When the Registration Closes.

We have received the following letter, and as it asks a question that is of interest to Registrars throughout the State, we print and answer it in full:
WILMINGTON, N. C., July 9, 1878.
MESSRS. EDITOR:—Will you be so kind as to let me know, at your earliest convenience, whether the Registration Books—where a new Registration is had—are to be closed on the 29th or 31st days of July. In other words, in sec. 6, chap. 275, Laws 1876-77, the words "Sundays excepted," are the Sundays included or excluded from the "thirty days preceding the election?" I am Secretary of the Board of Justices of the Peace for New Hanover county, and as the question has arisen as stated above, I desire to get at a correct solution, and know of no better way than to get your opinion. With kindest regards,
I am, your truly,
JOHN COWAN.

In reply to the questions asked by Mr. Cowan we have to say that there can be no doubt that the registration closes on the 31st day of July. It is no longer a practical question about the day of opening the registration, for whenever opened the books close at sundown July 31st; but we are of the opinion that the words "Sundays excepted" merely mean that there can be no registration on Sundays, and they do not qualify the words "for thirty days." Therefore, the Sundays should be counted in the thirty days, and the books should have opened July 2nd. It has been decided otherwise, however, in many counties.
Capt. Cowan, Secretary of the Board of Magistrates, did us the honor a week ago to ask of us our construction of the law relative to registration but we preferred to wait until he could hear from others. We agree with the Observer in regard to the close of registration but not as regards the Sundays. The law itself is rather ambiguous; that part of it so hard to understand reads "such registrars shall also, between the hours of sunrise and sunset on each days (Sundays excepted) for thirty days preceding each election keep open said books" &c. As we have said, the law is not by any means plain but a careful reading evidences to our mind that its intention was to establish thirty working days for registration immediately preceding the day of election. At any rate the Board of Magistrates here are safe; they ordered the books open on the 27th of last month and they will be kept open until the day of election and therefore, whether twenty-six days or thirty days are requisite, the law will have been complied with.
Our neighbor of the Star, in his last Wednesday's issue, has construed the law differently. He thinks it plain that "it was the intention to have the books closed on Friday, the 26th inst., and that the keeping the books open until election day "might offer a pretext for contesting the election on the ground that all who registered after the 26th had done so illegally."
We do not think it's point well taken, and no one need be alarmed at the result. If the law itself is not plain we have precedents to consult and these justify keeping open the books for the thirty working days preceding the day of election; it was done here at the last election held in this city. Besides, courts of justice will only demand that the law be construed by the different Boards of Magistrates to the best of their knowledge and belief and there is still another well known principle in law that will not fail, and that is that the people are not to be debarred of their rights by an erroneous construction of the law on the part of those who are entrusted with its execution. If the spirit of the law is fulfilled the letter of the law amounts to very little. Therefore, whether the books are closed on the 26th or on the 31st there is absolutely no danger of voiding the election.

To Destroy Flies.

The following recipe for destroying flies is recommended by an exchange: Put half a spoonful of black pepper on a teaspoonful of cream; mix them well together and place them in a room where the flies are troublesome, and they will soon disappear. Or, saturate a small piece of cloth with carbolic acid, hang in the room, and in an hour the flies will disappear. Mosquitoes can be expelled in the same way.

Excursion to Wilmington.

The Charlotte Observer says: The Charlotte Grays have decided to run an excursion to Wilmington on Tuesday, the 23rd, to spend three days there, returning Saturday morning. The fare will be only $3 for the round trip. Full accommodations will be furnished all who wish to go. During the stay of the excursionists they will have an opportunity of visiting Smithville and other points of interest in the vicinity of Wilmington. The trip promises to be a delightful one.

Rev. Dan'l Culbreth, Missionary on Cohara Mission, was called upon and reported; has been a long time in the ministry; is the oldest effective minister in the Conference; is doing all he can to save his soul; leaves it to the church whether to stop him from work or not; expects to work as long as life lasts unless the brethren stop him; has books of the converts on his different appointments, the lists amounting to thousands. "I am loyal to the doctrines of the church and to Christ—have been for 53 years." Has raised for Sunday School, $25. A few of the old people come out. Finances hopeful, $209 paid him. Expect to raise the amount of the assessments. Has had sacrament at all churches. Received a few members.
W. J. Parker, Steward, reported the financial condition not as good as in other years because of the monetary condition of the country. Thought the assessments would be paid, although all produce is so low. Condition of the circuit very good.
Col. J. J. D. Lucas added his opinion in confirmation of the above reports. Good Sunday Schools at his church. Thought the finances would be fully brought up.
Rev. D. Culbreth offered a resolution that whenever Methodist children are enrolled in Union Sunday Schools, the preachers shall ascertain their numbers and report them to the Annual District Conference and to the Quarterly Conference. A debate arose which was participated in by Rev. E. A. Yates, J. J. Carden, R. B. Hall, D. Culbreth and Capt. Jno E. Leggett, to the time of adjournment. Adjourned at 11 o'clock for preaching.
