Judge Russell Last Night.

Ex-Judge Russell, the self nominated candidate for Greenback aid, countenance and support, in this Congressional race, held forth last night to a heterogenous crowd in front of the Market House. Probably two-thirds of the "House" were Democrats, drawn thither to hear the distinguished Ex-Judge tell what part of his anatomy he lighted on when he first struch terra firma after his recent big somersault. He didnt hit on his head. Of the remaining third it is claimed, most confidently, that four-fifths were of the Canaday faction. The intelligent reader will please call in his mental arrithmetic to his aid to find out how many Russellites were present on the occasion.

We were not "thar" (we took in three hours at Burgaw on Monday and have'nt tully recuperated but we understand that the distinguished (soon to be extinguished) Judge's address was not near so violent as that delivered by him at Burgaw on Monday; in fact, he did'nt secede over again last night from the "Publican Party," as he did on Monday, a result, perhaps, of several wise afterthoughts,

But Judge Russell did nt speak three hours this time, as there were others on the same side of the fence who wished to be heard also, two of whom paid their respects to the REVIEW after a fashion peculiarly their own and which has by Lo means ruffled the habitual placidity of the editor thereof. Col. Waddell was highly complimented, one speaker asserting that if any friend of that gentleman was present who desired to reply to the speakers, he would be heard on a "former Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, been enlarged for the reception of his mambronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for pervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has telt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers Block, Rochester, New York. oct 3-4w

'It is very safe to say that the most fashotel, Philadelphia, Pa., dissatisfied with goods centres of the city, because the pulled from her fingers and eight dollars tidious guest never leaves the Colonnade

Narrow Escape.

Mr. Wm. M Hays, Sr., had a narrow escape from death last night while standing on Market street, near the corner of Front, listening to Judge Russell's speech. A window blind became detached from the second story and in falling struck him on the head, producing a serious, but we are pleased to learn not a dangerous, wound. Friends accompanied him to Dr. Wood's office where the necessary attendance was promptly rendered.

Places of Business Found Open.

Two stores on Front and one business house on North Water street were found open by policemen on those beats last night about 9 or 10 o'clock. Our merchants should exercise a little more care in closing up their stores and offices, as it is getting rather a common thing latterly It is about the time of the year for the for the policemen to discover the doors and windows of business places open after pelled to leave his beat and notify the parties interested. In the meantime some act of burglary or robbery may be committed and then some cautious property owner suffers from the negligance of Opera House.

Puck, a Day Dream, like most extravaganzas is plotless and meaningless, but was put on the stage at the Opera House last evening by the Star Alliance in fine style and with good stage effect. The costumes of the performance were really handsome, which added much to the general effect. Miss Fay Templeton acted the title role and sustained her well won reputation in an admirable manner.

in comedy. Mr. Templeton and Mr. Fuller in comedy are fine and the entire company sustained their reputation. Should they ever visit Wilmington again they will undoubtedly draw immense house.

City Court.

A colored individual who was drunk and disorderly and disturbing the meeting last night while the distinguished ex-Judge, late of the Radical party, was addressing them in front of Market House was fined $250, or five days in the City Prison.

Richard Martin, colored, an old offender, and a frequent attendant at the Mayor's Court, was released upon payment of costs, His Honor remarking that notified by the parties who found the reif the defendant had not been represented by counsel he' would have given him about fifteen days in the City Prison. (We were a little mystified by this remark and confess to its being rather incomprehensible to us. If the man deserved the fifteen days imprisonment he ought to have received the sentence counsel or no counsel.-Reporter.)

Awhite man who was arrested for being drunk and down, was reported by the Chief to be still in the clutches of King Alcohol, and unable to appear in Court. Case continued until to-morrow. The Court then adjourned.

A Fashionable Resort.

For some time it was thought that the foot-bridge which spans the railroad cut on Fourth street was the sole cause of so many of the ladies of the central and southern portion of the city visiting Brooklyn, but such was not the case. Instinct leads them to the dry goods emporium of ton was the brotherin pursuit of his sister's large and well-selected stock of goods, from Columbus left here this morning containing everything that is wanted, and which are being sold at a reduction of at least twenty-five per cent. on the prices of the same goods in some other

Mr. Hahn has recently returned from his goods at a mere song and is selling them here at prices which surprise and please everyone. His store has recently moth stock. He is selling yard wide shirting (standard brands) at 9 cents Lonsdale shirting, at 9 cents; canton flannel, at 7 cents; alpacas, from 20 cents up; corsets at 45 cents, and the prettiest lines of Hamburg edgings from 4 cents up.

Each day at his store looks like a grand opening. As for table damask, blankets flannel, water-proot, ladies' merino underwear, and ladies' striped and evening hose, there is not a finer or cheaper stock in the State. His shoe department contains the goods of the best makers, and are selling at prices which will not fail to please. Mr. Hahn's emporium is now one of the dry prices tell and the people tell the prices.

MURDER MOST FOUL.

Arrest of an Alleged Murderer in this city-The Party Supposed to be the Seducer and Murderer of a Young Woman in Georgia and her Brother also who was Supposed to be ion the Murderer's Trail.

About 3 o'clock this morning Mr. Thomas O. Bunting, a peace officer in this city,armed with a warrant issued by Justice George B. Robeson, of Ransom township, Columbus county, which was endorsed by Justice Harriss of this city, don, as Assistant Marshals, was formed, proceeded to the residence of Mr. Veney and headed by the Wilmington Cornet near the corner of Thirteenth and Market | Concert Club, marched from the Howard streets, and arrested one George Littleton, Relief Hall, up Fourth to Nun street. charged with the murder of a man in down Nun to Front, up Front to Market Columbus county of the township above named on or about the 1st of October, Fourth to Walnut street, down Walnut and supposed to be J. Shortly after the occurrence above mentioned, George Littleton, the party who We hoped to see Miss Alice Vane in | was arrested here by Mr. Bunting this tragedy but she is by no means deficient | morning, appeared in Columbus county at the residence of his brother, Maxwell Littleton. And shortly thereafter in the interval of a few days perhaps, a well dressed looking stranger stepped off the cars at Brinkley's on the W. C. &. A. R. R. and inquired the way and the distance to Littleton's house.

Now the scene changes again and about the 1st of October or shortly thereafter parties in that section of country were attracted to a spot in the woods by seeing a number of buzzards hovering near a certain spot, and upon examination, found the body of a man, stripped of clothing buried short distance below the surface of the ground and, shortly after this event George Littleton it seems, again disappeared. The coroner was immediately mains: In the meantime a warrant for the arrest of George Littleton was issued by Geo. B. Robeson, Esq., of Columbus, and summoning two men to assist him in the arrest he started for this city arriving here last night by the Carolina Central train, when they immediately communicated with the officers already mentioned and with the result above

In Littleton's possession was found a valise containing clothing marked J. T. Randall, also an overcoat with the initials J. T. R., besides numerous letters, supposed from the tenor of the same to be from Randall's flance. A pistol was also found in the possession of Max Littleton, the brother in Columbus, which when shown to George Littleton, he identified as Randall's pistol. From the link of circumstances connecting the two murders it is thought that the murdered girl was a sister of the recently murdered man, and that the last unfortunate victim of Little-Mr. Julius Hahn, where they find a murderer and seducer.
