

THIS PAPER

published every afternoon, Sundays excepted by

JOSH. T. JAMES, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

SUBSCRIPTIONS, POSTAGE PAID. One year, $5 00 Six months, $3 50 Three months, $1 25; One month, 50 cents.

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. 3. WILMINGTON, N. C., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1878. NO. 270

PLEASE NOTICE.

We will be glad to receive communication from our friends on any and all subjects of general interest but:

The name of the writer must always be furnished to the Editor.

Communications must be written on only one side of the paper.

Personalities must be avoided.

And it is especially and particularly understood that the editor does not always endorse the views of correspondents, unless so stated in the editorial columns.

New Advertisements,

TO-DAY!

Goods Received this Morning.

Hats, Feathers, Velvet, Trimmings, &c.

WELL WAITING FOR ANOTHER

100 Pairs 4 Button Kid Gloves, Fine Quality, Good Shades, for $1 00 per pair.

We cannot order them again as the lot was bought at reduced price. So come at once and get what you want.

We also offer you a beautiful Corset, the "Full Dress" for $1.00.

It is long, fits well, has side steels and more bones than any other in the city.

A beautiful line of Crepe Lisse, in all styles for neck and sleeves.

Blouses and Infants Mitts, different styles.

A new lot of Misses plaid and solid colored H. S. Also, solid colors for Ladies, beautiful quality, only 75 cents per pair.

The thing you want for your neck, solid color, and shaded Chemises, 10 10 cents per yard.

And other things too numerous to mention, that you all want.

Don't forget the best Sissors.

Remember the Kid Glove Depot.

Gives from 30 cents to $1.50, in 2, 3, 4, 6 buttons.

New styles and Shapes received every few days in the Millinery Department.

N. H. SPRUNT,

Exchange Corner.

Xmas is Coming.

AND S. JEWETT is prepared to furnish Xmas Goods at low rates. Come and see for yourself. S. JEWETT, Front street.

UNCLE NED'S Fine Twist Tobacco!

The best and Cheapest.

FIVE CENTS A PLUG!

All an cured leaf, packed in buckets, 18 pounds each, without extra charge.

For sale only by HALL & PEARSALL.

Coming and Goig.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING and those nice

Overcoats, Under Coats, Dress Coats and

Gent's and Youths' Clothing of all kinds, are going fast. Call before the stock gets too low and make your selections

Best Unlaundried Shirt in the City for 75 cents at SHRIER'S EMPORIUM, Market st.

Great Bargains

IN CLOTHING

AT MEN'S, BOYS' A. DAVID'S,

AND Children's

Notice.

IS HEREBY GIVEN that application will be made to the next session of the General Assembly for an Act incorporating the Historical and Scientific Society, of Wilmington, N. C.

LOCAL NEWS.

New Advertisements.

SOL BEAR & BROS.—Great Bargains. OPERA HOUSE—Kilton Nobles.

CHAS. KLEIN—Undertaker and Cabinet Maker.

P. HENSCHER—Don't Forget. A Sweets-Boy's and Children's Cream at reduced prices.

S. JEWETT—Xmas is Coming. J. C. McNEES, Druggist.—For 65 cents.

For other locals see fourth page.

Did anybody ever see a bull hide in a leather store?

In Pine Forest Cemetery there were interred two adults and two children during the week.

There was only one interment in Bellevue Cemetery during the week—an adult.

If you want to "rile" an editor, ask him to do something "at his leisure." He never has any.

Your looking-glass will always tell you the truth, which is certainly more than your best friend will do.

What the horticulturalists of this country need is a way to make peaches and apples grow without worms in them.

A horrid old bachelor says that political squabbles end where matrimonial ones begin—when the "object" is gained.

The Register of Deeds has issued during the week marriage licenses for five white couples and two for colored couples, making seven in all.

The Criminal Court will meet at 10 o'clock on Monday morning. The Solicitor expects jurors and witnesses to be promptly on hand at that hour.

Be careful not to let fall a note reflecting on a friend's character. By simply dropping a letter, you know, a friend is changed to a fiend.

Never give up the ship. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup may cure you, as it has done others. It costs little, and can never harm. Price, 25 cents.

"It is better to get wisdom than gold," but our office boy says wisdom will not buy a Christmas turkey, nor will it furnish a first class ulcer.

In scarf pins intended for the swells of the period, the latest agony is a deer, the horns of which stick out far enough to scratch all who attempt to strike the swells with a feather.

Kneaded Biscuits. Put two teaspoonsful DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER in a quart of flour; rub into this two tablespoons of lard, with a little salt and add enough sweet milk to make a stiff dough. Knead it well for about five or six minutes, roll thin, cut into biscuits, and bake a delicate brown.

For the Family of Lieut Benner. The following card from Hon. Geo. Davis, addressed to the people of Wilmington, bears with it its own endorsement. We are glad to see that Mr. Davis has agreed to lecture for the benefit of Lieut. Benner's widow and children and we know that his generous offer will meet with a glad response from all of our people:

To the people of Wilmington: But a short time since our hearts were thrilling with emotion as we learned that a brave soldier had perished his life to bring relief to our suffering people. Again a little while, and intelligence came that his heroic act was a self-immolation in the sacred cause of humanity, and that his wife and children were left destitute. The Southern people have a debt of gratitude to pay, and you and I must try to pay our part. I have no money to give but I want to give of what I have, and I want you to help me. If sufficient interest is manifested, I propose to deliver a lecture, the proceeds of which shall be applied for benefit of the widow and children of Lieut. Benner. The subject of the lecture will be "An Episode in Cape Fear History," and the time, if ever, on or about the 2nd day of January next, until when I commit the matter to your consideration. GEO. DAVIS.

Dec. 14th 1878.

A Card. To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, Bible House, New York City.

Dropsy and Rheumatism. Dropsical and Rheumatic persons find the use of Speer's Port Grape Wine, of New Jersey, and the Wine Bitters, of in calculable benefit. Their purity and valuable properties have given them a wide reputation among physicians throughout this country and Europe. This wine took the highest premium at the late Centennial Meeting of the Members of the Bar.

In a adjourned meeting of the members of the Bar was held in the Court House this morning for the purpose of receiving the report of the committee appointed at a previous meeting to draft resolutions relative to the death of the Hon. Hugh Waddell, the oldest member of the Bar.

Quite a number of gentlemen belonging to the commercial fraternity as well as those of other professions were present and among them we noticed several clergymen resident in this city all of whom were present no doubt to testify their appreciation of the esteem and worth in which the distinguished gentleman now deceased was held while living, and to do homage as far as possible to the memory of the respected dead.

At 10 o'clock Hon. R. S. French Chairman, called the meeting to order. Hon. George Davis then arose and addressing the chair stated that the first business before the meeting was the report of the Committee on resolutions. M. London, Esq., Chairman of the Committee, then handed the Secretary, DuBruz Cutler, Esq., the resolutions of the committee with the request that he read them. The Secretary then read the resolutions which are as follows:

The members of the Wilmington Bar, on this the twelfth day of the December term of the Superior Court of New Hanover county A. D. 1878, assembled at the Court House in honor of the memory of the late Hugh Waddell, the oldest and one of the most distinguished of their number, sensible that when other monuments shall have crumbled into dust or come to be disregarded by succeeding generations, this solemn Memorial of their esteem will be perused by their successors at the Bar, and preserved with the records of this Court for all coming time; in order to testify to posterity their sense of the character and public services of the deceased do unanimously

Resolved, that in the death of the Honorable Hugh Waddell the State of North Carolina has lost a citizen of irreproachable purity of character, who has frequently been called by her best citizens to public stations of great honor, which he adorned by his talents.

2. We rejoice that after a professional life of over half a century he has been permitted by the Divine Providence to be gathered to his fathers at a ripe age and in this place, which was at the same time the home of his affections and also the theater of his action, surrounded at the last by all the blessing which reward the close of a well spent and useful career, maintaining the example of an almost perfect life, and transmitting to his children unimpaird the priceless inheritance of an unspotted name.

3. Resolved, that the Chairman of this meeting be authorized and requested to ask of the presiding Judge an order to record this memorial of our departed brother upon the minutes of the Court and a copy be delivered by him to the afflicted widow and family, as an expression of our sympathy in their great bereavement.

At the conclusion of the reading of the resolutions, Mr. London arose and in a most feeling manner spoke as follows: Mr. Chairman:

The recollection of many, very many pleasant associations connected with the past, impels me to offer my humble tributes to the distinguished lawyer and gentleman who has so recently been taken from our midst, and whose death we all deplore. I shall not attempt any high wrought eulogy of our departed friend, I could not, if I desired to do so, on this occasion bestow the meed of praise so eminently due his exalted worth.

My acquaintance with Mr. Waddell began about the year 1838. He was then in the prime of manhood, and in the zenith of his power and influence in this State, for it cannot be forgotten that he in a large degree exerted both power and influence in North Carolina. At the period of which I speak Mr. Waddell commanded a leading practice in his extended circuit, then known as the Hillsboro circuit.

His friends and associates at the bar were George E. Badger, William A. Graham, Robert B. Gilliam, John A. Gilmer and such prominent and distinguished men of that day, whose abilities showed forth with peculiar lustre, and it would seem to be eulogy enough to say that our departed friend was the peer of those illustrious associates. Endowed by nature with a brilliant mind, an engaging and commanding person, learned as a lawyer, cultivated as a scholar, graceful and eloquent as a speaker, with a melodious voice, and a tongue that had every grace of speech, his influence with a jury was overwhelming, and on the hustings, and in the Senate Chamber where he so often appeared he commanded the attention and filled with admiration and delight all who heard him. A more graceful and winning manner few if any possessed.

Courteous and polite, bold yet gentle, he "won golden opinions from all sorts of people."

His kindness of disposition, and extraordinary powers of conversation made him the admired object of every social circle. Frank, generous, brave, affable, he was, take him all in all, one of the most accomplished, courteous gentlemen of this broad land. I knew him well, and do know whereof I speak. None knew Hugh Waddell but to admire, love and respect him.

Let us cherish his memory and strive to emulate his virtues.

At the conclusion of Mr. London's remarks, Hon. Edward Cartwell, one of the Committee, delivered the following eloquent remarks:

May it please Your Honor: The historian Bancroft, on an occasion similar to this, standing at the grave of Lincoln, eulogized the sacrifices of the Northern people, during the recent civil war. At first, he says, they engaged in the struggle with a desultory energy; opposing little or no resistance beyond the frantic valor of a disciplined foe, and the mad desperation of a people determined to be free; but gradually comprehending the magnitude of the issues involved, the contest at last developed in them a passionate patriotism, under whose influence life itself seemed no longer a blessing and the care of its preservation even came to be vile.

Who should desire, exclaims the greatest orator of Rome, to survive our kindred and friends; the destruction of our country; the demoralization of society; the corruption of government; the degradation of the cultured; the extinction of public liberty and the triumph of the base?

Under such conditions, Cicero taught that the life of the humblest Roman would soon become intolerable!

And so, may it please your Honor, I imagine that when an American citizen in whose veins beats the same fiery blood in which this Republic was baptized, a gentleman of the older type and time, at the age of fourscore years, thoughtfully comes to survey our present condition and the danger which menaces our institutions, upon whose security so much of the liberty and happiness of mankind depend, and perceives that their preservation rests largely upon changes and chances which may not occur, I think that warned by the decay of public spirit, the indifference of his contemporaries to the common danger, and the exhaustion of his own natural powers, of the probable result, he might even be pardoned for the desire to withdraw from a struggle so near, so disastrous and so ineffectual. At all events he may without discontent or dismay, be supposed to meet the dread messenger who comes indeed to announce the termination of his life's journey, but takes the burden from his back, and translates him, at a breath, from these scenes of sadness to the glorious company of soldiers and apostles; the just men of all climes and ages, made perfect by the life eternal.

I do not mean to insulate, Mr. Chairman, that our friend was dissatisfied, or outlived his usefulness. I mean only to say that he survived his contemporaries, and that in his day there perished a peculiar civilization, which was his delight, of which he was the ornament and the offspring, which it is impossible to condemn, without injustice, or recall without admiration. It was the parent of great men and great deeds, but it has passed forever into dust. Like one of those mighty castles of the Rhine, a shattered relic of a past age and empire, whose broken turrets still receive the first rays of the morning sun, and are the last to resign his setting beams, which still invest the landscape with a sombre glow, but will never again be fitted up for a modern inhabitant!

At the conclusion of Judge Cartwell's fine eulogy, Hon. George Davis moved that the resolutions be adopted and the committee discharged. Carried. On motion the meeting then adjourned. Court was then convened, the sheriff making proclamation of the fact, and His Honor, Judge McKoy, resumed his place on the bench. M. London, Esq., then moved before the court that the resolutions of the meeting of the Bar be spread upon the minutes of the court. So ordered by the Judge, and that a blank page of the docket, with the name and date of death of the deceased be inscribed to his memory.

His Honor, Judge McKoy, then, in a most solemn and impressive manner, reverted to the death of the deceased brother. His Honor said, in accepting these resolutions of the Bar, it tends to bind together more closely the members of the profession. His Honor, in the course of his remarks, referred to an incident that happened in Raleigh during a festive occasion, when the question arose and was discussed, that while immured in his present current events of the day, what entire forgetfulness there was by those living, for those that were dead. His Honor did not agree with the distinguished gentleman who had suggested that remark, and who was now present, for when we forget those who have departed and gone before us—who have only anticipated us by a few short years, at best—it showed that all liberality of feeling and veneration for departed worth and virtue had been crushed out.

There are certain names that still stand exalted; though the bodies of those who bore them have long since crumbled into dust, they stand as some mountain peaks stand, high, prominent among all the rest, as we look back with memory's eye through the long vista of years since we parted. Their illustrious deeds can never die and their revered memory never fade while reason retains her seat and honor and integrity are considered as virtues in human kind.

In our lately departed brother we have lost a gentleman of the highest type, a person of a high order of intellect, and a gentleman of eloquence and refined culture. As a lawyer he maintained the first rank among his cotemporaries; as a patriot there were none more devoted to his country; while in politics he was a statesman; as a general citizen and a companion you will hear his name spoken of by those who knew him intimately with the greatest reverence and affection. He was a link between the present and the past.

Addressing the members of the bar His Honor said: You "my brother laborers" have had many to pass away from among you in a very short time. I make me sad to enter your circle now when I think of the many who have so recently gone from among you. I know of no place where so many bright lights have gone out in so short a time. His Honor closed his remarks by quoting Geo. D. Prentiss, "Thoughts on Eternity."

Judge McKoy's remarks were made extemporaneously, and we have not been able to record them exactly as they were delivered. In this we are sensible of doing the distinguished gentleman scarcely justice for his words were all very apropos to the occasion and at times his remarks were quite eloquent.

At the conclusion of Judge McKoy's remarks the Court adjourned.

Church Services.

Worship in the various churches of the city to-morrow as follows:

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH, corner of Third and Red Cross streets. Rev. George Patterson, D. D., Rector. Dec. 15th, 1878—Third Sunday in Advent. Celebration at 7 1/2 a. m. Morning Prayer at 11 o'clock. Evening Prayer at 4. Sunday School at 3 p. m.

ST. JAMES' PARISH, corner Third and Market streets. Rev. A. A. Watson, D. D., Rector. Dec. 15th, 1878. Third Sunday in Advent. Celebration at 7 1/2 a. m. Morning Prayer at 11 o'clock. Sunday School at 2 1/2 p. m. Evening Prayer at 4 o'clock.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, corner of Market and Fifth streets. Rev. J. B. Taylor, pastor. Services to-morrow at 11 a. m. and 7 1/2 p. m. Sunday School at 9 1/2 a. m. Brooklyn Sunday School at 3 p. m. Young Men's Prayer Meeting Tuesday night at 7 1/2 o'clock. Regular Church Prayer Meeting Thursday night at 7 1/2 o'clock.

T. PAUL'S EVANG. LUTHERAN CHURCH, corner of Sixth and Market streets. Rev. G. D. Bernheim, D. D., pastor. English service at 11 a. m. German service at 7 1/2 p. m. Sunday School at 3 p. m. Catechetical Instruction on Friday at 3 1/2 p. m.

'Stop at the Empire House. This house has been thoroughly refitted and re-furnished and the facilities for the accommodation of its guests have been enlarged and improved. We are determined to make the house as comfortable and desirable in every particular as any in the State. A strictly first-class house, at prices to suit the times. A fine Billiard Parlor and Bar attached. I. L. DOLBY, Proprietor.

Carolina. H. G. Williams, Esq. of Wilson, has been appointed to the position at Washington City made vacant by the death of Maj. Seaton Gales.

Newbern Nut Shell: The residence of Mr. Jas R Bell, at Harlows, Carteret county, was destroyed by fire on Monday night. Mr Bell lost all of his furniture and clothing. The fire originated in an oil to the house, which was used as a kitchen or cooking department.

Fayetteville Gazette: On Monday afternoon, the dwelling on the Albemarle Plank Road, 2 miles from town, formerly the residence of the late Judge Potter, took fire and was consumed. It was owned by Mr E J Lily and was tenanted at the time by colored people. It was insured for $400.

Fayetteville Gazette: Abram Deal, residing on the Wilmington road a short distance from Fayetteville, died last Friday, 6th inst., aged 107 years. He was a soldier in the war of 1812, and was then in middle life, being 41 years old. He was a good citizen, and in many respects a remarkable man.

Newbern Nut Shell: O'Hara vs Kitchen, came up before Judge Seymour on yesterday. The Counsel for the defendants, Messrs H R Bryan and Chas C Clark, filed a demurrer that it did not appear upon the complaint that the plaintiff had any legal right to be enforced, or, in other words, it did not appear whether, if the votes alleged to have been thrown out illegally, were counted for O'Hara, that he would be elected, was held by His Honor to be fatal. His Honor, however, allowed the plaintiff to amend, and gave the defendants ten days to answer.

New Advertisements.

OPERA HOUSE.

One Night Only! Monday Dec. 16!

The Reigning Favorites,

The most Successful Dramatic Organization in America.

MILTON NOBLES

COMEDY COMPANY

Will appear in the powerful American Comedy Drama, written by Milton Nobles, now in its

FIFTH SUCCESSFUL SEASON!

entitled THE PHOENIX.

Carroll Gaates, MILTON NOBLES, Jim Bledsoe.

Other principal characters by Misses Fannie L. Burt, Minnie Florence, Amy Lee, Grace Page, Alonzo Schwartz, Sam E. Ryan, Harry Wentworth, J. W. Summers, J. H. Ready, Harry Mack, etc.

Admission, 75, 50, and 25c.; Reserved Seats, $1 00. Reserved seats for sale at Heinsberger's Book Store, commencing Friday, Dec. 13th. dec 14-2t

GREAT BARGAINS! AT SOL BEAR & BROS.

OFFER ONE OF THE MOST COMPLETE and cheapest stocks of Ready Made Clothing!

AND Gents' Furnishing Goods. In this City or State.

A full and complete stock of custom-made Boots and Shoes at Manufacturer's Prices.

Give us a call before going elsewhere. dec 14 SOL BEAR & BROS.

CHAS. KLEIN, Undertaker and Cabinet Maker.

No. 24 South Front Street, WILMINGTON, N. C.

A fine assortment of Coffins and Cases kept constantly on hand. Furniture Repaired, Cleaned and Varished. Orders by telegraph or mail promptly filled. dec 14

For Xmas. 5 BBL'S 'HONEST CIDER' at 30 cts. per gallon. 50 BBL'S ASSORTED APPLES, Chickens, Eggs and Turkey. For sale cheap by J. M. L. BOYD, Market, between Second and Third sts. dec 14

Don't Forget THAT THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT of HOLIDAY GOODS in the city is at the Live Book Store! Where you will find Just the Article to suit.

Call at once and make your selections. All New Goods, and at prices to suit the Buyers at HEINSBERGER'S, Live Book and Music Store. dec 11

Stamping and Pinking Emporium.

MRS. SPERTNER desires to inform the Ladies of Wilmington and the surrounding country that her New Stock of Embroidery and Braiding Patterns surpasses any in the State. Ladies need wait but a few moments for their work and if not convenient to call for the same it will be sent to their residences without extra charge. Don't forget to call at Second Street, next door to Heinsberger's Bakery. dec 13

Annual Export Table for 1878.

THIS TABLE, WITH NOTE of Values and List of Shipping, will be printed provided a sufficient number of subscribers are obtained. Parties desiring copies are respectfully asked to hand in their orders as soon as possible to JOHN L. CANTWELL, Compiler. dec 13

SUBSCRIBE TO THE DAILY REVIEW. Only 60 cents per month to city subscribers. Office corner Water and Chestnut sts.