The Greenbackers held a meeting in the Fifth Ward last night.

Have you bankrupted yet? No City Court this morning. Days length 12 hours and 54 minutes. August steps out of the calendar of 1878 at 12 o'clock to-night. Only one interment in Bellevue Cemetery during the week, an adult. There is a new moon somewhere above us now if we could only get a glimpse of it. There is quite an increase of travel on the lines of railroads radiating from this city. The Board of Aldermen and the Board of County Commissioners both meet on Monday next. And again more spoilt meats and fish were condemned and sent out of the market yesterday. The last day of the week, the last day of the month and the last day of Summer! So mote it be! There have been seven interments this week in Time For a Cemetery—four adults and three children. The Register of Deeds issued three marriage licenses during the week just ended, of which two were to white and one to colored couples. Those who get through the world without enemies are commonly of three classes: the subtle, the adroit and the phlegmatic. Capt. D. R. Murchison returned to the city last evening from his visit to the Switzerland of America, the mountains of North Carolina. 'Clergymen,' remarks an exchange, 'like railway brakemen, do a great deal of coupling.'—Ah, yes; and the coupled ones do all the switching. There were 481 foreign letters received here by the Northern mail at 10:05 this forenoon, which is the largest number ever received at this place in one mail. The German barque Freidrich Scaldr bound for Rio de Janeiro, was towed to sea yesterday over the Western Bar by the steamer Waccamaw, drawing 16 feet. There were four interments in Oakdale Cemetery during the present week of whom two were adults and two children, both adults having died elsewhere and been brought here. The weather of yesterday and last evening was very close and oppressive. It has been quite cool for several days past, but as a citizen expressed it yesterday, it has "moderated." In speaking yesterday of the list of vessels up for this port we spoke of them as "due." It was an inadvertence. There are only eight or ten really due here now, although there are nearly sixty on the way to this port. Hon. A. M. Waddell will open the campaign regularly at Burgaw on Monday next. A tremendous crowd is expected there on that occasion and it is probable that quite a number will go up from this city. Mister, said a wag to a hardy son of toil, quietly driving his mule and cart to market, with a load of fodder. Is that your fodder? Yes, it is, by G—d! was the quick response, and immediately replied the wag: Well, it is a wise son that knows his own (farder) fodder. Both vanished and "smiled."

Improvements.

Mr. Wm. Futrell has made extensive improvements in his grocery store on Market Street. The store now runs back as far as the alley, and Mr. Futrell is getting in a large stock of goods with a view of pleasing everybody.

Dental Association.

The Charlotte members of the North Carolina dental association, which meets here next Wednesday, have made arrangements for the transportation of delegates at reduced rates on all the railroads leading into the city. It is expected that there will be a full attendance.

Got It Bad.

Frank D. Koonce, of Onslow county, one of the few white skinned Radicals in that good old county, was in the city today and it is said has been cloaked with some of the leading Republican lights in the city. Of course Mr. Koonce has cast his longing eyes Washington City-wards and of course he'll represent the people of this district in the next Congress. He's got it bad.

Sanders & Blackwood.

The Charlotte Observer says: Mr. W. C. Blackwood will go down to Wilmington next week to establish the central office of the firm in that city. Mr. Sanders will have charge of the office here. We regret to lose so enterprising and valuable a citizen as Mr. Blackwood has shown himself to be, but wish him good luck in his new home.

The River.

Capt. Garrison, of the steamer D. Murchison, reports a considerable rise in the river. When he left Fayetteville, yesterday morning, there had been an increase of four feet on the Shoals at that point, making about seven feet in all, and the river was still rising. There are reports of heavy rains in the Deep and Haw river sections, and if these reports are true, we may have a big freshet next week.

Ship Yard Notes.

The steam tug Alpha and Spanish Barque Cabeiras are undergoing repairs at the ship yard of Messrs. Cassidey & Ross. The Spanish Brig Dos Cuncidos is awaiting orders for repairs. The light ship of the Savannah harbor is expected to arrive at this port in a few days for repairs, Messrs. Cassidey & Ross having received the contract of putting her in proper trim for sea duty.

Tied Together.

Joseph Foy and Clara Holt, colored, appeared before Justice Harris this morning armed with a marriage license and a big watermelon, which was the best one of old man Foy's crop, and signified their desire and intention of being bound together in wedlock. The marriage ceremony was of the most improved style and was done up in the latest manner by the Justice who made them man and wife. Immediately after the ceremony, the happy couple adjourned to the back steps of the Justice's office and out the watermelon, which was the nuptial feast. A crowd of colored spectators rushed in to congratulate the couple as soon as it was known there was a watermelon feast on hand and one of the deputy sheriffs ran in, hatted and in his shirt sleeves, proclaiming "fust, waiters, fust." We left them eating the melon, each man making as much time as possible in order to put in another slice of the luscious feast.

Rain.

Yesterday the city was visited by some of the heaviest rains which have fallen in the past month. The water came down in torrents, converting the streets into miniature creeks, and accumulated in places apparently utterly regardless of sewer mouths. It is predicted by many of the weather-wise that we will have a cool spell, and that the mercury in the thermometer will not be quite so aristocratic for some days to come. The sanitary condition of the city, too, has been very much improved by yesterday's floods. All foreign substances which were likely to generate malaria were carried off by the water and the sewers thoroughly washed out and put in a fresh condition. More work was done by the agency of the rain for the improving of the city's condition than could have been accomplished in a week's work by the street force. To-morrow is known in the calendar as the Eleventh Sunday after Trinity.

Col. Waddell Last Night.

Hon. A. M. Waddell, the successful leader of the Democratic party through four campaigns, and for the fifth time its chosen candidate, spoke, last night, from the portico of the Dawson Bank building, to an unusually large gathering of citizens, and in a clear, forcible and satisfactory manner, expressed his views upon the financial question. Substantially, his views are those advocated by him in an address delivered three years ago before the Cumberland Agricultural Association, and the same as those embodied in the principles of the Democratic platform of Ohio, and espoused by Senator Thurman. He is in favor of the removal of the 10 per cent. tax upon State Banks, an enormous burden imposed by Radical legislation, though not prepared to advocate or to declare what would be the effect upon our financial interests, if State Banks should be allowed to issue a circulation three times as great as their capital, as was done before the war. He favors the retirement of National Bank notes and the substitution of U. S. Treasury notes. He thinks the issue, as far as the financial question is concerned, is practically between the National Banks and the people. He regards the National Banking system as an outrageous monopoly, costing the people millions for the privilege of using its notes, and capable of combining an influence in the legislation of the country, which, though not more criminal than other influences of combined capital, ought to be stopped. The Radical party instituted, has fostered and combined the class legislation that has distinguished the National Banking system, and we have its leaders to thank likewise for the ruinous measures which demonetized silver, contracted the currency and are now seeking the retirement of greenbacks and resumption of specie payment. The National Greenback organization he regards as the result, in the beginning, of the persistent Radical policy which has invariably legislated in the interest of bond-holders, rings, syndicates and money changers. The Radical leaders, conscious of the hopeless wreck of the Republican party, have feigned fellowship with it, and under the specious guise of principles they always opposed, they now hope to infuse elements of disintegration into the Democratic ranks, and, taking advantage thereof, to ride themselves again into power. The professed principles of this National Greenback party, as it is called, being, in the main, the same as those advocated by the Democratic party the past 15 years and such as would be practically enforced as soon as it came into power, he did not see what could be gained by any Democrat leaving his party, nor did he believe many would be tolled off in that direction. In conclusion, he spoke of the Electoral Commission Fraud; stated that he had voted for the creation of that tribunal, but he gloried in having been among those who energetically endeavored to set aside its iniquitous decisions. He believed the repetition of such a fraud impossible, and in regard to the coming Presidential contest he was confident of the success of the Democratic nominee, and that nominee would be seated. Throughout his speech, in which he arraigned in pungent terms the Republican corruptions and mismanagement of the finances since the beginning of the war to the present time, he was listened to quietly and attentively by his audience, and we are confident that, if in the thorough canvass he is about to begin, his views are as forcibly and clearly explained, he will be re-elected by a handsomely increased majority.

Personal.

Col. Jesse Hargrave, of Laurel Hill, late Democratic candidate in that county for the Legislature, and Maj. T. D. Love, of Bladen, both of them Wilmington boys, were in the city to-day.

How to Avoid Disease—Plain Directions.

Thorough ventilation of dwellings is essential to the health of the occupants. Personal cleanliness and cleanliness about dwellings and premises should be most scrupulously observed. A source of danger to health is the decomposition of organic matter in and about our houses. Our cellars, areas, drains, cesspools, should be examined to see that they contain nothing to poison the air about our houses. Privy wells should be kept free from garbage and refuse matter of all kinds, and where they have been neglected, immediate attention should be directed to them. Damp cellars are injurious to health. The atmosphere from them will permeate the house in spite of every effort to prevent it. A remedy should at once be instituted. A common habit exists of daily throwing all waste material, especially kitchen garbage, into the gutters and streets, where it decomposes and vitiates the air; this is an offence alike unjust to ourselves and to our neighbors. When the proper removal of these substances is neglected complaint should at once be made to the health department. For the prevention of disease a good nutritious diet and regular habits of life are indispensable; temperance in all things is to be observed, and avoidance of all excesses is strictly insisted upon. With a view of securing a thorough sanitary condition of the city, information of all nuisance, of whatever character, whether public or private, should be reported without delay to the Board of Health, that immediate action may be taken. Your premises, particularly sleeping apartments and cellars, should be thoroughly ventilated. Keep your houses open, and your windows hoisted during the day in good weather, that they may have the full benefit of sunlight and a free circulation of pure air. Avoid the possibility of exposure to sudden changes of weather at night. Observe strict cleanliness in your person and clothing. Bathe daily, if you have the convenience. If not wash freely with cold water every day. Change your undergarments daily, or as frequently as your circumstances will admit. Be regular in your habits of life, in your morals, meals, exercises and sleep. Be careful to dress comfortably for the season, avoid the night air as much as possible, and when thus exposed put on an extra garment, and do not go into the night air when in a state of perspiration. Be careful to avoid the use of alcoholic drinks. Do not suppose that their use will prevent the occurrence of disease. On the other hand, those who indulge in the custom are always fair subjects for disease, and when attacked the intemperate are particularly in a condition to offer feeble resistance. Live temperately, live regularly, avoid all excesses in eating crude, raw and indigestible food, especially cabbage, salad, cucumbers and unripe fruits. Partake of well cooked beef and mutton, rice, well boiled, and avoid pastry and laxative fruit. Take your meals at regular seasons, neither abstaining too long at a time nor indulging too frequently. An overloaded stomach is as much to be dreaded as an empty one. Avoid bodily fatigue and mental exhaustion. Lead a calm and quiet life. Let all exciting causes be avoided.

The Election Cases.

Messrs. A. J. Grady, Registrar, and James Cowan and E. Shriver, Inspectors of Election in Cape Fear township, were before U. S. Commissioner McQuigg this morning on a warrant sworn out by one Albert Cooper, colored, who charged that the above gentlemen hindered and prevented him from voting on election day. This, it will be remembered, is the second affidavit sworn out by Cooper, the first, charging him with having refused to register him, having fallen to the ground when it was discovered that Cooper's name was actually on the registration book. A hearing was had to-day before Commissioner McQuigg, when the evidence not being deemed sufficient to sustain the charge, the case was ordered dismissed. Justice Grady thereupon swore out a warrant before Justice Harris against Albert Cooper, for perjury. He was examined before Justice Harris this afternoon and ordered to give bond in the sum of $200 for his appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court, in default of which he will be committed to jail.
