The Charlotte Fair begins to-morrow. All the Churches were well attended yesterday. Howe's circus is booked for Raleigh on Thursday of this week. Mr. Thomas Graeme, formerly of this city, but now of Louisville, Ky., is in the city. No police arrests since our last issue and consequently no City Court this morning. The new schedule on the W. & W. and W. C. & A. Railroads went into effect yesterday morning. The Executive Committee of the Greenback party of this city met in the Court House this morning. Rain is very much needed here and hereabouts. This may not be news to some people but is true nevertheless. The Blanche Chapman Ford troupe arrived in this city this morning and are stepping at the Purcell House. New crop peanuts are coming into market slowly as yet. They are hardly quotable, prices ranging from 90 cents to $1.10 per bushel. The fish market is abundantly supplied with fine trout and mullets. Oysters are coming in more plentiful and are somewhat cheaper. Mr. H. H. Gerhardt has opened a general harness business and carriage repository in the Odd Fellows' building on Third street, opposite the City Hall. Texas Jack and accompaniments leave this evening to join Dr. Carver further South. Many of our citizens hoped to see an exhibition of skill by the Doctor and Texas Jack. The steam cotton presses in this city are being worked to their utmost capacity. We hear them not only during the day but at nearly every hour through the night. Who hath wor? who hath sorrow? Well, the Democrat who didn't vote and the Democrat who voted for Daniel L. Russell the Republican, feel as red about the eyes as any of them. Backward, turn backward, O Time, in your flight, let me remember when last I was tight. Wife at the window, her ma at the door; you all know how it s who have been there before. The "Madrigal boys" paraded the streets this noon and discoursed some fine music. For boys of their ages they play remarkably well. They sing and play at the Opera House to-night during the interval between the main piece and the farce. Circus. Mr. L. B. Lent, representative of Howe's Great London Circus and Sanger's Managerie will be in the city last Friday. The circus will be here in about two weeks. "Pshaw, no ocean foam for me; it's mere sham," said an impatient woman, discussing the merits of baking powders. Not thus, however, did she talk of DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER. The latter has been found to surpass all others in its magic leavening powers, and to be indispensable to the well regulated kitchen. Winberry Oysters. Thanks to Mr. Carroll, of the Cosmopolitan, for a present of a gallon bucket of those famous Winberry New River oysters. The season is now well advanced and some fine oysters are coming in, but there are none better than the Winberry. They are a cultivated oyster and are fine, fat and well-flavored. They can be had in any quantity desired at the Cosmopolitan.

Charged with Larceny.

Two tramps were detected, as the train rolled into this city, stealing a ride and the conductor took their hats in part payment of their fare but not by agreement with the professional "measurers of crossings." They applied to a magistrate this morning for a warrant against the conductor to recover their property, but they were refused the warrant, and the tramps wanted to know "if the laws of society were respected in this Greenback District."

The Statesmen from Maryland.

The "Madrigal Boys" were the center of attraction to the colored boys of this city this morning. Shortly after their arrival Pot Hooks, Esquire, called on them at their boarding house and introduced Mr. Cripple Dick. These worthies entertained the Madrigals by relating hair-breadth escapes until the subject turned upon dancing, whereupon Pot Hooks, Esq., drew himself up on his dignity and proclaimed himself "a man mung mens in dat ting" telling his listeners "just ter watch dese foot print in de sand," and suiting the action to the word he proceeded to cut the pigeon wing in his most improved a la Bentz style. C. Dick, Esq., then took "a hand" at it and put in "his mouf bout it" to the disgust of Pot Hooks who went off to find some one to hold his coat while he waded through the whole party.

Car's Improved Dredger.

A practical test of this machine was made on Saturday last, which proved a perfect success. The plow was attached to the bow of the steam yawl boat Busy Bee, and tested on a bar that had formed at the mouth of a creek just above the Navassa Guano factory. The plow was at first lowered just sufficiently to skim the surface of the bar, and then at successive trips gradually lowered. It was found that the steering powers of the boat were not perceptibly diminished, neither was the bow of the boat depressed, as had been predicted by some. The submarine plowing was done at a depth of five feet below the surface of the water, and a subsequent examination made at low water showed furrows made in the surface of the bar as large as those ordinarily made with a plow on dry land. During the trial the surface of the water was covered with the grass and weeds that had been torn up, and the water was highly colored with the clay which floated away with the tide. After testing the power of the boat to push the plow ahead, the plow was reversed and the boat backed; and it was thus satisfactorily demonstrated that the excavating apparatus was attached to the right end of the boat. We think this would be a very cheap and effective way to remove the obstructions at the mouth of the Cape Fear.

November Stars.

The clear weather which usually prevails in September and October and frequently the greater part of November affords nearly as many opportunities for observing astronomical phenomena as occur during the remaining months of the year. Jupiter, the largest of the planets, shines with peculiar brilliancy in the south and southwest during the first hours of the night, while Saturn, the ring planet, may be observed in the east immediately after dark and is visible the whole night. Venus, now the morning star, rises about an hour before the sun, while Mars, which attracted so much attention a year ago, is almost immersed in the rays of the sun and is gradually decreasing in brightness. About eight o'clock Capella may be seen in the northeast, a little above the horizon, while Vega in the Harp is almost directly overhead. This star is remarkable for its blue color and is one of the few whose distance has been approximately determined. The seven stars, or Pleiades, the guides of the ancient mariners in the Mediterranean and Black Seas, are just appearing above the horizon in the east, while Arcturus, the brightest star in the northern sky, is sitting in the west. At 10 o'clock Castor and Pollux may be observed in the northeast and Orion in the east, while the Great Bear is seen nearly below the pole. Sirius, the brightest star in the heavens, now rises near midnight, but about the middle of November can be seen at 10 o'clock. On the 31st inst. Jupiter will be in conjunction with the Moon, and Mercury, the shy planet, will be at a short distance from the same luminary the last of November.

CAROLINA.

Bishop Keane will visit Newbern next Thursday.

New corn sold in Newbern on Thursday at 45 cents by the cargo.

It is said that 500 people from Buncombe will attend the Charlotte Fair.

Raleigh received 443 bales of cotton on Friday and 501 bales on Saturday.

Hickory Press: Mr J S Bridges, of this county raised a sweet potato this year that measured 35 inches in length and weighed 11 lbs.

Raleigh Observer: Messrs. W. H. & R. S. Tucker, we hear from Oxford, have sent a good shawl to each girl in the Orphan Asylum at Oxford.

Magnolia Blade: Not a single vote was polled at Lower Fork township in this county last Tuesday. The judges of the election were on hand but no body came to vote.

The new Sheriff of Beaufort county not being able to give the requisite bond for the collection of taxes, the Board of Commissioners awarded it to the ex-Sheriff F. J. Satchwell. So says the North State Press.

Raleigh Observer: The Agricultural museum yesterday received a large bundle of some beautiful specimens of the regular West India sugar cane. It was raised in Bladen county by Hayes W. Beatty, Esq. It is very fine indeed.

Hickory Press: Mr J M Lawrence, of this place, while engaged in a horse race a few days ago, was thrown from his horse and received several painful wounds. One leg was broken near the ankle.

Raleigh Observer: During the early part of this week the revenue officers made a raid among the illicit manufacturers of tobacco in Granville county, and captured seventeen unstamped boxes, weighing 6,908 pounds net. This tobacco was found in the barn of Thomas Fuller, near Beaver Dam. There was also a parcel of fine-cured leaf tobacco in the barn, weighing about 1,200 pounds.

Raleigh News: The long and trying law case of Blackwell vs. McElwee has at last been conclusively settled in the court of last appeal in such cases, at Washington, by a decision that McElwee cannot register his Durham bull trade mark, which he has so long claimed as right. This case has attracted much attention, and the Durham bull is of more notoriety than Jo Turner's beast of the same species.

Concord Sun: Our town was greatly shocked yesterday to learn that Mr Geo L Gibson was dead in No. American Hotel. He left his place of business as usual Thursday evening, went to the Hotel and requested Mr Utzman, the Proprietor, not to disturb him until late the next day. Not returning to business, one of his associates investigated a search, and he was found cold in death as above stated. George was a general favorite in the town and his death is lamented by all.

Tricky Traders.

The attempt to establish a business by closely imitating the name and style of a favorite article has new illustration in W. F. Taylor's Labor Saving Detergent soap. For many years this brand of soap has been made solely by Colgate & Co., New York, which fact, together with its wide popularity, has made it a shining mark for the unscrupulous imitator. Buyers should remember that each genuine wrapper and bar bears the name of W. F. Taylor. Its reduced and present low prices ensure its being sold everywhere as heretofore. sept 19-8w
