Just 1,219 bales of cotton received here to-day.

Four interments in Pine Forest Cemetery this week—all children.
One adult and two children interred in Oakdale Cemetery this week.
No interments in Bellevue Cemetery during the week ending to-day.
To-morrow is known in the calendar as the Sixteenth Sunday after Trinity.

Bishop Atkinson will conduct the services at St. John's to-morrow, both morning and afternoon.
Only one marriage license issued by the Register of Deeds during the week, and that to a colored couple.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Aldermen will not take place on Monday next, as previously announced, but will convene on Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. So says the Mayor.

Mr. Dan Quinlivan has removed to Second street, just North of Princess, where he has had a nice shop fitted up and where he will be pleased to meet all who wish work done in his line.

Messrs. Zimmerman & White advertise something which housekeepers should look into. It is a paper prepared expressly for being placed under carpets; it keeps down the dust, deadens the sound of the footsteps and is withal cheap and durable.

And again we have no City Court to report. What's the matter with Paddy's Hollow, the Long House, Thompson's Alley and the other classic precincts in the city? Have Moody and Sankey been around? Or has the Jersey lightning that has been the principal factor in the turmoil of these places, acted like the terrible plague in our poor fever stricken country and consumed all the victims?

The Police at the Opera House.
The police maintained better order down stairs among the boys last night at the Opera House than has been noticeable for a long time, though there is still room for improvement among those screech owl imitators, bench pounders, and bludgeon applauders. The attendants in the colored gallery we noticed were very badly behaved last night and we trust that two or three Knights of the Star will be on hand there to-night to regulate matters.

Court Next Week.
Criminal Court, His Honor Judge Meares presiding, convenes in this city on Monday next the 7th inst. at 10 o'clock.
We learn from Major John W. Durham, Clerk of the Court that there are 52 cases on the docket to be tried, and of that number four are for larceny, one for burglary, two for forgery and ten for embezzlement. The balance of the docket is made up of assault and battery cases, trading without licenses, trespassing, peace warrants and Sci Fas.

On Fungi.
At the regular meeting of the Historical and Scientific Society, to be held on Monday evening next, Dr. Thos. F. Wood will read a very interesting paper on "Fungi" which has been prepared by him especially for that reading. Dr. Wood's well-known ability and the care and research which he has displayed in all such matters entitle him to a large and appreciative audience. Ladies and gentlemen who desire to hear him on this occasion may obtain cards of admission by early application to Rev. G. D. Bernheim, D. D., President of the Society.

The Law of Cause and Effect.
Is immutable. You don't need to go to metaphysics for it. Try Doolley's Yeast Powder, and if after luxuriating in the superb results you ever use any other afterwards, you may repeat with Shakespeare's Dogberry, "Write me down an ass."

Capt. Sam. Vick.
Notwithstanding recent misfortunes, Capt. S. W. Vick, with his own indomitable energy, has again established himself in business in this city as a commission merchant. He has taken an office on North Water street, two doors above Chestnut, where he will be glad to see new friends, as well as old ones, promising a close personal attention to all business entrusted to his care.

Shooting a Prisoner.
A gentleman who arrived here this morning from South Carolina tells us of a bloody affair which occurred at Sumter yesterday morning. On Thursday night, at Timmonsville, an escaped penitentiary convict was captured and was taken to Sumter on the train in charge of his colored guards to be put in jail. Arriving at Sumter yesterday morning, the prisoner, who was heavily ironed, was taken from the car and the party had not proceeded far on their way up town when the prisoner resisted. His guards wanted him to go one way and he wanted to go another, so it is said, whereupon one of the men stepped back three or four paces, drew a pistol and shot the poor devil three times, in the abdomen, the thigh and the neck. At 12 o'clock last night the man was still alive, but the doctors said he could not possibly live. The parties were all colored. No arrests.

Can't the Washington Republican work up a first-class Southern outrage item out of this?

The Buffalo Bill Troupe and the Performance Last Night.
Quite a large and enthusiastic audience assembled at the Opera House last night to witness the performance of the thrilling sensational drama of May Cody, by the "Buffalo Bill" troupe.

The play, which is a drama in four acts, is one continuation of thrilling scenes and events (some of which are historic) from the first opening which is located in the drawing room of a Fifth avenue mansion in New York City to the closing scene on the frontier among the rugged rocky cliffs and deep canyons of the Rocky Mountains.

William F. Cody, or Buffalo Bill, the hero of the play, sustained his part in such a perfectly natural way that one could imagine he was really witnessing scenes and events of actual occurrence, and if we are informed correctly Buffalo Bill is not only a hero in a sensational drama on the stage, but is a hero in real life, having distinguished himself in the Indian wars on the frontier and rendered valuable service to the government.

Of the other characters we thought Mr. W. F. Carroll, as Darby McCune, Mrs. W. G. Jones as Mrs. Staughton, and H. J. Holmes as Brigham Young among the best. Miss Lydia Denier, as May Cody, sustained her part as well as possible as could be done, it being a rather difficult role to assume.

At the close of the play Buffalo Bill gave a wonderful exhibition of his skill as a marksman in handling the rifle, firing from different positions and finally taking aim at the object by reflection in a looking-glass, never failing to make a centre shot. The Indians also gave an exhibition of some of their manners and customs in camp.

The company give one more performance here to-night, and those who are anxious to pass a pleasant evening free from dull care and enjoy a laugh occasionally we advise to go.

Fay Templeton Star Alliance.
We again call attention to the advertisement elsewhere announcing that this brilliant company, composed of the fairy star, Fay Templeton, and fifteen selected artists, will appear at our Opera House on Monday evening next, on which occasion will be produced, with new wardrobes, scenery and effects, the society sensation, in four acts, "Lost Love, or Good-Bye Sweetheart." The entertainment will conclude with the latest and greatest comic opera sketches with baritone of Parepa Company.

A scale of popular prices has been arranged and reserved seats can be secured at the box-office.
The Alliance is thus spoken of by the Cincinnati Press, the article having been written for that paper by one of the best theatrical critics in the country:

Lost Love last evening was very attractive and successful, and it is so good a play that it gives pleasure in its success as well as in itself. The scenery that frames it is worthy of the sweet sentiments and gentle refinement that pervades the piece. It is one of the most delicious and charming works that have grown out of the finest intellectual influence of modern fiction, the genius of Rhoda Broughton. It was under the spell of that marvelous analyst the author found his mental groove and developed his resources of invention and sentiment.

Lost Love is a beautiful love story, and it is put charmingly upon the stage; the cast is judicious and quite satisfactory. Alice Vane was a fine type of a refined nature and kindly breeding, with a sarcastic streak of disbelief in matrimony. She made her way deep into the sympathies of her audience. Her acting of her role was artistic and dramatic triumph. The mental agonies and the sufferings of disease she depicted with touching power, and her step, her eye, her voice, obeying her genuine dramatic instinct, moved to its unaffected and temperate power. There are no uneventful points in her performance; she never loses her perfect command of every situation. She certainly creates a new atmosphere throughout the whole play, refining it from the coarse realities of Paris into the pure etherealities of the fabled Arcadia.

The pleasure of the audience showed that many more representations of this play may be expected. It does not come often and it can not stay too long. Miss Fay Templeton, as usual, was charming in her opera sketches and really captivated the hearts of her admirers by her chaste and delightful singing. We strongly recommend this company to all admirers of the legitimate drama.

Brunswick Court Closed.
The October term of the Superior Court for Brunswick county adjourned this morning and Judge and jury, lawyers and witnesses, all departed for their several homes. His Honor Judge Buxton and wife, together with several of the members of the Wilmington Bar, arrived here on the Passport about 2 o'clock, just in time for the Judge and his good lady to take the steamer D. Murchison for Elizabethtown, where court convenes on Monday.

Judge Buxton having decided adversely to the claim of the Republican petitioners in the mandamus case, the petitioners, through their counsel, Judge Russell, prayed an appeal to the Supreme Court, which was granted, and the case will probably be argued at the January term of that court.

First National.
The First National Bank of this city, is very busy to-day, in addition to the regular routine of business, in removing into their new quarters, at the old Bank of Cape Fear building, which has been fitted up in the regular modern banking office style, where they expect to open business on Monday.

P. S. We haven't heard yet whether its Burgundy, Piper, Heidsick, or Green Seal with which the new place is to be christened.
