LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements. Pleasant yesterday. When signs fail, advertise No City Court this morning Nobody here was sun struck. Dinna ye hear the slogan? REGISTER! Election day is just one week from to-day. A handsome piece often pinches the foot. Why don't you register and stop your foolishness? Enough of a thing is enough—then go and register. Are you sure your friend and brother have registered? A green peach on the tree is worth several in the stomach. St. Louis has lost her reputation as a summer resort. Star Light excursion to-morrow evening, see advertisement. Put two belles together and they rarely chime—so says an atrabiliarian old bachelor. The reason schoolboys delight to dig and explore caves, is because of the recesses there. Do not forget that our candidate for Solicitor, Captain Swift Galloway, will speak here to-morrow night. And again yesterday more spoilt meat and fish were condemned and sent out of the lower and Brooklyn Markets. Maybe it's the newspaper's fault that the registration is not complete, because the dear people need to be reminded—but honestly, we don't think so, do you, dear reader? As an evidence of the very great need of rain in this vicinity and the up-country as well, we will mention the fact that two porpoises were seen spouting about in the river here day before yesterday afternoon. Now some smart somebody may say well that's no evidence—but we say it is, because the water in the river owing to the great scarcity of rain has become brackish, i. e. tainted with salt, and consequently, the salt water fish are seen where only fresh water fish generally exist. Do the doubting Thomases accept the explanation and are they satisfied? Well, then so are we.

Silver Wedding.

Dr. and Mrs. Thos B. Carr will celebrate their Silver Wedding Thursday evening Aug 1st. Two years ago Dr. Carr and his good lady little expected their lives would be spared so long, and as health and eye sight has been restored to them, their friends and relatives will be gathered around to rejoice with them.

Last night's Meetings.

The Manning and Garrell factions of the Republican party held meetings last night. The regular "pinpoints" were in the First and Fifth Wards, but the opposing elements came together in the First Ward and at one time it was thought the storm cloud would burst in all its fury, but the cloud passed around and the storm did not burst in Brooklyn.

Coon Tread.

A little darkey tread a coon on Fifth, between Market and Princess' streets, this morning. A crowd gathered around the tree and tried to knock his coonship out with rocks and sticks, but to no avail. Finally a gentleman living in the neighborhood, brought out his pistol and fired three times, one ball taking effect, which brought the coon down, but no sooner had he struck the ground than did he "git-up-and-dig." The last that was seen of the coon it was running up Princess street toward the woods, making faster time than Ten Broeck or Mollie McCarthy ever made.

More Than He Could Stand.

A old darkey from Rocky Point, stopped in at the City Hall this morning in search of the Chief of Police, and when that magistrate was pointed out, he approached him "as a darkey of the old school" does, with uncovered head and a polite "good morning massa." The old man's son, a boy of sixteen years of age had run away from him, and came to this county, and was going to enter the field as a third Richmond, for the Sheriff's Office of New Hanover county. The old man said he was an honest, hard working man and that his family had never been disgraced before, and now at this time of life, for his boy to be an aspirant for Republican honors, was more than he could stand. His tale of distress and the graphic picture he drew of his wife going down to her grave in shame and sorrow for her boy, was more than the Chief could stand who gently wiped the tears from his eyes and told the old man that the city had no power to give him any assistance in capturing the boy unless the law had been violated. The old man rejoined "but massa, de law ob 'spectability and de family ob which I've a member, is violated by dat boy 'sociatin wid sich people and 'speusin sich a cause," and the poor old man left with bowed head and down-cast eyes muttering to himself "spos dese gray hairs will be carried down to de grave in shame and sorrow."

Lost Pork

This morning a barrel of fine mess pork was rolled into the river at the foot of Market street while being delivered to a boat's crew of one of the vessels in port. The drayman blames the crew and the crew the drayman for the loss of the pork. The matter will have to be left to an electoral commission especially as the pork was for seven to ate.

Excursion to Wilmington.

An excursion train will be run from Weldon, Tarboro and intermediate points on the Wilmington & Weldon R. Road, to Smithville, on August 2nd., under the management of Mr. Samuel Collier. This is a move in the right direction. Inducements should be offered our up-country friends to visit Wilmington. In this way, business men can be thrown together, and it is to be hoped the meeting will eventually be in good for all concerned.

Unmailed Letters.

The following is the list of unmailed letters remaining in the City Post Office. T M Justice, Town Creek, N C; Wm T Downs, Rev St Colfax, Philadelphia, Penn; Messrs Flake & Allen, Beverly, N C; Glen Alpine Springs Co, Glen Alpine, N C

Recovered.

The barrel of pork mentioned elsewhere in this issue as having been lost overboard at Market dock this morning, was recovered to-day about one o'clock by a man named James Burnett, who in consideration of a reward of three dollars, dove to the bottom of the river and fastened on a pair of grapples or iron hooks which enabled those on the surface to haul the barrel safely to the top and secure it.

Almost a Run Over.

Yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock, as a horse and dray belonging to Mr. John Scott was being driven across what is known as the crossing, where the W. & W. and W. O. & A. Railroad tracks cross the street on the road to the Carolina Central depot—an engine in backing down collided with the dray, smashing it all to pieces and somewhat injuring the horse, the driver leaped from the dray in time to save himself.

Canoe Race at the Sound by the Young America of Masonboro.

Quite a crowd were present at Masonboro Sound yesterday afternoon to witness the Second race of the Masonboro Canoe Club.

The following canoes entered and started at the same time at 3.40 p. m. Stormy Petrel—Captain Henry Savage. Anna McKay—Captain Wm. Parsley. Carrie—Captain Ed. Cazaux. Isaac Bates—Captain Victor Grainger. Lucy—Captain Ed. Daniel. The result of the race was the Carrie, first in, at 4.05 Stormy Petrel, second in, at 4.06 Anna McKay, third in, at 4.07 Isaac Bates, fourth in, at 4.08 Lucy, fifth in, at 4.18 The contest was quite exciting, but the defeated captains cheerfully accepted the result and did not dispute the judges' decision in the least. The first prize, a puzzle picture, "The Model Ship," was awarded the Carrie. The second, a book entitled "The Man of the Ocean," was given the Stormy Petrel. "The Conquest of the Sea," a book, was awarded the Anna McKay, as the third prize. The fourth prize was given to the Isaac Bates, and also a book called "Saved from the Sea." The fifth prize, a book, entitled "The English at the North Pole," was awarded the Lucy. The prizes were given the Club by Mr. P. Heinsberger, and presented to the captains of the different canoes by Mr. W. B. McKoy. After the presentation of the prizes, three cheers were given for Mr. P. Heinsberger, by the young sailors, and three cheers were also given to the Masonboro Canoe Club by the crowd in attendance.

Sudden Death.

Coroner Hewlett was notified this morning of the sudden death of Robert Hamilton, colored, aged about six years. The child was left at home yesterday with his sister, while his mother stepped off for a short time, and the boy laid down and went to sleep. His sister tried to awake him, but failed and related the circumstances to her mother upon her return, who upon examination, found the boy was dead.

The deceased had been complaining for several days before his death of an intense pain in the head. Dr. Wright, the county Physician, accompanied the Coroner and the jury this morning, and after making an examination concluded the boy died of brain fever. The jury rendered a verdict in accordance with the above facts.

Strange Action.

Tuesday about one o'clock while the keeper of Pine Forest Cemetery was at dinner, and his son, a lad of about sixteen years old, was awaiting his return, a colored man carrying a box covered over with a bag which he said contained an infant, approached the boy and told him he wanted to inter it. The boy refused to bury it without a permit, and the fellow then asked for a spade, which was also refused him, whereupon the man went about three hundred yards into a pine thicket, deposited the box in a gully and threw a little earth over it, but not enough to cover it up. Upon the return of the keeper, to the Cemetery, his son related these facts, and thinking something was wrong, notified Coroner Hewlett who instructed him to carry the infant to the cemetery. Yesterday a jury was empaneled and an inquest was held, the jury coming to the conclusion that the infant was still born. Later yesterday Coroner Hewlett learned the names of the parents, of the infant who stated it was still born and that the man was paid to carry it to the cemetery for interment, and also that money was given him to pay for the interment and all necessary charges.
