Order this morning.

Cotton is flat and holders hold on for a stake.

A great many fences were blown down yesterday.

No City Court this morning; no police arrests last night.

Poultry has "rized" to patriotic prices.
Poor people live on pork.

Fresh pork by the whole hog is selling from 4 to 5 cents per pound.

Genevieve Rogers is booked for this city for the evenings of the 24th and 25th inst.

Fine old fashioned North Carolina hams were selling this morning at 10 cents per pound.

Robins are as thick as the leaves in Vallambrosa—Nimrods are plenty accordingly.

It takes twice as much to pay the officers of the navy as it does all the men in the service.

Dr. Winant's ice machine has proven itself a real success. It was tested again on yesterday.

The walls of the old Brown building which was destroyed by fire some weeks ago were pulled down this morning.

The box-sheet for Bangs was put on sale this morning, and at an early hour most of the choice seats were disposed of.

Advance shad, which are always forerunners of the delicious fresh water shad, are being brought to market. Fishermen predict an early season this year.

J. R. Nichols, M. D., and A. M., of Boston, editor of the Boston Journal of Chemistry, accompanied by his wife and daughter, is in the city, en route for Florida. He is at the Parcell House.

Our statement yesterday, to the effect that Judge McKoy and family would remove to this city, was incorrect, as no such step, we are assured, is in contemplation. It is Judge McKoy's son, Mr.
Thos. H. McKoy, Jr., who is to locate here for the practise of his profession.

In Below.
The British barque North Carolina, Capt. Buchanan, from Liverpool, to Messrs.
Alex Sprunt & Son, is reported in below.
She brings over, as a passenger, Mr. John Neilson, who is the last to return of the
mer en route for Europe and the Paris Exposition.

New Jersey Wine sent to Europe.
The success of Mr. Spear, the great wine man of New Jersey, has arisen from the strict purity and valuable properties of his wines for invalids and feeble persons, and his reputation extends around the world. His Port Grape Wine is now being ordered by families in London and Paris. For sale by J. C. MunDS, Green & Flanner, and P. L. Bridgers & Co.

Dangerous.
We have been requested to call attention to the fact of the careless discharge of fire arms in the vicinity of the city which, if not checked, may yet result in a serious disaster. A few days since two valuable cows, while grazing in the woods not far from Mr. Monk's place, just East of the city, were shot—whether by accident or design is not known—and one of them seriously injured. We call the attention of the proper authorities to the fact, in the hope that the evil may be abated.

The Submarine Diver.
The submarine diver went down this morning and looked around and through the steamer North East which is lying at the bottom of the river, near the foot of Orange street. He remained under water only six minutes, as it was so cold he could not stand it. Captain Paldiscen says that he will have to attend to the work of raising the steamer until warmer weather.

Election of Field Officers.
The officers of the 4th and 5th Battalions (col.) North Carolina State troops, met in this city this morning, pursuant to general order issued by Adjutant-General Johnston Jones, for the election of field officers. The Howard Light Infantry's brass band of Fayetteville is in attendance. The following is the result of the election:

Geo. L. Mahson, of Wilmington, Lieutenant-Colonel.
Abram Holloway, of Fayetteville, Major.

Detective Mayer's Mishap.
Yesterday Mr. Dunn was sitting in the office of the Empire House playing with his wild cat. Tom is permitted to roam only the length of a string which is attached to his collar. Detective Mayer was looking up "dot drummer" and was followed by his pet, a black-and-tan. He started to go in the Empire House and the dog went in first and encountered Tom. The Detective looked at the dog but could detect no pluck there, and finally he caught him by the front legs and tried to coax him into an assault upon Tom, who by this time had gotten his back hair up. His soul was in arms and eager for the fray. He made a leap, gained the dog's back and got the Detective's finger in his mouth and commenced his work of mastication. The Detective freed himself as soon as possible, looked at his bleeding finger and ejaculated with considerable asperity, "By schminy, I pets vive dollar I got's one pull tog vot vips dot tam cat." A stranger, out of the goodness of his heart, offered the Detective some salve to put on his finger, when Mr. Mayer smiled blandly and asked, "Does you sell dat?" The stranger replied in the affirmative. "Vell den, my friend," said Mr. Mayer "Vetes dot lischense."

That Oyster Supper.
Oysters do not agree with some people, and on others they act as an opiate. A "stag" oyster supper is rather demoralizing, and sometimes the sedative charms of this pensive bivalve jeopardizes the temperate habits of the most wary. Last night there was a stag oyster supper given in this city, and this morning there were several headaches registered on the archives of the health reporter. The oysters acted very ungraciously to three young men who attended the banquet.
Two of them, under the influence inspired by the oysters, swore eternal friendship, and thought they would pool their issues and sleep close together. In order to be exceedingly intimate and friendly they took chairs and placed them in opposite corners of a room, and very quietly went to sleep.
After an hour's nap they freed themselves from the embrace of Morpheus; they glared at each other; both turned on their heels and march off in opposite directions; neither had spoken a word to the other; they met with raw hides, and by tacit understanding they commenced to ply the whip, when the less "oystered" man cried "hold, enough." Hands were shaken across the "bloody chasm," and the twin worship-phers of Bacchus—no "oysters" agreed to play a joke on the third man of the party.
He still slept peacefully. They tickled his nose, lips and ears with a straw, but could not awake him. A pack of firecrackers were placed under his chair and yet Mor-pheus claimed his victim. He was dab-bed with tar, and cigar ashes were placed on his hands, but to no effect, and he was labelled "The Seven Sleepers," Barnum's Museum, New York city, C. O. D., 10 cents.

We are glad to hear it. Our druggist informs us that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup sells better than any other medicine, and always gives satisfaction. It's very cheap too, costs only 25 cents a bottle.

They don't know it.
Some people don't know that they are being swindled every time they buy an inferior, short-weight, baking powder. It would be far better to buy and use the old reliable DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER.
Every package of the Dooley Powder is warranted absolutely pure, and strictly full weight; sold by grocers generally.

The New Law Compensating Postmasters.

The Washington Republican says the Postoffice Department is realizing the beneficial effect anticipated from the law which went into effect on the first of July last, changing the mode of compensating postmasters at fourth class offices by allowing them commissions on the amount of stamps cancelled on letters mailed instead of on the amount of stamps sold.

The returns for the quarter ended Sept.
30 have just been adjudicated, and show that the total amount of stamps sold during the quarter was $6,407,973, and the pay of postmasters $1,407,841, or 25 per cent. of the postal revenue for stamps.
During the quarter ended on the 30th of June it required 50.3 per cent. of the amount of stamps sold to pay the compensation of postmasters.

From these figures it appears that the new system saves to the postal revenue 3.5 per cent. of all the stamps sold, and that the savings at this rate during the quarter ended September 30 was $224,- 279, or at the rate of $896,116 per annum.
It is noticed that the amount of stamps sold during the quarter ended on the 1st of July was $381,745 in excess of the amount sold during the succeeding quarters. This excess is accounted for by the fact that advantage was taken of the expiring moments of the old law to secure the large premium it offered on the sale of stamps. A result of the old system was to leave in private hands an undue accumulation of stamps, often obtained at a discount and through traffic and speculation, and as these stamps will now be used in paying postage, the postal revenues are likely to suffer for some time to come. This is indicated by the diminished sales for the first quarter after the expiration of the old law.

The Consumptives Only Hope.
Verily, to most people, whose systems are failing or in any way out of order, Oil as a medicine, is the most disgusting and difficult to take. Few stomachs do not revolt at the mere thought of Castor or Cod Liver Oil, yet, when those appalling symptoms of decay appear which physicians and patients alike know are unerring signs of greater waste of blood and tissue than the nutritive powers are supplying, Cod Liver Oil is the most trustworthy and effective remedy in the world. But repugnance to its taste and odor reduce the nervous patient to despair. It is then that friends and doctor can do him the most inestimable kindness he has ever known, by telling him of Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda; by truthfully assuring him of its entire freedom from unpleasant smell or odor; of its marvelous qualities as a nutrient, and the miracles it works, in giving tone and energy to stomach, nerve and brain.
