There are two unavailable letters remaining in the Postoffice in this city, for J. M. Moore, Olin county, Tenn., and Rev. Mr. Kennedy, Duquoin, Ont., Canada.

The book auction last night was a popular place of resort and many handsome books were sold. The sale will be continued to-night and until further notice. Mr. Cronly will preside with Mr. Morris at the desk.

Last night thieves broke into the chicken coop of Mr. Joo. Boyd and succeeded in carrying off two turkeys. A dead turkey which had been choked to death was left in the coop. No clue.

Messrs. Willard Bros. & Mebane have opened anew in the building on North Water, between Princess and Chestnut streets, just South of Messrs. Kerber & Calder Bros' old stand. Their cotton press, fortunately, seems to have been uninjured by the fire.

City Court.

One of the knights of the colored gallery known as Pot Hooks, was brought down from his elevated position in the Opera House, last night, and lodged in the Guard House. But the Mayor, considering he had spent the night in the Guard House, dismissed the case.

The Reason.

An old darkey from Brunswick brought in three country-made baskets and offered them for $1.10 in greenbacks or $2 in silver. He said he was a greenbacker from principle because he lived on Mars Dan's place.

Died of Pneumonia.

Mr. John Roach, a Baltimorean by birth, but a resident of Wilmington previous to, and during the war, died of pneumonia this morning at the corner of Fourth and Castle streets, where he was employed. He left Wilmington after the close of the war, and returned about a month ago only, it seems, to die in his old home.

Books at Auction.

Messrs. Cronly & Morris will sell at auction, to-night, at 7 o'clock, at Wheeler & Wilson's old stand, Market Street, a valuable collection of Standard and Miscellaneous Books. A rare opportunity is offered to purchase valuable books very cheap. Ladies and gentlemen are invited to call and examine them during the day. Sale will continue every evening until further notice.

Robbery.

This morning, during the progress of the fire, the room of Mr. G. W. Lamb was robbed of seventy-five dollars. Mr. Lamb is an officer of the Little Giant Fire Engine Company and upon the alarm threw his clothing off, donned his fireman's suit, and repaired to the scene of conflagration. Upon his return his money was missing. No clue as yet to the perpetrator of the theft.

Buckwheat Cakes.

If properly made, are a choice dish for breakfast. If you wish them nice, light, and wholesome, always use DEOLEY'S YEAST POWDER. Your grocer has it, or can get it for you.

D'Este To-Night.

The D'Este troupe will give their last entertainment at the Opera House to-night, for which they offer a choice bill. We hope the public will give them a rousing house as they are deserving of a much better patronage than they have as yet received. If any one wants to have a good laugh and a tip-top time let him wait up to the Opera House and see the performance of the "Merry Cobbler" by this troupe to-night.

For Christmas.

Mr. R. D. Kirk, senior member of the firm of Brown & Roddick, returned here last night from the North and promises to extend his stay with us this time until after Christmas. He bought lots of pretty things this time for the holiday trade and is now at work getting the notions and toys in order in the store on Front street, just South of the First National Bank. Messrs. B. & R. will elaborate these facts in the advertising columns of the Review in a few days.

Auditing Committee of the W. & W. R. R.

Col. John W. Atkinson and W. H. Mellary, Esq., of this city, and Mr. A. Branch, of Wilson, have been appointed by Captain Fred Phillips, late Chairman of the Stockholders meeting of the W. & W. R. R. Company held in this city, on the 19th of last month, as the Auditing Committee to examine the books and accounts of the officers of this company during the present year. The committee was created under a resolution offered by Judge Howard, of Edgecombe, at the meeting of the stockholders at the time above stated.

Paying out Dividends.

Mr. J. W. Thompson, Treasurer of the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad Company, has paid out $37,000 worth of dividends since the 30th of November, (last Saturday) on the capital stock of that company. The whole amount of dividends which the company will pay on last year's operations will amount to $45,560. Of this amount about one-fourth will go to residents of this city and State, the balance is owned by Northern stockholders. The company we understand contemplate laying about 1,500 tons of new steel rails this year, and but for that outlay the dividend would in all probability exceed that declared on last year's revenue. As it is, however, there is no probability of the dividend being less this year than last.

Death of Col. Mullins.

Col. Wm. S. Mullins, a native of Fayetteville, in this State, died of a bronchial affection at his residence, in Marion district, South Carolina, on Thursday night last, at 11 o'clock, in the 60th year of his age.

Col. Mullins, as above stated, was born in the town of Fayetteville, near the head waters of the Cape Fear river. He was a graduate of the class of 1842, at Chapel Hill. At the age of twenty-five, Col. Mullins left his native State and moved over into Marion district, South Carolina, where he commenced the practice of law. But it was not long before his brilliant attainments as a scholar and his thrilling eloquence as an orator brought him into public notice, and gave him prominence in affairs of State in his newly adopted home. He has filled various responsible public offices in South Carolina, besides being several times a member of the State Legislature, where his influence was second to none, while his ability as a statesman and his polished oratory were surpassed by none of his colleagues in that body. At one time, a year or two prior to the war, Col. Mullins was elected by the stockholders President of the Wilmington & Manchester Railroad (now the W. C. & A. R. R.), which position he filled for one or two terms. He was an ardent States rights man of the Calhoun school, a strict constructionist of the Constitution, and a warm supporter of the Secession movement of South Carolina in 1860. But the reverse of fortune had a telling effect upon his energies, and since the war he gave up the practice of his profession in a measure, and retired to his farm, about eleven miles from Marion Court House, where he has been living in comparative retirement for a number of years. Col. Mullins was a brother-in-law of our esteemed fellow townsman Captain A. D. Cazaux. Truly a noble man has fallen. The friends of his youth speak of him as one of the most brilliant men of their age; a finished scholar, a polished gentleman, an eloquent orator and a devoted patriot. Peace to his ashes.

County Commissioners.

We published yesterday a report of the proceedings of the Board of County Commissioners up to the hour when we were compelled to close and give herewith to-day the concluding portions:

The opinion of the County Solicitor, in regard to the official bonds of county officers, was received and ordered on file.

Ordered, that Hossa L. Thorne be appointed School Committeeman in District No. 3, in place of N. Gillican, who has moved out of the District.

It was ordered that the official bond of Nicholas Carr, Constable, be accepted.

Ordered, that the committee on Poor House be instructed to heat the insane department at a cost as economical as possible.

It was ordered that the appointments under the Board shall be made at the first regular meeting in January.

Ordered, that on and after the 1st of January, 1879, the poor allowance shall be discontinued to the blind girl, Jane Washington.

Ordered, that no bill will hereafter be approved or paid for services of deputy sheriffs in executing processes in justices' courts, save the fees that are now allowed constables in the various townships for the discharge of said services, except when the process is delivered to the sheriff for execution.

Ordered, that the office of County Detective be abolished.

The Board took a recess until Thursday, the 18th inst., at 2 p. m.

The ladies of the Second Presbyterian Church netted about $60 at the Festival held by them night before last.

The Fire this Morning.

About 8 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the storage room of Messrs. Willard Bros. & Mebane's Commission house, on North Water, between Chestnut and Mulberry street. The store was open at the time and one of the members of the firm was within a few feet of the fire when first discovered. It originated in a lot of cotton, in bales, and among those at the very front of the store, and is thought to have originated by a spark from a pipe or a cigar from some passing along the street. There was about one hundred bales of cotton stored there at the time and the flames quickly spread among the entire lot. The alarm was given and as many as possible of the burning bales were rolled into the street but the flames were so rapid, fanned by the draft of air between two doors, that they could not be suppressed. The entire fire department was quickly on the ground and soon streams of water from the three steamers were being poured into the burning building, and soon the fire was entirely under control.

The losses were confined, with some slight exceptions, to the building in which the fire originated, which is a large brick structure, built only a few years ago and owned by Mr. A. H. Dickinson, of this city. In addition to the loss on the cotton, which was only partially burned, Messrs. Willard Bros. & Mebane's loss is considerable in the way of stores, meats, &c., destroyed or ruined by the water and the smoke. Their entire loss will probably foot up somewhere in the neighborhood of $2,000, which is all covered by insurance. These gentlemen hold policies for $500, in the Royal of Liverpool, represented here by Mr. Norwood Giles, $2,500 in the Liverpool and London and Globe, Messrs. John W. Gordon & Bro., agents here, and $8,500 in the Queen of Liverpool and London, Hartford of Hartford and Springfield Fire and Marine, of Springfield, Mass., Messrs. Atkinson & Manning agents. The books and papers of the firm were all saved.

The building in which the fire originated owned, as we have stated, by Mrs. Dickinson, is badly damaged. It was pretty well gutted by the fire and will need new timbers and planks throughout, and besides, the wall on the North side of the building, it is thought, will have to come down. It is insured with Mr. Norwood Giles, in the Phoenix, of Hartford, for $4,000, and it is hoped that this amount will cover the loss.

The building just South of the above, owned by Mr. Pembroke Jones and occupied by Capt. Chas. D. Myers and Messrs. E. Peschau & Westermann, on the first floor, and Capt. S. W. Vick, on the second floor, was somewhat damaged by water, as was also Capt. Myers' stock of groceries; but two or three hundred dollars will cover all the loss sustained by them and they were all insured.

The Two M. E. Churches.

Rev. E. A. Yates, of Front Street M. E. Church, and Rev. B. B. Hall, of Fifth Street M. Church, have returned from attendance on Conference, at Charlotte, and will fill their respective pulpits to-morrow. We congratulate the congregation of these churches on the fact that these able, faithful and zealous Ministers of the church have been returned to their fields of labor in this city.

Last Night's Concert.

We regret exceedingly to state that there was quite a small audience at the Opera House last night, to listen to one of the best musical entertainments that have been given in this city this season. The programme, as published, was fully carried out. The opening overture by the Concert Club was a fine musical composition and was rendered with exquisite taste, the different parts being finely balanced, and each part well sustained. The vocal solo, "The Old Sexton," was sung with fine effect by Mr. Manning, who has a rich, deep and resonant voice which bears evidence of careful training. In quartette, especially, does his organ-like voice have a rich effect. The Misses Atkinson acquitted themselves finely in the four handed galop, "The Devil's Call," in which they played the piano accompaniment to the Cornet and Flute by Messrs. Mitchell and Johnson. In their vocal efforts the Misses Atkinson were also deserving of much credit. They have peculiarly sweet and flexible voices, and sang in perfect taste.

The Vocal Solo, "Lost Birdling," was sung by Mrs. D. Kahnweiler, and although it was the first time we (this reporter) ever had the pleasure of hearing her sing, we have heard many in Opera in our large cities and we are free to confess that the lady in question is the equal of many and the superior of some professional vocalists in quality, power, flexibility and sweetness of tone. Her vocalization is truly marvelous. The Quartette, "My Lady Waits," developed, in Miss Calais, a soprano of wonderful purity, power and sweetness. In this piece, Mr. Mitchell, tenor, displayed a fine voice, well cultivated. Mr. Mayer, the only vocalist of whom we have not spoken, sang with good effect, and his efforts were highly appreciated by the audience. In the Vocal Duet, "Selections" in which he sang tenor to the soprano of Mrs. Kahnweiler, he was especially fine. Miss Emma C. Hahn rendered "Scotch and Irish melodies" on the piano to the intense delight of an audience wrapt in admiration of her wonderful skill. It seemed to be no difficult matter for her to entertain the audience with only one hand, for after the most enthusiastic encores, she took her seat at the piano for the second time and played a difficult piece, demanding the utmost delicacy of touch, with great rapidity of execution, with only one hand, and the left hand at that. The accompanist, Mrs. Taylor and Messrs. Van Lier and Thorpe, performed the important parts assigned them, with nicety and precision.

In fact the entire entertainment from its beginning to its ending was a complete success so far as musical skill and ability were concerned, and the good people of Wilmington ought to have crowded the Opera House to its fullest capacity and given their heartiest encouragement to the high order of musical talent with which the city abounds.
