Black velvet bracelets are revived. They will be ornamented with gilt buckles, not brilliants.

The temperature has been delightful to-day, with the wind from the Northeast and with clouds to intercept the sun.

The reason that there are so few dumb women in the world is, that the disappointment at finding themselves unable to talk kills them off early in life.

All hair pins look alike to men, but let a wife go off on a visit, and come home and find a hair pin near the door, and she can't wait a minute to grow red in the face.

Young ladies who wish to have small mouths, are advised to repeat this at free quiet intervals during the day: 'Fanny Finch fried the floundering frogs for Francis Fowler.'

It is asserted that many cases of sun-stroke in warm weather, in the female sex, are really a vertigo, caused by frequent turning of the head to look at other women's clothes and bonnets.

The really charming toilets of the season are those which no one looked for, and no one has ever seen in general wearing, and these are the results of individual taste, and wondrous patience.

Beach on Fire.

Last night, during the prevalence of the storm, the dry sea weed and grass on the Massonboro beach was either set fire to by the lightning or someone on the beach and burned at a rapid rate. For a short time the Bank's House and a fisherman's house were in imminent danger of being burned, but the wind shifted and set the flames back from them.

The Rain here Last Night, and the Storm Hereabouts.

About 9 o'clock last night the hearts of our community were made glad at the prospect of rain which, to all appearances, judging from the dark and lowering clouds overhead and the vivid flashes of lightning, accompanied by peals of thunder, was imminent. Oh, ever thus from childhood's hour we've seen our fondest hopes—and so forth. The rain came not in torrents, as we had all anticipated and fondly hoped for, nor yet even in sufficient quantity to slake the parched earth or revive the drooping vegetation hereabouts. But we are happy to know that in some sections of our dried up country, contiguous to this city, there were copious showers. On the Sound, at Wrightsville and Masonboro, we learn, there was quite a storm of rain and wind, though without doing any material damage, as near as we can ascertain. But along the line of the W. & W. R. R., from Goldsboro to Magnolia, we understand there was quite a severe storm, doing considerable damage to the corn and cotton crops, besides destroying fences and uprooting numerous fruit and forest trees, some fifty telegraph poles, within the space above described, were also blown down. We are gratified to know, however, that there was no loss of life, and as far as we have been able to ascertain at this present writing, no destruction of buildings. For much of this information we are indebted to Capt. A. H. Outts, conductor on the W. & W. R. R., who came in this morning. Captain Outts further informs us that the rain extended from Rocky Point all the way to Weldon.

Water on Main Bar.

It is now officially stated by the Superintendent of the Coast Survey that "there is a continued increase of water, on the Baldhead Bar of Cape Fear river. The last soundings are now 12 feet at mean low water." This means 16½ to 17 feet on high water and with easterly winds prevailing 17½ to 18 feet of water may be had there on high tide.

A Plunge in Old Ocean.

Quits a party of young ladies and gentlemen, some twenty or thirty in number, enjoyed a dip and a plunge in the surf from Wrightsville beach yesterday morning, about 7 o'clock. Some of the party represent the current as being so strong that they could make no headway against it, so that they were forced to go up the beach and drift along with the current in order to enjoy the pleasure of the sport.

Bold Attempt at Burglary.

This morning, just before daybreak, the residence of Mr. A. V. Sykes was burglariously entered, the would-be thieves being decidedly bold and impudent. An entrance was effected through a window on the North side of the house which opens into the kitchen. Mr. Sykes being a little hard of hearing was not aroused by them until they had thoroughly ransacked the house and had entered his sleeping apartments.

Two colored men entered the house and after tying up a bundle of clothing and putting them in the window crept into the bed room; one of them seized Mrs. Sykes by the throat while the other tried to pull the rings from her fingers. She by touching her husband woke him, who gave chase to the thieves and ran them through the window and out into the street. Mr. Sykes snapped his pistol twice at the scoundrels but as the pistol was rusty it would not revolve or explode. The house has been burglariously entered several times but neither of the former attempts were characterized by the boldness and impudence of the one this morning. A roundsman on his beat saw one of the thieves running but as no alarm had been given and the thief was some distance ahead of him he did not give chase.

Mr. T. B. Henderson offers for rent three or four very pleasant rooms,

A Pretty Window Plant.

Ladies who never tried the experiment may, at a trifling expense, have a beautiful hanging plant in the east or south window of the sitting-room, that will grow very thrifty and retain its rich green color for months.

Take a round piece of coarse, cheap sponge and soak it thoroughly in warm water until it is fully expanded. Squeeze out most of the water, and in the opened holes of the sponge thrust rice, oats, barley, grass, millet and red clover seed. Hang this improvised flower pot where the sun will reach it during a portion of the day, and for a week after depositing the seeds above mentioned, sprinkle the sponge lightly every morning, to keep the inside damp, but not wet.

In a little while the seeds will commence to push out their spry leaves from every part of the sponge, and, falling down in graceful tendrils as they rapidly increase, there will soon be formed a pretty mass of flowing green fringe, that will remain bright and cheerful to the eye for along time. If carefully sprinkled later on, the clover will bloom before the mass decays at the roots.

Drowned.

This afternoon, about 4.30 o'clock, a seaman belonging to the Norwegian brig Diana, now leading on the western side of the river, fell between the brig and the wharf and was drowned. The man, whose name was John—, was a Swede and was quite young. We could not ascertain exactly the cause of the accident or the unfortunate man's full name or residence.

We are having a touch now of that cold wave from the Northwest which was foretold by the New York Herald's weather bureau. And this reminds us of the fact that a venerable citizen of this place has predicted that it will be almost cold enough here next week for frost.

Quite a large crowd went down on the Passport this morning, the occasion being the eighth of the family excursions given by Prof. Agostini.

Be careful about drinking too much ice water during the heat of the day. A moderate use of it will not hurt but an excess may prove very injurious.

A moist sponge or piece of cloth resting upon the head will prove advantageous to those who have to work or walk much in the sun.

The watermelons and canteloupes that have thus far made their appearance in our market are indifferent, both in size and quality. The crop, it is feared, will be very materially injured by the drought.

Persons in want of pure fresh milk would do well to read advertisement published elsewhere and profit by it.

Last night's rain did not extend anywhere along the Carolina Central Railway.

Success in the Stock Market.

Few people understand how large fortunes are amassed so rapidly in stock operations. Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N. Y., have just published "two unerring rules for success," and full details, so that any one can operate—Mailed free. Their new combination system of dealing in stocks is wonderfully profitable. By this method thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one immense capital, and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of vast capital and best skill. Profits divided every 30 days. $15 would make $75 profit, $100 would return $1,000, or 10 per cent on the stock in the month, and so on, according to the market. A New York Fashion Editress (and prominent newspaper correspondent, made over 375 per cent profit on an investment, Oct. 5th, 1878. Many others are doing as well or better. Large or small amounts can be used with equal proportionate success by this system. All kinds of stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Apply to Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y. City.

Honored and Blessed.

When a board of eminent physicians and chemists announced the discovery that by combining some well-known valuable remedies, the most wonderful medicine was produced, which would cure such a wide range of disease that most all other remedies could be dispensed with many were sceptical; but proof of its merits by actual trial has dispelled all doubt and to-day the discoverers of that great Medicine, Hop Bitters, are honored and blessed by all as benefactors.

It is ordered to London and Paris, where it is becoming very popular among wealthy families. For sale by J. C. Munds, P. L. Bridges & Co. and Green & Flanner Aul. 1-
