Another local news on the fourth page of this issue. The members of the Cape Fear Light took breakfast at the Empire House after firing the National salute on yesterday. It is estimated that at least five thousand persons left the city yesterday. Some went to the Sound, others to Smithville, others to Goldsboro and still others to the Lake and Columbia.

One of "them REVIEW fellows" went out on a Fourth of July frolic yesterday and combining business and pleasure brought in this morning fifteen new subscribers and two new advertisements.

The Fourth was ushered in by the firing of 38 guns, one for each State in the Union. The firing by the battery was from the wharf in front of the Custom House. And the guns were handled by the Cape Fear Light Artillery boys.

At Smithville.
We call the attention of the patrons of the REVIEW to the ad. of Mr. G. L. Baxter. He sets a nice table and everything about his house is conducive to the welfare and comfort of his guests. Those of our citizens who contemplate a trip to Smithville would do well to call on him.

Competitive Trial.
The Comet Steam Fire Engine Company of Charleston have a trial with the Cape Fear Steam Company this afternoon. Special prizes are offered by some of our enterprising merchants to the successful company in the contest.

A Narrow Escape.
Mr. Jno. E. Lippitt, on visiting his office this morning and opening a drawer in his desk, discovered that a box of matches kept there had been set on fire, probably by mice, and that the papers contained therein had been charred and burned. The drawer fits closely in the desk and shuts out the air and to this fact alone the prevention of a serious conflagration may be due.

Salute at Smithville.
The firing of the National Salute at Smithville on yesterday was the admiration of many of the Cape Fear Light Artillery boys. The battery was commanded by Maj. W. P. Graves of the U. S. A. (Private Roach No. 1 of No. 1 piece, Private Newhall No. 3 of No. 2 piece, Private Askren No. 1 of No. 2 piece and Private Murrell No. 3 of No. 2 piece. There was no misfiring, and the movement of the men was a credit to themselves and commander.

Waffles.—One quart sweet milk three small teaspoonfuls DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER, a little salt five, eggs, the yolks and whites beaten separately, a small cup of melted butter, enough flour to make a not very stiff batter. Mix the Yeast Powder with the flour while dry.

At the Gardens.
Our German friends held their annual picnic yesterday at the Wilmington Gardens and had a very happy time in dancing and those many other innocent amusements which none know better how to enjoy than this valuable portion of our population. The festivities were kept up until "the wee sma' hours" away the wae.

For Upwards of Thirty Years.
MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP has been used for children. It corrects acidity of the stomach, relieves wind colic, regulates the bowels, cures dysentery and diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other cause. An old and well-tried remedy. 25 cents a bottle. d & w.

One of the pleasantest recollections of the Centennial trip to Philadelphia thousands of people will connect with their pleasant quarters and agreeable treatment at the Colonnade Hotel.

Grape Juice.
The art of fermenting the Opo to Grape into wine in this country has been brought to a greater degree of perfection by Mr. Alfred Speer, of Passaic, New Jersey, than by any other person; and his wines are very popular as Indian wine; as well as for the communion table, and for invalids.

In Distress.
Mr. Ralston, Signal Officer at this place, reports that the schooner Only Son, from Doboy(?) Ga., for Philadelphia, in lumber, put in the river this morning in distress, having sprung a leak at sea.

A Monster Cabbage.
Our venerable friend, Mr. F. M. Agostini, sent in to us yesterday, as a Fourth of July present, the biggest cabbage we ever saw. It was grown by him at his plantation "Hanniper," near this city, measured 3 1/2 feet from tip to tip of the leaves and weighed 19 pounds. Can anybody go one pound better than this?

"Perfectly Huge"
From Capt. W. A. Cumming, of this city, we have received a tomato which tops anything of the kind we have ever seen hereabouts. It was grown by him at his place on Greenville Sound, is 15 1/2 inches in circumference and weighs 11 pounds. If anybody in this section can beat this we would like to hear from him.

Runaway and Smash Up.
Dr. W. J. H. Bellamy's horse ran away yesterday and smashed his buggy pretty badly. Dr. B.'s little son was in the buggy at the time and was thrown out before the vehicle was broken, but fortunately escaped with slight injuries, having received a cut on the forehead and a bruise on the shoulder. It was a fortunate escape.

Big Excursion to Goldsboro.
An excursion by the colored people to Goldsboro on the W. & W. railroad took seven car loads away from the turmoil of the city to enjoy the pure air of Wayne county, and while away a few hours with their country cousins and relatives and friends. The party was gotten up by William H. Moore and financially it must have proved a complete success. We were informed by Mr. Casey, the engineer, that, at every station between here and Goldsboro from one hundred to one hundred and fifty were waiting to join them and before they reached their destination the train was literally packed to its utmost capacity.

We learn from other sources that some of the excursionists got into a fight while in Goldsboro, upon which the Mayor ordered their arrest, confinement in the guard house. Some of the friends of the parties arrested made loud threats of forcing the guard house and releasing the prisoners, but a company of the military of Goldsboro being placed in readiness to uphold the commands of the Mayor, the bellicose spirits of the would-be rescuers very quickly subsided.

The Ballad Concert.
By reference to another column, it will be seen that Mr. A. B. Chase and a number of his musical friends will favor our citizens with an entertainment on Monday night at the Opera House, consisting mainly of songs familiar to the people. We think the mistake is often made by the directors of amateur entertainments in arranging their selections of pieces, more to the tastes of a few cultivated musical people than of the people at large, who can only appreciate simple melodies. Mr. Chase proposes to give us a selection of the favorite Scotch, Irish, German and English ballads, and, in our humble opinion, he will learn that this style of a programme will prove far more attractive to an appreciative audience than a chow-chow of operatic music indifferently rendered. We feel confident that with the many popular and really fine vocalists to assist, the extremely low rates of entrance and the popular ballads, the Opera House will be well filled. Tickets can be had at Heinsberger's and also a limited number of reserved seats.

Orion Lodge.
The following officers of Orion Lodge No. 67, I. O. F., were installed on Wednesday evening, by D. D. G. M., M. P. Taylor, assisted by P. G. G., G. M. Altairer, J. M. McGowan, W. S. Warrock, N. Jacobi and S. H. Fishblade:

[Reported for the Review.]
The Fourth at Smithville.
Under the auspices of the Hibernian Society, an excursion was arranged for yesterday, the memorable Fourth, leaving Wilmington for the delightful little "village by the sea," Smithville, and places adjacent thereto. The Goa Worth a large, commodious and comfortable sidewheel steamer, commanded by Capt. H. M. Watson, was chartered for the occasion.

At 9 o'clock the steamer left her wharf with a large crowd of gay and festive youths, happy middle aged and buoyant old men, together with as many fair women and rosy, sparkling, frolicsome lassies.

All seemed to be genuinely impressed with one happy idea "joy, gentle friends, joy."

We threw care aside, and coupled to joy with avidity never surpassed. Our hearts were as gay as the bluebirds in May. Father Time flew away as he passed.

Refreshments of every variety were furnished with lavish hand, and the most dainty epicure could not have complained at the tempting dishes arranged in artistic style on the nice white cloths covering the tables. Ice—cream, (not Iscream) and lemonade, (not that compounded of one lemon and one lump of sugar to the bucket) were the articles most in demand.

The Italian string band was on hand and discoursed sweet music while fair ladies and brave men tripped the light fantastic toe with hearty glee. Scattered here and there over the decks of the boat were numerous groups of both sexes warbling lively and animated airs.

One poet says: "Love was crown'd but music won the cause," and this thought was, no doubt, uppermost in some of the young men's minds. Another bard remarks: "Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast." But it doesn't take a poet to exhibit to us the potency of rich music; we all feel it more deeply than any can paint by the imagination never so brilliant.

Our boat remained at Smithville a short while and then moved off for Smith's Island, distant four miles. Here more than a hundred persons went bathing in the surf at one time.

During the entire trip only one thing occurred to mar the festivities. This transpired while the steamer was moored near the point of the Island. A young lad, about 18 years old, in a fit of temporary aberration, suddenly jumped overboard. Mr. Watson, the Captain, with the spirit of a hero, snatched up a rope and immediately leaped after him; the rope by some means got entangled around another person standing by and dragged him in also. The Captain being attracted by the noise of the third man, wheeled around to see what was the cause and saw a person, and perceiving him to be a good swimmer, struck boldly out for the first party overboard, but as soon as the lad saw his intention he said: "Limbs do your office and support me well," and began making off at a rapid pace. The Captain being encumbered with the rope was unable to cope with him and was therefore compelled to turn back. In the meantime the steamer's boat was lying at shore and was quickly manned by Dave Dailey and Geo. Burnett, a portion of the steamer's crew. As they were in the act of pushing off Capt. J. W. Galloway, who was returning from the Light House, came running up and jumped into the boat just in the nick of time to assist in the rescue. They struck out for the drowning man and Capt. G. grabbed him by the collar of his coat after he had sunk twice. Dave and George did the rowing.

We arrived at Wilmington at 8 p.m. perfectly delighted with our trip. A grand ball will come off at Smithville some time soon.

—RALPH RYLE.

Flowers in a Room.
What companions they are! How their green leaves and bright blossoms brighten up the most sordid apartment! Take, for instance, an ivy. How gracefully it adorns the barest walls! It is a picture in itself; it gives to the poorest apartment an air of refinement and elegance. Added to the quiet happiness of administering to house-plants, of watching them grow in grace and stature, of counting their fragrance, the tender green of their leaves, the exquisite coloring and marking of their petals, the variety in their shapes, one has always a bouquet at hand to send a sick friend, to please a child, to touch up the family table and to surprise a neighbor. The pleasure they give is endless.

Knights of Pythias—Installation of the Officers of Germania Lodge.

At an early hour members of our citizens could be seen wending their way last evening to the Hall of the Knights on Third Street, and at 8 o'clock a large assemblage had gathered to witness the ceremonies. After the lodge had been called to order, prayer offered by the Prelate and the opening ode sung by the choir, D D G C, Jno Haar, Jr, assisted by W H Gerken acting as P G C, Jno L Dudley, as G V C, W I M Koch as G P, Aug Dumelandt, as G K of R & S, F W Ortmann as G M of E, Jno Meyer as G M at A, Chas Schulken as G I G and B F White as G O G, then entered and after the honors had been given proceed to install the following Knights as officers for the present term:

C F VonKampen, P C, Jno G Odenbittel as C C, Jno W Gerds, V C, H C Prempert, P C F Burckart, K of R & S, F W Ortmann, M of E, W Genaust, M of F, J D Stelges, M at A, M Kasprowiez, I G, Jno D Lutgin, O G. After the installation the programme as published by us in Monday's issue was gone through with, and addresses were delivered by P G C, W H Gerken in the English and by D D G C, Jno Haar, Jr, Knights Jno W Gerds, H C Prempert, M Kasprowiez and John Meyer, in the German language. The addresses were well delivered and the speakers frequently applauded, the only one understood by us (that of Mr. Gerken) whose subject was the doctrines and principles of the Order, being sharp, concise and conclusive.

We regret that our German reporter was unable to be present, so that we could give the subjects of the other speakers, but they were all highly spoken of, especially that of Mr. Gerds. At the conclusion of the ceremonies at the hall, which by the way was handsomely decorated and arranged, the assemblage took passage in the street cars which were awaiting them on corner Front and Princess Streets, for the Wilmington Gardens, where a grand picnic was in progress, and where our brave Knights and their invited guests enjoyed themselves to their heart's content until the "wee sma hours." The whole affair is highly spoken of by those who were so fortunate as to be participants.

The Regatta Yesterday.

The Regatta at the Sound was largely attended; so much so that some of the boats were compelled to make several trips in order to accommodate the guests. The day bid to be foul, but turned out as fair and pleasant as any could wish—clouds, just enough to keep the "young tars" a little anxious, but not enough to hurt the wind, which was as strong from N. E. as they could wish. The boats started out in fine style and order, as follows:

Restless, *	12.45.00
Frolic,	12.45.40
Rosa,	12.46.32
Lizzie,	12.46.37
Gipsy,	12.47.32
Carolina,	12.47.47
Ripple,	12.48.07
Foam,	12.49.37

Formerly Little Walter.	Actual running time.
Ripple,	2.36.41 - 1.48.34
Rosa,	2.38.20 - 1.51.48
Restless,	2.42.38 - 1.57.38
Foam,	2.44.38 - 1.55.01
Carolina,	2.46.23 - 1.58.36
Frolic,	2.49.48 - 1.46.36
Lizzie,	2.58.15 - 2.11.38

The Frolic broke her rudder just as she started and returned, but started again, running against time, at 1.3.12; the Inlet buoy was also moved before she rounded first time, which shortened her distance considerably.

The Gipsy withdrew on first round from Inlet buoy because her mat was not able to bear the sail.

The Rosa and Lizzie fouled at Inlet buoy, and we have not learned yet which was in fault.

The Judges decided that the Ripple was the winner, but the Commanders of the Rosa, Carolina, Frolic and Lizzie voted it was no race, while the Restless and Foam voted it was a race, on the following:

Resolved, That as the Inlet buoy was placed in the wrong place, making the race ten miles instead of eight, we declare it to be no race.

The Ripple and Gipsy, did not vote the former because she believed the race hers and not willing to let it go into the hands of a committee.

Pender Superior Court convenes at Burgaw, on Monday next. Judge Euse will preside.

We beg for attention to the advertisement of Mr. Jas. C. Munds, the Third street druggist, as it appears in this issue.

We understand that the military company at Sumter, S. C., are to visit our city on the 15th inst., for the purpose of taking a trip to Smithville.

Hats were on a breeze yesterday—judging from the number seen floating in the river between this city and Smithville. The Goa Worth passed about a dozen on her trip up to the city.

Cambric dresses are now made up with as much pretension to being a la mode, as are toilettes of far more expensive materials.

Outdoor life cannot be made attractive to the mosquito, and it is folly for any one to try it.

Dressing sacs are made with a trench back, a single dart in front, and ornamented with bows of light-colored ribbon.

Cambric costumes have basques, overshirts and demi-train undershirts, which latter are finished with two or three pleated ruffles.

Don't spank your children with a boot jack. It is too hard to hold, and apt to make bunions on your thumb.

The coquette is a rosebud from which each young beau plucks a leaf, and the thorns are left for the husband.

The great question now for the dress-maker, in making the intricate princess dresses, is "where to put the pocket."

When you hear a good story from the lips of a stupid man, who does not pay for a newspaper, you may know that both have been borrowed.

If short dresses prevail, and they are clamored for by weary women, it will be necessary to make the dresses wider, and hence there will be a return to gathers and plaits and consequently to slits that will be bouffant. Crinoline may follow.

The man who goes to a strawberry festival and discovers the loss of his five dollar bill just after treating seventeen handsome girls to the delicacies of the occasion, has some slight idea of how it feels to be run over by a wagon-load of hay.

For young women no feathers are so popular as the soft willow clusters tipped with gold or with straw. In their dressy evening toilettes these feathers are white instead, and are dipped with pearl beads.

We are sorry to learn that there will probably be no encampment of the Second Regiment, N. C. S. G., this Summer, Col. Alexander having been informed that the camp tents and equipages appropriated by Congress will not be ready before September.

Just How to Do It.

There are many ways in which one can annoy his friends. A few of these are easily stated. Call upon people out of season, upon business people, especially in business hours, for a long friendly, chat on things in general. Stop people in the street if they appear to be in a hurry; if they are not in the latest cut and newest garment say you thought your friend was going to his tailor's. Always assist the teller in the midst of a story or a statement. Come in late to church, or the concert or to dinner. Always laugh in the wrong place or about a minute too soon. Tell an anecdote that comes as near as possible to some unpleasant circumstance in the family affairs of a person present. If at a loss for conversation the smallpox or drainage will fill up the gap.
