We are promised cooler weather this evening.

Good boating water in the river now between this city and Fayetteville.

A postage stamp is just big enough to borrow, but too small to pay back.

Receipts of cotton to-day 1,424 bales—the biggest day of the season, thus far.

Ostrich feathers will be more used the coming winter than they have for years past.

Heaven seems almost in sight to a young lady who is enjoying her first serenade.

It is not polite to bite corn from the cob in the presence of people who have false teeth.

Happiness grows at our own firesides and is not to be picked up in the stranger's garden.

Out West they eat raw eggs with vinegar, pepper and salt, and call them prairie oysters.

The Signal Office at this station has a new storm flag up to-day. Not a new signal, but a new flag.

Health Officer Francis M. James sent 1,200 pounds of spoiled meat out of the city this morning from a store on South Water Street.

We were pleased to receive a fraternal call to-day from our new neighbor, Mr. Wade H. Harris, late of the Concord Sun, but next week to be local editor of the Wilmington Sun.

By notice elsewhere it will be seen that the Wilmington Sun will make its first appearance on next Tuesday morning, the delay having been caused by the non-arrival of material when expected.

Thanks to Mrs. Elizabeth Warren, of Second street, between Dock and Market, for some very nice sausages of her own manufacture, the finest we have had this season. After a trial we pronounce them as good as the best.

Some Potatoes.

We saw this morning, at the store of Mr. J. Herbert Petteway, on North Water street, some very fine specimens of the yam potato, which were raised by Mr. J. T. Petteway at the old Dr. Wright place, on Wrightsville Sound. One of these potatoes weighed three pounds, and it wouldn't take many, at this rate, to fill a bushel measure.

The Thalian Amateurs.

We would again remind our readers of the performance to be given at Tileston School House, this evening, by the Thalian Amateurs. They have made every preparation for its proper production and we can assure all who may attend that the entertainment will prove a pleasant one. The admission is only 25 cents for adults, and the proceeds are for a worthy object. Give them a good house.

City Court.

W. H. Howe, colored, was arrested last night by Officer McMillan in Paddy's Hollow for disorderly conduct, but gave bond for his appearance at court to-day. Upon being arraigned before the Mayor this morning on the above charge, the defendant pleaded guilty and stated that he was acting in the capacity of a United States officer on business for the government at the time of his arrest.

The prosecuting witness stated that he made the arrest at the request of Edward Bryson, the proprietor of the house where Howe was at the time of his arrest acting disorderly.

The Mayor ordered that the defendant pay a fine of ten dollars.

"My dear," said Mr. S—to his blooming helpmeet, "I must congratulate you on your recent improvement in cakes, biscuit, bread, rolls, every kind of pastry in short." "Oh!" said the wife, "I've solved the secret by using the greatest thing in the market for baking—DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER. Henceforth my kitchen knows no other."

The State Fair.

The Fair at Raleigh this year has been very successful both in the way of exhibits and in the numbers in attendance. Wilmington sent up a good delegation, but this section of the State is very lightly represented among the exhibitor. We find in the columns of the Observer, which publishes a very full report that Miss Kate Sprunt of this city, exhibits some exceedingly creditable crayon sketches; that Miss Josie Myers, daughter of Capt. C. D. Myers, from St. Mary's, exhibited beautiful specimens of penmanship, and that Misses Burr & James' school make a very handsome display; and these are all of the names we see from this section in the list of exhibitors. Speaking of this latter the Raleigh Observer says:

Miss James, of Misses Burr & James' school, Wilmington, makes a very handsome display, indeed, and especially is this so when it is considered that the school had only about ten days' time in which to prepare. The crayon sketches are particularly fine. The simple beauty of "Simply to Thy Cross I Cling," an original design, is touching. Among other things are on paintings on Easter eggs; they are unique, indeed. The oil paintings exhibit a high order of merit. In the kindergarten branch some very pretty models in clay, made by the little pupils, are shown. Considering the shortness of the time allowed for preparation, the display is even more than creditable.

Wednesday was a grand day as it was on that day that the military parade and review was had. We copy here the remarks of the Observer:

The review of the North Carolina State Guard at the Fair Grounds yesterday, by Gov. Vance, was one of the most brilliant military displays ever seen in the State. The troops at Camp Anderson were drawn up at an early hour, and after drilling and maneuvering on their drill ground for some time, finally took up their line of march for the Fair Ground. Thousands of people from all parts of the State had gathered to witness the pageant, and long before the hour of their coming had arrived hundreds of anxious eyes were turned in the direction of the camp. About 12:30 the head of the column entered the East gate of the Fair Grounds in the following order, viz: Adjutant General Johnstone Jones and staff with Brigadier General B. C. Manly, commanding Division, with his staff, followed by the 1st Brigade under command of Col. R. D. Hancock, of the 1st Regiment, the 1st Regiment under command of Col. Cotton; following closely came the 2d Brigade, under command of Brig. Gen. M. P. Taylor, the 2d Regiment being under command of Colonel Alexander. Headed by the splendid Raleigh Light Infantry band, the troops marched across the plain where that beautifully drilled company, the Bingham Cadets, had already preceded them, until the whole column was fairly on the parade, when they were halted, arms were stacked, and the men allowed to rest for an hour or more before being inspected. At 2 p. m. the line was reformed and the ceremonies of the review began. Gov. Vance, followed by Cols. A. B. Andrews and J. N. Staples of his staff, with Gen. Jones and staff, rode on the parade, taking position in front of the line. Brig. Gen. Manly took command, as was presented and the whole division, in the following order, wheeled into column of platoons and marched past in review: First came the 1st Brigade, Col. R. D. Hancock commanding, followed by the Bingham Cadets, Major Robert Bingham commanding; the rear being brought up by the 2d brigade, Brig. Gen. M. P. Taylor commanding. The marching of the troops was excellent, and their steadiness under arms and fine soldiery bearing caused universal admiration, and more than ever, we hope, convinced our people of what a splendid body of men the State Guard is composed, and the necessity as well as eminent propriety of their being fostered and encouraged to the utmost, and we sincerely hope that, if necessary, legislative steps may be taken to more thoroughly perfect their organization and equipment.

The various salutes and signal guns were fired by a section of the battery of the Raleigh Light Artillery, which, under the command of Lieut. Russ, was most excellently served.

The contest in shooting at glass balls on Wednesday was a very spirited one. In the first match, for a $25 hunting suit, there were ten entries and 12 balls shot at. Mr. John Creech broke 12 balls out of 12, and so won the suit. Mr. E. B. Engelhard, second best shot, having broken 11 balls out of 12.

In the second contest, which was for a $100 Remington gun, there were 14 entries and 16 balls shot at. Messrs. Creech and Engelhard tied, each having broken 15 out of 16, and in the after contest between these two, Mr. Creech broke 8 balls out of 5, and Mr. Engelhard 5 out of 5, Mr. Engelhard thereby winning the gun.

The report of the Grand Jury of the last term of the Criminal Court will be found on the fourth page of this issue.

The company in which you will improve the most will be the least expensive to you.

For Our Lady Readers.

Ribbons with graduated stripes of another color are among the latest importations in millinery goods.

One of the new shades in fancy pushes to be used this winter for hats and bonnets is called "gramoise."

A new design for a fruit dish is a large hand-painted porcelain dish, supported by a high silver standard.

Scarf drapery on the skirts of dresses has been supplanted, in a great measure, by the tablier effect of two years ago.

The deep Russian lace collars and cuffs are still worn. Some of them are deep enough to reach the bottom of the waist.

Evening bonnets, composed entirely of ostrich feathers on a transparent frame, are among the novelties in millinery.

Black will remain in favor this winter, despite the attempts which have been made to displace it in favor of bright colors.

The majority of imported dresses are short for the street. No lady's wardrobe is now complete without a short walking dress.

The plaited and blouse waists worn this Summer will be continued this Winter, but will be much longer. Waists of all kinds are made very long.

Nearly all the new colors this season take their names from precious stones. For instance, there is garnet, ruby, topaz, emerald, amethyst, etc.

The London Times warns ladies against wearing green gloves, lest they be poisoned by the coloring matter. Cases of poisoning have occurred by their use.

Hand-painted buttons are a novelty. Ladies industriously inclined buy the plain flat buttons and paint them to suit the costume for which they are intended.

Late models have the cuirasse-basque waist, opened in front, to display a vest of the pronounce material appearing to the depth of four or five inches below the basque, giving the effect of the veritable deep, full-skirted vest of the Louis XIV. period.

The new woollen cloths are very different in their thick, soft, furry texture, which yet has scarcely perceptible weight, to the fine, solid, smooth and unresisting fabrics of some years ago. There is comfort in the very feeling of the former; there is hardness, almost like steel, in the contact of the latter.

It is the custom in France for the bridegroom to present the bride with three dresses—a visiting dress, a travelling dress and a reception dress. According to existing fashions, the visiting dress is usually of faille or faille and cashmere; the reception dress of Indian cashmere, and the travelling dress of the same material, only of a coarser texture.

Costumes for house wear, particularly the elegant creations intended for dinner and demi-soir toilets, are substantially of plain silk in combination with velvet-embossed satin, brocade, pressed, "Pekin" or "corduroy" velvet, satin or silk brocade or satin or silk damask, varied by an occasional costume into which enters the raw silk and silk-and-wool stuffs.

Dwindling Down.

The indications are that the Greenbackers in this district are not as strong as they were some weeks ago, and we do not think that Judge Russell's nomination will add many to their number. In Ransom township, Columbus county, the slice which was taken from Bladen, one of the points where the disease first broke out there were originally some sixty converts to the new organization but these, we understand, have now dwindled down to an inconsiderable minority, whereas in Columbus, outside of Ransom township, it is said that there is not a Greenbacker to be found any where. Our information is from reliable and well informed gentlemen who reside in that county.

Death of Mr. Bunting.

Mr. David E. Bunting, an old and highly esteemed resident of this city, died this morning after a long and severe illness. Had he lived until to-morrow he would have been 51 years of age. Mr. Bunting was a native of old New Hanover county but had resided in Wilmington, where he married, for some twenty-five years. For many years he held the position here of Clerk of the Superior Court under the old order of things, an office which he filled most acceptably to all. The funeral services will take place at St. John's Church to-morrow morning.

The compositor who made it read, "In the midst of life we are in debt," wasn't much out of the way.

Another Postal Decision.

In reply to an inquiry whether, under the new postal regulations, bank notes and greenbacks can be mailed as third-class matter, the Postoffice Department rules that "bank notes and greenbacks having written signatures, or signatures added by means of a fac-simile stamp, or any other mark or sign added to the original print, (engraving) if sought to be sent in the mails, would be subject to letter rates of postage, under section 156, postal laws."

Col. Waddell's New Appointments.

We are requested by Captain Chas. D. Myers, Chairman of the Congressional Executive Committee of this district, to state that in addition to the regular appointments, Col. Waddell will speak at the High House, in Sampson county, on Monday, the 21st inst. While he is en route to fill his appointments in Carteret, Col. W. will probably speak also a week later at Hunting Quarters, in Carteret, on Monday, the 28th, and if his health permits may speak at Duplin Roads on Saturday, the 23rd day of November.

Disaster at Sea.

Nor. brig Fred Thorsen, from Madeira for this port, arrived here to-day with her mainmast gone and otherwise in distress. She reports that on October the 3d and 4th, in latitude 29 and longitude 67, she encountered a hurricane which threw the vessel on her beam ends and shifted her ballast. To save the vessel the mainmast was cut away, when the vessel righted. A jury-mast was then rigged and sail made for this port.
