SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1878

FOR CONGRESS:

ALFRED M. WADDELL OF NEW HANOVER.

VIEWES AND REVIEWS.

Mr. W. H. H. Lee, Clerk of the Canadian Privy Council, has just died. He entered the Canadian Civil Service May 25, 1821.

At a very low estimate there are at least 3,500 incendiary policy-holders annually in this country, who burn up $5,500,000 worth of property every year.

Queen Victoria is to visit the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh, at Coburg, during the present month, when the Crown Prince and Princess of Germany will also be there.

If a mother at Lafayette, Ind., spans her baby "in a rude, insolent or angry manner," she is liable to prosecution for assault and battery. So a town court has decided.

Mr. Tilden is still at Saratoga, and as fond as ever of taking an airing on horseback. He often walks three or four miles a day, and is said to carry a pedometer in his pocket to measure the distance he has traversed.

Professor Watson declares that at the recent eclipse he found two intra-mercurial planets, the second one being larger than Vulcan, and its position 8 degrees 9 minutes 24 seconds right ascension, and declination 18 degrees 3 minutes north.

A temperance lecturer in Iowa figures out the result of the summer's blue-ribbon campaign at 223,000 conversions to the cause of temperance made and over twenty miles of blue ribbon consumed. If these statistics are correct, one-quarter of the saloons must have had their business ruined, and the average length of an Iowa blue ribbon is about six inches.

Near Salem, Or., recently, a team hitched to a self-binding machine ran off, taking its way through a standing field of wheat containing about one hundred acres. Strange to say the machine kept together, and bound every bundle that came to it with lightning rapidity. When the team was stopped, it had nicely bound about one hundred and fifty bundles, but the swathe was crookeder than a cork-screw.

Mr. Shiel, M. P. for Athlone, and son of the famous Irish orator, spoke twice during the recent session. On the first occasion he said, "Mr. Speaker, sir, if I am in order, I beg to move the adjournment of the debate." On the second, he observed, "Mr. Speaker, sir, I beg to withdraw my amendment for the adjournment of the debate."

One of the characters at Saratoga this season is the rich Mrs. Thompson, who has an income of $55,000 from a fortune of about a million dollars, and who never accepts more than five per cent. on her investments. Mrs. Thompson gives to the extent of self-denial. Her personal expenses, exclusive of the actual necessities of life, do not exceed $250 per annum, yet she gives away all of her large income and sometimes pawn her jewelry to raise money for some object of charity, redeeming it when she receives the next installment of interest.

"A Sewing Girl" has had an exposition of pious come upon her, and has written to the Chicago Tribune describing the spurs that humble virtue of the Lothario takes. In reply to an invitation to sell herself for his "pretended coarseness, and some of his worthless gold," she says:

But my feeling are greedier too tender and my ambition greedier too high to live in such foul splendor instead of leading an honest life

I would sooner be imbraced by the ocean To float away with its going tide than to lead a life so disgraceful and my face from have, to hide

Be my station ever so humble and my income ever so small and whatever grandeur this world might offer a pure soul is better than all.

A New York State dairyman gives his method of treating cows as follows: The cows are generally driven to the barn each night and morning, if they do not, as is usually the case, come of their own accord when they take their places in the stable, each in its own particular stanchion, with mathematical precision. No dog, no worry, is permitted; and the milking is done quietly and orderly, with no loud talking, no sudden and startling noises. There is no patting of the cows on the back with the stool, no persuading with the toe of the boot, no coaxing at the top of the voice. They are made to 'give down' by generous feeding and gentle treatment, and the principle of kindness is illustrated by the depth of the cream on their milk.

THE ENGLISH COTTON TRADE:

The Liverpool Post of the 22d ult. has a rather gloomy article on the prospects of the cotton trade in England this Fall. It asserts that the margin between raw cotton and manufactured goods has been very greatly reduced, it being now 11 pence per pound less than the average of the years from 1873 to 1876. We give an extract from the article:

It is a long time since cotton was in so strong a position statistically as it is today; but it is a still longer time since the state of trade in Manchester was so bad as it is now. Of late, these two influences have about neutralized each other, especially as it was thought that the earliness of the American crop would bring speedy relief; but the movement of the new crop is slower than was anticipated, and the opinion is beginning to be entertained that the autumn pinch will be as severe as the most sanguine bull ever predicted. Undoubtedly the figures look very strong and it is very certain that spinners will have to diminish their rate of consumption. But the general belief is that the necessary reduction in consumption will not be brought about until prices have undergone a further advance—say, at least, to 7d. for middling. If a further rise is necessary, the sooner it comes about the better, for the simple reason that a high range of values during the earlier months of the season would be fatal to the prosperity of business next year. How useful it is that the production of yarns and goods should be cut down, is shown clearly enough by an examination of the comparative prices of the raw material and the manufactured article.

BOSTON EDUCATIONAL NOTES.

The Baltimore Sun says a complete revolution has been introduced this year in the primary departments of the Boston public schools by the substitution of oral exercises and object lessons by the teacher for books. There will be an exercise called "language," which means English, and which is intended to train the scholars to express in their own words what they really know. The spelling and grammar books are abolished (this is in the primary section) and correct reading takes the place of both. The spelling lesson is never so valuable as when it is a written drill, as spelling comes by the eye quite as much as correct grammatical speech is properly taught to young children by the ear alone.

Much of the time heretofore given to geography and the constant exercises in boundaries and capitals is to be spent in natural philosophy and physiology. Instead of parsing there will be written exercises in composition, in letter-writing and the arrangement of work, which may be made of great interest to the class, if they are called on to criticize black-board work. From May to November plants will be studied by the little folks, from November to May animals, trades, occupations, common phenomena, mythological and biographical stories, metals and minerals, by means of these teachers' talks. The changes in the upper school of Boston include the study of physiology, which is of prime necessity to every growing girl and boy, and may keep them from ignorant neglect or violation of the healthful laws that govern them.

SOME CAUSES OF HARD TIMES.

Says the Raleigh Observer: The public debt at its highest point was $3,000,000,000. It is now about $2,000,000,000, having been reduced $1,000,000,000 in thirteen years. This reduction commenced when the country was exceptionally prosperous, and has continued until widespread business prostration has been forced upon the country. In addition to this enormous reduction of the debt, it has been officially stated that Radical officials stole from the revenues of the country annually, for thirteen years, $100,000,000, aggregating the sum of $1,300,000,000. In addition to this the people have been bled since 1865, fourteen years, to the extent of $1,612,367,936 for interest, and for the net ordinary expenses of the Government for the same period the amount reached $5,641,648,227, as shown by official figures compiled at the Treasury Department, and heretofore printed in the Observer. In fourteen years therefore, $7,641,648,227 have been drawn from the pockets of the tax-paying people. The statement fully accounts for hard times, business and financial depression.

During ten years of Democratic rule ending June 30, 1861, the net average annual expenditures for ordinary Government purposes were $57,287,226.05. During ten years of Radical rule ending June 30, 1876, the annual expenditures for the same purpose were $150,672,614.11—nearly three as great. The cost per capita in the Democratic ten years was $18.26; in the Radical ten years $39.56. These sums have nothing to do with any expenditures resulting from the war. They are simply ordinary expenditures. I this item alone, it is plain that Radicalism has wasted $1,000,000,000 of the people's hard-earned money.

And what has the country got in return for all this? Simply business death, prostration of industries, an army of tramps, an amount of idleness, poverty, hunger and crime, the contemplation of which is appalling.

As the Indianapolis Sentinel says: "The entire history of the Radical party since it obtained control of the government is a record of abominations, and the ruin that has followed its cursed march attests the truth of the declaration. We are now told that interest is reduced, that the public debt is down to $2,000,000,000, that greenbacks are at par, and that the balance of trade is in our favor. And these things are held up as a compensation for the tidal wave of bankruptcy that has swept over the country and which up to July 1, 1878, had wrecked about 70,000 business firms representing liabilities amounting to $1,639,474,443. During the same period it is estimated that the shrinkage in the value of property through the country has reached fully 40 per cent. or about $8,000,000,000. To help on the cursed work the Radical party commenced contracting the currency in 1866 '67, and up to July 1st 1878, had managed to withdraw from circulation, as shown by Radical authority, $1,109,565,471. In summing up what the country has received as a result of Radical management of fiscal affairs, the account would stand about as follows:

Table with financial data: Public debt paid, Radical stealings for 13 years, Shrinking value, etc.

Total, $11,904,519,320. Here then, to pay off $1,000,000,000 of public debt and get greenbacks to par with gold, the country is out of pocket $11,904,519,320, with an interest-bearing debt remaining of $41.67 per capita of the entire population. Such a showing is enough to damn any party, and we are glad to believe the Radical monstrosity is doomed."

In 1795 a "Political Dictionary," by Charles Pigott, an English Democrat who compared George III. to "a German hog-butcher," was published. Among the definitions are the following: "Abuse—The differer governments of Europe." "Adam—The only man of his time, a true sans culotte and the first revolutionist." "Aristocrat—A fool or scoundrel, generally both; a monster of rapacity and an enemy of mankind." "Drunkenness—Messrs. Pitt and Dundas, when so intoxicated with liquor as not to be able to articulate their words, engaging a vast majority in the House of Commons to precipitate their country into a war with France; the festivities of Brighton, Holwood, Wimbledon, Gordon House, Downing Street, the Duke of Norfolk drinking common gin with the Royal Sovereign at her lodgings in Strand Lane."

There was a big fire in Huntington Mass., and Alfred Wells refused to have the goods removed from his store, believing that the risk of thieves was greater than the flames. So the stuff was burned. The insurance company refused to pay, because the policy required Wells to use all possible means to save the property. Wells holds that he did what seemed best for that purpose. The question is to be tried in court.

Prompt Reform of Bodily Evils.

The prompt reform of those bodily evils, enfeebled digestion, incomplete assimilation, inactivity of the liver, kidneys and bladder, as well as of the nervous symptoms which these ailments are especially prone to beget, is always accomplished by the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine accredited by physicians, pronounced pure by analysts, and eminently wholesome and agreeable. Surely such a restorative is preferable to unpalatable and indigestible mineral drugs and unanctioned nostrums. The nation at large assuredly thinks so, judging by the unprecedented demand for the article from Maine to the Pacific, a demand now supplemented by immense orders for it received from tropical America, Mexico, the British and Spanish Colonial possessions, and elsewhere. Both at home and abroad it is recognized as a standard remedy and preventive, the decisiveness of its effects recommending it everywhere.

Female School FOR Young Ladies and Children. Misses Burr & James, Principals. Mrs. M. S. Cushing, Musical Instructress. THE FOURTEENTH Annual Session of this school will commence on Thursday, October 3d, at the School House on Market Street in the rear of St. James' Church. After long experience in the art of training the young, and careful study of the work, the Principals believe that they offer superior advantages for a refined education, at very moderate charges. Young children judiciously taught. Object teaching with daily textbook instruction a specialty, and while the inquisitive mind of childhood is amused with designing, modelling, &c., after the kindergarten system, it is also taught "the reason why," the nature and origin of things seen and used in daily life; thus learning becomes pleasure instead of toil. Musical School under the direction of Mrs. M. S. Cushing, who has had long and successful experience in that science. Drawing, Painting in Oil or Water Colors, at moderate rates. Languages at Professor's charges. For further particulars see Principals or Circars. sept 10
