Death and Burial of Dr. Wm. E.

Miscellaneous

Freemar. Since our last issue Dr. William E

Freeman has breathed his last, and yesterday afternoon his body was followed to the grave by a large concourse of people, representing all classes of our citizens. About 2 o'clock Sunday morning worn out by the fearful struggle with disease, he succumbed quietly and peacefully to the hand of death and his unconscious spirit yielded with scarcely a struggle. The funeral procession yesterday afternoon moved from his late residence on Front Street to the Methodist Church, where a dense throng had already assembled to pay the last sad tribute of respect to the deceased. The corpse was met in the aisle by Rev. Mr. Yates, the Pastor of the Church, who preceeded it up to the front of the pulpit, reading the funeral sentences. Rev. Dr. Burkhead, Presiding Elder, Rev. Mr. Hall Pastor of the Fifth Street Church, Rev. Dr. Wilson of the First Presbyterian and Rev. Mr. Taylor, of the First Baptist Church, occupied seats in the pulpit. All of these ministers participating in the services. The pall bearers were Dr. A. J. DeRosset, Col. J. G. Burr, Col. Roger Moore. and Messrs. B. F. Mitchell, B. G.

Worth and F. J. Lord. Seldom is a community called upon to mourn so bumane and charitable a man as the subject of this notice. Dr. Freeman was truly a good man and had the respect and affection of all classes of our people. He was a friend to the poor, and many tear from the widow and fatherless will bedew the memory of their benefactor and invoke from the Almighty those blessed words of commendation that, "Inasmuch as ve have done it to the least of these, ye have done it unto me."

Mere eulogistic sentences will not show the great estimation in which he was held. nor the beautiful simplicity and charity of

'A life well spent, whose early care it was His riper years should not upbraid his green."

He will prove a great loss to the community-one that will be long felt. But he has passed away full of years and good deeds, and is asleep in the bosom of his

One of his children started to get him a glass of milk, but before she returned he said that he would go and lie down, and attempted to walk across the room for that purpose when he staggered and would have fallen had not one of the family caught him and assisted him to his bed. A physician was immediately summoned and was promptly in attendance, but he found the patient uncon scious and unable to swallow. Medicines were administered by perdermically, but without avail. He lingered until about 10 o'clock this morning, when he expired as above stated. His physician pronounced his disease appoplexy.

Colonel Devane was about 51 years o age, was born in Sampson county, in this State, graduated at Chapel Hill, studied practiced his profession for many years. During the war he was Colonel of the 61st North Carolina regiment and was wounded twice very severely during the spinal column. Since the close of the fendant being at the time

Fire in the Woods.

We learn that there was a fire in the woods on the "Hamilton place," about 4 miles from the city, on the old Newbern road, last Saturday night, by which large number of turpentine trees were ruined and a large amount of fencing was destroyed.

Another Fire. A small one-story frame house, owned and occupied by Mr. John A. Sanders, situated on the plank road, about 4 miles from the city, was destroyed by fire last Friday night 21st inst, about 10 o'clock, The building and furniture became a total loss. No insurance. Supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

A Cheap Craft.

The sloop Pomona, a little flat-bottomed centre-board craft, with sails, rigging, &c.. complete, was sold at auction on Saturday last by Messrs. Cronly & Morris, auctioneers, for $125, Mr. D. L. Gore having become the purchaser. It was very cheap for her, as it would probably cost five times that sum to duplicate the craft. Mr. Gore got a bargain.

On Ireland.

Those who fail to hear Col. McRae at the Opera House to-morrow evening, in his lecture on Ireland, will miss what has been designated by one conversant with it as the finest effort of the distinguished lecturers life. It will be the last of the series which has been in progress here for the benefit of the Wilmington Library Association and if the balmy weather which is with us to-day should continue the audience at the Opera House tomorrow evening will probably be one of the largest of the season. A Deserved Compliment. Major Jno. W. Dunham, the efficient Clerk of the OrimnalCourt of this county, received a handsome compliment from one of the members of the bar in open court last week, when Jno. L. Homes, Esq. stated that he had never detected Maj. Dunham in a mistake, that his books and papers were in proper condition at all times and the clerk always able and willing to give any information concerning the routine busines of the Court. To this we will add our own testimony, that the gentleman is never otherwise than courtcous and affable to the numerous inquiries that our duty as reporter compels us to make of the Clerk during the term of Court, and we believe this to be the general opinion of those who have business at Major Dunham's desk.
