Caught at Last.

The two little colored rogues whom it is thought have been entering the different School Houses in this city and purloining books, checks and other articles therefrom are now safely locked up in the city prison.

County Commissioners.

The Board met yesterday afternoon, at 2:50 o'clock, pursuant to adjournment.

Personal.

We had a call this morning from Mr. Edward E. Kidder, business manager of the Joseph Murphy troupe. He is a clever gentleman and we commend him to the favorable consideration of our brothers of the press.

Came by His Own.

Several weeks ago a gentleman lost a very valuable pointer pup—and a few days ago found the "lost dog" at the "long house," in the south-western part of the city. The dog was tied to the back steps of the house, and as there was no fence around the premises he cut the dog loose and started down town, his "long lost" following him. The woman who claimed the dog followed them up and caught the canine up in her arms and ran off with it. Justice Hill issued a search warrant for the pup which was recovered and turned over to the delighted owner.

An Attractive Furniture House.

We took a stroll this morning through the new building recently erected by Mr. Luhr Vollers, on the site of that destroyed by fire last Spring, and occupied by Mr. F. A. Schutte as a furniture house. There are three floors on Front street and three on Dock, all but the upper floor being occupied by Mr. Schutte.

Better than Foreign Port.

Speer's Port Grape Wine is better than Imported Port, and, since the adulteration of the latter, it must take its place. It is pure, and really excellent and health giving.—Troy Times.
The most select Fifth Avenue families of New York use this wine at their evening entertainments.
Green & Planner have some direct from Mr. Speer.

An Energetic Officer.

For the fourteen working days in the month Mr. F. W. Mayer, of the detective force of this city, has brought into the city Treasury $183 by his indefatigable zeal in searching out the "commercial tourists" who visit our city in the interest of some Northern house, and collecting the license tax from the same. This is an average of over fourteen dollars a day, and deserves a better appreciation of Mr. Mayer's service in a pecuniary way from the city, than he at present enjoys, his salaries now being only $40 a month. Under the Republican Administration, which paid largely for detectives, this tax was neglected altogether.

Two Courts at a Time.

Two weeks from Monday next the December term of the Superior Court for this county, His Honor Judge McKoy presiding according to law, will convene in this city. At the same time, the Criminal Court, for this county, His Honor Judge Meares presiding according to law, is also to convene in this city. We understand that the bill creating the Criminal Court makes it obligatory upon the Judge to hold his sessions in the Court House, and if court should be anywhere else held all its acts would be null and void. Not so, however, so we are informed, in regard to the Superior Court and it is possible that the novel fact of two State Courts, with equal powers of jurisdiction, will be in session at the same time in our city. But if no arrangement is made by which the Superior Court will be held in some other room than the Court House, Judge Meares will convene his Court half an hour before Judge McKoy's Court, and adjourn from day to day, until the expiration of the term of the Superior Court. The Grand Jury, however, will be in session every day during the term of the Superior Court and transact their business as usual in regular order. This conflict, if so it may be termed, of the sessions of the two Courts, will never occur again, as the Legislature will arrange the matter at its meeting, next winter.

The Circus.

Raleigh has had a visit from Howe's Circus and it has left everybody thereabouts happy. It is said to be an excellent show, the papers speaking of it in very high terms. The Observers' young man thinks it the best that has visited Raleigh in a generation. Hear him:
The street parade in the morning was a gorgeous affair, and was ahead of anything of the kind previously exhibited here. The Tally-Ho coach, the two superb gilded chariots, the elephants, the den of hyenas with their tamer inside—all of these features attracted the attention and admiration of the thousands who lined the street to gaze upon the spectacle. About two thousand people assembled under the canvas in the afternoon, and quite as many in the evening again, to witness the entertainment given by the best company that ever came to Raleigh. From the grand entry to the close of the performance, the audience was kept delighted by a series of only principal acts. There was not an act on the whole programme that was not wonderful. There was never a circus in this country, or any other, that had as many first class artists as the London show. William Gorman, the lightning hurdle rider, is the perfection of grace and dash, and his riding is simply marvelous. Miss Pauline Lee rides better than the principal lady riders of most companies, and at the same time executes the most skillful acts of jugglery. The riding of Mrs. Dockrill, who performs all the customary movements upon a flying bare-backed steed, is without parallel. Without any of the nauseating circus affection that obtains usually with female riders, Mme. Dockrill executes her dangerous and difficult acts with a dash and spirit that is captivating. This lady introduces a four horse act never attempted by a woman before, which she presents with the most perfect success. The performance of the trained elephants, who form a pyramid just as shown on the bills, and the wonderful leap of Frank Gardner, who throws a double somersault over five huge elephants, one of the mounted on a huge pedestal, are among the features of this incomparable show. It seems to be complete in every respect. There are no inside features about it. It has altogether the finest lot of horses ever brought to this city. The equipments are all new, elegant and costly. The management and discipline are admirable. The employees are all thoroughly trained, and are uniformly polite and courteous. Everything moves like clock-work. The regalia are all new and elegant. The facilities for feeding and transporting the little army are unsurpassed. A force of first-class cooks are employed, who attend to the inner wants of 160 employees. They are fed every day in a large dining tent, and live on good fare. The cars in which the show is moved are owned by the company, and were built especially for its purpose. They are provided with sleeping berths and other conveniences.

It Always Pours.

The white horse belonging to Mr. J. H. Chadbourn, fell on Water street this morning, breaking the shafts of the buggy and some of the harness. A newspaper reporter was on hand also, a hardware merchant, who wanted to sell a new pair of shafts and before the horse regained his feet a harness maker was on the spot to repair the damage done in his line of business. After the accident occurred seventeen insurance agents called on Mr. Chadbourn and moralized on the uncertainty of life, and wanted a little policy.

The Visitors of the Ladies' Benevolent Society and those who are willing to become visitors are requested to meet at Hook and Ladder Hall Tuesday, Nov. 19th, at 4 o'clock p. m.

Preliminary Trial of Young Blanchard.

The young man who gave his name as J. C. Blanchard, spoken of in yesterday's REVIEW as having been arrested for breaking open a trunk and stealing the clothing of a gentleman at a private boarding house in this city and committed to jail, was this morning brought before Justice Wagner for trial.

The evidence was too clear and convincing to admit of a doubt. The marked clothing of Mr. H. B. Shoter, the gentleman who suffered the loss, was found upon the person of Blanchard and he made no efforts to conceal his crime after he was taken. His situation excited the pity of all present at the Justice's trial this morning, on account of the precarious condition of the prisoner's health, as he is known to be a consumptive, having suffered from several hemorrhages. Mr. Shoter acted in a most magnanimous manner towards the poor fellow by refusing to prosecute the case (and even offering the officer who made the arrest $5, beside signifying his willingness to bear the other costs of the court if the prisoner could be discharged, but the matter was in the hands of the State and the Justice was compelled to commit Blanchard in default of $200 for his appearance at the December term of the Criminal Court. Mr. Shoter and other witnesses were recognized in the sum of $50 for their appearance at the same time to testify in the case.

For the Review.

MR. EDITOR:—As one of the fourteen Jurors who visited the Poor House in October, permit me to say that the statement made in the report of the Grand Jury, in my humble "judgment and observation," were facts, and represented, as near as words could express, the exact condition of that institution at the time. If the place has been "put in order" since, I am glad, and I have no doubt the "poor unfortunates" rejoice. I hope for the credit of the County of New Hanover, the Commissioners, during the short time they are to remain in office will see that the place is kept so that the "judgment and observation" of another Grand Jury may not conflict with theirs and the necessity of attempting to vindicate either themselves or some one else may not exist.
