Down in Georgia, says the Louisville Courier-Journal, they are in favor of removing the tax on quinine and putting it on dogs. Changing the duty on hats, as it were.

In Paris thirty-five years ago stores of all kinds were open on Sunday morning. Now all large establishments are closed, and only a few of the smaller are open. In Italy, too, labor is much more restricted on Sunday than formerly.

There is a free fight among the New York gas companies, and the price of the article has fallen. The gas companies wish it to be distinctly understood that it is competition and not the prospective electric light which gives New York cheaper illumination.

A hisping boy was out in the back yard pounding on a tin pan. The father came in tired and sullen, and being disturbed by the noise cried out: "What is turned loose in the back yard, a wild animal?" The little fellow replied, "Yeth, thir, it's a pan thir."

Field bakeries form part of the train of nearly every European army. Despite these arrangements, it has in recent wars been frequently found impossible to supply the large armies with fresh bread from day to day; and it seems likely that the attempt to do so will be abandoned, and biscuit issued instead of bread.

The French Republicans are doing what they can to help the Imperialists. That Marshal MacMahon should have been refused permission to attend the funeral of the only son of the Prince who made him a Marshal of France and a Duke can only be regarded as an act of judicial madness.

Old Aunt Sarah Fields, a negro woman of Blue Ridge, Ky., firmly believed that she must die, be buried, and rise again on the third day, in order that her race should be benefited. The accommodating boys of her neighborhood gave her chloroform and left her in a graveyard, so that when she awoke she thought that the desired miracle had been wrought. She is now waiting for the good result.

The following named persons are advised to study the thermometer in hot weather and to take their ease as much as possible: "Persons past the prime of life, persons addicted to the free use of liquor, dyspeptics—especially dyspeptics with overworked heads—and the whole order of men and women with shaken nervous systems, whether from the presence of chronic diseases, especially heart disease, or from any other cause."

In clearing away the ruins of the South, ern Hotel, in St. Louis, which have been lying unimproved since the burning in 1877, the remains of a human being were found. It is thought that many other remains will be discovered in the removal of the debris. In the past few days considerable quantities of silverware and jewelry have been found, also gold watches and trunks of clothing. A portion of Kate Claxton's wardrobe is among the salvage taken out.

The New York World publishes a list of persons killed and wounded by the use of firearms and fireworks on the Fourth of July. It fills an entire column, though each casualty is narrated in the briefest style, and is doubtless very incomplete. There are eighteen fatalities, not including Mr. Seymour, and the wounded sum up 107, many of which are so serious that they will probably result in death. It is truly said that if a complete list could be made the casualties would be found to equal that of a very respectable South American battle.

A member of Congress, in disposing of his unadministered assets before leaving Washington, sent two bottles of old Bourbon whiskey to a member of the Cabinet, accompanied by the following note, which is too good to be lost: "Eubitt, June 30, 1879.—Hon. Dear—: Please accept the accompanying—'twin relics' of a Bourbon dynasty. If you find in these chosen vessels any spirit of revolution put it down. Very truly yours."

The English papers are still full of incidents connected with the Prince Imperial's life and death. The Empress has formally expressed to the Duke of Cambridge her complete exoneration of Lord Chelmsford from all blame in respect of the Prince Imperial's death. On the 24th of June the Empress received the last letters written by her son. So far she has not dared to open them, and they remain at Chislehurst as they arrived. When the news of the Prince Imperial's death reached the Prince of Wales so great was his grief that those who were present thought he would have fainted.

ZACH CHANDLER THE BOXER.

It has been cause for some little wonder with us how Mr Zach Chandler, of Michigan, could have the courage to dare to include in such philippic as he has occasionally hurled against the South and her people, in the face of so many Confederate Brigadiers. We have noticed that he has never made any elaborately prepared speech upon any of the vitally important subjects which claimed the attention of the Congress whose session has just terminated, but that he has, at times, risen in his place in the Senate Chamber, to hurl imprecations upon the South generally, and upon Jefferson Davis in particular. It has seemed like an eccentric case of dotage or vintage, which could only be relieved by such an ebullition which he was kindly permitted to do by the presiding officer, and which no Senator considered it worthy to notice. We had not the remotest idea that under these periodic growls and menaces was hidden a sinister motive, least of all did we imagine they were intended to provoke a conflict.

It is more than possible, however, that we have been mistaken, and that every menace of his had a fighting import; that he was prepared and eager for the fray, and would have made lively times for any one who should have the foolishness to take up the gauntlet which he threw so defiantly down. To the ears of an eager interviewer, he recently considered the important fact that he is a scientific pugilist, and from the manner in which he made the statement we are led to infer that his speeches had no noble meaning, but were intended to arouse the wrath of the "B. Brigadiers" to such a degree that some one of them would "pitch in." Fortunately he did not succeed. Here is what "Mizzer" Chandler says of himself as a boxer.

"Many years ago I determined to take a course of training in boxing, and I employed one of the best trainers in the country, the man who trained Herman for his famous prize-fight before the war. I was under this man's charge for at least six months, and in that time became an adept in using my fists. I got a first class muscle and have preserved it to this day. No person in the Senate suspects that I am a boxer or that I can strike a blow of iron, but if I am ever assailed my assailant will discover that I can defend myself without resorting to weapons."

We rejoice that the "Rebel Brigadiers" pursued the mild-mannered course which they did, and were not led into the trap which the Michigan pugilist had laid for them. It would have been a deplorable sight to see that host of "unreconstructed Rebel Brigadiers" pitch into the fight with that old "rebel yell" ringing through the Senate Chamber, and have them all knocked into "smitherens" by Michigan muscle. We hope that a proper caution will restrain our impulsive delegation in Congress for the future; at least so long as the man who took lessons in pugilism from Herman's trainer occupies a seat in the Senate. They have escaped any dire calamity thus far; let us hope that now, with the important knowledge before them, they may with becoming prudence manage to avoid a collision which would result in disaster.

THE CHINESE COMING.

A San Francisco dispatch to the Baltimore Sun says a great increase of emigrants from China has set in and promises to continue. One thousand are just landed; 1,500 came in the two preceding weeks. One thousand landed at Portland, Oregon. All sail ships now bring full complements, and Hong Kong advices say that passage is engaged ahead estimated at 20,000. Like swarming bees, the crowds of China are on the wing, seeking room for life where food is accessible. Not an easy task to stop the flight of a nation swarming.

Here is what "Mizzer" Chandler says of his Presidential chances, to an interviewer of the New York Star: "Do you think Blaine has a chance?" "Yes, he has a chance—only a chance, though he may be the nominee. No one now mentioned has more than a chance. The politicians will kill Sherman off, and if the contest gets down to a bitter one, a negative man may be taken up, say Washburne or Zach Chandler." "What of Chandler's chances?" "Well, there is a disposition in some quarters to ridicule the thought of his nomination, and yet in my intercourse with the people I find that there is a decided sentiment favoring Chandler. He has courage. The people like a courageous man. I don't think Chandler has any Presidential aspirations, but the Republican party could do a good deal further for a candidate and fare a good deal worse."

The Republicans also like a modest man and the above shows Mr. Chandler to be a modest man—very. The radical war in this State has been thus far a triumph for John Sherman; Thomas Powers, collector of internal revenue for the Second District of North Carolina, has been removed and the position given to Elihu A. White, but who Elihu A. White is, or where he came from, is more than we ken.

MOONSHINE.

Ajax defied the lightning, but it is worthy of remark that the Jersey variety was not then invented.

We regret to hear that some country folks now write letters to their city relatives, telling them the potato bug has broken out badly in their neighborhood, and is catching—Oil City Derrick.

A London newspaper relates that when a Frenchman, who fell overboard from the steamer which took the Cuban Club back from Greenich, was rescued and returned to the deck, the first thing he courteously said was that he hoped he had not kept the steamer waiting.

A wife wanted her husband to sympathize with her in a feminine quarrel, but he refused, saying: "I've lived long enough to know that one woman is as good as another, if not better." "And I," retorted the wife, "have lived long enough to know that one man is as bad as another, if not worse."

A certain colonial legion now extinct possessed at one time an officer who would have well passed for our brother to Mrs. Malaprop. His son became a victim to the tender passion, and while the spooning was at its hottest, S—"of our—" meets Malaprop here, and says: "Oid fellow, is it true that your son Joe is engaged to Miss Dax? Every one talks so." "It matters not little, Captain S—," replies Malaprop, pompously, "what people talk. There are always so many canards flying about that it is difficult to believe anything. Whatever I hear, I swallow with a dose of salts. Joe is not affianced. Miss Dax has certainly snatched him, completely snatched him. He has put other shooters down dead as a dog; but no betrothal is on the tapes. That will come, I suppose, of course; when I hardly know—but post mortem, I fancy."—Chambers' Journal.

Intemperance among the women of Springfield, Mass., has excited the alarm of a local temperance society. The Republican says that two women who were richly dressed, and who are accustomed to move in the city's best society, went shopping while so obviously drunk as to attract the attention of all who saw them. These not the only women of good social position who have been seen in public, within a few months, the worse for wine or something stronger.

A beheaded Kansas rooster still lives, after four months of decapitation. He is fed at the throat, and is in good health. The head was cut off at the base of the brain without injuring the spinal column.

A Fool Once More. "For ten years my wife was confined to her bed with such a complication of ailments that no doctor could tell what was the matter or cure her, and I used up a small fortune in humbug stuff. Six months ago I saw a U. S. flag with Hop Bitters on it, and I thought I would be a fool once more. I tried it, but my folly proved to be wisdom. Two bottles cured her. She is now as well and strong as any man's wife, and it cost me only two dollars. Such folly pays. H. W., Detroit, Mich.

LIFE IN A BOTTLE.

The Most Valuable Medical Discovery Known to the World—No More Use for Quinine, Calomel or Mineral Poisons—Life for the Blood, Strength for the Nerves, and Health for All.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC

Believing that by cleansing the blood and building up the constitution was the only true way of banishing disease and being troubled with weakness of the lungs, catarrh, very much broken down in constitution, &c., and after trying the best physicians and paying out my money for many sides of medicine advertised without finding a permanent cure, I began doctoring myself, using medicines made from roots and herbs. I fortunately discovered a wonderful medicine called Root Bitters, the first bottle of which gave me new life and vigor, and in time effected a permanent cure. I was free from catarrh, my lungs became strong and sound, being able to stand the most severe cold and exposure, and I have gained over thirty pounds in weight. Feeling confident that I had made a wonderful discovery in medicine, I prepared a quantity of the Root Bitters, and was in the habit of giving them away to sick friends and neighbors. I found the medicine effected the most wonderful cures of all diseases caused from impure or acrid blood in the blood, Impure Blood, Catarrh, Weakness, Bilious Diseases, Torpid Liver, &c., &c. The news of my discovery in this way spread from one person to another until I found myself called upon to supply patients with medicine far and wide, and I was induced to establish a laboratory for compounding and bottling the Root Bitters in large quantities, and I now devote all my time to this business.

I was at first backward in presenting either myself or discovery in this way to the public, not being a patent medicine man and with small capital, but I am getting bravely over that. Since I first advertised this medicine I have been crowded with orders from druggists and country dealers, and the hundreds of letters I have received from persons cured, prove the fact that no remedy ever did so much good in so short a time and had so much success as the Root Bitters. In fact, I am convinced that they will soon take the lead of all other medicines in use. Nearly one hundred retail druggists, right here at home in Cleveland, now sell Root Bitters, some of whom have already sold over one thousand bottles.

Root Bitters are strictly a medical preparation, such as was used by the good old days of our forefathers, when people were cured by some simple root or plant, and when calomel and other poisons of the mineral kingdom were unknown.

They act strongly on the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels regular and build up the nervous system. They penetrate every part of the body, searching out every nerve, bone and tissue from the head to the feet, cleansing and strengthening the fountain springs of life, hence they must reach all diseases by purification and nourishment.

No matter what your ailment or symptoms are, what the disease or ailment is, use Root Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick, but if you only feel bad or miserable, use the Bitters at once. It may save your life.

Thousands of persons in all parts of the country are already using Root Bitters. They have saved many lives of a man whose wife had been given up by friends and physicians to die, and have permanently cured many old chronic cases of Catarrh, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, and Skin Diseases, where all other treatments had failed. Are you troubled with a sick headache, costiveness, dizziness, weakness, bad taste in the mouth, nervousness, and broken down in constitution? You will be cured if you take Root Bitters. Have you humors and pimples on your face or skin? Nothing will give you such good health, strength, and beauty as Root Bitters.

I know that jealous physicians will cry humbug because my discovery cures so many of their patients, but I care not. It is now my desire and determination to place my Root Bitters as fast as possible within the reach of all those suffering throughout the world. Sold by wholesale and retail druggists and country merchants, or sent by express on receipt of price, $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles $5.00. For certificates of wonderful cures, see my large circular around each bottle of medicine. Read and judge for yourself.

Ask your druggist or merchant for FRAZIER'S ROOT BITTER, the great Blood Cleanser, and take no substitute; he may recommend because he makes a large profit. G. W. FRAZIER, Discoverer. 335 Superior St., Cleveland O.
