Cool nights now and fine for sleeping. Five more days and then look out for oysters.

The Mozart Saloon treated its patrons to-day to some elegant green turtle soup and promises to do ditto to-morrow.

His Honor, Mayor Fishplate, returned to the city last night from the North looking well, happy and prosperous.

That everlasting devil made us speak of Mr. R. E. Heide, yesterday, as the Dutch Consul, when we wrote it as plain as we know how, D-a-n-i-s-h.

Four hundred and odd tons of steel rails for the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad arrived in the city on Sunday by schooner from New York.

Mr. George Chadbourne, who has been North on a visit to his relatives and friends, returned to this city a few days ago looking very much improved by his little trip.

The Goldsboro Messenger gives currency to a rumor that Edwin W. Kerr, Esq., of Sampson county, will run as an independent candidate for Congress from this district and adds that it is not prepared to believe the rumor. Neither are we.

From the way some of the girls look in their dresses, pulled back and tied tight around below the knees, two peanuts a day and a grasshopper on toast twice a month would make them fat. Their waists look like the thin part of an hour glass with very little sand in it.

Col. Polk.

Col. L. L. Polk, Commissioner of Agriculture, will address the citizens of Pender county at Point Caswell, on Wednesday, September 11th, on which occasion there will be a basket picnic during the day and a ball at night. Ladies and gentlemen generally are invited to attend.

Postponement.

In sympathy with the general feeling expressed by the community and at the request of the Hon. A. M. Waddell himself, Capt. Chas. D. Myers, Chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, has requested us to state that out of respect to the memory of Captain Isaac B. Grainger, deceased, the appointment for Col. Waddell to deliver an address upon the issues of the day in front of the Dawson Bank to-night, is postponed to some future occasion, due notice of which will be given at the proper time.

A Kindly Courtesy.

We are pleased to learn and glad to announce that Captain J. F. Divine, Superintendent of the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad, has tendered to the Hibernian Association the use of a special car with which to go to Rocky Point to meet and escort to this city the remains of its lamented President, Capt. Isaac B. Grainger. The members of the organization are requested to meet at the Front street depot, in full regalia, at 8 o'clock a. m. to-morrow.

The Funeral Services.

Capt. I. B. Grainger's remains are expected here to-morrow morning on the 10:05 train from the North, and it is expected that the funeral services will take place during the afternoon, but the exact hour has not yet been designated. The Bank of New Hanover is closed and draped in mourning to-day, and we are authorized to state will remain closed to-morrow. It is probable, also, that a great many places of business will be closed, and we think it only appropriate that there should be a general suspension of business during the progress of the funeral ceremonies.

A Counterfeit of Buffalo Bill.

A poor beggarly white tramp, who was well nigh shoeless as well as hatless, and who wore a coat with many rents in it, was arrested last night for drunkenness, and when asked his name stated that he was Buffalo Bill. "Why didn't you never hear of him?" inquired the poor vagrant. But that get-off was too thin, as the officer who made the arrest had both seen and heard of the renowned William Cody, otherwise known as Buffalo Bill, the great frontier scout, and so the counterfeit of Buffalo Bill was given a night's lodging in the Guard House.

The South Atlantic.

The South Atlantic for September, already received, brings to us the following interesting list of contents: The Minstrel Art in England, by Mrs. Mary Cabell Early; The Library Portrait Painting of George Eliot, by Philip A. Bruce; John Davidson's wife, chap. III-IV, by W. W. Alexander; Greatness, by Fannie H. Marr; A Baptism of Fire, chap. XX-XXII, by Mrs. Mary Woodson Jarvis; Williamsburg, by Maria Pendleton Duval; Hampton's Campaign in South Carolina, VIII, by Edward J. Maxwell; Roan Mountain, by M. Winnifred Halyburton; The Poet's Calling, by M. W. Early; Writers and Writing, by N. W. T.; Our Mineral Wealth, II, by Prof. Kerr; Thought and Movement; Recent Literature. Published at Wilmington by Mrs. Cicero W. Harris, at $3 a year.

Direct Importation.

Messrs Giles & Murchison, of this city, now have landing from the British barque North Carolina a large invoice, comprising a very desirable assortment of earthenware direct from the English potteries. This is but the first of a series of invoices to be received by this firm and opens a new era in the trade in Wilmington. Country merchants, in especial, are requested to notice this fact: particularly as it will prove to their interest to examine this lot of goods. As the cost of importation from Liverpool to Wilmington is no more than from Liverpool to New York, the advantage of purchasing in this market, in the way of a saving of freight, will be readily perceived. Messrs Giles & Murchison are confident of their ability to compete with the Northern markets and with this object in view they offer to duplicate any bill for these goods made in New York.

Chamber of Commerce and Produce Exchange.

Pursuant to a call by the Chairman of each body a joint meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and Produce Exchange was held this morning at 12 o'clock at their rooms to take some action in regard to the death of their late member, Captain Isaac B. Grainger, Messrs. A. H. VanBokkelen, President of the Chamber of Commerce, and C. H. Robinson, President of the Produce Exchange, presiding.

On motion a Committee consisting of Messrs. Wm. Calder, David G. Worth, E. Peschau, James Anderson, A. Pope, E. E. Burruss, Jas. A. Willard and R. E. Heide, were appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the deep feeling of the two bodies in regard to the untimely death of the deceased member. The Committee retired and in a short time returned and reported through their chairman, Mr. Wm. Calder, the following preamble and resolutions:

WHEREAS, In the mysterious workings of His inscrutable Providence, it has pleased the Creator of all things to remove from our midst, in the prime of life and at the zenith of his career, one who to our finite appreciation, seemed to embody, in a peculiar degree, many of those attributes with which He endows the noblest of his Creatures; we are met together to give expressions, as best we may under the pressure of great personal and corporate grief, to the feelings of profound emotion excited by the intelligence of the death of our late associate and fellow-member, Isaac B. Grainger. Therefore:

Resolved, That the Chamber of Commerce and Produce Exchange of the City of Wilmington, speaking for themselves, and as representatives of the commercial interests of our community, desire to place upon record their estimate of the character and services of our deceased member, and of the inestimable loss which our city and commerce has sustained in his death—so great that we are constrained to regard it as a grievous public calamity.

Endowed with an unusually active mind, quick in its conceptions, and active in their execution; of large liberality, great public spirit, rare executive ability, and unusual breadth of mental scope; he combined that energy of physical character which made him a successful leader in large enterprises, with those attributes which attracted to his aid the earnest co-operation of his fellow men. He was "a dealer with events, a shaper of circumstances"—a man of will, of pride, of courage and power. Associated with these characteristics, and underlying his whole nature, were those gentler qualities which mark the man of tender heart, approachable alike by men of all estates, and never turning a deaf ear, or withholding a helping hand, from the appeals of deserving industry, or the complaints of unfortunate want.

Resolved, That we have lost in him our recognized leader in many of the most important public enterprises of this city and State, our earnest co-operator and counselor in all, and one as alert to the best interests of our people, as ever ready to further them by personal effort, or a cheerful sacrifice of time and labor.

As a slight tribute to his worth we adopt these our resolutions, but as lasting monuments to his name we point to those public enterprises and institutions which are the offshoots of his career, and will ever be inseparably associated with his memory.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to his afflicted family, with a tender of our heartfelt sympathies; that they be inscribed upon the records of our respective bodies, and that the members of these Chambers wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the daily Press of this city, with the request that they be published.

Mr. Calder then in eloquent words paid a most handsome and feeling tribute to the memory of the deceased. With a lip quivering with emotion while his eyes moistened with tears, the speaker referred to Captain Grainger's career since his first advent in our midst as a young lad some eighteen years ago—of his rapid rise to the eminence he had attained in the business community, filling successively and successfully many prominent and responsible positions of trust. Opponents he had, continued the speaker—and call them enemies if you will, but they were the necessary accompaniments of success. He was an open enemy and a firm friend, a friend indeed and oftentimes a friend in need. The speaker could not claim an intimate acquaintance with the deceased, but he had met him unreservedly, socially and in a business way, but never at any time during such intercourse had he ever known the departed member to speak of those who were termed his enemies, disparagingly.

Personal.

Capt. V. V. Richardson, of Columbus, member-elect to the next Legislature, was in the city to-day. Capt. Richardson has been prominently mentioned for the Speakership of the next House, and his election to this position would be a compliment which the people of this section would not be slow to appreciate.

The flags on Market and Front streets, also the flag on the Star building, were half-masted to-day in respect to the memory of Capt. I. B. Grainger.

Death of Capt. Grainger.

We had barely time yesterday afternoon to announce the sad news of the death of Captain Isaac B. Grainger. His death occurred at Williamsport, Pa., at 10 minutes to 5 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, of virulent bilious fever.

Captain Grainger was 37 years of age. He was a native of Ireland and came to this country about the year 1859 or 1860, and until the breaking out of the war was a clerk in the dry goods house of his relative, Mr. James Dawson, then located on the Southeast corner of Market and Front streets. At the breaking out of the war, he enlisted in Col. (then Captain) J. J. Hedrick's company, the Cape Fear Light Artillery, but was soon transferred to the Quartermaster's Department, in the office of Capt. C. W. Styron, where his remarkable business abilities were soon recognized. He first became Chief Clerk in Capt. Styron's office, and was afterwards, on application of Maj. John W. Cameron, Chief Quarter Master of the Department, commissioned as Captain and A. Q. M. In this position he served with signal ability, patriotism and fidelity until the close of the war. Peace having been established he was offered, and accepted, the position of Cashier in the Dawson Banking House and afterwards resigned that position and succeeded in affecting the organization of the Bank of New Hanover, the stockholders in which were among the more prominent citizens of Wilmington. From its organization until his death he remained President of this Bank enjoying, in a signal manner, the confidence and esteem of the entire business community. He was also, at various times, an Alderman of the city, President of the Hibernian Benevolent Society, of the Wilmington Building Association, of the Real Estate and Loan Association, Receiver of the Carolina Central Railway, and member of the Board of County Commissioners. In his last named position his remarkable financial abilities were brought to bear for the benefit of the public at large. When he accepted this position the county scrip was worth but fifty cents on the dollar and when he left the Board, in less than one year, his efforts, assisted by those of his worthy colleague on the Finance Committee, Mr. B. G. Worth, had raised the county credit to par, where it has stood ever since and where it stands now.

One of Capt. Grainger's chief characteristics was his originality, and another his indomitable and tenacious integrity. Enemies he may have made but these were the very adjuncts of his position, and friends, earnest, devoted friends, he could count by the hundred. But death is a great leveler and those who were wont to be ranked as among his opponents are now among those who mourn him most sincerely. Peace to his ashes; there are many hearts made desolate by his death and the people of Wilmington, irrespective of rank, or caste, or past associations, will mourn him as one whose place will not easily be filled.

THE APOSTATES' SOLILOQUY.

I've faithfully toiled in Democracy's ranks, For which I've received an abundance of thanks, But I worked for an office and have always drawn blanks, Which afforded me no satisfaction; So now I'm determined to work for myself (Though all my tried friends place me on the shelf.) If I fail to win honor I'll surely win pelf By my recalcitrant action, I'll join the new party just coming in vogue, And imitate Kearney, minus the brogue, I'll shout for "Reform" while acting the rogue, And indulge in soft-spoken platitudes, "Hard-handed labor" I'll talk about, "Greenbacks" and "Reform" till I'm hoarse, I'll shout, The "bloated bond-holders" I'll send en route To a much more torrid latitude. I know, that to make a political dash, I must mingle (lest hopes should fall with a crash) With rads and darkies and other such trash, (How oft have I cordially d-d-d'em) His Satanic majesty will be to pay, 'Mong those I have known in an honest way, And some, no doubt, will sneeringly say, "De quibus non est disputandum." As they see me blown along by the gale "A jolly good fellow, hearty and hale, With scallawag, darkie and brindle tail Like some sweet savored confection, Oh, he is my political dream, Oh, he'll work and plan and scheme, But sicker by far than I'd care to seem WILL BE HE I fail of election.
