Honor to Whom Honor.

Prof. Van Lear rendered invaluable assistance at the concert. He was the musical director, and without him everything would not have passed off so easily and gracefully. We inadvertently omitted in yesterday's issue to render unto him that credit which he so justly deserved and so faithfully won.

That Nomination.

It is said that the Greenback party will make their nomination for Congress next month and when the baby is born it will Wailer a Child until the King stops it, for there will be no Gardner around to interfere. It Wooten surprise us much to see them all Waddell-ing a long after the regular nominee, the gallant Connel, and giving him their hearty support.

The Moccasin.

A lamprey eel and a water moccasin had a fight in the river near Wilmington the other day. The result is not given by the Review, which supposes, however, that the moccasin had injected his deadly poison into the eel, &c. We thought water snakes were not venomous. How is that?—Petersburg Index-Appal.

The Greenbackers.

At the Greenback caucus held on Wednesday evening in the Court House we understand that Capt. P. M. Wooten was elected President vice T. M. Gardner, Esq. There is much significance in this fact, if read aright, and our reading is that the Democrats among the Greenbackers hereabouts will themselves control the destinies of that party hereafter, which isn't a very bad sign, after all. We hope that they will see that it is their true interest to sustain Col. Waddell as they will not find among themselves one who is a better exponent of the most material parts of their own platform than is that gentleman.

Proceeds of the Concert.

The net proceeds of the concert given at the Opera House on Wednesday evening were $186.75. This amount was turned over to Mr. Geo. W. Kidder, who added to it $63.25 collected by him, and the entire amount, $250, has been forwarded by telegraph to the sufferers at Memphis. This makes $1,301.85 which has been forwarded by Mr. Kidder to Memphis during the past two weeks.

The Chatham Record.

This is the title of a very handsome 28 column weekly, published at Pittsboro, Chatham county, by Mr. H. A. London, Jr., Editor and Proprietor. It makes a very creditable appearance and we most cordially compliment Mr. London on this auspicious beginning. It will be ably edited, is sure of a fine circulation, and will prove a tower of strength in the Democratic cause. We prophecy for it a prominent place in the front rank of North Carolina journalism.

Emerson's Minstrels.

Those who are looking for something good at the Opera House to-morrow evening will not be disappointed if the judgment of our exchanges will count with them. The Norfolk Virginian of yesterday's date thus gives its unqualified approval of the Emersonians: Emerson's Minstrels appeared at the Opera House last night to an immense audience. Their exalted reputation had preceded them, and the people of Norfolk, always ready to patronize a good show, turned out en masse and gave them a hearty reception, and truly the performance merited it. It was about the best minstrel entertainment we have seen for many a day, and was universally pronounced by good judges.

Col. Waddell's Address Last Night.

A large audience assembled at the Opera House last night to hear what Hon. A. M. Waddell might have to say relative to the Commercial and Maritime interests of the country at large and Wilmington in particular. The address was delivered in response to a cordial invitation extended to him by the Chamber of Commerce, Produce Exchange and Board of Trade of this city.

A. H. VanBokkelen, Esq., President of the Chamber of Commerce, in a few appropriate remarks presented Col. Waddell to the audience.

The address was an able, though not an exhaustive, review of the commercial and maritime interests of the country, and taken simply as a literary effort it was excellent, but taken as an historical and statistical exposition of the condition, past and present, of our commerce and marine, it is invaluable. The accomplished and graceful oratory of Col. Waddell gave force and interest to the address.

The discussion was mainly devoted to our foreign commerce, and the condition of our merchant marine, with only a brief notice of commercial relations as existing between the several States. He very justly deprecated the policy of depending so largely upon a foreign merchant marine to do our immense carrying business, by which our shipbuilding interest had become stagnated and large amounts of money which should go to add to the support and prosperity of our own people had been diverted into foreign channels. He attributed the decadence of the interests of American shipbuilders to the substitution of iron steamers for sailing vessels. He also devoted a considerable portion of his time to the proposed steamship lines to Brazil, concerning which he gave some very interesting facts and figures, and which he declared was an attempt to give government aid to build up the commerce of the country—to open new avenues for it—to get back again our proportion of the carrying trade of the world, and to erect again our prostrate industries, and added that he had reason to believe that the establishment of these lines would largely add to the prosperity of this city and State.

Col. Waddell concluded by assuring the audience—especially the business portion of it—that he would at all times gladly receive any suggestions which might conduce to the prosperity of the city in matters pertaining to the commercial welfare of the country, upon which it might be his duty to vote.

We understand that the address will be printed in pamphlet form, and we hope every one will secure a copy and give it a thorough and careful perusal. Col. Waddell has evidently bestowed much study and research upon the subject he so ably discussed last night, and, for those who were prevented from hearing him, a perusal of the address will be both interesting and beneficial.

First of the Season.

The first oysters of the season are on John Carroll's counter, at the Cosmopolitan, to-day. They are from Stump Sound. Mr. Carroll expects the first installment of the celebrated New River Winberry oysters next Tuesday and if he gets them will let everybody know it through the columns of the REVIEW.

City Court.

Before the Mayor this morning a sea captain, charged with disorderly conduct, was fined $20 and costs.

John Adams, charged with forcible trespass, was urgently requested to leave the city to-day by 12 o'clock which, under circumstances, he agreed to do.

Hanson Hayes, colored, drunk, disorderly and resisting the police, was fined $20 and costs or in default of payment thereof, ordered confined for 30 days in the city prison.

Charles Harper, colored, found sleeping on the street in a dry goods box, was ordered discharged.

What Came of It.

He is an excellent gentleman and so clever that everybody likes him. He was passing this office when we (the Editor) mistaking him for some else, ran out and collared him and gave him one straight out from the shoulder. He raised his hand, first on the defensive and afterwards on the offensive, and struck a powerful blow and woke his little boy who was sleeping with him and on whose head the blow fell. He dazed it all, we are happy to say, and he told us about it this morning. We shook hands over the bloody chasm and the Editor agreed that he would as soon think of striking his grandfather as his venerable friend.

The registry fee is ten cents on each package. The postage remains the same. Until now only first-class matter could be registered. Many packages of third class matter are lost in transmission. The payment of this fee insures safety. The packages must still be left so that they can be readily examined. The new plan will prove a great benefit to merchants and others.

The most excellent attributes to the success of a first-class hotel are courteous, treatment a well-appointed cuisine, and well-furnished rooms. You can find all these at the Colonnade Hotel in Philadelphia.
