

THE FALL OF THE YEAR.

The clouds are yellow, The apples are mellow, The corn is ripe in the ear, The birds leave off nesting, The earth begins resting, Because 'tis the Fall of the year.

The crickets are calling, The leaves are falling, The stubble is sere; In the day of the clover, And wild bee is over, Because 'tis the Fall of the year.

Summer is fitting, But friend, it is fitting, The heart should make double cheer; So be it smiling, And have life beguiling, Because 'tis the Fall of the year.

Church tendered Mr. Moody.

A meeting of the trustees and official members of Mount Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal church was held last night, at which it was resolved to tender the church for the meetings of Mr. Moody's committee, consisting of Messrs. Berry and Robb, was appointed to confer with Mr. Moody's committee upon measures to protect the church, the carpeting, &c., as much as possible from injury and damage during the meetings. The committee seem to be in full sympathy with the Moody meeting, and at the meeting of Wednesday evening, which was held in the pastor, Dr. Peck, was strongly in favor of them, urging the members to take part in them.

From the Punch.

Bright Answers that Turn Away Wrath.

Sad General Philipovitch, commander in chief of the Austrian army of occupation in Bosnia, to a smart sergeant of hussars, 'Which is the best horse in the squadron, eh?'

'No, General; bay, with four legs, and a bit.'

'Why do you consider him the best?'

'Because he trots and gallops well, carries his head well up, is still young, and has the best of temper.'

'Well, who is the best soldier in the squadron?'

'Sazy d'Anos, General.'

'Why is he?'

'Because he takes care of his horse, is honest and serviceable, keeps his equipments in perfect shape, and does his duty up to the hilt.'

'Where is the horse you have cracked up so?'

'It's my horse, General.'

'And who is the paragon of soldiers you have landed thus?'

'I am the man, General.'

'You rascal!' said pleasantly the commander, as he passed his parse over to the trooper.

A Boston Love Affair.

Capt. Charles R. Porter sailed away from Boston twenty-five years ago, leaving his sweetheart, Amelia Hollis, behind him. While voyaging on the other side of the world he received the news that she had married another. He was crushed by the disappointment, and never returned to Boston until last year. Then he received a note from Amelia requesting him to call on her. He went, and was told by her that she was a widow, that she had plenty of money, and that she had never ceased to love him. Of course a marriage ensued. Up to this point the story is a pleasant one, but there is a disagreeable sequel. Porter had become a drunkard. He and his wife quarrelled, parted, became reconciled and parted again; and now Porter has committed suicide in an insane asylum.

Poor Laborers Swindled.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 25.—Laborers who have been working on the narrow gauge road at Carlisle, a few miles south of here, were left in a deplorable condition yesterday by the villainy of one of the managers. The ascender is W. G. Press, who is treasurer of the road, and disappeared yesterday without leaving the hands money enough to buy bread. The laborers immediately quit work, came into town and begged the citizens for food, which was given them. The work on the road has been suspended and the laborers are quietly leaving town. The sympathy of the citizens is with the men, who are owed considerable and are now penniless.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, he will send, free of charge to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming his paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers Street, Rochester, New York. Oct 8-4w

Though Shaking Like an Aspen Leaf

With the chills and fever, the victim of malaria may still recover by using the celebrated specific, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which not only breaks up the most aggravated attacks, but prevents their recurrence. It is infinitely preferable to quinine, not only because it does the business far more thoroughly, but also on account of its perfect wholesomeness and invigorating action upon the entire system. Testimony is concurrent, positive and ample, showing the curative nature of its effects, and that it is no mere palliative. Physicians concede its excellence, and there is a constant influx of communications from persons in every class of society avouching its merits, and bearing witness to its superiority over other remedies for malarial disease. It is especially popular throughout the West, wherever fever and ague prevails, as it does in many of the fairest and most fertile portions of that vast region.
