Reading for the Ladies-Fall Styles.

Brussels net is a new material for evening dresses; it is shown embroidered in leaves of pale drab and orange.

The most stylish visiting cards are very plain, with the name in writing or facsimile of the owner's handwriting.

The latest extravagance in stockings is to have them in pale-tinted silk, embroidered in frosted silvery leaves and seed pearls.

A beautiful material for evening dresses is the new jasper silk, which is, in color a combination of delicate colors and

A pretty finish for the bottom of an overdress is to cut it in squares and fasten up one edge of the square with a tiny bow of ribbon.

Gold bands, dotted with jet flowers, are worn with Roman coiffure. A long, narrow band is over the brow, and a in the Academy of Music in Petersburg broad one further back serves as a comb. Spanish lace is extremely popular as a trimming for cashmere manteletts, and much narrow ribbon renders this trimming

> French lace is side-pleated. Outside pockets are seen on some of the latest toilets. With the present style of dress they are almost indispensbale, and when not on the dress their place is sup-effective. It is usually gathered, while plied by the velvet chatelaine pocket. Fringes are of the most dressy and elaborate kinds. Some have double rows of tassels, with jets and moss tufts intermingled, and others are lustrous silk, as soft as chenille, made like woollen caterpillar

Travelling cloaks for ladies almost envelop the dress, are double-breasted, cut stylish in the back and have but one dart in each front. The adjustable collar that accompanies such a design is composed of three collars in one, to be worn or removed at pleasure. The necessary binding is the only appearance of trimming which it-presents.

Nutmegs. Nutmegs grow on trees which look like pear trees, and are generally over twenty feet high. The flowers are very much like the lily of the valley. They are pole yellow and very fragrant. The nutmeg is the seed of the fruit, and mace is the thin covering over this seed. The fruit is about as large as a peach. When ripe, is breaks open and shows the little nut inside. The trees grow on the islands of Asia, and Judy Barrett, Moore co N. C; M.F.Full, in tropical America. They bear fruit for seventy or eighty years, having ripe fruit upon them at all seasons. A fine tree in Jamaica has over 4,000 nutmegs on it yearly. The Dutch used to have all the nutmeg trade, as they owned the Banda islands, and conquered all the other traders, and destroyed the trees. To keep the price up, they once burned three piles of nutmegs, each of which was as large as a church. Nature did not sympathize with The REVIEW and JOURNAI office dropped such meanness. The nutmeg pigeon, eight votes in the little ballot boxes for found in all the Indian islands, did fcr, the world what the Dutch had determined could do, and it was al we could do. should not be done, carried these auts, which are their food, into all the surrounding countries, and trees grew again and the world has been benefited. But this has no reference to the election.

The Elections.

We have nothing encouraging to give considering the matter decided not to to our friends to-day from this district. take any action in the premises except to The result apparent yesterday as expressed by us to the effect that Col. Waddell's the county under seal to the Secretary of defeat was probable, stands to-day in fear- State ful danger of confirmation. The vote has been light throughout the district and the staunchest Democratic counties in it have dropped down distressingly from the in handsome majority two years age. It is not that the allied Republican and Greenback parties are stronger than the Demoeratic but simply that our friends throughout the district have been too confident and that we did not get out anything like our voting strength. Plainly speaking, the election has gone by detault. The following are the Democratic

Total, 2,775. It will thus be seen that Judge Russell is 300 ahead of Col. Waddell, according to these calculations, and many think that the estimates of majorities for Col, Wadever, for what they may be worth with the remark that the figures from Duylin, Sampson and Onslow may be considered as mere surmises, there not having been any positive information as yet of the resalt in those counties.

There are irregulations, however, which will affect Judge Russell's apparent majority of 300, double that number, which may yet givethe seat to Col. Waddell. The vote of Brunswick, 300, may be contested, as also that Carver's Creek, Bladen county, 130, and Harnett township, this county, 140. WADDELL.

Major F. D. Poisson, as counsel for Messrs, Wm. Watters, Jno. W. Galloway and Walter Talliaterro, protested against the acceptance of the vote for Harnett township on the ground that Jas. W. McComber, Registrar or acting Registrar for said township was not legally appointed and therefore the election was illegal and void.

Another protest was also entered by the same counsel for the same protestants, against receiving the vote of the Fifth Ward, in this city, on the ground that the polls were not open on the day of election at the time authorized by law, and furthermore that the registration were not kept open on the Saturday preceding the election

Peculiarities of Married Life

An observant writer says, we fear with some show of truth:

If another Judy treeds on a Dit of orange posting and scatters herself all over the sidewalk you will spend half an hour in putting her together again, THE CORTY-THEED ANNUAL Meeting and, bowing gracefully with your lift ad hat, you will depart with the pro id feeling that you have performed a plain duty. When your own wife, however, treads on a bit of ice and falls in a promiseuous heap, it is very hard to keep from telling her that if she can't stand on her feet she had better stay at home. This is one of the pecularities of married life. It is only too natural to be a devotee to the laws of politeness when in society, and to emancipate yourself from the rules of common courtesy when you are in your own house.

The moral of this, dear young ladies, is obvio
