THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 29, 1879
Largest City Circulation.

The Gold Room and the New York Stock Exchange and Clearing House, is the title of a new book, by Kinaham Cornwallis, [and making No. 8 of the "Atlas Series," published by A. S. Barnes & Co. As its title would indicate, it is a brief history of those eminently New York institutions from their organization until the present time. It is written in a graphic, terse and vivid style, printed on clear stout paper in large type, and is full of interesting reading matter, especially as showing the fluctuations of the gold market during and after the close of the war. Price 20 cents, and it is well worth the money.

NORTHERN RAIDS UPON THE TREASURY.
Among the several bills presented in the House of Representatives on Monday last was one by Mr. Bliss, of New York, "To provide for the completion of the improvement of the Harlem river, and construction of a canal to the Hudson river."

That is the way the money goes! While only the paltry sum of $25,000 can be appropriated for improvement to the mouth of the Cape Fear, and while other small sums are appropriated for the benefit of harbors anywhere in the South, the city of New York, (which is to be solely benefited by the above appropriation,) which has one of the largest water fronts in the world, can call for an outlay of one or two millions with a fair prospect of having her wishes gratified. Millions were called for and granted for the removal of the obstructions at Hell Gate without any objection from any one. The appropriation in that case was rendered, and the removal of the obstructions made.

The River and Harbor bill, as passed on the 18th inst., appropriates $2,500,000 less than that of last year. This reduction is made principally by taking from the amount usually allotted to the rivers of the South, where it is the most needed. The condition of our harbors and rivers, which were not only entirely neglected, (as a matter of course,) but seriously injured during the progress of the late war, demand, as a matter of national prosperity and national wealth, a large outlay of money in their improvement, but the powers that be have doled out the merest pittance with the most grudging niggardliness. The parsimony, and meanness with which Congress has appropriated money for the benefit of the South has resulted, in many instances, in a mere waste of money. This is notably the fact in the case of the appropriations for improvements at the mouth of the Cape Fear, for while a liberal policy and a judicious expenditure of money at the inception of the work would have proved a permanent and substantial benefit, it has been squeezed out in such disproportionately small amounts that but little practical good has resulted as yet.

Now, while the people are jubilant over the economical idea that $2,500,000 have been saved to the country by cutting down the river and harbor appropriations, let us see how much it will be, actually reduced, providing the bill of Mr. Bliss should pass. It must be borne in mind, however, that the saving is obtained mostly by cutting down the appropriations for the South.

His bill calls for $1,600,000, which is entirely outside of the general appropriation, and that amount must be added to the amount fixed for the North, which already has the lion's share. By this it will be seen that the actual reduction will only be $900,000, and while the South receives very much less, the North will secure as much or more than on previous years.

Verily, those Yankees are sharp and cunning legislators, but we hope that every Congressman from the South will meet this movement squarely and clip the wings of these greedy vampires of the North.

WASHINGTON LETTER.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 18, 1879.

Though it is true that six appropriation bills yet await final action, it is equally true that there will be trouble in passing only one or two of them. All but two—the Sunday Civil and the Legislative, Executive and Judicial—are through the House.

Yesterday, by a more than two-thirds vote, the House passed a bill appropriating $27,000,000 to carry out the pension arrears act, and by a very large majority passed the deficiency bill, appropriating two and half millions, and the river and harbor appropriating about six millions.

The Senate yesterday in considering the internal revenue bill, the principal interest in which centres in the tax on tobacco, cigars, snuff, &c., did not agree fully to the reductions proposed by the House. It did, however, indicate a willingness to a reduction, and its amount will be fixed by conference between the two Houses. The reduction is proper in itself. No other product of country was so enormously taxed. But the reduction involves a loss of revenue, and it is now too late to reduce government expenses correspondingly. We are doing what must lead to an increase of the bonded debt. The only possible escape from this seems to be the proposition of Senator Stanley Matthews last night, which will be voted on to-day, and which is to impose a tax on tea and coffee.

This is certainly the most unpopular of taxes, but it is one certain to bring a large amount of money into the Treasury. The figures named by Senator Matthews were ten cents per pound on tea and two and a half cents on coffee.

Mr. Potter's Committee yesterday examined John F. Coyle, a Washington man, who was one of the Democrats who went South after Mr. Tilden was elected in 1876. Mr. Coyle testified that he was authorized when he set out to draw money for legitimate purposes. He did not attempt to purchase anybody. His testimony showed various inaccuracies in the Tribune's despatches.

To-day the Post Office Appropriation bill will come up in the Senate. The chief interest in it arises from the fact that the Senate will probably attach a provision giving $150,000 per year for ten years to each of two steamship lines to South America. It is now probable the vote will be close in the Senate and in the House also, but the chances seem favorable for the project.

Mr. Hayes has done better than was expected of him in appointing Rev. Joseph P. Thompson Minister to Germany. Mr. Thompson is recognized throughout the Christian world as a scholar of eminence, and he is a popular writer. He may have no special qualifications for the office, but cannot be as objectionable as are many of those who have been named for the place.

A portion of the Republican press is attempting to bulldoze the Senate into the absurd act of undergoing what it did a year ago in the matter of the South Carolina Senatorship by displacing Senator Butler and admitting Corbin. It is beyond doubt that Butler was duly elected. Even the carpet-bag Radical Senators, one of whom lived in the neighboring State of Florida the other in South Carolina and who may be supposed to know all about his case even if they know little else, voted to seat Butler. This new effort of the Radical papers is in reality an attempt to injure the party standing of Blaine and some other Republicans who, it is thought, would vote against admitting Corbin.

Maj. J. A. Engelhard.
The announcement of the death of Maj. Engelhard, Secretary of State of North Carolina, will cause deep regret for the Confederacy had no braver soldier or more faithful citizen. At the end of the war he was Adjutant-General of Wilcox's Division, and had so distinguished himself as to be recommended for promotion to the rank of Brigadier-General.

Pure, earnest, unselfish and devoted to his State and the South, Maj. Engelhard was esteemed and admired in civil life as when he wore the gray.

When Tom Chrysal was here last fall, passing along Cornhill, he noticed a sign in a bookstore, "Old Books Rebound." He entered and remarked to the proprietor: "Your sign there doesn't tell the truth." "How so?" said the storekeeper. "Well, it says 'old books rebound,' when as a matter of fact they don't." Age does not impart resilience to a printed volume. I'll prove to you by actual experiment." So saying, he took up a second-hand Shakespeare and banged it violently on the floor, following it up with a copy of Milton and some Patent Office Reports. "There, you see old books don't rebound worth a cent." Just then he caught the expression of the bookseller's eye, and bounded and rebounded if he reached the sidewalk. Solemn fact.—Boston Traveller.

The New Dog Law.
The following is a copy of the new dog law which has passed both Houses of the Virginia Legislature:
Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Virginia, That any person so desiring may obtain from the Commissioner of the Revenue of his city or county a license to keep a dog or dogs, paying therefor to the treasurer for one dog the sum of one dollar, and for each additional dog the sum of fifty cents the license to contain the description and names of such dog or dogs; and upon the receipt of such license such persons may have such dog or dogs listed for taxation by the Commissioner. Any dog so listed is hereby declared personal property. Larceny of any such dog shall be deemed petit larceny and prosecutions for trespass upon the same shall be for a misdemeanor. But no offense under this act shall be punished with stripes. In any prosecution under this act the defendant shall be allowed to testify in his own behalf.

2 The auditor of Public Accounts shall prescribe a tag, to be paid for by the owner of the dog, which shall be worn by each dog listed and taxed, as provided in the first section.

3 Nothing contained in this act shall be construed as interfering with special laws imposing a tax on dogs in any county in the Commonwealth, or with any general statute of the State already in force in reference to dogs.

4 This act shall be in force from its passage.

The Manhattan Bank Robbery.
The Herald, of the 12th, says after nearly half a year of failure the police seem to have captured one of the Manhattan Bank burglars. Young Hope, who has been suspected of being one of the men who watched the outside of the bank while the thieves were operating upon the safe, was arrested Monday night, at the Olympic Theatre, and the three persons who claim to have seen a man about the bank early on the morning of the robbery believe they have fully identified him. If Hope was really one of the party it is quite likely that he himself may be "worked successfully enough to divulge the names of some or all of his accomplices. Should the case end in the discovery and conviction of the gang there will be a comparative scarcity of skilled labor in the specialty of bank breaking for some years to come.

Fraud at the Races.
CHARLESTON, S. C., February 17.—Ben Pope, alias Rabbit, colored, who rode Mary Walton in the mile dash on the last day of the race here, confessed that he pulled the mare all the way around the track, and allowed Ben Hill to beat him having been paid $25 cash and the pool tickets, $39 on Hill by the latter's owner, Atchison, to do so. Atchison and his jockey were both quilled off the track by the South Carolina jockey club, and arrested to-day for conspiracy to defraud, the prosecutor being persons who purchased pools on Mary Walton. They waived examination and were bound over in $50 each to appear for trial at the June term of the Sessions Court. A warrant was issued against Crae, owner of the mare, but he has left the State.

The pools and bets had all been paid, and much indignation exists in sporting circles against the parties.

Nerve Inquietude and its Remedy.
Nerve inquietude, at least those that are constantly on, are weak cases as well. The time way to tranquility than thoroughly to strengthen them. It may be very sudden in its origin, or may develop into a serious case, but in an alarming number of cases of nervous inquietude, but the continued use of such unnatural palliatives, is greatly to be deprecated. Though not in a restricted sense, a specific for nervousness, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is eminently calculated to allay and eventually overcome it, a fact which the recorded experience of many goes to substantiate. This inestimable tonic, by promoting digestion, assimilation and secretion, touches the three key notes upon which the harmony of all the bodily organs depends, and the result is that fresh stores of vitality are diffused through the system, of which the nerves receive their due proportionment, and grow tranquil as they approach strength.

LIVER
This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person about three gallons) passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities strained or filtered from it. Bile is the natural purgative of the bowels. If the liver becomes torpid it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the veins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, causes it to turn yellow or a dirty brown color. The stomach becomes diseased and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. Mental depression, the great vegetable discovery for torpidity, causes the liver to throw off from one to two ounces of bile each time the blood passes through it, as long as there is an excess of bile; and the effect of even a few doses upon yellow complexion or a brown dirty looking skin, will astonish all who try it—they below the first symptoms to disappear. The cure is made certain by taking HEPATINE in accordance with directions. Headache is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no disease arising from the liver can exist if a fair trial is given.

BLOOD
Grave mistakes are made in the treatment of all diseases that arise from poison in the blood. Not one case of Scrophulous, Syphilitic, or Swelling Throat, or all diseases of the blood, is treated without the use of Mercury in some form. Mercury rots the bones, and the disease it produces are worse than any other kind of blood or skin disease can be. DR. PEMBERTON'S SILLINGIA OR QUINA'S DELIGHT is the only medicine upon which a hope of recovery from Scrophulous, Syphilitic and Mercurial diseases in all stages, can be reasonably founded, and that will cure Cancer. $50,000 will be paid by the proprietors if Mercury, or any ingredient not purely vegetable and harmless can be found in it.

Appleton's Journal for 1879.
THE PROPRIETORS OF APPLETON'S JOURNAL will henceforth devote exclusively to literature of a high order of excellence, by writers of acknowledged standing.
It is the growing habit of the leading minds in all countries to contribute their best intellectual work to the magazines and reviews; and in order that Appleton's Journal may adequately reflect the intellectual activity of the time thus expressed, it will add to its pages a selection of the most noteworthy critical, speculative, and progressive papers that come from the pens of those writers.
Fiction will still occupy a place in the Journal, and descriptive papers will appear; but large places will be given to the hearing upon literary and art topics, to discussions of social and political progress, to papers addressed distinctly to the intellectual tastes of the public, or devoted to subjects in which the public welfare or public literature is concerned.
Terms of Appleton's Journal—Three dollars per annum in advance, postage prepaid by the publishers, to all subscribers in the United States or Canada; or Twenty-five cents per number. A Club of Five Copies Subscriptions will entitle the subscriber to an extra subscription gratis; that is, five copies will be sent one year for the price of four. Appleton's Journal and the Popular Science Monthly, for one year, for seven dollars, postage prepaid (half price, eight dollars).
The volumes begin January and July of each year. Subscriptions received for any length of time.
