baltimore, where be exhibited himself on the occasion of one of his visits, at church fair, where a price had to be paid for the privilege of seeing and shaking hands with His Fraudulency; once to Richmond, Va., and two or three times t New York City to attend some banque or dinner party; and now he proposes to take a nice little trip to Princeton, New Jersey—the only obstacle to the gratification of this desire being the fact that those "forty-three Confederate Brigadiers" in the House may conclude that it is best to continue in session a few days longer and finish the business before Congress before adjourning. This, it seems, has some what interfered with the plans of "the man at the other end of the avenue." But the country is informed that if Congress adjourned even as late as midnight "the President" would start for Princeton by the next train. What a noble example of determination and perseverance is here exhibited! How worthy of emulation by the students at Princeton? Let nothing stand in the way of your pleasure that you can possibly put out of your way even though it be affairs of State. I matters not to the fraudulent President how many bills are awaiting his signature to become laws, for appropriations and so forth, that are sadly needed-"if Congress adjourns before midnight, the President will leave on the one o'clock train.' Princeton should be overjoyed.

CONGRESS-WHAT IT HA DONE.

The second session of the Forty-fifth Congress of the United States, after a session of over five months is about to adjourn sine die. To make a resume of what these law-makers of the nation | Emanuel in 1853; also on Napoleon III. bave done for the country, would be more difficult on our judgment than to say what they have not done. The poleon III, fired at by Pianori in the New York World, however, in refering to the early adjournment expresses | seized Fuentes when about to fire at Queen itself thusly:

Now that Congress is on the eve of bed King Ferdinand of Naples in 1856 adjournment, after a very long and more or less exciting session, our readers will thank us for laying before the Orsini plot against Napcleon III. in them a summary of the work it has actually accomplished. An inordinate proportion of the time of the not hit, by the student Beker, at Baden, two Houses has been occupied with manouvrings for party advantage, with personal explanations and recriminations and with the dilatory discussion of bills and measures that came to laws comparatively few, it will be tacked at St. Petersburg in 1866 and at found, are of more than local interest | Paris in 1868; Prince Michael of Servia, and importance. Among these are the act for the repeal of the Bankrupt law and the Silver bill. One of the most momentous measures brought before Congress, Mr. Wood's project for the reform of our revenue laws, perished in the house of its friends, mainly, as we are sorry to be obliged to believe, because it was neither prepared in time nor pressed with skill and energy. There is no doubt but that errors have been committed by the Democratic members of both Houses, but we are proud to know that the Democratic members from North Carolina sia. have erred as little as any in the fold, A belle of Gold Hill, Nevada, plays the and we are, therefore, proud of our Senators and Representatives, and for themselves and the credit they have reflected upon their constitu-

Karategin, with the smaller territories of Dorwa, Wachia, and Shugmau, as well as the greater part of Kogistar, adjoin immediately the plateau of Pamir, the highest in the world. Karategin, which is completely isolated in water, and has intercourse only during summer with the neighborhing territories, has never yet been approached by a European. The habits and customs of the inhabitants are described as those of a completely primitive state. They have no conception of measure or weight-no fairs, booths caravanseries, or any institutions of public life. Theft is unknown among them. They carry on the breeding of cattle, have little agriculture, and all is, so to speak, common property. If provisions are wanting in one family, their neighbors help them.

THE PEACE CONGRESS.

The European question is not yet settled-not by any means. The Congress, which was expected to complete its work in ten days, may be in session ten woeks. The most important ques tions have barely been touched upon, as yet, and the harmony and good feel ing which has characterized the opening of the Congress may desert it be fore its closing hours.

Dexter Smith is not proud of the authorship of the song, "Put Me in My Little Bed." He says that he took the music and some very fair verses to a publisher, who said, "The words are too good. What the public wants is something after this sort," and he heard selections trom the trashiest of rhymes. Mr. Smith determined to write something that would answer the demand, and the result was "Put Me in My Little Bed," of which 250,000 copies have been sold.

It is recorded that a woman was once burnt in Prance for murdering some babies. As a refinement of cruelty she was put in a cage with fourteen cats over a fire so that the animais in their agony should tear her while burning. Another story equally horrible appears in a letter of the Hatton correspondence. The writer Ge . P. Rowell & Co' describes a pageant performed in London in commemoration of the coronation of Queen Elizabeth. "There were," he says, 'mighty bonfires and the burning of a most costly Pope, carried by four persons, and the effigies of two divells." The interior of the "pope" was filled with live cats, who "squawled most hideously as soon as they felt the fire."

There have been twenty-eight attempts on the lives of royal personages and rulers during the last thirty years: The Duke of Modena, attacked in 1848; the Prince of Prussia (now the Emperor William), Minden, in June, 1848; the late King of Prussia, in 1852; Queen Victoria, (by an ex-lieutenant), in 1852; an infernal machine discovered at Marseilles on Napoleon III's visit in 1852; the Austrian Emperor slightly wounded by the Hungarian, Libenyez, in 1853; attack on King Victor opposite the Opera Comique; the Duke of Parma mortally stabbed in 1854; Na. Champs Elysees in 1855; a policeman Isabella in 1856; Milano, a soldier, stabthree Italians from London convicted of conspiracy against Napoleon III in 1857 1858 : King of Prussia twice fired at, but in 1861; Queen of Greece s' ot at by the student Brusics in 1802; three Italians from London arrested for conspiring against Napoleon III. in 1862; President Lincoln assassinated in 1865; the Czar atassassinated in 1868; King Amadeus of Spain, attacked in 1871; President of Peru assassinated in 1872; President of Bolivia in 1873; President of Ecuador in 1875; President of Paraguay in 1877; and two attempts on the life of the German Emperor in 1878.
