The perfume of flowers is a valuable disinfectant. This weather gives a cheerful look to the umbrella menders.

We regret to learn that Mrs. Thos W. Player is no better to-day. The steamship Regulator was hauled on the marine railway this morning.

Now lovers stroll the seaside beach, with thoughts far too eloquent for speech. Barkeepers know how to make brandy go to smash without breaking the bottle.

Don't get scared, but get clean, is the best maxim for cities during yellow fever times. Summer heat has the effect of making people in one place want to go to some other place.

Ladies who ride are adopting the English jockey cap in place of the silk hat so long worn. Yellow is the coming color, which is to make wives look beautiful, and husbands "billious."

Poor we may be, but we would scorn to walk 550 miles in a week for a pitiful $2,000. We will not do it.

The shower of last night night was as refreshing as "the first kiss of a sweet girl graduate." Oh! George.

The next excursion under the auspices of Prof. Agostini will take place on Thursday 31st inst., instead of Friday as originally intended.

There are some people in the world who have a few friends with whom they are very intimate, and don't know how to treat the rest politely.

Sweet potatoes of this year's growth were in market this morning. They were grown in this city by a colored man living on Market and Twelfth streets.

There are only about two inches rise reported thus far in the Cape Fear, but when the Wave, which is due to-night, arrives we may expect to hear that there is good boating water.

Upon the first evidence of stomachic or bowel disorders, promptly give the baby a few doses of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup and prevent much suffering on the part of the little one. Price 25 cents.

See a woman on horseback in another column, riding near Speer's Vineyards, with a bunch of Grapes from which Speer's Port Grape Wine is made, that is so highly esteemed by the medical profession for the use of invalids, weakly persons and the aged.

Sold by Druggists. Arrival of Excursionists. The steamer Isis brought down 125 lady and gentlemen excursionists this evening from Point Caswell and vicinity. They will remain in this city to-night and go down the river on the Passport tomorrow.

Not to be Withheld. By a special telegram from Washington City to the Savannah News on Saturday last, we learn that the Secretary of War has stated that none of the appropriations passed by the last Congress for River and Bar Improvement will be withheld. Thanks.

Magistrate's Court. A peace warrant was sworn out by John Gibson, colored, against Fred Lord also colored, and a hearing in the matter was had before Justice Hall, who after weighing the testimony pro (digious) and con (digious), dismissed the case upon the payment of the costs by the defendant.

Gallant Little Fellow.

A few days ago a couple of small boys were in swimming in the river near Messrs. Northrop & Cumming's saw mill when one of them ventured out too far, became exhausted got frightened and hallooed for help when his comrade, who was at the time on shore, plunged gallantly into the water and swam to the assistance of the drowning boy, and held him up until a boat which was sent out by Mr. W. H. Northrop reached them and conveyed the two in safety to shore.

Ho, For the Mountains!

As will be seen by advertisement in another column, there will be an excursion from this city, on the C. C. Railroad, to the mountains, to come off on the 31st inst. The train will leave here at 9 a. m., on the day specified, and, returning, will leave Henry's on the 4th, and arrive here on the 5th proximo. This will be a fine opportunity, for those who can get away from the cares of business and the dust of the city, to enjoy the fresh pure air of the mountains and to witness the magnificent scenery with which Western North Carolina abounds.

City Court.

His Honor Mayor Fishblade having recovered from his recent attack of bilious fever held Court this morning.

Dan'l Douglass, colored, charged with being drunk and disorderly, was ordered to pay the cost in the case, which he did and departed.

Nancy Jackson and Jane Williams, both colored, were charged with an affray. Jane Williams was adjudged not guilty. Nancy Jackson was ordered to pay the cost, but she was dismissed upon the promise of her mother to severely chastise her.

Dan'l Dore, charged with disorderly conduct, was dismissed. Jno. Neal, a small colored boy who was arrested on Friday for throwing rocks in the streets, having remained in the city prison for two days, was dismissed.

Accident to a Wilmingtonian

Mr. Oscar Thompson, son of Mr. J. W. Thompson, of this city, left on Monday night last to attend a ball at Glen Alpine Springs. The ball was given last Thursday night, and he participated for a time in the festivities of the occasion. During the hours of dancing, Mr. Thompson started to go down stairs, and while on the way down, stepped to one side in order to allow a lady to pass, but in doing this he made a misstep and fell to the bottom of the stairs. When first picked up he was feared that his thigh was broken, but Dr. Kollaok, of Morganton, was soon in attendance, and after a critical examination, pronounced a broken rib and some severe bruises as the extent of the injuries. Mr. Thompson will, we learn, return to the city in about a week if the nature of his wounds will permit.

Recovery of a Wilmingtonian's Watch—A Gang of Thieves.

When Walter Albright, colored, was arrested a few days ago on the charge of robbing the dwelling house of Mr. W. H. Bailey of money, he was discovered in the act of concealing a gold watch in his boot leg. The watch was taken from him by the policeman, and subsequently he confessed to the officer that it had been stolen from Mr. H. Nutt, in Wilmington. He told all about the manner in which it had been gotten and implicated another party, a colored man, in the robbery. A letter was written to Mr. Nutt, asking for a description of the watch, and yesterday Policeman Farrington received a reply fully describing the watch now in his possession and also a purse containing about $20, which was stolen at the same time. It was the purpose of the police authorities to send an officer to Wilmington to arrest the negro implicated by Albright, but owing to some difficulty about transportation, this idea was abandoned, and it was decided to telegraph the Chief of Police of Wilmington to make the arrest. This will accordingly have doubtless been accomplished before these facts are published. It is believed that these two men belong to a gang of thieves, which it is hoped may be broken up by the apprehension of two of them, probably the leaders.—Charlotte Observer.

Honored and Blessed.

When a board of eminent physicians and chemists announced the discovery that by combining some well-known valuable remedies, the most wonderful medicine was produced, which would cure such a wide range of disease that most all other remedies could be dispensed with many were sceptical; but proof of its merits by actual trial has dispelled all doubt and to-day the discoverers of that great Medicine, Hop Bitters, are honored and blessed by all as benefactors.

Dining With Royalty.

A friend has handed us a marked copy of the Pittsburg Gazette, from which we extract the interesting account published below of a North Carolina boy, and one whose ancestry in this country located in our Cape Fear section and built the hermitage on St. George's Creek, near this city on land ceded to them by the 'Lords Proprietors,' the first white owners of the soil of North Carolina, and with material imported from the mother country. The estate still remains in the hands of some of the lineal descendants of the Burgwin family, Mr. Iredell Johnson, the grandson of George Burgwin, Esq., at present occupying the old homestead. The extract is as follows:

INTERESTING OCCASION.

The "Editor and Younger Brethren" Banqueting at the "Trinity House," London—A Young Pittsburg barrister among the Guests.

We find in the London Times of the 30th of June a full account of a banquet at the "Trinity House" to which a distinguished company was invited by his Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh and the 'Elder brethren' of the Trinity House' to meet his Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, at dinner. We have not space for the interesting details as given in the Times in whose list of the guests, embracing nearly every royal and noble celebrity in England, it is curious to see included the name of George Burgwin, Esq., son of Hill Burgwin, a prominent member of the Pittsburg bar. Mr. Burgwin is a relative of Admiral Sir Richard Collinson, K. C. B., Deputy Master of Trinity House, to whom, doubtless, he owes his presence in the august assemblage. Having noticed in the Times the name of our young townsman, and assured ourselves of his identity by calling on his father, we were kindly permitted by him to print the following extract from a private letter in which the young gentleman gives his impressions of the personnel of some of the distinguished guests whom he met on this memorable occasion:

"LONDON, June 30 1879."

"In the first place the Admiral got me an invitation to the Trinity House dinner. Of course I had no previous engagement, and went. It was a grand affair. A great many celebrities were present. The Duke of Edinburgh presided as master, the Prince of Wales on his right hand, and Prince Leopold on his left. Then came the Duke of Cambridge, Prince Leiningen, etc, etc, as you will see by the printed card sent you. A similar card was handed to each guest as he was shown up. The Princes arrived each in his own carriage, coachmen with the royal livery lackeys, etc, etc. About forty sailors were drawn up in front of the house to receive them, the Grenadier band playing "God Save the Queen." I went early to see all of the display, and felt like an unaccustomed compliment, having the policeman make the crowd fall back for my cab to pass through. The Admiral introduced me to quite a number of the brethren, and I was kept busy in noticing the different celebrated personages as they arrived with their stars, and orders and ribbons.

The dinner, and the wines, of which we had many different kinds, were very fine. Some of the speeches were very good. The Duke of Cambridge spoke very feelingly about the Prince Imperial. The two best speeches of the evening were those of Earl Granville and Sir Sturford Northcote. They were capital; the others were of various grades. The Prince of Wales spoke fairly, Leopold expressed himself happily, and H. R. H., the Duke of Edinburgh, got off some good things. The two gentlemen between whom I sat were very agreeable, and I filled up very nicely with their conversation the occasional intervals between listening to and looking at the celebrities and eating my dinner.

The band, which was on the roof, played several selections during dinner. One was from "Pinafore," out of compliment; it was whispered about to the first Lord of the Admiralty, who was present. The sound of the music came in through the skylight and the effect was good. The names on the cards printed in scarlet, are those of the "Elder Brethren." They all appeared in full uniform. Our friend, the Admiral, was gorgeous with all his ribbons and medals. The Prince of Wales was literally covered over with orders.

The toast master, who announced the toasts and introduced the speakers, was very peculiar in his manner which cannot be described. After dinner, when the last toast had been drunk and the last speech made, the Duke of Edinburgh rose from the table and withdrew, followed by the rest, and the banquet was over; we then retired to the reception hall and smoked our cigars, all the company participating, except the Prince of Wales, who smoked cigar ettes.

The Admiral, General Collinson, and I then took a carriage and were driven to the 'Haven,' the name by which the Admiral's charming residence is known. An enterprising colored individual had a torch light procession, headed by a life and drum, through the market and vicinity on Saturday night. There was one transparency in the procession and two boys. It was an advertising dodge for a proposed excursion to Newbern.

Returned.

We are pleased to learn that Col. H. B. Short, whose departure for the Green Mountains we noticed a couple of weeks since, has returned, and is looking in fine health.

Religious Revival.

We learn that quite an interesting series of meetings are being held at the Second Baptist Church in this city and that many souls have been converted to God, and that many others are penitently seeking the fountain of mercy for the washing away of their sins.

Scat! Rats!

Rats are numerous, bold and impudent in some portions of this city. On Saturday night, one, a vicious old rascal, attacked a negro servant girl sleeping in the residence of a family on Market street and bit her on the neck and nose. Her screams awoke the family, who, after finding out the cause of the disturbance, ran the rat off and had a hearty laugh over the idea of a rat attempting to eat one hundred and twenty pounds of African flesh.

The Fire Alarm.

Mr. B. DeForest, a representative of the Bell Telephone Company, arrived in this city this morning. He is looking over the town with Gen. Taylor to-day, and will commence to string the wires for the fire alarm to-morrow morning. Mr. Orme, the General Agent of the Company, is expected in a few days when a site for the Exchange will be selected.

Needle Extracted.

A largearning needle was taken from the side of a little colored child a few days ago by a gentleman of this city. The child had been for some time past complaining of a pain in its side and on Friday an examination was made when it was ascertained that a foreign substance about the length of a needle was imbedded in the flesh. An incision was made with a pen knife and the needle taken out how or when it got into the child's body is not known.

The fall trade will, it is thought, be larger than for many previous years.
